Letter From Mexico

TELLING OF SURPRISING CONDITIONS DOWN HERE.

From Lieut. Milburn Hawkes Formerly of Tecumseh.

The Tecumseh Herald
Tecumseh, Mich.,

Dear friends:

Your card of greetings duly received and with great pleasure while the reason for our being called to the border may not be as apparent to the people of the North as it is to the people of the South, still there is a reason and a very urgent one Perhaps conditions will improve in a short time but it does not look like it from the information obtainable here, some of which is first hand. It is a well known fact here, although not reported by the A. P., that a new revolution is under way which will be stronger than any faction now in existence in Mexico.

This of course will cause more trouble and give the bandits a chance to operate with freedom, or I should say more freedom.

It is not safe for an American (white) to step over the line although the Mexicans come over here at will. In fact it is a sight worth seeing to observe the street cars crossing the International Bridge as they contain nothing but Mexicans who come and go at will while our people are arrested if they go across the Rio Grande to see a "Bull Fight."

The people on the border are very bitter against the present administration and with good reasons as every where one meets people who have lost their all either in Mexico or from raids in the U. S by Mexicans, also many people who have had relatives and friends cruelly murdered.

Our camp is just a short distance from the spot where a Sergeant of the 34th U. S Inf. was shot and his body dragged over the line to make it appear that he was on Mexican soil, although the line is marked by monuments and a barbed wire fence and no one would cross over The Sergt. was looking for a stray mule and he would not go thru a fence so you will see how much chance we have.

We are fitted out complete now and get good food. Have no complaints whatsoever. With best wishes to all my friends, I am

Truly yours
Lt. M. H. Hawkes

The Orrin Hollis Trio, also present thrilling performances upon the backs of bridled horses. THORNTON DIXON OF MONROE

Candidate for Nomination for Representative in Congress, Second District.

Are you interested in the defeat of Woodrow Wilson and his wabbly policies that have brought the country to the edges of war and panic without any preparation?

Are you interested in the election of Charles Evans Hughes, who is inspiring the whole country with his ability and patriotism?

Are you interested in having him supported by a Republican Congress?

Are you interested in seeing this second Congressional District redeemed from Democratic misrepresentation and put back into the Republican column where it belongs?

Are you interested in seeing to it that it does not again swing to Beakes as it did two years ago through the weakness of his opponent?

Do you want it represented by a live, energetic, capable republican born and bred in the District: who knows its wants and needs and will see that they are supplied; who has made a success as a business man, as a banker, as a lawyer, a man whose only enemies are those whom he has righteously punished as a public official or that class of patriots who oppose him because they expect something themselves if some other person be chosen?

Are you interested in such clean and decent politics as have always marked the campaigns of the District and in rebuking the milignant lies of persons who value a post office for themselves more than the interest of the party, the nation or the district?

If so you will vote for THORNTON DIXON for candidate for Congress at the Primaries on the 29th, instant. A vote otherwise is a vote for Beakes.

$350 and a FORD makes a guaranteed One Ton Truck

The New Era in Transportation that Puts Your Delivery Department on the Profit Earning Side of Your Ledger.

S. Davidson & Bros., big furniture dealers in Des Moines, Iowa, say:

"Your Smith Form-a-Truck is doing the work which previously required two or three teams to handle. It has been very satisfactory."

This letter shows one big reason why Smith Form-a-Truck is revolutionizing previous conceptions of delivery cost. In time saving alone over horse drawn service it is showing a four to one economy.

And in original investment it costs no more than a good pair of horses and a wagon and 50% less than any other fully guaranteed one ton truck. Compared with horse drawn service the Smith Form-a-Truck will do the same work in a day that would now requires three two-horse teams.

The very nature of your business as a furniture dealer makes it imperative that you get low hauling cost.

Your sales are practically all delivered. You have to charge the overhead of your delivery department against individual purchases. Any saving that you can make, any cut in prices which you can afford will build up the business you are getting and the profit you are making.

Smith Form-a-Truck will show such a material saving for you that you can reorganize your sale prices.

Smith Form-a-Truck is a sturdily built truck attachment that fits over the frame of any Ford car.

Special Lubrication Feature
To guarantee trouble-proof, efficient lubrication for Ford motors used in connection with the Smith Form-a-Truck, we are furnishing as regular equipment with every Smith Form-a-Truck sold, a Strong Sight Feed Oiler. This is a force feed system with gauge on the dash and a system that insures a positive, even flow of oil to all the working parts on the motor. It reduces the amount of oil consumed—prevents burned out connecting rod and crank shaft bearings and cylinder troubles and increases the life and efficiency of the motor.

—Here are the Other Mechanical Features—

125" wheelbase—108" loading space—32x3½" solid Firestone truck type tires—wheels, wood artillery type twelve spokes—springs 42" long, semi-elliptic in type. Chassis attachment channel steel 4" deep, strongly reinforced by three cross members and gusset plates at rear. Drive, double chain and sprocket, using famous time tried Ford rear axle as jackshaft.

Your Other Wheat Field

THE VALUE of your wheat field lies in its YIELD. Raising wheat is not a matter of acres but of bushels. A 15-acre field yielding 30 bushels per acre will bring as great a money return as a 30-acre field yielding 15 bushels per acre.

If you could in some way double the yield you are now getting from your wheat field, it would mean as much to you as the possession of another wheat field of equal acreage and value. In fact, it would mean more, for you would be getting double returns without additional expense for seed, labor, taxes, etc., which another wheat field would require.

By the use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, many farmers have more than doubled the yields previously secured from their unfertilized fields. Without additional acreage they now have two bushels of wheat where they had one before—and the extra bushel is all PROFIT save for a small expense for fertilizer. The increased yield, caused by proper use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, means as much to you as another wheat field—it is truly "Your Other Wheat Field." Thousands of progressive farmers have learned this truth—that the PROFIT in wheat raising lies in the increased yields brought about by proper use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, sold by

THE CARNIVAL

Occupies the Main Street and Their Opening Night was a Busy One

WEDNESDAY'S PROGRAM AS USUAL

The Crescent City Show Co., made its appearance on the streets Sunday coming here from Adrian. While they advertised to appear in Monument Park lo and behold, when they arrived they spread themselves out on Main street. When we asked how that came about we found there had been a meeting of the business men Saturday night after some howl had gone up about their using Monument Park, and the privilege of using Chicago street had been given them

All last week it was an "On Again, Off Again" proposition between the business men and the carnival people whether we would allow them to use Chicago street, Monument Park or Cemetery Park. Finally it was decided to give them the use of the two blocks in the down town district and they have certainly taken possession

They have seven or eight attractions, a beautiful merry-go-round and Ferris wheel. Also there are fifteen or twenty concessions. Not one of the barkers have a thing wrong with their voices and the way they whooped it up last night was a caution The Tipton band helped out and the whole certainly did raise some commotion? There was a good crowd for their opening last evening and everyone seemed to have a jolly time

The merry-go-round and Ferris wheel were especially well patronized. Some of the shows reduced their admittance charges for their opening night as an advertising feature. The baby doll both seemed to draw a big crowd and that must have been due to Louis' attractiveness

The Bargain Day committee will put on their program as usual, Wednesday in the afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 7:30 The program this week will be the usual good one, a wire act and herd of performing goats. The Tipton band will play that night also

Next week Wednesday a balloon ascension is billed.

THE "POPULAR GIRL" CONTEST

Not all persons with money deposit their savings in The Lilley State Bank.

Some do not have an account of any character here.

But because of its long and successful experience in banking (61 years), because of its continued conservative management and the fact that the bulk of its saving deposits are invested in farm mortgages—because of these things, a constantly increasing number are depositing their dollars in this old strong bank, for safe keeping.

Mrs. G. H. Eveland, Duncan Mills, Ill., writes: "I was stricken with lumbago, unable to turn in bed. A neighbor brought Foley Kidney Pills She had been similarly afflicted and they cured her. Clear Skin Comes From Within

It is foolish to think you can gain a good clear complexion by the use of face powder. Get at the root of the trouble and thoroughly cleanse the system with a treatment of Dr. King's New Life Pills. Gentle and mild in action, do not gripe, yet they relieve the liver by their action, on the bowels. Good for young, adults and aged. Go after a clear complexion to-day. 25c. at your druggist. adv

Foley's Honey and Tar is a particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. WOULDN'T IT BE EASY PICKING FOR BEAKES?

MORE DIXON "ROT."

In his advertisement "Why is Beakes?" the Monroe congressional candidate shows conclusively that he is not fit to be the nominee, and that he would be EASY PICKING for Mr. Beakes.

By the official vote in 1912 Mr. Wedemeyer received 16,650 votes. this included 212 votes polled in Northville then in the Second District, deducting this he received in the district as now constituted, 16,438 votes.

Mark R. Bacon received in 1914 as shown by the official returns, 17,876 votes; this would be 1,438 more votes than Mr. Wedemeyer received two years before. Doesn't this show conclusively that Mark R. Bacon DID "COMMAND THE CONFIDENCE OF THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS?"

But the friends of Mr. Bacon contend that his actual vote exceeded these figures, but was counted out. He realized the folly of bringing a contest before a Democrat congress, and took his medicine like a man.

Wouldn't it be EASY PICKING for the Democrat nominee to defeat a candidate where there was a rumor that his opponent had shut down his quarry for 3 years thereby throwing many (some say 50) laborers out of work, and accepted a good salary from The France Stone Co., of Ohio? Mr. Dixon's only explanation, that we have seen, is "My little plant could not compete and I leased them my land," "I am not stockholder in the concern." That seems to be an explanation that does not explain much. BUT THE QUARRY REMAINS CLOSED. Isn't the France Stone Co., of Ohio, a Trust? And isn't Dixon on its pay roll?

Then wouldn't it be EASY PICKING for a Democrat to defeat a candidate who had been attorney for the notorious MONROE MARSH CLUB, and prosecuted people for simply walking on the Beach? What do hunters and fishermen think of the Marsh Club tactics?

The more the Monroe candidate advertises, the more evidence he produces that it would be impossible for the Republicans to elect such a man.—Adrian Partizan, August 12th.

Foxglove.

In some places in England the foxglove is regarded with awe as a "witches' flower," the peasants saying that the witches use the bells of the blossoms as thimbles. In most parts, however, the "we sma' folk that bode no ill" are the beings that "sweetly nestle in the foxglove bells," and in Ireland the plant is called the fairy cap.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER

OF BAD AXE, FOR GOVERNOR

Albert E. Sleeper should get your vote at the primary:

Because

He's a Michigan man, grown from a New England boy.

He has western vision and strength to do big things; and Yankee common sense and thrift.

Where he's known he is the trusted friend and advisor of the community.

If you want to know about him, ask the boys he's helped through school, the people whose homes he's saved from foreclosure, the business men he's started—and those he's carried through financial troubles.

They are as one for "Uncle Bert"—24 hours a day. Ask them,

Also remember he cleaned up the Glazier mess in the State Treasury.

He kept each dollar where it belonged.

He made the depository banks give bonds to secure our money.

He issued public statements so you and I could tell what money we had in Lansing.

The people of the "Thumb Country" are for Sleeper, not because he lives there, but because they know the man, his friendliness, his common sense, his integrity, his ability.

Vote for him Aug. 29th.

You will be glad you did when you know him—[Besides, he's a winner.,

Samuel W. Beakes

HE has been in the service long enough to become most valuable to all the people of the Second District. The Democrates, at the Primaries on Tuesday, Aug. 29th, by voting for Congressman Samuel W. Beakes and making him our candidate, will give thousands of Progressives and Republicans a chance to show their appreciation of an honest, energetic and most efficient public servant by re-electing him in November. Mr. Beakes is the first Democrat to represent this district in 22 years. Can anyone give a good and substantial reason for changing?

He is doing all in his power to get free Mail Delivery for the Village of Tecumseh.

Don't Neglect to Do Your Duty

by voting for

"Honest" Sam Beakes

At the Primary, Tuesday, Aug. 29

He is always on the job. In fact, he feels that because of the critical questions confronting Congress from day to day that it is his duty to stay in Washington and rely upon his friends to look after his Primary Campaign for him. It is putting it up to us rather bluntly, but we cannot help but applaud his unselfish devotion to "Duty First, Last and All the Time." So we are going to enlist all his friends to act as a Committee of One to push his campaign while he is on the job.

"WANTED—A MAN WHO CAN BEAT BEAKES"

Political Advertisement—

Republicans of the Second Congressional District who realize their obligation to the party of their choice know that it is essential that the next congressman from the district shall be of their own political faith. The election of a majority of the next House of Representatives is a duty to which Republicans everywhere have set their hands, and with this duty uppermost in their minds, Republicans of this district must make no mistake in their choice of a candidate to represent them at the polls.

No man should receive the suffrage of the voters of his party because of his popularity, or because he is a good fellow, or because he thinks the party owes him something. The man who is selected must be the strongest possible candidate in every way.

The sentiment expressed by a prominent Republican, that "We want a man who can beat Beakes," is the sentiment that should prevail when the ballots are being cast in the primary election. And it must be remembered that while a strong man can defeat Beakes, it will be simply playing into his hands to nominate a weak candidate.

Mr. Bacon and his campaign managers are asking the support of Republicans of this district because of his record in the primaries two years ago, but they ignore entirely the showing he made at the election. The test of a candidate's popularity with the voters comes when he is pitted against a candidate on an opposing ticket. If he fails then he can secure but little consolation from the showing he made in the primaries. What we want is "a man who can beat Beakes," and it does not matter whether he wins the nomination by 100 or 1,000 votes.

Mr. Bacon may extract what ever consolation he can from his primary showing but there is certainly very little consolation either for him or the Republicans of the district in the showing he made at the election.

A man who consistently runs behind the head of his ticket is most evidently not a popular candidate. The proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof, and the election statistics of two years ago furnish some proof that ought to make Republican voters think twice before they cast their votes in the coming primary election.

In this election Mr. Bacon received 17,876 votes and Mr. Beakes 18,075, at first glance these figures tell nothing more than the fact that Mr. Bacon failed to get enough votes to elect him, but there are some interesting facts concealed in these figures-facts which the campaign managers of Mr. Bacon are not boasting about. It is the belief of this committee, however, that in order that the Republicans of this district may have all of the information available at their command, and that they may be in position to vote intelligently these figures and facts should be made public.

In Jackson county Mr. Bacon received 4,085 votes, 334 votes less than were cast for Coleman C. Vaughn, Republican candidate for secretary of state; in Lenawee county Mr. Bacon received 3,924 votes, 95 less than were cast for Mr. Vaughn; in Monroe county Mr. Bacon received 2,909 votes, 82 less than were cast for Mr. Vaugon; in Washtenaw county Mr. Bacon received 4,123 votes, 224 votes less than were cast for Mr. Vaughn; in his own county of Wayne Mr. Bacon received 2,835 votes, 145 votes more than were cast for Mr. Vaughn.

Thus it will be seen that in every county in the district except his own Mr. Bacon ran behind the head of his ticket, and there cannot be a whole lot of consolation in the fact that he can run ahead of his ticket in his own county, because Mr. Beakes beat him at his own game there. Let us see how the Beakes and Bacon vote in Wayne stacks up. Mr. Beakes also ran ahead of the Democratic Candidates for secretary of State in Wayne county, and despite the fact that Wayne county is Mr. Bacon's home county, we have the spectacle of his Democratic opponent making a more favorable showing in Wayne county than was made by Mr. Bacon. Here are the figures: Mr. Beakes received 1,978 votes in Wayne, while the Democratic candidate for secretary of state receive 1,809 votes, showing that Beakes received 169 more votes than the candidate for secretary of state on his ticket, while the best Mr. Bacon could do in his home county was to run 145 votes ahead of the head of his ticket.

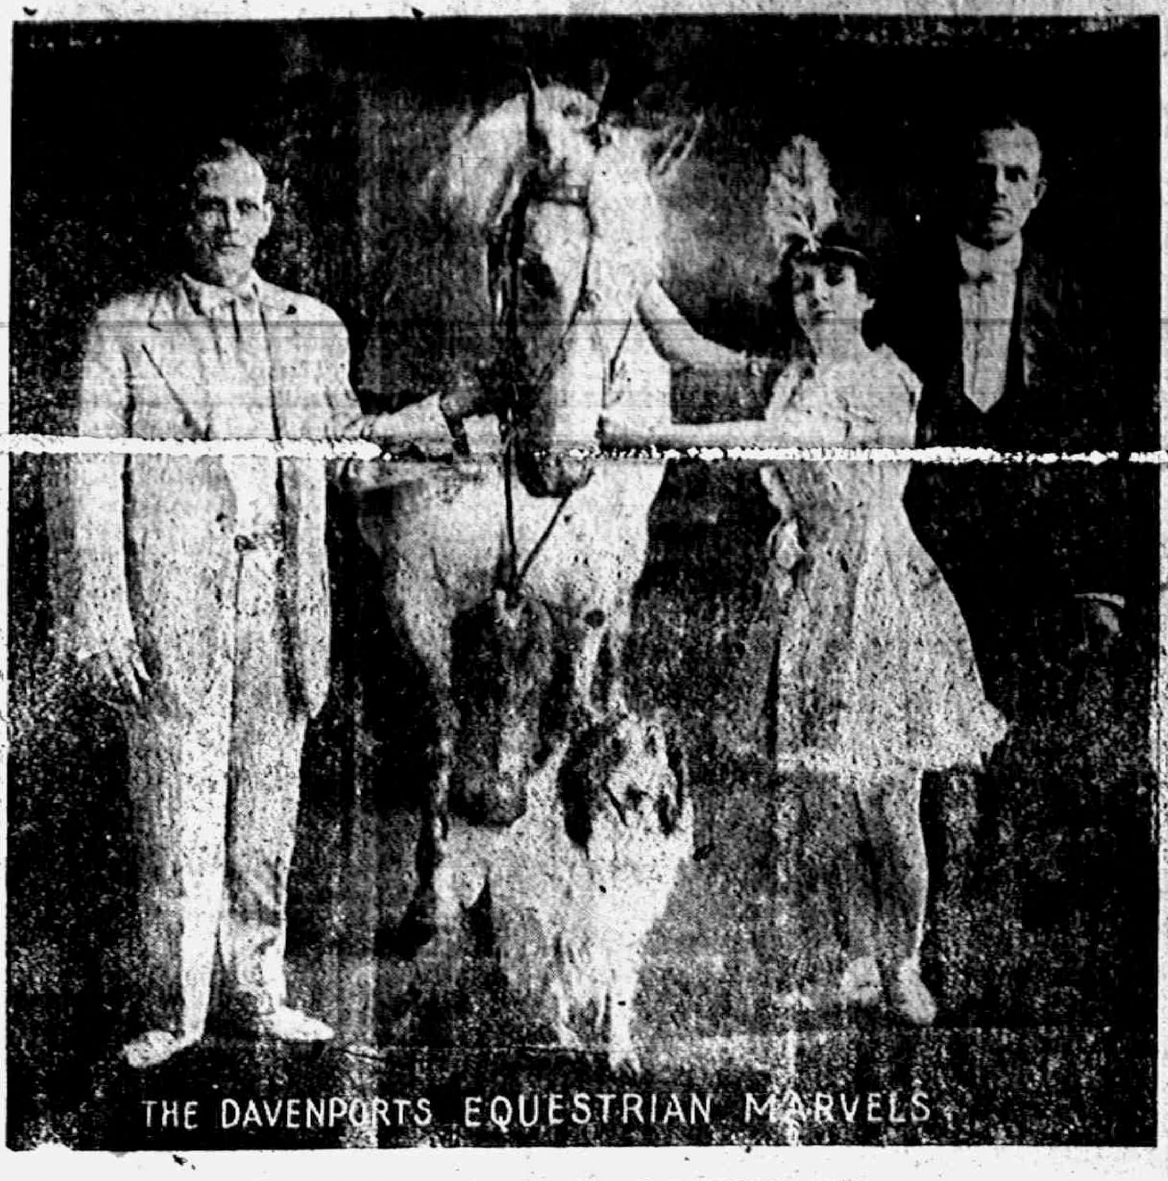
Surely there is food for thought in this analysis of the vote cast for Mr. Bacon. After considering it, can any Republican admit the extravagant claims of Mr. Bacon's Campaign managers that his showing at the polls two years ago entitles him to another nomination? With such a sorry showing, is it any wonder that Republicans all over the district are now admitting that by failing to place a strong candidate in the field the party in the Second District virtually handed Mr. Beakes another term in Congress on a platter?

When a candidate for the important office of Congressman runs 590 votes behind his ticket in the district, isn't it about time for the thinking Republican voter to begin to wonder if he is really as strong a candidate as his campaign literature would indicate?

The members of this committee do not believe that Mr. Bacon is the strongest candidate that may be chosen by the Republicans of the Second District by any means. In fact, they consider that his showing two years ago marks him as the weakest sort of a candidate, and they ask that Republicans of the district take this showing carefully into account before they decide for whom they will vote.

As to the qualifications of Mr. Thornton Dixon for the honor of representing his district at the November election, we shall have something to say later. At present we present these election statistics for your consideration, confident that you will find in them, as we did, much food for thought.

THE DIXON DISTRICT CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE.



Rich in reminiscence, connecting the latest and most modern of generations of ripened experience gained in the conduct of Circuses throughout the civilized world, Messrs. Coop and Lent representing the present generation of these famous names present the New United Monster Shows now on their introductory tour and announced to appear afternoon and night in Tecumseh on Tuesday, August 22.

The corner stone of these wonderful shows can be said to have been laid as long ago as 1844 when L. S. Lent launched the first steamboat show under the title of "BROWN AND LENT" plying the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. He then organized "SANDS AND LENT'S American Circus" which he exhibited throughout Europe.

1853 saw Lent's Circus touring the Atlantic States. In 1872 he established the first permanent Circus in New York City, exhibiting in an iron Amphitheatre.

In 1874 the original "Coop Show" was founded by W. T. Coop and was entitled "Coop's New Monster Show." He toured the Eastern and Middle Western States, the directing head the largest tented enterprise of the "80's." A few years later these two notable exhibitions joined forces and the originel "Coop and Lent's" United Monster Shows, came into being, sailing for Europe under the management of the two sons of their projectors, where Lent disposed of his interest and returned to America. Coop in the meantime continued touring with his Circus in every civilized part of the world and within a short time after his return home to America late in 1914, the old partnership was renewed and work begun in assembling the present Coop and Lent All New United Monster Shows for 1916.

PARTY GIVEN FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Tuesday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Newsom on East Chicago street was the scene of a very happy gathering when the Epworth League met to do honor to one of their number, Miss Effie Sims, who is soon to become the bride of Wylie VanGieson of Detrot, a nephew of Mrs. Newsom.

The beautiful home and veranda were illuminated by myriads of Japanese lanterns making a fitting background for the gay assemblage.

A program of music and games entertained the guests and at its close light refreshments were served. Miss Sims was made the recipient of a beautiful set of silver knives and forks and the best wishes of her many friends in the League.

THE CO-OPERATIVE PICNIC

The Tecumseh Co-Operative Association celebrated their quarterly meeting day Wednesday by a big picnic at Sand Lake when the Onsted Association were their guests. It is estimated that about 1000 people were present. A bountiful picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon and then a two hour address by Millard R. Myers, of Chicago was listened to and the time did not seem long for he is a most enthusiastic Co-Operative man. He is the editor of the American Co-Operative Journal and has travelled extensively studying the proposition of co-operation in other countries.

He took for his subject Wednesday "Competition, Combination and Co-Operation" and found the accordant note with his audience.

The Tipton band gave a number of good selections and the day was passed most happily. The store was closed all day and needless to sociation celebrated their quartely of it.

CONRAD OTTGEN

Candidate for County Drain Commissioner

Conrad Ottgen, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination as County Drain Commissioner, at the Primary to be held on August 29th, 1196, has practically spent his whole life in Lenwee County and its immediate vicinity, and he would ask your support for the following reasons:

1st. He has been a farmer for the past 25 years, and knows the needs and values of drainage to the farmer.

2nd. He has, during said time, been engaged in buying timber, and in this connection has owned and sold several farms, and personally attended to properly tiling and draining them.

3rd. He has bought and handled a great many carloads of tile for these purposes, and his experience would aid him in knowing value of farming lands, what lands should be included in drainage districts, and how a given drain would benefit certain lands, the cost of tile, and the labor in laying them, and the size of the tile that each drain would require, and how they should be laid to secure the best results.

4th. He is not a chronic office seeker, having never before sought office.

5th. He is not afraid of work, and if nominated and elected he would give the work his personal and undivided attention, and try to see that the tax payers, for money expended along this line, got value received.

COMMUNICATION

Tecumseh, Mich., Aug. 15h. 1916.
Editor of Tecumseh Herald.
Dear sir:

In reading The Herald this evening I was surprised to read that there was a meeting of the business men Saturday night and that they had given the manager of the carnival the privilege of using Chicago street.

You and I know that the buisness men of Tecumseh have no more authority to grant that privilege, than they would to grant them the privilege of holding the carnival on your lawn.

I have thought for 26 years that I was one of the business men of Tecumseh, I knew that, if there was a meeting of the business men, that I was not invited so I thought I would find out if I was the only one who had been slighted.

I have asked a number and have yet to find one who knew there had been a meeting until they read about it in The Herald.

I did find, however, on good authority that there was a meeting of four of the business men held on Saturday night and that these four men decided to grant the privilege of using Chicago street for the carnival.

In this communication it is not my purpose to biscuss the question, whether the carnival is good or bad, whether it is proper for four men to say we shall or shall not use Chicago street for this purpose, but I want it distinctly understood that I am of the opinion that it is not fair to give people the impression that the business men of Tecumseh are responsible for the condition of our streets at this time.

If you see fit to print this I hope you will make it as prominent as you did the article from which I got my text.

Yours for a square deal, first, last and all the time.
Frank D. Avery

TECUMSEH SOME LIVELY TOWN THIS WEEK

7000 people in town for our Wednesday night attraction

About the largest crowd ever in Tecumseh was that of Wednesday night. The streets were literally thronged with people called here by the bouble attraction of the weekly Bargain Day entertainment and the street carnival. It is etsimated that there were 7000 people on the street, one man telling us the next morning that from his porch on West Chicago street he counted 151 autos coming from the west. Another man and his son placed 600 hand bills in autos only in the streets that night, so the estimate of 7000 is not far from correct.

The attractions on the Bargain Day program both afternoon and evening were the "Twirling Talbot's" and Corrigan's goats. Both were excellent and on a par with some of our best for this season. The Tipton band were present and furnish the music for both attractions. The first show was given at 7-30 and the second at 10 o'clock, the interval being used by the crowd in viewing the street carnival.

The merry-go-round and Ferris wheel were packed all the evening and the crowd seemed bent on having a good time. No one was hurt and all seemed orderly and courteous.

The Carnival has attracted good crowds on the other nights of the week. The attachees have been an ordely crowd, strictly minding their own business and annoying no one. The animal show have met with quite a loss since coming here, two Mexican boas having died. Yesterday they received a young Siberian wolf to add to their zoo.

To-night and Saturday night will close their ingagement in Tecumseh.

Dr. Hartzog's story will be continued in our Tuesday issue

Rev. D H. Ramsdell of Ann Arbor, will preach at the Methodist church Sunday morning. Combination service at 6:30

Regular services will be held at the Friend's church Sunday. This is to be the pastor's last service before he goes to Damascus, Ohio, for the Friend's Yearly Meeting. A full attendance desired.

Mrs. John Freeman was brought home from Ann Arbor yesterday and stood the journey very well. A nurse from the hospital accompanied her, but will remain for but a few days and Miss Satterthwaite then takes the case.

To correct any impression which may have been made by our article appearing in last issue, we wish to state that the meeting of business men held last Saturday evening for the purpose of locating the Carnival now playing in our town, was composed of business men who were members of the Bargain Day Committees. We understand that all members of these Committees were invited to attend the meeting.

"THE MILLION DOLLAR DOLL"

The LeReys, Society Dancers with "The Million Dollar Doll" which comes to the Bradley next Friday, August 25

The first big road attraction at the Bradley this season is Harvey D. Orr's big musical production "The Million Dollar Doll." The company numbers nearly 40 people, carry a special car load of scenery and new electrical effects and are known wherever they appear as the best gowned singing and dancing company on the road this season. The scenery, costumes etc are all said to be new this season and a very riot of color and music.

The musical part of the play consists of 23 musical numbers, any one of which is worthy of being featured with a $1 50 production. In order that patrons of the Bradley may have the full benefit of the big song hits, Manager Marks has arranged for the Adrian orchestra to furnish the music.

Perhaps one of the greatest novelties with "The Million Dollar Doll" is the "runway" which is produced exactly as used with the famous 'winter garden' show in New York City. This 'runway' is a bridge affair built out over the audience and in many of the musical numbers the entire chorous goes out over the 'runway' which being beautifully lighted while the rest of the house is dark makes a very beautiful effect. "The Million Dollar Doll" is the first company to present this feature outside of the very largest cities and is making a big hit with it everywhere.

Taken together, the runway, the big musical numbers, the new scenery and costumes and the clever dancing, 'The Million Dollar Doll' is just one big thing after another. This big attraction will be at the Bradley, next Friday, August 25th. Make your plans accordingly.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by ctaarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Cattarh Cure. Send for circular, free.

A TALE OF LOWER MICHIGAN

By W. B. Hartzog

CHAPTER VII

A MIRACULOUS CHANGE.

When Miss Deviling received the second letter from Charles Preston she called her father's coachman and told him she wanted him to accompany her to Michigan. On the way she outlined her plan of procedure. At Toledo she purchased a wig and beard for him and she secured the garments with which she could dress like an old woman. They arrived at Tecumseh on Friday. They went to the Hotel and inquired for a Tecumseh paper. In this they read the announcement that Charles would preach his last sermon before his vacation Sunday evening

She directed the coachman to find out all he could about Preston. He soon returned with the information that he was fond of a lady by the name of Lucy Worthington, residing in the vicinity of Springville.. He also found that the coach would leave for Springville the following morning. They spent the night at Tecumseh and journeyed to Springville the next morning.

They hired the hotel keeper's horse and carriage on Sunday afternoon and drove to Tecumseh by way of the Worthington home and attended services as afore described. They followed Charles and Lucy to the Worthington home. Miss Deviling intended to shoot Lucy when she alighted, but was unable to see her. Her jealousy knew no bounds.

She determined to kill Lucy and had her aim been accurate on Tuesday when she fired at her from the bush, she would have accomplished her devilish design. The only reason she did not shoot at her when she saw them in the boat was because she was afraid of killing Charles. Had Lucy not screamed just when she did, she would have fired on her through the window.

Realizing that Charles saw her and that she would be sought for the next morning. She thought best to get out of the country. She hastily penned the note to Charles and hired a boy to put it into the postoffice in the morning and started for Adrian. They found that it would be impossible to make their way to Adrian, the night being so dark, so they hired a farmer to take them. They reached Cleveland Monday night.

On arriving home she collapsed mentally. For weeks physicians worked with her. She improved somewhat but was constantly guarded. Her parents found from the coachman what was at the bottom of her trouble.

One day a letter came postmarked Chicago. They opened it and it read,

"I have complied with your request, am bound for the great west."

No name was signed. Physicians were consulted and they recommended that the letter be given her. She read it and seemed relieved.

Mr. Burke visited the Deviling home and talked with her. She asked him if he knew where Charles was. Mr. Burke told her that he went West and since then he had not heard from him.

In her delirium she said "It has been years since he went west. He must be an old man now."

Mr. Burke returned home and in his mail found a letter from John Hall, Denver, Colorado. It stated that he had secured a position as professor of English literature and history in a newly organized university at a salary of eighteen hundred dollars a year. One sentence especially attracted him.

"I am pleading with our Heavenly Father to restore Miss Deviling to her right mind and to give her the spirit of Christ. It is not impossible for God to convert her and then she will forgive me."

Lucy received a letter from Charles containing the same sentence.

"Grandmother," said she, "I want to read a sentence from Charley's letter." Then she read, "I am pleading with our Heavenly Father to restore Miss Deviling to her right mind and to give her the spirit of Christ. It is not impossible for God to convert her and then she will forgive me."

"It is amazing," said Mrs. Lee, "what faith Charles has,"

"Yes," said Lucy, "he is moved by the Transforming Passion."

Charles was accustomed to preach when the opportunity came to him. It was not long until he was in demand every Sunday. One Sunday a stranger came up to him and stated that he was from Cleveland, Ohio.

He said, "I am a publisher of religious literature; your sermon to-day has deeply impressed me. Would you be willing to let me print it in a volume of discourses that I am about to publish."

Charles replied that he would be willing to have him publish the abbreviated notes of the discourse if he would permit him to draft the superscription as follows,—

The Transforming Passion

By a Pilgrim

The Cleveland publisher complied with his request and took the manuscript with him. Some months after this he received a book through the mail from this Cleveland publisher. Leafing through it he discovered his brief sermon.

"The Transforming Passion, by a Pilgrim."

"We love, because he first loved us."
1 John 4:19

"God is the personification of Love. He so loved that he sent Jesus, because his chief joy is to see a happy world. It is the mission of the Father to perfect Love in man. Jesus was his chief instrument in accomplishing this heaven born task. When Jesus appeared in this world, he made it clear that the spring of all worship and service is love. He proved this by his readiness to lay down his life for [illegible]

This divine love existing between the Father and the Son became through Jesus, the possesion of man. The selfishness of his disciples gave way to the sweetness and power of Love as seen in their fearless leader. This Love became the dominant passion in preachers, missionaries and philanthropists throughout the Christian centuries. The Love of God, manifested in Jesus and incarnated in man, has led to the transformation of millions of souls. Men are Christian only in so far as they are Christianized. "God sent his Son not to condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved.' What a stupendous and glorious mission! A complete apprehension of what God is, is not attainable by us. But this we can understand, 'We love, because he first loved us.' Keep this ever in mind, God's love to man is the originating cause of man's love. A real Christian is one whose love is like unto his. The Love wherewith the Father loved the Son may be in us, hence we read 'I have loved you to the end that ye love one another.' It is our privilege to love. He even bade us love our enemies. This is the condition on which we may have fellowship with the invisible God. He says, 'By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." God grant us this passion, that we may get a new idea of what life means. This will make us forgiving and give us peace. Such a life Jesus lived. By him God is brought down to earth, made visible, tangible and comprehensible to us. By infusing this spirit, which is none other than the spirit of God, he recreates, transforms, empowers and inspires us."

The Cleveland publisher was a friend of the Deviling family and he sent them a copy of this book of discourses. One day Miss Deviling was observed intently perusing this book.

"Mother," said she, "here is a wonderful discourse entitled, "The Transforming Passion.' It gives me a new vision of Life. I have read it three times. Through it God has spoken to my soul. It has rescued me from selfishness and bitterness. I feel that I have that passion. Hatred has been banished from my soul. Oh, that I might make amends for the sorrow that I have wrought in other lives."

Miss Deviling sought the family pastor and layed bare her soul. The pastor could see that a miraculous change had been wrought and encouraged her to unite with the church. She was restored and in her right mind. She asked to be assigned to some service in the church. She engaged in Christian work with all the ardency of her vigorous nature.

POLITICS HALTS INDIES DEAL

Fight Over Danish Coalition Cabinet Delays Purchase Pact Question.

Copenhagen, Agu. 21.—The decision as to whether the government proposal for a coalition cabinet shall be adopted, and consequently the question as to the acceptance or rejection of the treaty with the United States for the sale of the Danish West Indies, has been postponed much longer, as the result of party caucuses in the rigsdag.

The left party agreed to the creation of a coalition cabinet, but imposed the condition that the party shall have representation in proportion to the left's combined membership in both houses of parliament. Since the left has nearly half of the entire membership of the landsthing, or upper house, its demand, politicians say, means that it would claim probably four cabinet places against two for each of the other parties.

New York, Aug. 21.—The Italian steamer Stampalia, formerly in service as a passenger liner between New York and Italian ports, but more recently engaged as a troop transport, has been sunk, presumably by a submarine, according to reports received by her agents here.

The Stampalia, steel twin screw steamer of 9,000 tons, reached Genoa on July 20 from New York, and was scheduled to sail from New York on the return voyage on Aug. 26. Local agents of the line received notice fifteen days ago to cancel all bookings for the return trip to Genoa as the Stampalia had been taken over by the Italian government as a transport.

Samuel W. Beakes

HE has been in the service long enough to become most valuable to all the people of the Second District. The Democrates, at the Primaries on Tuesday, Aug. 29th, by voting for Congressman Samuel W. Beakes and making him our candidate, will give thousands of Progressives and Republicans a chance to show their appreciation of an honest, energetic and most efficient public servant by re-electing him in November. Mr. Beakes is the first Democrat to represent this district in 22 years. Can anyone give a good and substantial reason for changing?

by voting for

"Honest" Sam Beakes

At the Primary, Tuesday, Aug. 29

He is always on the job. In fact, he feels that because of the critical questions confronting Congress from day to day that it is his duty to stay in Washington and rely upon his friends to look after his Primary Campaign for him. It is putting it up to us rather bluntly, but we cannot help but applaud his unselfish devotion to "Duty First, Last and All the Time." So we are going to enlist all his friends to act as a Committee of One to push his campaign while he is on the job.

$350 and a FORD makes a guaranteed One Ton Truck

Turns Half Your Delivery Costs into Profit

This is the reason for the tremendous sales of Smith Form-a-Trucks among live, aggressive furniture dealers and furniture movers. It eliminates half the expenditure usually made between the store and the final point of delivery.

For furniture movers it effects a big saving by enabling one moving crew to do the work which it now takes three to accomplish if you are using horse drawn service. But the time saving is not the only big point of advantage of the Smith Form-a-Truck.

The low investment—half the cost of any other fully guaranteed one-ton truck—makes it the only delivery conveyance you should consider.

And it is fully guaranteed. You get the same service—the same reliability—the same long life that you get from trucks costing twice as much. And you get the same guaranty that is given to you by manufacturers of the most expensive trucks built.

Smith Form-a-Truck Co., Chicago, Ill.:—
With 2,000 lbs. and roads in good condition, we find no occasion to shift gears on either hills or levels.
To be quite definite: We have driven our truck over and through all kinds of road conditions and never stuck. Never had to be pulled out or up.
If we were adding several trucks, each would duplicate the Smith Form-a-Truck.
KEYES-AHRENS-OGDEN CO.

The Smith Form-a-Truck is built strongly of the best materials and according to the highest grade specifications.

The attachment itself, which fits over the frame of any Ford car, consists of a 4" channel section steel frame which lengthens the wheelbase of the Ford to 125 inches: sturdy rear axle: strong rear wheels with Firestone truck type tires, 32 x 3½": double chain drive, using the rear axle of the Ford as a jackshaft.

The frame is strongly reinforced with three cross members, and with gusset plates at the rear.

It lengthens the wheelbase, giving a loading space back of the driver's seat large enough to accomodate any type of body you might want to use.

Special Lubrication Feature

To guarantee trouble-proof, efficient lubrication for Ford motors used in connection with the Smith Form-a-Truck, we are furnishing as regular equipment with every Smith Form-a-Truck sold, a Strong Sight Feed Oiler. This is a force feed system with guage on the dash and a system that insures a positive, even flow of oil to all the working parts on the motor. It reduces the amount of oil consumed—prevents burned out connecting rod and crankshaft bearings and cylinder troubles, and increases the life and efficiency of motor.

SLAVS ADVANCE ON STOKHOD

Village of Tobol Changes Hands Several Times During Battle—Berlin Admits Muscovites Have Crossed River at New Point—Claims Carpathian Gain.

Petrograd, Aug. 21.—After breaking through the Stokhod line in Volhynia the Russians made a further advance and captured several positions, the war office announces. Spirited fighting is in progress in the Carpathians near the Hungarian Bukowina frontier. The announcement says:

"In the region west of Lake Nobel German attacks were repulsed with heavy enemy losses.

"On the River Stokhod in the region of the village of Rubkachervische we captured Tcherische farm and several heights. There was a stubborn fight for the village of Tobol, which, after changing hands several times, finally remained in our possession. Cossack cavalry attacked, killing more than 200 Austrians.

"In this region we captured six officers, more than 600 men, fifteen machine guns, two mine throwers, one searchlight and telephone apparatus.

Russians Seize Heights.

"In the direction of Korosmezo (in Hungary three miles from the border), our troops drove back the enemy to the heights west of Jablonitza and Voronka, and ocupied the heights.

"On the Bialy-Cheremosh river, in the region of Dolgopol, our detachments pushed back the enemy, thus making a slight advance in the direction of Fereskul.

"In the direction of Kirlibaba, to the north, the enemy launched attacks on the heights. These we repulsed and we occupied the heights."

Continue Stokhod Fight.

Berlin, Aug. 21.—The day's announcement respecting the eastern front reports that Russian troops at one point crossed the Stokhod river and that the fighting continues. In the Carpathians the Teutonic troops advanced.

TO EXONERATE WIFE OF SHERIFF COLLINS

Muskegon Woman Not to Blame for Jail Delivery.

Muskegon, Aug. 21.—Although no decision will be announced by Prosecuting Attorney Harris E. Galpin for several days it is known that the case against Mrs. Sarah J. Collins, wife of Sheriff Fred J. Collins, of Muskegon, accused of aiding Joe Bodnar, of Detroit, and John Brown, of Chicago, to escape from the county jail, will be dropped before the end of the coming week, probably shortly after Mrs. Collins returns from the psycopathic ward at the state hospital at Ann Arbor next Wednesday.

Mrs. Collins has been pronounced sane by Dr. Alber M. Barrett, director of the ward, although he found Mrs. Collins subject to headaches and kindred disorders which completely incapacitated her at times.

Joe Bodnar, held at Chicago on two charges, one of them the swindling of Frank Farkas, a Muskegon Heights merchant, out of $1,500, is eager to free Mrs. Collins of any implication with his escape. The charges against her, Sheriff Collins asserts, were made by his political enemies who hope to make capital out of the incident. Deputy Sheriff Charles Burnet, who went to Chicago to identify Bodnar and who will bring him back about September 1 when the other Bodnar case is brought before the grand jury here, reported that Mrs. Collins had nothing to do with the escape of the two prisoners.

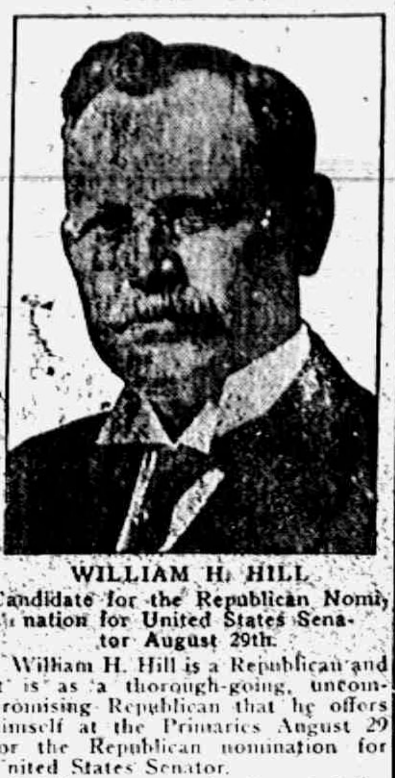
THE OFFICE, THE PARTY, AND THE MAN



WILLIAM H. HILL

Candidate for the Republican Nomination for United States Senator August 29th.

William H. Hill is a Republican and it is as a thorough-going, uncompromising Republican that he offers himself at the Primaries August 29 for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

But there are certain characteristics of Mr. Hill's Republicanism that he wishes thoroughly understood. He is neither a radical, nor a conservative; least of all is he a reactionary.

By radicalism Mr. Hill understands action not based on good judgment and common sense; by conservatism, a lack of action that amounts to timidity, failure to grasp new conditions; by reactionism, no action at all—stagnation.

Mr. Hill is progressive in his practice and application of Republican theory and doctrine.

By that he means that he recognizes new facts, new conditions, when they arise and believes that theory and principles of government should be adapted to fit these new facts and conditions.

There should always be progress. One cannot stand still. One should advance with the times—molding and adapting principles to the new problems that arise, but never altering the fundamentals. It is this sort of Republicanism that Mr. Hill practices and will practice.

That he has the courage of his convictions was proved in 1912 when, believing that the conditions of that hour demanded it, he followed Colonel Roosevelt. He ran for Congressman-at-large and polled the largest vote, next to Roosevelt, running ahead of his ticket 20,000, and exceeding the vote of the Republican nominee for governor by 5,000.

Mr. Hill remains unshaken in his belief in the soundness of the progressive Republican theories. Those who believe in progressivism as a necessary element in all political theory and who supported Mr. Hill so generously in 1912 may rest assured that the same ideals of government for which he stood at that time will actuate his conduct if he is nominated for United States Senator and elect on the Republican ticket.

Support him as you did four years ago and it will mean that the advocates of progress and humanity will have a friend in court. The Primaries are August 29th. Get out and put an X before the name of Wm. H. Hill.

WILL FIGHT TAX BOOST

Muskegon County Officials Resent Higher Equalization.

Muskegon, Aug. 21.—City Assessor William Moore and Supervisor W. H. Kline, chairman of the equalization committee of the Muskegon county board of supervisors are in Lansing to fight a rumored big increase in Muskegon county's valuation at the state equalization board's meeting.

Local assessing officers got wind of the fact that Secretary Gurgess, of the state tax commission, wrote a letter in which he said Muskegon property had advanced in value 25 per cent since the state tax commission reassessment last year.

COMMUNICATION

This article is in no sense written as an excuse but simply to state plain facts regarding last weeks Carnival Appearance on our streets. The Bargain Day committee composed of eleven business men on the street did vote to allow the Carnival Co. to come to Tecumseh. They did not however give them the use of the streets until they had obtained the consent of a majority of the council and also a very strong majority vote of the business men along the street The business men voting as follows.

Those voting for the Carnival on the street were Jones & Son, Heesens, Coscarelli, Service & Son, Satterthwaite, Wright & Son, Tribolet, Miss Chase, Electric Co., Williamson, Peters, Campbell, Rogers, L. Coller, W. Anderson Co., McCann & Bowen, Pocklington, Liley State Bank,, Taylor, Candy Kitchen, Nevison, Kolkloesch, Will Coller, A. Clark, Ed Mark F. Turner, Royal Theater, Lowry, Hotel Barrett, State Savings Bank, Rude, Garlinghouse, Moore Bros., Williamson Garage, Hunt, L. Temple, Ed Brown, H. K. Hay. Total 38.

Those voting for the Carnival in the Park were Anderson Co., Gilbert, Rosacrans & Son, Whitenack, McDermott, Avery, Snedicor. Total 7.

Those voting that they did not care were Aldrich & Son, Broderick, Miss Owens, Palman, Miss Gillespie, Macham, Nyland, Gaston & Son, Pulver. Co-Operative. Total 10.

Those voting that they did not want it at all was Guy E. Belding.

In connection with above vote will say Mr. Frank Avery was not seen when the vote was taken. The committee however had been told by him how he felt and voted him as above.

After this vote was taken the Bargain Day Committee (not all the business men as was referred to in your last issue) were called together. They were all notified but two men who we could not find, however. Out of eleven on the committee only four came to the meeting. Two sent word that they favored the streets, two sent word they did not care and the other three did not appear.

The committee are willing to take full responsibility for the Carnival yet feel that if those who kick them after a thing is done would use one half that same energy in helping them with their work it would materily improve things.

Bargain Day Committee.

Editor Herald,

Dear Sir: I wish to explain the Carnival proposition and also try and enlighten our dear friend and business associate, Mr. F. D Avery, where he is very much wrong in his article in your issue of Friday last

He says he understood there was a business men's meeting called but could not find any one who had been asked to the meeting, but found on good authority that it was all settled by four business men.

There was no business men's meeting called, but there was a meeting of the entertainment committee called. The committee are as follows: F. S. Anderson, J. Nyland, H. S. Temple, W. L. Jones, Don Wright, Leon Rosacrans, C. A. Wright, E. C. Brown, Leon Williamson, Leon Temple and Guy Nemire.

They were all seen with the exception of two and expressed themselves in favor of having the Carnival on Chicago street. The Carnival wanted to come here, so someone on the committee saw what members of the council were in town and they said let them come They then circulated a paper among the business men to see whether they wanted it on Chicago street or in the Park. Thirty-seven signed for Chicago street, seven or eight in Park and eight did not care where they went or whether they came at all.

The Carnival came to Chicago street, in my opinion the proper place as there is always a good deal of noise and I don't think it right to put anything of this kind in the residence district where there is always a lot of people running over your lawns and misusing your outbuildings so that they are unfit for your own family to use.

The streets were roped off at night for the protection of all and probably made it a little inconvenient for some coming from the country to find places to hitch, but it only comes once in a life time, so let us all take the bitter with the sweet and try and pull together once more.

The entertainment committee has given a great deal of their time and even neglected their own business in trying to have everything move along in good shape and also look after the welfare of all, and especially those coming in autos to see that they get out without accident They have certainly done well and deserve help instead of criticisms.

Mr. Avery did not sign the paper as he was not at his place of business, but was seen that evening and said have it in the park but not on Chicago street.

It looks now from his article as if he was trying to gain a little notoriety at the expense of some one else, so I would be very glad if the committee would call a meeting of business men and resign in favor of Mr. Avery. Let him have full charge of everything and see what a fine run affair it would be I would be glad to assist him in every way possible for I have charity for the man who has no mind of his own and who is always in hot water over something

THORNTON DIXON OF MONROE CANDIDATE FOR THE NOMINATION OF CONGRESSMAN.

Candidate for Nomination for Representative in Congress, Second District.

One last earnest word to every voter who believes in the principles of the Republican party and would bring back the Second Congressional District to the support of those principles

Once defeated in the primaries, and two years later defeated at the polls, one candidate is resorting to every means to again carry the District to defeat.

The only way to avoid this is to vote for Thornton Dixon on Tuesday next Mr. Dixon's private and public character is proof against malignant attacks; he is in the prime of life, full of vigor and activity, a reliant and successful man, and pledged to faithfully, fully and fearlessly represent the interests of the District, the State, the Nation and the broad principles of the Republican faith

A VOTE FOR THORNTON DIXON at the primaries August 29th, is a vote for sweeping Republican victory on November 7th. adv

BERT D. CHANDLER,

Candidate for Nomination on the Democratic Ticket for Congressman

Four years ago I was a candidate at the primary for Nominee for Congress on the Democratic ticket, and was opposed for the nomination by Samuel W. Beakes, Present Congressman. I was the choice of a majority of the democrats voting at the primary at that election, receiving a majority of seventeen over Mr. Beakes. Mr. Beakes petitioned for a recount in Lenawee County where I receivde a vote of four to his one, his Petition charging fraud.

The recount increased my majority to twenty-three, but it was discovered on the recount that the Inspectors of election, in several precincts, had initisled the primary ballots in the wrong place, viz: above the perforated line instead of below it. Mr. Beakes took immediate advantage of these technicalities, appealing to the Court to disfranchise these democrats who (through no fault of their own) had voted ballots not properly initialed by the Inspectors. It was in this manner that he secured the nomination in 1912.

Notwithstanding these tactics on the part of Mr. Beakes, in order to get the nomination, I gave him my hearty supporrt, several times appearing on the platform with him, and urging his election.

Mr. Beakes has now served the customary two terms. If I thought for a minute that his services were indispensable to the Nation, to this District, or to the Democratic party, I would certainly refrain from being a candidate, knowing otherwise, I am seeking the noimnation, and urge all Democrats who believe, in fair play to give me their support at the primaries.

I have always been active in Democratic politics, but have not been an office holder, the only office I have ever held being that of Circuit Judge of the Circnit in which I reside.

If I am nominated at the primary I will use all honorable means in an effort to be elected, and in case of my election will serve the people and the interests of this District to promise no more.

Bert D. Chandler.

Electricity.

No one knows what electricity is. We know some of the things that it will do. We have to a certain extent learned how to control it and for want of a better name, call it a fluid. We have discovered, too, that it is one of the most important forces, if not the most important force, of which we have any knowledge. We are almost as ignorant of many other great forces of nature—as, for example, the attraction of gravitation. For the present we must be content to observe such forces in action and to devise the best methods to control them. In this knowledge mankind has progressed wonderfully within a few years.—St Nicholas.

Only One Tyrol.

It is not correct to talk about "the Austrian Tyrol" or "the Italian Tyrol." Mr. Baillie-Grohman, one of the greatest authorities on "The Land In the Mountains," condemns such errors severely, insisting that there is only one Tyrol. He has denounced also the use of the article, declaring "the Tyrol" to be as wrong as "the Scotland" would be. Mr. Coolidge, however, pointed out to the present writer some years ago that, while Mr. Baillie-Grohman's long residence in the country naturally makes him take an accurate Austrian standpoint, "the Tyrol" is sufficiently established in English usage to justify an English author or tourist in using it.—London Standard

BUILDING A CHARACTER.

Let building up your character be your constant effort in life. If it is a little harder to build up character than reputation, it is only so in the beginning. For mere reputation, like a poorly built house, will cost as much for patching and repairs as would have made it thorough at first.—Beecher.

The illuminated runway over the heads of the audience, which is one of the many novel features that will be seen with the Million Dollar Doll, at the Bradley next Friday night, has created much interest wherever presented. This is the first company to present it outside of a fe wof the larger metropolitan cities. It will be put on here exactly as seen at the New York Winter Garden where it was a sensation for two years.

With the house darkened and the runway illuminated with colored lights, the chorus appears over the heads of the audience and the effect is said to be quite startling. 22 seats will have to be removed in order to place the big runway out over the audience, which extends out abotu 40 feet from the stage but the local management says everything will be done to give patrons of the Bradley the show exactly the same as all of the big cities get it. The management is also going to the enormous expense of getting the orchestra from Adrian to furnish the music for the 22 big musical hits so that nothing will be lacking in putting on the big production.

The company carries 40 people. a car load of special scenery and some wonderful electrical effects and will undoubtly prove a big opening attraction for the current theatrical season at the Bradley.

THE WIND UP OF THE CARNIVAL

The Crescent City Shows, who have been holding a carnival upon our main street in the business section, closed their week's stand Saturday night and Sunday pulled stakes. Monday morning they left for Prairie Depot, Ohio, to fill an engagement at that place.

Friday night a fair crowd were on the street but Saturday night the streets were again full of people and the shows were well patronised. The younger element was busy throwing confetti and everyone seemed to be having a good time and kept it up until nearly midnight

MAN OF BIG AFFAIRS FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

With a record of no failures, Frank B. Leland offers his varied and extensive business experience and equipment to his native state. Wayne county solid for him—the first candidate since Pingree to enjoy such a distinction.

THE GOVERNOR QUESTION Frand B. Leland

(An editorial from the Charlotte Tribune of August 9, the publication that so loyally backed Lieutenant-Governor Dickinson for Governor, now supporting Mr. Leland.)

With Lientenant Governor L. D. Dickinson, Eaton County's former candidate for the gubernatorial race, out of the field for governor, the voters will be turning to one or another of the candidates for the place and Frank B. Leland of Detroit seems to meet with considerable favor in local circles and is also making strong gains throughout the state. Wayne county will give Mr. Leland almost solid support as at a recent meeting of various factions it appeared that all were united on him.

Mr. Leland was born on an Oakland county farm and today owns and operates the farm on which his boyhood was spent. He worked his way through the University of Michigan, and has made good as a lawyer in Flint and Detroit. He has been twice elected a regent of the University of Michigan, which office he has filled with credit and ability as is evidenced by the great support he is receiving from the thousands of University alumni.

Mr. Leland organized a savings bank, of which he has been president for 15 years, and it a thooroughly capable business man who would make a governor strong enough to bring about improved methods in the state's system of taxation and expenditures, concerning which he has expressed himself in no uncertain terms.

Mr. Leland is a man of high ideals, undaunted courage and tireless industry and his election to the office of governor would mean the inauguration of many important public improvements, with a big reduction in expenses, which would be a relief to the overburdened taxpayers of the state. Mr. Leland is not tied to any of the factions or interests and as governor, would be in a better position to give the state better service than if he had alliance with the past and promises for the future. He has no elements of weakness to defend or explain.

Michigan needs an honest man of governor and one of ability, courage, broadedmindedness and good common sense.

Such a man is FRANK B. LELAND

(Detroit News editorial Aug. 5, '16.)

Now that the Wayne county and Detroit republican organizations are pledged to Frank B. Leland's candidacy for governor, his chances of securing the nomination have been greatly improved. Detroit has not produced a governor since Pingree —and Michigan admits that he was a good one. But Mr. Leland has more than a geographical claim to consideration. He combines the education and training of a lawyer with those of a business man, and is thus fitted not only to give Michigan that "business administration" which of late years has been so clamorously desired by certain groups, but also to give expert attention to legislation.

Mr. Leland has never been an office seeker. His election as regent of the University of Michigan in 1907 and again in 1913 gave him a place of honor rather than of political influence. It was a position in which executive capcaity was needed, and this Mr. Leland showed he had. In another field of public service he has won popular esteem—the fight against tuberculosis. There he has shown fine qualities of organization and leadership.

Michigan republicans will do well to consider the qualifications of the Wayne County candidate and to compare them with those of other Wayne county candidate, and to would be a mistake to choose him merely because Detroit may feel that this city is entitled to consideration. But if his record and his abilities, his broadmindedness and his freedom from factionalism appeal to the party, it should not let minor considerations influence it.

Liberal Education.

Liberal education is an end in itself apart from all its utilities and applications. When we teach a child to read our primary aim is not to enable it to decipher a waybill or a receipt, but to kindle its imagination, enlarge its vision and open for it the avenues of knowledge. The same is true of a liberal education on its utmost reach. Its chief objects for the individual are development, inspiration and exaltation the practical advantages which flow from it are incidental, not paramount —Charles William Eliot.

Malay Houses.

Malay houses are invariably built on posts so as to raise the floor from four to six feet above the ground. The floor is composed of bamboo, with interstices between slats, the earth beneath becoming the receptacle of the drainage of the establishment. The universal plan of the well to do natives is to build the house in two divisions, the front one for receiving visitors and lounging generally, while the rear portion is reserved for the women and children.

Wise Precaution.

Mrs. Jones was about to go away for a couple of weeks, and her husband said to her:

"My dear, I want to ask you one favor before you go."

"What is it?" questioned Mrs. Jones.

"Don't try to put the house in order before you go," replied Jones.

"Why, it isn't hard work," continued Mrs. Jones.

"Perhaps not," replied Jones, "but think of the expense of telegraphing to you every time I want to find anything."—New York Times.

The Laughing Hyena.

Although the hysterical laughter of the laughing hyena is not, as was once supposed, the outcome of a deliberate attempt to decoy unwary travelers to their doom, this strange animal is, nevertheless, one of the most cunning of dumb animals. He is so suspicious of everything he does not understand that the sight of even a bit of string at once puts him on his guard. Trappers are aware of this fact and generally use the stems of creeping plants instead of string of any kind in setting their spring traps.

FRED DAISHER'S FARM HOME IN RAISIN IN RUINS

Fire discovered early this morning

About three o'clock this morning Fred Daisher and family, who live on the old Conkling farm in Raisin, were wakened by suffocating smoke and soon discovered that their home was in flames. Quick work enabled them to get the children out of the house and into a place of safety, but they were unable to save any of the contents of the house, not even their clothes. Everything was lost.

The fire broke out at such an early hour that it was difficult to arouse the neighbors, but they soon gathered to render what aid they could.

The barns being quite a distance from the house, were saved. As yet the cause of the fire has not been discovered and we are unable at this time to say how much insurance Mr. Daisher carried. Fire is a good servant, but the moment it becomes master it is cruel.

SUDDEN DEATH

JOHN GASTON, A PROMINENT BUSINESS MAN, DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Passes Away at 5 o'clock Saturday Afternoon, August 19, 1916.

The whole community was inexpressibly shocked Saturday evening when the word come that John Gaston had just passed away

He had been on the street and at his place of business until Thursday forenoon, when he complained of feeling ill, went to his home, where he took to his bed at once, and at five o'clock Saturday p. m he passed away very peacefully.

He had symptoms of appendicitis, but was thought to be doing well till within a half hour of his death.

John Gaston was born April 19, 1875, in the house on South Pearl Street that has always been his home.

He never married but has been a faithful son and brother, leaving to mourn his loss his father Wm Gaston, two sisters, Mrs Chas Burridge and Mrs. Ed. Heilman, a little niece Alice Gaston Hall, and a nephew Gaston Burridge.

He began his business life as news boy and clerk with Adamson Bros. in the place now occupied by the State Savings Bank and in 1900 he and his father purchased the jewelry stock of E. J. Peters who remained with them about three years.

He has been a successful business man, his business activities being extended over a wide area of country and has customers in all the nearby towns who will regret to hear of his sudden death

For years he has been a familiar figure on our streets, always ready with a jovial cheery greeting. Every school child will miss him for he never failed to hail them with a pleasant word,

He was a member of the K. of P. lodge, the Eagles and the K O. T. M., while not allied with any Church, yet he always gave for the support of the Presbyterian church, whose pastor Rev W A Rex has returned from Kansas City, Mo, to render the last sad funeral rites which were conducted at the home this afternoon with burial on the family lot at Brookside

ISAAC WOLCOTT

Isaac Wolcott, an old time resident of Tecumseh but for several years living in Toledo passed away in that city Sunday evening at 5 o'clock aged 82 years.

The remains were brought here, and the funeral held at the Baptist church this morning at 10 o'clock, the Rev. W. B. Hartzog officiating, burial in Brookside cemetery by the side of his wife who passed away a number of years ago.

Mr. Wolcott was identified with the business interests of Tecumseh for many years being one of the firm of Wolcott & Temple and later The Temple, McClure & Co, in the lumber business. Later he went to Toledo where he has since made his home. He is survived by a number of nephews and nieces, his wife and all the older members of his family having preceeded him to the better country.

Mr and Mrs. Clyde Heck were over from Adrian Saturday night.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by ctaarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Cattarh Cure. Send for circular, free.

WILSON STANDS BY 8-HOUR PLAN

Too Late to Arbitrate, President Says in Telegram.

REPLIES TO MANUFACTURERS

Whole Economic Movement Points to Eight-Hour Day, He Declares—Only Concession He Asks Roads to Make—Advises National Agency to Prevent Recurrence of Situation.

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Wilson made it clear to the railroad executives that he will stand pat on his plan to avert the threatened railroad strike.

In a telegram to George Pope, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, he announced that arbitration at this time was impossible and that he had asked the railroads to concede nothing except the eight-hour day, "to which the whole economic movement of the times seems to point."

The railway managers and executives held separate meetings and prepared counter proposals to the president's plan.

Hill and Ripley En Route.

Word was received that Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern, will arrive in Washington today. E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe, also will arrive today. Both of these men have been quoted as saying they would not accept the president's plan. The announcement that they are coming sets at rest a report that they would ignore President Wilson's summons.

It is understood that in the event of a strike Mr. Wilson will have the railroads placed in the hands of federal receivers and operated on an eight-hour basis. This will in effect place them under government control.

For Arbitration Principle.

President Wilson sent the following telegram:

"THE WHITE HOUSE,
Aug. 20, 1916.

"Mr. George Pope,
"President National Association of Manufacturers,
"Hartford, Conn.;

"Allow me to acknowledge the receipt of your telegram of August 18 and to say in reply that I hold to the principle of arbitration with as clear a conviction and as a firm purpose as anyone, but unfortunately there is no means now in existence by which arbitration can be secured. The existing means have been tried and failed.

"This situation must never be allowed to rise again, but it has arisen. Some means must be found to prevent its recurrence, but no means can be found offhand or in a hurry or in season to meet the present national emergency.

Strengthen the Principle.

"What I am proposing does not weaken or discredit the principle of arbitration. It strengthens it rather. It proposes that nothing be conceded except the eight-hour day, to which the whole economic movement of the time seems to point, and the immediate creation of an agency for determining all the arbitrable elements in this case in the light, not of predictions or forecasts, but of established and ascertained facts.

"This is the first stage of the direct road to the discovery of the best permanent basis for arbitration, whether other means than those now available are supplied.

"Woodrow Wilson."

GREEK ELECTION IN OCTOBER

Berlin News Agency Says Allies Send Out Biased Reports.

Berlin, Aug. 21.—The general elections in Greece will be held in October according to advices received by the Overseas News agency.

"Greece is cut off entirely from news of the central powers," the agency adds. "Agents of the other belligerents are spreading broadcast news favorable to their governments, making predictions as to coming events without fear of contradiction."

White House in New Jersey.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Transfer of President Wilson's executive headquarters from Washington to Asbury Park, N. J., has been made. Sept. 1 the working force of the executive offices will depart and when the president receives notification of his renomination Sept. 2, the summer "White House" will be completely established in Long Branch.

Compensation Act Passed.

Washington, Aug. 21.—The senate passed the workingmen's compensation bill without a roll call, following a futile effort by Senator Cummins of Iowa to amend it so as to give the secretary of labor, and not the commission provided for in the measure, jurisdiction provided by the bill.

GEN. FRED FUNSTON

Border Commander Recommends Militia Withdrawal.

FUNSTON ADVISES RECALL OF TROOPS

Action May Affect Negotiations with Mexico.

Washington, Aug. 21.—A recommendation from General Funston that the American troops be withdrawn from Mexico was contained in a recent report on the military situation made at the request of the war department and designed for use of the joint commission which will discuss border problems. State department officials do not attempt to disguise their regret over the premature publication of General Funston's conclusions, but they indicated that it would not cause any alteration in plans.

Publication of the fact that General Funston believes it wise to withdraw the troops may hamper the American commissioners, some officials think in obtaining whatever guarantees they may ask of the Mexican government as to security of the border from bandit raids. It is believed the administration was fully prepared to arrange for the recall of General Pershing's force.

The Trans-forming Passion

A TALE OF LOWER MICHIGAN

By W. B. [illegible]

CHAPTER VIII

Love Reigns.

One day Miss Deviling told her mother that she desired to visit a friend in Michigan. She said she would not be gone long.

Arriving at Tecumseh, she hired a carriage and drove to the Worthington home. When she appeared at the door Lucy was terrified for she recognized the face of the woman whom she saw at the window. Her face wore a smile, however, that assured Lucy that she had no evil intent.

"Miss Worthington, this is Bertha Deviling, I have traveled all the way from Cleveland to ask you to forgive me, for bringing so much sorrow into your life. I do not know where Mr. Preston is or I would seek his forgiveness also."

"Miss Deviling, I forgive you, and I know that Charley will forgive you also," said Lucy.

Mrs. Worthington invited her to remain for dinner. She consented. After dinner Miss Deviling ventured to tell them what led her to make this long journey to beg Lucy's forgiveness. She said, "I read a beautiful sermon that changed my life. It was a discourse entitled, 'The Transforming Passion', by an anonymous writer. A friend of our family published it along with other discourses, and sent us a copy."

Lucy went into her room and brought forth a book and handed it to Miss Deviling.

"That is the book," said Miss Deviling. "How did you come to possess it?"

"Charles sent it to me and he is the author of the sermon you refer to," said Lucy.

"Is it possible!" said Miss Deviling. "What a strange Providence this is that has led me out of darkness into the marvelous light of God. I may never see Mr. Preston, but I hope you will tell him of the miraculous change his message has brought in my life. Tell him that love reigns in my life. I hope to hear of your marriage to Mr. Preston. You have my best wishes. You will excuse me now as I must meet the evening train for Toledo."

She was soon on her way. As she drove back to Tecumseh, she thought of that dreadful episode in her life when with murder in her heart, she sought the life of her rival. She thanked God that she had been changed and that the love of Christ was regant in her soul.

That afternoon Lucy wrote Charles a long letter, telling him all about the visit of Miss Deviling and the change that had been wrought in her life by his discourse on, "The Transforming Passion."

She reminded him of the sentence in his letter, "I am pleading with our Heavenly Father to restore Miss Deviling to her right mind, and to give her the spirit of Christ, it is not impossible for God to convert her and then she will forgive me."

When Charles received Lucy's letter, his soul was filled with thankfulness to God for the answer to his prayer. He wrote,

"My dear Lucy, now that the way has been cleared by our Heavenly Father, I will return to you soon and claim you as my bride."

The College year ended on the tenth of June. Charles had made all arrangements to return to Michigan. Accordingly he started the following day, arriving at Tecumseh on the fifteenth. Lucy met him. It was a happy meeting. All the barriers has been removed and Love reigned. June twentieth was their wedding day. Grandmother Lee put her arms about them and said, "My dear children this is a happy day in my life. What a strange Providence has brought this about."

They spent the summer on the old farm, their courtship, so tragically interrupted was renewed on the bosom of the beautiful lake. September found them speeding towards the Great West to seek their fortune.

The End

SENATE AGAIN TAKES UP IMMIGRATION BILL

Literacy Test Vetoed by President Is Included.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By 27 to 24 the senate voted to take up the immigration bill which the Democratic caucus had decided to postpone until next session. Nine Democrats voted with Republicans for the motion. When debate on the provisions relating to Asiatics was begun the galleries were cleared and consideration of those features proceeded in secret.

Passage of the bill seems assured by the day's action and it is predicted the bill will be brief. President Wilson vetoed the bill last year because of the literacy test. Some Democratic senators believe the presient will not veto the bill again, although it retains the literacy test.

The committee has amended the house bill in an effort to meet objections of Japan to the sections relating to Asiatic exclusion.

Women and Pain.

"You women bear pain more heroically than men." "Who told you that—a doctor?" "No; a shoemaker!"

A MAN WITH A POLITICAL MESSAGE FOR THE PEOPLE

WILLIAM H. HILL

Candidate for the Republican Nomination for United States Senator August 29th.

William H. Hill, of Detroit, who has tossed his hat into the ring for the nomination for United States Senator from Michigan on the Republican ticket, has a political message for the people that it would be well to heed.

Mr. Hill's long experience in the administration of large business affairs has given him a new conception of the viewpoint and the duties of office.

A close study of government affairs has convinced him that there is but one course to pursue in a Federal office. That is, to base every act on the fact that running a government is a business proposition for business men of experience and judgment.

He believes that the government of the United States should be regarded as a great corporation in which the 100,000,000 people of this country are the stockholders; and that the Senate and the House of Representatives constitute the "Board of Directors" of this corporation.

He believes that the members of the "board" should represent all the people all the time and not a favored few; and that the people should always be able to tell where their "directors" stand.

He asked: "Have the people of Michigan, the past few years, been able to tell where their senators stood, or where to find them?"

Mr. Hill is well fitted for the office he seeks and to realize his conception of its duties. Years of arduous training in the business world, wide travel in this and foreign countries and close study of history and government have given him exceptional equipment for the task. Thirty-one years of his life have been spent in Detroit where he is a successful manufacturing druggist, conducting one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country.

A Good Platform to Stand On—to Act On.

Here are the all-inclusive and progressive principles on which William H. Hill is basing his campaign:

- 100% Americanism and national security.
- Improvement of labor conditions.
- Protection of women and children.
- Conservation of national resources.
- A stable foundation for honorable enterprise.
- Rescuing commerce from uncertainty.
- Establishing a non-partisan tariff commission whose work shall be conducted on scientific and efficient lines.

Mr. Hill urges you to come out at the primaries August 29th. It is only by exercising your privileges at the Primaries that you can secure a new deal. Put an X before the name of William H. Hill August 29th.

Austro-Hungarians Attack at Points Away from Goritz Sector.

The Choice Of A Republican Congressional Candidate

Political Advertisement.

Does Congressman Beakes want to choose the candidate who will oppose him at the polls in November?

The charge has been made that he does, and moreover it is common talk among those interested in politics that he not only does, but that he made a desperate effort to assist in the choosing of a Republican candidate for congressman in the Second district. This committee does not charge that Mr. Beakes made such an effort, but it does believe that the voters of this county are entitled to the information which has reached the committee of the alleged activity of Mr. Beakes and his campaign committee in reference to the choice of a Republican candidate for congressman, hence this article.

The Adrian Telegram in a recent issue made the charge that Mr. Beakes and his committee had busied themselves in an effort to assist in the nomination of Mark Bacon of Wyandotte as the Republican candidate for congressman, believing him to be the weakest candidate of the three men who are now asking the votes of the Republicans of the Second congressional district.

The Telegram's article was published at the time Judge Bert Chandler of Hudson decided to enter the list against Mr. Beakes, the statement being made in the article that the entry of Judge Chandler would prevent the carrying out of a scheme hatched by Mr. Beakes and his political advisers to secure for Mr. Bacon the votes of a large number of Democrats at the primary in order to insure his nomination. This was done, the Telegram states, because Mr. Beakes and his advisers believe that Mr. Bacon is the weakest candidate and that Mr. Beakes having beaten him once would have little trouble doing it the second time. Judge Chandler's entry into the race against Mr. Beakes, the Telegram claims, put an end to the alleged scheme, because Mr. Beakes could not afford to permit his Democratic friends to cast their votes for Mr. Bacon.

As we stated at the beginning of this article, we do not charge that Mr. Beakes intended to ask Democrats to vote for Mr. Bacon in a vain hope that with such votes as Mr. Beakes could spare he would thus secure as his opponent a man whom he was confident of defeating at the polls in November, but if the charges are true certainly furnish Republicans who are anxious to nominate a man who can be elected (and we believe that every believer in the Republican policies wants such a man nominated), with the best possible argument for votin for Mr. Thornton Dixon of Monroe.

If Mr. Beakes were in a position to choose a candidate to oppose him at the polls he would naturally select the man whom he imagined would have the least possible chance of success at the November election. If he had it in mind to ask his supporters in every county to cast a certain number of votes for Mr. Bacon, he did so with the idea that Mr. Bacon is the man whom he can defeat most easily.

Through a peculiar provision of the Michigan primary law it would have been possible for Mr. Beakes and his friends to have contributed largely to the vote which will be cast for Mr. Bacon. With Mr. Beakes as the only Democratic candidate for the nomination, it would have required but a few votes to nominate him. In fact four or five hundred votes cast for him in the district would have insured his nomination beyond any question of doubt, being enough to give him a majority over any scattering votes which may be cast for other candidates.

We question very much whether Mr. Beakes' alleged scheme, clever as it was, would have resulted as he hoped had it been allowed to go through. Thornton Dixon's personal popularity, his wide knowledge of govenmental affairs, his ability as a business man and as a lawyer, and his eminent qaulification for the honor he seeks, are such that we bespeak for him a large proportion of the votes of Republicans in the district, so large, in fact, that we doubt very much if Democratic support for Mr. Bacon would have served to counterbalance it. But be that as it may, the alleged scheme was knocked into a "cocked hat" when Bert Chandler got into the race for the Deomcratic nomination, and Mr. Beakes will have to devote his time to fighting for a renomination instead of trying to choose for an opponent a man whom he believes he can defeat at the hustings.

Mr. Chandler's entry into the race came opportunely, and insures a clean-cut, straight-out contest among Republican candidates for the support of Republicans. In the selection of a Republican candidate to oppose the Democratic candidate Republicans do not desire the assistance, or perhaps it would be better to call it interference, of Democrats. Republicans want the issue to be clearly defined, and it will be. The issue as we see it, is the sentiment expressed by a prominent Republican recently and quoted before in these articles—"We want a man who can beat Beakes," and with Mr. Beakes kept busy within the confines of his own party, he will have no time to devote to assisting in the selection of a candidate on the Republican ticket.

These charges may be true or untrue. We do not profess to know, but we betray no political secret when we assert that Mr. Beakes and his managers would prefer to have Mr. Bacon nominated rather than Mr. Dixon. Mr. Dixon is, in fact, the only man of the Republican primary ticket of whom they are afraid, and you may rest assured that these astute politicians know exactly which of the three Republican candidates is the strongest.

See to it, Republicans, that in the selection of a candidate for the congressional election you choose a man who can beat Mr. Beakes. Cast your votes for Mr. Dixon who is the strongest man, and the man of whom Mr. Beakes is afraid.

Mr. Wall is a firm believer and an ardent advocate of an adequate preparedness policy for this country, preparedness not for war but for peace.

His views on Americanism can best be expressed by the following: "Let it be borne on the flag under which we rally in every exigency, that we have one country, one constitution, one destiny."

He stands for an equitable revision of the tariff along constructive lines.

He opposes the needless waste of public funds and looks upon government as a business proposition in which the best and more lasting results are to be obtained through the application of business principles.

ITALIAN TROOPS FOR BALKAN WAR

First Contingent of Latins Lands at Saloniki.

BULGARS MENACING KAVALA

Greek Army Retires Before Invaders. Civilians Flee — Germans Drive Southwest — Entente Allied Line Drives Back Bulgars on Other Fronts—Greek Authorities Permit Invasion.

LONDON, ENG — A general offensive along the entire Saloniki front was launched Sunday by the allies, according to a French war office statement. The Serbians have captured the Bulgarian first line on the left of the battle front, but have lost the town of Banica, south of Florina.

On the center and right wing heavy fighting is in progress. The British-French forces have crossed the Struma and are attacking Bulgarian positions northwest of Seres.

BERLIN — The German and Bulgarian forces which have taken the offensive on the western end of the Balkan front are pushing southward in Greece, the war office communication shows. They have wrested further positions from the Serbians and beaten off efforts to recapture ground won.

Italian Forces at Saloniki.

PARIS — Italian troops began to disembark at Saloniki Sunday, says the Havas dispatch from that point On leaving their ships, the dispatch says, the Italians passed through Saloniki to camp, preceded by military bands of the allies and cheered by the populace.

No further details of the operations on the Saloniki front are given in the report from the French army of the east, which shows that fighting is still in progress along the whole line. The announcement says:

"Operations are proceeding along the entire front."

Bulgars Push Toward Kavala.

ATHENS GREECE — Bulgarian forces moving toward Kavala have already pushed their outposts to a point seven miles from that Greek seaport. The Greek government has ordered three divisions of the Greek army remaining in the vicinity of Drama and Serres to retire before the Bulgarian advance, which is explained to a correspondent by a military authority of the entente allies as follows:

"The Serbians had not finished the consolidation of their positions in the Florina Caradjova and Corytsa sectors, and therefore the Bulgarians found it easy enough to force a certain retirement, but it is difficult to see where they expect to get by an advance at this part of the line. East of the Struma the Demir-Hissar and the Sarichaban sectors were noot held by the entente forces and offered no impediment to the advance. Where the enemy attacked the regular defenses of Saloniki—namely in the Doiran-Glezgeli sector—they accomplished nothing. As the attack has so far developed it is without strategic value and can only be assumed to be for political purposes."

If Flint aldermen who voted into effect the new local option ordinance requiring each person delivering liquor to pay an annual license fee of $100 are to get their ordinance enforced, they may have to do it themselves, using their authority as police officers.

STRIKE PERILS NATION, WILSON

Rail Conferences Are Still on at Washington.

PRESIDENT MUCH IN EARNEST

Chief Executive Warns Railroad Heads That Verdict of Great American Jury Would Be Against Them if Strike Came—Hints at War Complications, Also.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Wilson renewed his demand for an eight-hour day on the railroads and gave solemn warning that harmony such as would guarantee efficiency was most essential to national preparedness. He hinted at complications which might result from the European war. He intimated a strike would likely result in an adverse verdict against the railroads by the "great American jury."

The executives were called unexpectedly to the White House with as little formality as would have been observed in sending for a congressional committee. The gathering included L. W. Hill of the Great Northern and many other new arrivals. The president greeted the assembled officials in the blue room. His manner was as solemn as the brief address which followed. The effect is believed to have placed the executives wholly on the defensive. It is understood they will not go again to the White House until they can find some compromise plan to offer.

At the point where he exhibited the greatest concern over the outcome President Wilson said:

"I will not allow passion to come into my thoughts in this solemn matter. We are both acting as trustees of great interests. I am willing to allow the matter to go to he American jury and let them assess the responsibility. The responsibility of failure will not rest with me.

Points Out Consequences.

"I wish you to consider the consequences as affecting the people in the cities and the countrysides of a failure to agree. The country cannot live if the means of keeping alive its vitality are interfered with.

"The lives and fortunes of 100,000,000 men, women and children—many of whom may die—depend on what may be done in this room. I appeal to you as one American citizen to another to avert this disaster."

An additional summary of the president's statement, as given out at the White House, follows:

"This talk was more intimate and has reference more to the disastrous effect of a strike when every ounce of American energy and initiative would have to be mobilized to meet the extraordinary situation that will immediately emerge out of the European war.

U. S. Can Be Isolated.

"The president said the war had taught this country that it could no longer remain isolated and provincial. He said by reason of its position in the affairs of the world, we must be ready to play our role as one of the dominant influences in world affairs.'

"He also said the accommodation and adjustment of these interests in harmony was a necessary part of national defense—'for our great national resources could not be made available or mobilized in this emergency unless the railroads are made serviceable instrumentalities for backing up any plan of national defense.'"

Persons qualified to speak for the executives are more confident there will be no strike. The impression prevails that ultimately the executives and managers will give in to President Wilson, obtaining the same time any concessions they may from the White House.

The atmosphere is changed.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Tuesday, Aug. 15.—Emperor William has gone to the eastern front to superintend in person the Austro-German operations. The Czar's army is continuing to force crossings of the Zlota Lipa river in Galicia, while in the Carpathians the Russians occupied Jablonica.

Italians southeast of Goritz advanced to within thirteen miles of Trieste. The Italian army operating east of Goritz has entered the suburbs of Tolmino, the next greatest fortress to Goritz along the Isonzo.

Wednesday, Aug. 16.—The entente allies captured a line of German trenches on a front of 1,500 meters (1,640 yards) to the north of Maurepas in the Somme region, and the French troops occupied all the German positions east of the Maurepas-Clery road, and in addition German trenches 1,200 meters (1,312 yards) long, to the south of Belloyen-Santerre, were captured. The total gain claimed by Paris is about three miles long and 500 yards deep.

The announcement is made by the Petrograd war office that 358,602 Teutonic prisoners have been taken in a little more than two months. This statement indicates that the total Austro-German losses since General Brussiloff's offensive was launched amounts to almost 1,500,000 men. General Brussiloff's advance continues.

Thursday, Aug. 17.—For the first time in over a week Petrograd reports no gains in the Russian offensive.

British and French made further gains on the Somme, which Berlin admits.

The Italians are within eleven miles of Trieste.

The allies have captured a town and fortified position known as the "Turtle Back" in Bulgaria.

Friday, Aug. 18.—The French made further progress in the village of Maurepas and also along the road from Maurepas to Clery. At Fleury, east of the Meuse, the French expelled the Germans from part of the town which had been captured.

The Russian advance, checked at other points, continues into Hungary.

The Portuguese minister of war announces that Portuguese troops are to join the allies in France.

The Teutonic allies have taken the offensive on the Balkan front and captured the Greek town of Florina from Serbian troops, the German war office announces.

Saturday, Aug. 19.—British forces on the Somme gained trenches on a front aggregating over eleven miles and took many prisoners. French forces advanced with the British, but not to so great an extent.

Verdun again was the scene of a French victory, when German forces were driven from their last foothold in Fleury.

Russian forces again smashed through Austro-German resistance and made headway both in the Carpathians and toward Kovel.

Sunday, Aug. 20.—A strongly fortified wood between Guillemont and Maurepas was captured with a great amount of war material by the French

After breaking through the Stokhod line in Volhynia the Russians made a further advance and captured several positions. Spirited fighting is in progress in the Carpathians near the Hungarian Bukowina frontier.

Two British light cruisers, the Nottingham and Falmouth, were sunk Saturday in the North Sea by German submarines. One German submarine was [illegible] by the British, while another was rammed and possibly sunk.

"JAPLAND"

Season's Newest Offering.

The new manner of Show—An operatic minstrel Farce Comedy—with John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels and a beautiful Geisha girl chorus, at the Bradley Opera House, Thursday August 31.

"Japland," one of the largest traveling organizations, employing the joint services of John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels in its entirety, also a complete caste for opera, a girl chorus of twenty, concert band and double symphony orchestra, will be seen at the Bradley Opera House, next week Thursday, August 31st.

The book deals with the world's tour of a famous grand opera company which encounters opposition at Tokio with American minstrels. An informal reception in their honor is held in the tea garden of the Mikado, the band and orchestra of Vogel's Big Minstrels furnishing the music for the occasion

A grand double performance in the form of an out-of-doors cabaret is the result of the meeting the artists of both combinations endeavoring to outdo the other that the Mikado and his suite be entertained in royal American fashion.

The minstrels give their first-part in costume, and the operatic contingent sing selections from the many compositions in their vast repertoire the numbers including a duet from "Pinafore," trio from "Iolanthe," the Swan Song from "Lohengrin," "Three Little Maids" from "The Mikado" and the sextette from "Lucia."

The specialties from the minstrel olio prevent monotony and the beautiful girl chorus lures the hearts of the Japanese onlookers with captivating tango gyrations and pretty gowns.

The play is in two acts and fourteen scenes, all carried by the company, and is pictorially, as well as for gorgeous costuming, a grand spectacle entirely worth while, superior in every way to that seen with the average road show Seats Wednesday at Hay's bakery 'Phone 99.

How Taxes Can Be Lowered. Personal From Candidate Sleeper, Will not Buy Governorship Nor Violate the Law to Get It.

(By Albert E. Sleeper.)

There are few facts in connection with my campaign for the republican nomination for governor that I wish to call to the attention of the readers of this paper.

Briefly, you want to know what I stand for and what I expect to do if elected. I want what you want—a clean, sane and economical administration of the office of governor. If the people of Michigan will nominate and elect me, I promise you that administration, so far as it lies within my power to give it.

Promises are easily made; performances are what count. When I was state treasurer I would not stand for graft and waste and the multiplying of useless offices, and I do not and will not stand for them now. Our taxes have mounted, the past several years, out of all proportion of what they should be. I am for a lower tax rate. The way to get a lower tax rate is not by blind stinginess, but by careful, scientific business methods. These methods will cut out duplication of labor, useless jobs, and laxness of accountability and responsibility. I have made a business system of work for economy in my own affairs; I can do as well, I think, for the state affairs.

The time has come when the machinery of the state government should be reformed so that it shall be competent to attend to the state's business. We should not run a railroad with a stage coach organization. We should learn a lesson from the great business organizations which have reduced the cost of production and enlarged and bettered their output. In other words, we need more efficiency in state affairs—more business and less politics.

The Bay City Convention.

Remember, too, that I was not involved in those unfortunate convention squabbles at Bay City and Chicago in 1912 and at Grand Rapids in 1914, with their resulting party divisions and that I am simply an every day, plain, American republican without frills, factions or isms.

If I am your governor, I will be your servant, spend your money as I would my own, as I did when state treasurer, and endeavor to make a public dollar go as far as a private dollar every time.

The constitution makes the governor responsible for state expenses by giving him the veto over each item in each apportoriation. We should have a budget law but until then this veto power will make me responsible and I will use it.

State's Waste Lands.

We should give some intelligent help to home seekers and settlers on our unimproved lands. Such should be helped directly or indirectly by the state to buy and improve these lands by giving them a chance to borrow money at a low rate of interest. If I am governor, I will try and bring this about.

We should have better and more uniform accounting methods for both our unfortunates, removing and regulating conditions where possible, which are now productive of increased feeble mindedness, insanity our state institutions and our counties. We should take better care of clique or interest or body of men and poverty and make the institutions and their inmates more self-sustaining.

Campaign Canards.

You have been told many things in this campaign and you know how to discount campaign "arguments" which are mere unfounded assertions. For instance, it has been said that I am the candidate of the liquor interests. I am not a candidate of any whatsoever. If in Michigan the election goes dry next fall, and I am elected governor, I pledge you that the liquor laws will be rigorously enforced. I pledge you that if the statewide amendment is not carried and I am elected, liquor law enforcement will be just as vigorous.

Furthermore, I don't want the governorship if I have to buy it, nor do I want it if I have to break the law to get it.

Respectfully,
ALBERT E. SLEEPER.

A PERSONAL GUARANTEE!

"The Million Dollar Doll" at the Bradley, Tonight, O. K. in every Way!

I saw 'The Million Dollar Doll' at Adrian last night and can personally guarantee it in every way. The costumes, scenery and electrical effects are all new and as the 'advance agent' said a 'very riot of color.' [illegible] us are exceptionally good especially the numbers given on the 'runway' which received anywhere form three to six encores.

The entire [illegible] orchestra will be used at the Bradley tonight, which will give our patrons exactly the same music as at Adrian last night. These men having played the show will be all the better prepared for the music here.

The people of Tecumseh adn vicinity will feel amply repaid, I am sure, for time and money spent in seeing "The Million Dollar Doll" I doubt if there is a better staged, singing and dancing show on the road this season at these prices.

Respectfully,
Ed. L. Mark, Mgr.,
The Bradley.

OUR SHOW

Although we have been very gay for the last two weeks with our carnival week and circus, yet our Wednesday Bargain Day drew a large crowd. A two act feature in the afternoon was enjoyed by quite a number from out of town as well as by our own people.

At 5:30 Ed Hastings, an old Tecumseh boy but now of Jackson, made a balloon ascension. This was scheduled for 4 o'clock, but, owing to the high wind, he delayed it until later. He rose straight up over the town to a height of 4000 ft. and his ascension and drop were plainly visible to all. He landed in a field southwest of the macaroni factory, not more than half a mile from his starting point

In the evening the Tipton band gave a concert and two acts were given. In the first act Teddy and May were seen in a balancing and ball bounding performance. The second act was given by the Mexican Kids in their contortion stunts. This was exceedingly good, in fact one of the best given here.

The evening was cool and pleasant which added to the enjoyment of all.

NEWS FROM DR. HAMMEL

We are in receipt of a letter from Dr Hammel, 1st Lieut. M R C., who is now located at Marfa, Texas. He made the trip from Adrian to SanAntonio in 72 hours and it was a hot dusty trip, but pleasing scenery most of the way—Illinois with its wonderful acres of corn, Arkansas with its rocks. mules and 'houn' dawgs" and Texas with its rich farming country and fields of cotton.

He is now about 60 miles from the border in a small hospital which cares for the sick and wounded from the Big Bend district. This is the ground for raids as on the American side the towns are few and far between and on the Mexican fairly well populated.

He closes his letter by saying, "It is so dark and so cold 'up on this here mounting' that I shall desist from further intrusion on your time' His letter is breezy and alive throughout and very interesting.

The Coop & Lent's Show arrived in Tecumseh early Tuesday morning as advertised and pitched their tents in the Atlelic Park in the south part of town. The street parade was advertised to be given at 10 o'clock, but it was past noon before they appeared on the strreet. Those who waited for it were amply repaid for they gave one of the finest street parades that has been given in Tecumseh for years. A noticeable feature of the parade was the bunch of nine horses.

Two shows, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. The attendance at the afternoon performance was very light.

A fairly good crowd attended in the evening, but were much disappointed with the show, as the management cut out several of their best acts and evidently shortened some that were given, for the whole evenings program was given in less than an hour. Some very good acts were given, but in our opinion, a large proportion was no better than we have had on our streets Wednesday nights.

Will Jewell reported to Deputy Smith the theft of his bicycle, which was supposedly taken by some one connected with the show. Smith got busy on the case, and reported to the management and before they left town the bicycle was left with Mr. Tenny, night watch at the Macaorni factory who notified Deputy Smith at once. It is reported that Jewell, hoping to recover his wheel, boarded the circus train and has not been heard from since. No other theft was reported to the police.

MACON TENT MEETINGS

The revival meetings which are being conducted by Evangelist Fred S. Weaver in a tent at Macon are growing in interest. In spite of the hot weather last Sunday the attendance was good.

In the afternoon Mr. Weaver spoke on "How to Win Souls to Christ." The audience manifested intense interest throughout the entire address, both laughter and tears being in evidence. The close of the meeting witnessed a tremendous demonstration as a large majority of the audience crowded to the front and by grasping the hand of the evangelist, pledged that they would do all in their power to make the meetings a success.

The Presbyterian people, headed by their pastor Rev. Wood, called off their Sunday services and came marching over to tent in a body showing their willingness to join their forces with the Methodists and work together for the saving of the lost

Next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 the evangelist will speak on the subject, "The Baptism of the Holy Spirit." In the evening at 7:45 "The Three Lost Men of Macon" There will be special singing at the evening service.

ALL WELL AT SAND LAKE.

There has been persistent rumors that there has been but one case, paralysis at Sand Lake. Where those rumors come from is hard to say, but the truth of the matter is that there has bee nbut one case, that of the Hartman child. This child was taken to Toledo as soon as she became ill and before any distinctive symptoms had appeared. Word comes from Toledo that there is serious doubt if the child had the disease at all and she is recovering rapidly.

The colony at the lake is not at all worried and the parents consider their children safer there than at home.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by ctaarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Cattarh Cure. Send for circular, free.

BRITISH ADVANCE ON MARTINPUICH

Get Within 500 Yards of Somme Post.

LONDON, ENG. — Not only have the British held all the gains made in the Saturday advance on an eleven-mile front in the Somme region through the critical second day and night following it, but they have made another important gain. They are now within 500 yards of Martinpuich as a result of taking a trench which had held them up between Pozieres and High Wood.

Strong German detachments drove back British covering patrols northwest of High Wood, on the Somme front, but were stopped when they came under the fire of the British positions west of the wood, says the war office statement.

The Germans delivered a violent attack on Fleury near Verdun, at night, using flaming liquid, but without result, says the French war office statement.

ASHLAND, WIS. — David Mishand and Albert Meloche are reported dead and a third man missing as the result of an explosion at the Du Pont dynamite plant at Barksdale. The explosion shook buildings in Ashland. The cause has not been ascertained.

ROTTERDAM — The report that the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, Baron von Burian, will resign and be succeeded by Count Julius Andrassy, former Hungarian premier, is denied in a Vienna dispatch to the Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant. Baron von Burian, the dispatch says, will remain in office.

A bed bug disinfectant at Charlotte caused much excitement in the county jail when Harry Cronin drank the poison which was in his cell and as a result it was thought for some time that he would not recover.

LEAP YEAR WEDDING WINDS UP IN COURT

Canny Scot Fooled on Alleged "American Custom".

Detroit, Aug. 28.—John M. Davis came from Scotland's highlands to America in a leap year, 1912, expecting to find strange customs, along with Indians, cow boys and train bandits. In cultured Cambridge, Mass., Davis met Miss Isabelle Bain, who immediately introduced him to what she termed a "typical American custom,' i. e., the leap year proposal. Davis told his story in divorce court.

In America, Miss Bain gave Davis to understand, it was quite the regular thing for women to do the marriage proposing in leap year.

The Scotsman didn't enthuse over the strange custom. It struck him as being too American. But Miss Bain had a mind of her own, and Davis finally decided to be game; to do, while in America, as Americans do.

His decision was reached after Miss Bain had recounted glowingly the cozy life he should lead in a new house she had just purchased.

Immediately after the marriage, Davis said that he alearned that Mrs. Davis didn't love him; that the new house wasn't paid for and that he was expected to pay for it.

Davis said that he left upon his wife's laconic advice to "get out."

LIBERTY OF PRESS IN PERIL

Seventh Day Adventists Protest Against Censor Measure.

Allegan, Aug. 28.—Seventh Day Adventists of the West Michigan conference, in annual meeting at Allegan, have forwarded a memorial to the United States senate and to the house of representatives protesting against the enactment of certain legislation now before congress, which, in the opinion of the conference, if passed, would be destructive of the religious liberty of the people and of the freedom of the press.

Three press bills now before the house are included in the measures mentioned. The memorial declares that if passed these bills would result in a one-man censorship of the press and might result in the complete destruction of the freedom of the press without recourse to the courts.

Force of Habit.

A burglar went home one night, fumbled noiselessly at the keyhole and let himself in without making a sound. He was about to creep softly upstairs when his wife appeared on the upper landing. "Dan," said she, "wot makes ye come in so quiet?"

ITALY DECLARES WAR ON KAISER

Roumania Expected to Do Likewise at Once.

CROWDS PARADING IN ROME

Diplomats Believe Intervention by Roumania Against Central Powers Is Only Matter of Hours—Decision by Italy Will Permit Its Troops to Aid Joffre.

Rome, Aug. 28.—Baron Sonnino, minister of foreign affairs, announced that Italy considers herself in a state of war with Germany.

The official announcement of a state of war between Italy and Germany has aroused great enthusiasm here. Cheering crowds are parading the streets, applauding the government's decision.

Diplomatic circles here expect intervention in the war by Roumania against the central empire at once.

Officially Announced.

The official announcement of Italy's declaration of war on Germany, as given out here, follows:

"The Italian government declares in the name of the King that Italy considers herself to be in a state of war with Germany as from August 28, and begs the Swiss government to convey this information to the Imperial German government."

The declaration will make it possible to employ Italian troops against the Germans in France, if General Joffre deems such a measure advisable.

STIRRED OVER PFAAT DEATH

Cologne Paper Asserts French Have Put Another Woman to Death.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—"In Marseilles on Aug. 22 a woman named Pfaat, twenty-eight years old, was shot as a spy," says the Overseas News agency. "She had appealed against the death sentence of the court martial at Marseilles, but the Paris court of appeals rejected her plea.

"The Cologne Gazette states this is not the first case in which the French have put a woman to death during the war. It recalls the agitation of the English and French press in regard to the case of Miss Edith Cavell, whose death for high treason and continued spying caused these newspapes to express indignatioan. The Gazette asks whether the same ideas will hold good now that a German woman has been put to death by the French."

IS SURE OF CROCKERLAND

Peary Declares Stefansson Will Confirm His Discovery and MacMillan's

New York, Aug. 28.—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary reiterates his confidence in the existence of Crocker land, and his belief that he saw it in July, 1906. "It may be," Admiral Peary said, "that MacMillan and I were both misled by the nearly permanent clouds of condensation over persistent lanes of water, or unusual refraction, which occurs in the arctic regions, may have lifted into view land that in reality was well below the horizon. It will be well to await the completion of Stefansson's discoveries before dismissing Crocker land."

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF DEATH

PEACE IS FADING IN RAIL DISPUTE

Union Leaders Go Home, Leaving Subcommittee.

CARRY SEALED STRIKE ORDERS

640 Brotherhood Chairmen Vote to Quit Washington Negotiations—Representatives Left Behind Have No Power to Arbitrate on Eight-Hour Day—Can Only Hear Proposals.

Washington, Aug. 28.—The 640 chairman of the railway brotherhoods who were called to Washington by President Wilson in the hope of averting a strike held a meeting in the Bijou theater and resolved to go home. Sealed instructions, known as "strike orders" were issued to each of them, telling them what to do in case a strike is declared.

A sub-committee, consisting of about thirty men, was appointed, with full power to effect a settlement if such a thing still is possible. The committee was specifically instructed, however, that it has no power to accept terms of settlement that provide for arbitration of the question of an eight hour day with ten hours pay.

Union Presidents to Stay.

A. B. Garretson, W. G. Lee, W. S. Stone and W. L. Carter, the chiefs of the four big brotherhoods, are members of this committee.

Immediately after the meeting all of the chairmen who had not been made members of the committee began packing up and preparing to go home. Most of them expressed the opinion that the situation had now reached a point where a strike was unavoidable.

The railway executives spent the day motoring. They believed that when they would see President Wilson, the president would lay a new proposition before them.

Expect Guarantee Offer.

They expected the president to offer to have a joint resolution passed by congress guaranteeing the railways compensation in the shape of increased freight rates for any losses they will suffer by putting into effect an eight-hour day.

Some of the executives stated that events since they finished their reply to the president had made necessary certain changes in that document. The reply rejected the president's plan for a basic eight hour day with pro-rata overtime and arbitration of the other issues involved.

The executives now are beginning to fear their reply will never see the light of day. They are sorry, for they believe it was an unanswerable statement of their position. They believe that foreknowledge of its contends caused the president's sudden descent upon the capitol and his formulation of other plans for averting the strike.

Congress Act Drafted.

President Wilson had a conference with Senator Newlands, chairman of the senate commerce commission, and Secretary Lane of the interior department. It is said they perfected the draft of a resolution to be passed by both houses of congress authorizing higher freight rates.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—Charges that the French have introduced a new body of men whose sole duty is to assassinate all German soldiers, wounded or not, in conquered trenches with knives, revolvers and hand grenades were made in a statement given out by the semi-official news agency.

The statement was headed "Baralongs of the Trenches," recalling the killing of German submarines by the crew of the British ship Baralong.

Saves Dollars Between Loading Station and Final Delivery

EVERY furniture dealer, every furniture mover must consider very carefully the cost of delivery. No other branch of business is more dependent on rapid, economical, satisfactory service than the furniture trade.

Smith Form-a-Truck cost of operation can be safely set at 4c a ton mile. This figure can be used as a basis for determining what percentage of overhead must be placed on side of delivery department.

SMITH Form-a-Truck

The Smith Form-a-Truck will work at low cost in steady day in and day out service, displacing from 3 to 4 horse drawn teams in the same work, covering the same mileage and hauling just as much load in a day as bigger, heavier, slower moving trucks of greater capacity.

This is proven by hundreds of service records obtained from furniture dealers, furniture manufacturers and furniture movers all over the country. We are making a special analyses of the Smith Form-a-Truck as applied to the furniture trade this month.

Special Lubrication Feature

To guarantee trouble-proof, efficient lubrication for Ford motors used in connection with the Smith Form-a-Truck, we are furnishing as regular equipment with every Smith Form-a-Truck sold, a Strong Sight Feed Oiler. This is a force feed system with gauge on the dash and a system that insures a positive, even flow of oil to all the working parts on the motor. It reduces the amount of oil consumed, prevents burned out connecting rod and crankshaft bearings and cylinder troubles, and increases the life and efficiency of the motor

HORSE POLO CONTESTS TO BE STAGED AT STATE FAIR

Detroit Athletes to Meet Teams From Other Cities.

It is announced by G. W. Dickinson, general manager of the Michigan State Fair, that horse polo will be an innovation at the 1916 exposition, which will be held at Detroit, Sept. 4 to 13.

The Detroit team is in excellent condition for strenuous contests, and arrangements are being made to bring teams from other cities to the Michigan metropolis. It is announced that Dayton and Buffalo will send teams to Detroit during the Fair, and perhaps Cleveland will clash with the Detroit ets.

It is planned to have one contest daily, and the Detroiters are busy getting their ponies in the best possible condition.

STABLED IN THE OCEAN.

This Horse Is Not Only Henpecked, but Lives In the Sea.

There is a horse that eats no oats, hay or corn. He is stabled in the deep waters of the Mediterranean and the Atlantic ocean and pastures in submarine fields of seaweed. He wears bony armor and a tail curved like a monkey's, and yet he's a fish. His animal head has given him his popular name—sea horse.

With all these varied characteristics the sea horse is not fast, vicious nor handsome. Like his cousin, the pipe fish, he is a poor swimmer; also, he is henpecked. Mrs. Sea Horse makes him take care of the children.

To help him in his work as nurse maid he has a pouch beneath his tail, formed by folds of skin and completely closed except for a small hole in front. In this pouch the eggs are deposited, and they remain there until they are hatched.

There are about twenty species of sea horses in the waters of the globe, a common one being the short snouted variety. Around Australia is a sea horse which is decorated with numerous spines, terminated by leaflike appendages. These are so near the color of the seaweeds among which they live that they appear actually a part of the vegetation.—Philadelphia North American.

The Race With the Ram.

In Morocco the strange season of the Mohammedan new year, beginning March 9, is generally called "Ait-el-Hanwela," the ram feast. The people of Morocco pay more elaborate attention to the item of sacrifice than any other Moslems. In every town a supreme offering of a ram or he goat takes place at the door of the principal mosque. Immediately after it is struck by the official imam in presence of the multitude it is flung on the shoulders of a stalwart Moor, who, exerting his utmost strength, runs like a deer through the narrow streets, pursued by a rabble. The poor animal is pelted with stones by boys and is jeered at with execrations from every house, as it is reputed to be carrying the sins of the people. The man rushes along with his burden till he reaches the door of the cadi's palace. If the animal is still breathing the augury is excellent, for good luck is to be expected all through the year. But if the ram is dead all sorts of evil prognostications are muttered.

KAISER IS DEALING SCATTERING BLOWS

British Gain West of Thiepval—Repulse Attacks.

London, Aug. 28.—The British struck a blow on the Somme front in the vicinity of Bazentin-le-Petit, some four miles southwest of Thiepval, where the heaviest fighting has been in progress recently. A war office report says the British took 200 yards of a German trench and captured one machine gun.

There was a further development of the German tactics observed recently of making scattered thrusts along various parts of the front.

Three times the Germans attacked the Vaux-Chapitre wood, northeast of Verdun, according to the French official statement. They also delivered an assault in Apremont forest, in Lorraine. In each case the French war office announces, they were repulsed.

Berlin estimates, according to a German war office announcement that nearly 800,000 French troops were engaged on the Verdun front from Feb 21 to July 20. In the battle of the Somme the French have twenty-three divisions and thea British thirty-seven, a total of 720,000 men.

A Mean Advantage.

In a breach of promise case the barrister who held the brief for injured beauty arranged that his fair client should be so placed that her charms should be well under the observation of the jury. He began a most pathetic appeal by directing their attention to her beauty and calling for justice upon the head of him who could wound the heart and betray the confidence of one so fair, concluding with a peroration of such pathos as to melt the court to tears. The counsel for the defendant then rose, and after paying the lady the compliment of admitting that it was impossible not to assent to the encomiums lavished upon her face he added that nevertheless he felt bound to ask the jury not to forget that she wore a wooden leg. Then he sat down. The important fact, of which the fair plaintiff's counsel was unaware, was presently established and the jury, feeling rather sheepish at their tears, assessed damages at the smallest amount.

Just His Luck.

The convicted murderer's lawyer whispered to his client what he thought would be good news.

"It seems a cinch that you would get life imprisonment," he said, "but I can tell from the judge's look that he is going to let you off with twenty years."

"That may seem nice to you," he said, "but I used to be a life insurance actuary, and for a man of my age twenty years figures out about seven years longer than life imprisonment. I always get the worst of it."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

OLD TIME EGG HOAX.

A Joke That Did Not Result Just as the Perpetrator Expected.

Away back in the days when Miller was preaching the near end of the world there were two men living in Lawrenceville, neighbors, who may be named Brown and Jones, who were like unto Jonathan and David. Jones was a chicken fancier. Both, like most people in that day, discussed Millerism.

One Saturday night Brown, who had read somewhere that if a pointed stick were dipped in oil anything written with it on an egg, and with the egg held to the fire, would remain indelible.

Brown wrote on an egg, "The world will come to an end on Oct. 20, 1844," the day Miller had stated, and placed the egg in one of Jones' nests, expecting Jones would come to him as soon as he found it and after a good laugh he would tell how it was done.

But Jones, as soon as he could get his clothes on, rushed to the home of Rev. Richard Lea. The news spread like wildfire, and persons coming to town to church carried it, and all Sunday there was a throng calling on Jones to see the egg. Brown viewed the crowd with a much troubled mind, and at last he went to Jones and told the story. Never after that did Jones speak to Brown.—Letter to Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Culberson Is Nominated.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 18.—Virtually complete returns from practically all Texas counties in the Democratic senatorial run-off primary gave Senator Charles A. Culberson 146,507 as against former Governor Colquitt with 83,457. Less than 30,000 votes remain to be accounted for.

To Operate on Ty Cobb.

Boston, Aug. 28.—Ty Cobb, crack outfielder of the Detroit Americans, will undergo an operation after the close of the baseball season for the removal of his tonsils. Cobb said he attributed several weakening colds which have troubled him recently to bad tonsils.

FROM CAMP COTTON.

Letter from Corp. W. Fred Steinhoff

The following is an extract from a letter from Corp. W. Fred Steinhoff, dated AlPaso, August 24:

Dear Father and Mother:

I am well and we have had real storms with plenty of rain and wind. Our camp ground is rather level and no way of draining it, so when it rains hard, with our dirt floors, we are bound to have some water in our tents. The wind always takes down some of the tents in every storm and that makes it pleasant to get all your extra clothing soaking wet.

We expect to move from Camp Cotton August 24th to guard 90 miles of the border commencing about 40 miles west of ElPaso, for 30 days. Then we return to Camp Cotton again.

I posted three men last night to guard the camp where I expect the 33rd Inft will camp when they get here. The shower baths and other necessary things are all ready and they have to be watched for the Mexicans would wreck the whole thing and sell it for junk to get a little money.

Wilfred Mills was with us on this guard. At 11 o'clock, just after I had posted Wilfred on his post, shooting started just off his path between two houses where some Mexicans were trying to steal some chickens. There were five shots fired. He called the corporal of the guard and I took a few men from our tent which we always take out to sleep in. We searched all around for nearly an hour but did not find anyone.

I will send you a few bills of Villa's money in this letter.

Your son,

FAMOUS SPEED PILOTS TO RACE AT STATE FAIR

Entries Are Being Received From Various Stars

Three days of auto racing will be on the card of the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 10, 11 and 12. The Ford drivers will tool their minature speedsters around the oval Sunday, the first day of the races, to select a new Michigan champion, and the two following days the professional drivers will compete.

Interstate Event Scheduled.

G. W. Dickinson, secretary and manager of the State Fair, is planning an interstate championship event for the two days that the major leaguers will whirl around the dirt oval. While all the details of the race have not been fully worked out, it will probably be run on a basis of twenty-five mile heats, three on Monday and two on Tuesday, the winner to be decided on the point system, as in horse racing.

To Carry Michigan's Colors.

The drivers competing in this race will represent the various states from which they hail, and a Detroit driver will probably carry the colors of Michigan. "Farmer Bill" Endicott, always a favorite with the Michigan speed nuts, will compete, representing the Hoosier state. He asserts he will lower the track record if weather conditions are favorable.

Other Contests Arranged.

In addition to the heat races for the interstate title, for which the Michigan State Fair will give a handsome trophy, other contests are scheduled for the professional speedsters. The entry blanks were placed in the mails last week. Most of the drivers will come to Detroit from Minneapolis, where the Hamline oval will stage its annual big dirt track 100 mile event the week previous.

Entries Close Aug. 29.

Entry blanks for the elimination for the Ford championship race on the Sunday of the Fair were mailed out during the week to the drivers, and the management has been assured of a large field for the semi-pro event. The entries will close Aug. 29.

On the Safe Side.

Mother—If I give you a dime now, Charlie, will you keep it to put in the plate on Sunday, or will you spend it selfishly on yourself? Charlie—I will let you know, mamma, after you have given it to me.—Chicago Herald.

THE MILLION DOLLAR DOLL

The opening attraction of the season at the Bradley Opera house was "The Million Dollar Doll," a musical comedy. Manager Mark is to be congratulated on his choice of so good an attraction for it surely gave much pleasure to the large audience assembled. The Million Dollor Doll was presented by Harvey D. Orr who took the leading part of Malvin Meekman. Mr Orr proved himself to be a clever actor and comedian.

"The Million Dollar Doll" is the story of a young heiress who, upon losing a large proportion of her wealth in a smoke consumer concern goes to Fr[illegible] exhibits herself as a million dollar doll at [illegible] there, winning a prize which was to assist her in her straits, but had it not been for the winning of a lottery ticket by Malvin Meekman, her efforts would have been in vain.

The show carried some very fine scenery, some of the best ever seen in Tecumseh. The scene in the second act, on board the good ship "Westward Ho," and the third scene in the third act, showing a panoramic view of the exposition and the illumination of "The Tower of Jewels," were most realistic displays.

Harvey D. Orr as Malvin Meekman, with a fondness for poetry and handicapped for life with an eccentric wife, won for himself the instant admiration of the audience. His work with Harold Orr, the black faced servant of the household, kept the people in a constant roar of laughter. Louise Willis, the wife of Meekman, was perfect in her role. Frances Norton made a charming doll and Fred Raymond Jr., as Jack Dale, her suitor, was equally good. He also was seen in some clever dancing. Lee Johnstone, as Carmencita Alverez the Spanish maiden, represented her part finely and sang a number of songs in excellent voice.

The company carries an excellent chorus made up of unusually good strong voices. Their costumes were all new and beautiful, making a fine showing on the stage. Every song was enthusiastically received and they responded to many encores. A decided hit was made in several of the songs when the chorus left the stage and danced up the runway over the heads of the audience, singing as they went.

The next attraction will be John W. Vogel's Big All White Minstrels on Thursday, August 31.

ONSTED MASONS DEDICATE NEW TEMPLE

August 24, 1916

The Masonic Lodge at Onsted, dedicated their new Temple last Thursday evening, with all the officers of the Michigan Grand Lodge present. The regular dedicatory service was read. The officers in charge were Grand Master J. R. Hawke of Lansing, Deputy G. M. Judge C. Read of Newberry, Senior Warden Hugh McPhearson of Howell, Junior Warden Chas. Eddy of Hart, Junior Grand Deacon J. R. Anderson of Port Huron, Grand Lecturer F. G. Gilbert of Bay City and Grand Secretary L. B. Winder of Reed City.

After the services remarks were made by the Grand Officers and others. . Browers orchestra from Adrian furnished the music and a big banquet was served at the close of the meeting.

LEARN TO DECIDE QUICKLY

It May Often Prove to Be a Great Help In Business Matters.

In the American Magazine is the story of a successful business man who attributes his success largely to his faculty for making quick decisions.

"Once decided, you ought not to waste time. If a man decides rightly then he has a running start on rivals who hesitate. If he decides wrongly then he has discovered his blunder, backed up and is ready to start on even terms with the hesitating rival, for a man of decision can decide he is wrong as quickly as he can decide he is right. Also, in a great number of cases, the man who decides quickly may fail to decide the best way and still carry it through to success and even convince others he was right all the time. This has happened to me many times in cases where there were a number of ways in which a thing might be done.

"While we blunder inevitably I believe our batting average is higher than that of timid ones, and the rewards much greater. I do not think I have erred in 15 per cent of my decisions in business, and not in 5 per cent seriously.

"The great advantage of quick decision lies in the larger rewards that come to those who are bold, for it is bold to decide vital matters quickly. The timid and the hesitating get small profits."

THE PILOT FISH.

He's Just a Common Beggar and Not a Guide For the Shark.

People who named this fish believed he served as guide and pilot, whereas he is nothing more than a beggar. Because he is usually found swimming ahead of a shark people used to think he was serving as a sentry to warn the shark when danger approached. Now we know he is lingering around for crumbs of food he can beg or pick up from the shark, yet the old name sticks, and he's called the pilot fish.

There is another old story to the effect that the pilot fish warned sailors when their ships were nearing the rocks, and for that reason the fish was held sacred by the ancients. They thought the fish suddenly disappeared when the ship was approaching land, thereby giving the warning.

The shark phase of the story was that the pilot fish accompanied the shark continually, and when the shark was about to take a fisherman's hook the pilot went through such contortions that the shark was warned to leave the bait alone.

So instead of standing guard as a sentry the pilot fish keeps company with the shark to pick up the fragments of food which the larger fish ignores.—Philadelphia North American.

Why the Quail Quailed.

What made the quail quail? For fear the woodpecker would peck her.—Exchange.

JOHN W. VOGEL'S BIG SUCCESS

"Japland" is Coming.

From all sides we have been hearing very complimentary remarks regarding the excellent attraction "The Million Dollar Doll" which was presented at the Bradley last week. This was an excellent attraction in every way and one that the people of Tecumseh should be proud of, but it was only one of the good things in store for the patrons of the Bradley this season. "The [illegible] another one this week, equally as good but of an entirely different nature, Vogel's Minstrels which will be at the Bradley next Thursday, August 31. To give you some idea of the class of towns (or rather cities) that Mr. Vogel plays we will mention just a few of the near dates, week before last Detroit all week, from there to Cleveland for all last week, from Cleveland to the Valintine Toledo for four days this week, here direct from Toledo next Thursday than Adrian and Jackson for the balance of the week. Tecumseh, you can readily see is about the smallest of the lot.

Vogel's Minstrels have always given Tecumseh people a big evenings entertainment but this years prgram is bigger, better and different than anything he has ever presented before. Mr. Vogel has combined his minstrel show with musical comedy and grand opera and carries a big singing and dancing chorus, a grand double performance in the form of an out-of-door Carbaret. The minstrels give their first part in costume, while the operatic contingent sing selections from the many compositions in their vast repertoire, the numbers including a duet from "Pinafore", trio from "Iolanthe", the "Swan Song" from "Lonhengrin", "Three Little Maids" from "The Mikado" and a sextette from "Lucia". The specialties from the minsterl olio prevent monotony and the big girl chorus lures the hearts of the Japanese on-lookers with captivating tangoing gyrations and pretty clothes. "Japland" is in two acts and fourteen scenes -- all carried by the company and is pictorially, as well as for gorgeous costuming, a grand spectacle entirely worth while -- much beyond that seen with the average road show.

The local management has many other good things booked for his patrons for the coming season but advises you to see Vogel's big show as they are the only minstrels booke into Tecumseh for several years back and will undoubtly be your only chance to see a big double attraction like this, this year. See the big parade at noon Thursday and get your seats early at Hay's. A capacity house will undoubty be the order.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by ctaarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Cattarh Cure. Send for circular, free.

ARBOR DAY IN SPAIN.

A Custom That Was Copied From Our Tree Planting Festival.

You are prone to think, since America is the youngest of all the nations, that all our customs are derived from some older people, in whose national life a part of our population had its source. Did you ever hear of an old European country adopting a custom that originated in the United States? When you read of the Fiesta del Arbol in Madrid you are more than likely to assume that it was the tree planting day that gave a suggestion for our annual Arbor day.

Would you be astonished to learn that the Arbol fiesta was patterned directly after our American festival or holiday, when trees are planted by the children of the public schools? That it was copied after our custom is not difficult to establish, for the first festival of this kind was held in Madrid in 1896, having been inaugurated by the young king and his mother. At that time we had been celebrating Arbor day in the United States for more than twelve years.

In that country the event has come to be of real significance, since it is national, whereas in our country it is under the direction of the individual states. Every year the school children are not only commanded to plant young trees, but they are taken to inspect the planting of previous years and are impressed by their teachers with the importance of conserving the forests of their native land. In his first Fiesta del Arbol address King Alfonso announced that the idea was borrowed from the United States, and it was regarded as of so much value that not even the rancor of the Spanish-American war sufficed to interfere with its observation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FIRE

Baseball Park Discovered in Flames Saturday Morning

LIVELY WORK

Saturday morning fire was discovered in the Base Ball Park by Mrs. Rob McCoy who at once telephoned to George Field. Mr. Field lost no time in reaching the park and with Will Ross and Mrs. McCoy formed a volunteer fire brigade, using about 125 feet of garden hose and pipe. The fire traveled eastward and the fences on the east and south side were quite badly burned.

It is thought to be the work of children at play. The hay left by the circus and dry grass made things lively for awhile. The youngsters who gathered on the scene formed another brigade and carried pails of water and fought the fire bravely. Had there been a high wind as we have been having for a few days past the danger to the nearby dwellings would have been great.

DARING AVIATOR TO GIVE FLIGHTS AT STATE FAIR

Al Boshek Will Loop the Loop And Fly Upside Down.

Al Boshek, the daring Austrian aviator, who loops the loop and flies upside down, will make daily flights at the Michigan State Fair, which will be held at Detroit Sept. 4 to 13.

Announcement that he had closed negotiations which will bring the bird man to Detroit was made today by G. W. Dickinson, general manager of the Michigan State Fair.

Called "Beachey the Second."

"Boshek is called 'Beachey the second' because of his wonderful flights, his utter lack of fear and his wonderful ability to present all the thrilling features which characterized the work of Beachey," said Mr. Dickinson.

"Boshek will arrive in Detroit several days before the Fair opens and will bring two aeroplanes and a large corps of assistants. He will thoroughly test out his machines before Labor day, and when the Fair opens he will give exhibitions that are sure to thrill the people.

"He will fly downtown every morning from the Fair grounds and will drop several hundred admission tickets to the exposition while circling over the business district. Any one recovering one of these tickets will be admitted to the Fair the next day without charge.

Flies Upside Down.

"Boshek has a nation wide reputation as an aviator of wonderful ability and has given flights in all sections of the United States. He loops the loop and flies upside down every time he goes into the air.

"We have been attempting to secure Boshek for our Fair for several weeks, but because of conflicting dates it seemed as though it would be impossible to bring him here. However, matters have now been arranged so that Boshek is certain to come to Detroit for all ten days of the Fair."

FAMOUS SPEED PILOT AT THE STATE FAIR

Among the noted auto drivers who have sent in their entries for the State Fair races is "Farmer Bill" Endicott, who asserts that he will shatter dirt track records if weather conditions are favorable and the course is hard and fast.

"FARMER BILL" ENDICOTT.

"If the weather man is on our side I will set up a few new records for the State Fair track," asserted "Farmer Bill" in a letter received by G. W. Dickinson, general manager of the State Fair.

The professional auto races will be held the second Monday and Tuesday of the Fair, Sept. 11 and 12.

ROUMANIA JOINS CAUSE OF ALLIES

Kaiser Declares War on Latin-Balkan Nation.

HAS 600,000 TRAINED MEN

New Nation Drawn in Maelstrom of Europe's War Is 14th—News Hailed With Enthusiasm in Entente Capitals—Berlin, Calm, Expected the New Development.

LONDON, ENG. — Roumania has joined the allies with her well-trained army of 600,000 men.

An official statement from Berlin announces that Roumania declared war on Austria Sunday night. The French foreign office announced that Roumania has issued a declaration of war against the central powers.

Germany dismissed the Roumanian minister to Berlin, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from The Hague. There is every indication Turkey and Bulgaria will follow Roumania's action with a declaration of war before many hours.

Roumania's decision was reached at a meeting of the crown council summoned by King Ferdinand. It came at the end of two years of anxious waiting in which The Roumanian diplomats watched with the tenest interest the military fortunes of the allies.

Expect Greece to Join Allies.

The Roumania declaration is expected to signal Greece's entrance into the war on the side of the allies. Pro-ally enthusiasm, fanned to fever heat by the Bulgarian invasion of northern Greece, broke out in a series of great meetings in Athens Sunday. King Constantine was denounced for failing to lend support to the allies and was urged to prepare the army for war.

The Roumanian third army, already mobilized within striking distance of the Hungarian frontier, is expected to invade Transylvania before the end of the week, striking westward against Beszteroze.

The Roumanian general staff probably will send every available man into the invasion of Hungary in an effort to conquer the rich province of Transylvania, long coveted by the Roumanians. At the same time a strong force will be maintained along the southern Roumanian frontier to guard against attack by the Bulgarians.

Bulgaria to Be Attacked.

Roumania's decision is expected to be followed shortly by the opening of a great allied offensive in the Balkans that will aim to squeeze the Bulgars between two opposing forces, closing the pathway the Germans cut through Serbia to Constantinople.

The Roumanian entrance into the war was the greatest diplomatic achievement for the allies since the European struggle began. Dispatches from The Hague declare that Berlin received the news calmly, though the German press blames Foreign Secretary von Jagow and Underforeign Secretary Zimmerman for Germany's diplomatic defeat.

The Berlin military authorities stationed a guard about the Roumanian legation, but there were no hostile demonstrations. A Berlin crowd vented its wrath against Italy for declaring war against Germany by stoning the Italian embassy until police reserves arrived. Thus far no serious trouble has occurred.

Concert With Italy.

Roumania entered the war at almost the same hour that Italy declared war on Germany. The two events had close connection, it is believed here, since Roumania and Italy had acted in concert in other Balkan matters and were understood to have agreed more than a year ago to join the allies at the same time.

News of the allied diplomatic victory at Bucharest was hailed with the greatest enthusiasm in London. Everywhere the view was taken that Roumania's entrance into the war means the speedy elimination of both Austria and Bulgaria from the conflict.

CONFESS KIDNAPING PLOT

Conspiracy to Seize Harriman Boy and Demand $100,000 Foiled.

SALT LAKE CITY — Ransom of $100,000 was to be demanded for Roland Harriman, son of Mrs. E. H. Harriman, by three men under arrest in St. Anthony, Idaho, in connection with the alleged conspiracy to kidnap the sixteen year old son of the late railroad magnate, according to word received here. Authorities say that two of the men have confessed that the plan was to blind or otherwise disfigure young Harriman if the ransom was not paid promptly.

Twelve on Ship Rescued.

CLEVELAND, OHIO — Twelve members of the crew of the barge Chickamauga were rescued by life savers when the ship signaled it was sinking. Tugs brought the boat safely into port.

Croker to Undergo Operation.

LONDON, ENG. — Richard Croker soon will sail for New York to undergo a surgical operation. He has been disposing of his race horses, including Orby.

Miss Irma Crawford, a Bay City office girl, is in a critical condition at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Crawford, as the result of an overdose of a headache drug or from self-administered poison.

Th eattorney general's report for the first fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, shows that 48,996 prosecutions were started in the various counties of the state during the last twelve months, and that crime increased over the preceding year.

In an opinion just published Attorney General Fellows holds that the marriage of a man sentenced to life imprisonment and later paroled, is absolutely annulled, and the spouse has the right to marry again without obtaining a divorce.

PRIMARY ELECTION

Held Tuesday, August 29th.

RESULT OF VOTE IN TOWNSHIP

The vote cast at our primary election did not show a great deal of interest as the total number of votes cast was 287 in both precincts.

The Republican choice for governor in this township was Washington Gardner and for lieutenant governor L. D. Dickinson. There were five candidates upon the ticket for both officers.

Much interest was centered in the congressional race, also the county offices of sheriff and register of deeds. In this township the Republican choice for congressman was Thornton Dixon who received twice as many votes as Mark R. Bacon while a close race was made between Bert Chandler and Sam Beakes on the Democratic ticket. The first precinct was a tie, 16 votes each, while the second precinct gave Beakes a majority of 10.

For sheriff Fred Nutten, Republican, received a big majority vote, 81, over his opponent, while O. B. Clark was the choice of the Democrats.

For register of deeds Worthy G. Smith, Republican, received a majority of 38.

The total number of votes cast in the first precinct was 120 and in the second 167, making a total vote for the township of 287. The result in detail is as follows:

PRIMARY ELECTION

Now that the primaries are over we know who our standard bearers are to be. The race for nominations was spirited all over the State, especially so was it in the race for the nomination on the Republican ticket for Governor, in this district on both tickets for Congressman and for several of the County offices.

The men nominated are, generally speaking, good men and ought to fill their various offices with credit. Time was when the party determined the choice of a candidate, because he belonged to the Republican or Democratic party was reason enough why we should vote for him. Today people are giving more thought to the business of politics. Who is he? What has been his record? Is he qualified for the office he seeks? Why should it not be so? Because a man is a good fellow and can go out and get votes, stick to a ring which dictates and rules, is it a good reason why he should make a good official and serve his district well?

What we are in need of to-day in every branch of our National, State and local governments are men who can deliver the goods, trained men who know how to do the work their department calls for. No business house to-day hires a man because he is a good fellow, but are hiring men who can deliver the goods and make good.

The business of running a Government, State, City, Town or County calls for, or should call for, men who know the work they are called upon to do, elected because of their fitness, instead of their ability to go out and get votes.

The handling of many of our various public offices are to often intrusted to men who know nothing of the details of the big job they are called upon to do and have to depend on subordinates, who like themselves have been hired through pull The Official has to learn the job. perhaps he makes good and to often he is a failure.

In our appointive offices many times men are given responsible jobs because someone is indebted to them or because they have a dull. The sooner we get away from this sort of a thing, the more effective will be the business of running our Government.

WILSON HANDED EDICT TO STRIKE

Congress Is Ready to Pass Eight Hour Law.

TO BE EFFECTIVE IN 30 DAYS

Measure Is Suggested by President to Senate and House Committees. Executive Hopes to Prevent Strike Order Going into Effect Until Law Makers Have Acted.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Wilson's plan for new legislation by which the threatened railway strike may be averted was adopted by the senate steering committee.

Democratic leaders were given to understand that the president expects to be able to prevent the execution of a strike order pending the outcome of his efforts.

An eight hour day, to be compulsory on interstate railroads within thirty days after enactment, is the pivot around which the new legislation will be constructed.

Wilson to Appear.

President Wilson will appear before a joint session of the senate and house, and make known his plans in a special message.

Before the new program became generaly known, the brotherhood chiefs announced that the date set for the strike was the morning of September 4, which is Labor Day. A copy of the strike order was transmitted to the White House with an explanation of the departure of a number of the brotherhood chairmen.

After the railroad presidents left the White House the president went to the capitol and discussed the entire situation with the Democratic steering committee of the senate. While he president was there the railway exeuttives isued the following statement:

"In a conference at the White House between the president and the committee of the railway presidents a suggestion was laid before the president in the nature of a proposition for progress of a solution of the questions at issue. This was left with the president for his consideration.

Haste Is Necessary.

"The committee expects to see the president again in the near future, but before leaving the committee pointed out that if the reports that the date for declaring the strike has been fixed for September 4 were true it would force an early conclusion of the negotiations and compel the presidents to return to their properties to prepare for the issues."

The railway presidents were plainly very much concerned as they left the White House. They displayed much irritation when questioned and insisted there was nothing they could say until they had conferred with the remainder of their colleagues.

Hear Wilson's Plan.

As soon as they reached the hotel they went to their headquarters, where the other presidents were waiting.

Railway officials and union men appeared equally pessimistic. Both admitted a strike seemed near, but the president, according to White House reports, still felt he would find a way out of the difficulty.

It is understood that President Wilson and his advisers have agreed upon a legislative program which they believe will enable the president to prevent any nation-wide strike if it is necessary to enact it.

While the nature of this program is carefully guarded it was learned hat it will be attached as an amendment to the Adamson bill, which already has passed the house, adding two members to the interstate commerce commission.

The president's new basis of settlement, as discussed in the various conferences, was declared to be as follows:

An eight hour law for railroads, to become effective at a date far enough in the future to give the railroads opportunity to prepare for it.

A law patterned after the Canadian act which creates a commission of investigation and prevents lockouts or strikes while an industrial dispute is beingn vestigated.

"ROUMANIA" SPELLS DISASTER TO PRICES

Wheat Slumps 11 Cents on News from Balkans.

CHICAGO, ILL. — "Roumania" is the word that spelled disaster to the wheat price boosters on the board of trade. Prices dropped with what sounded like the "dull, sickening thud" of hte story books, and after the thudding had ceased at the fall of the gong when the minute hand of the big clock in the board chamber marked 1:15 p. m., September wheat was worth 11 to 11¼ cents less than it was Saturday noon, while December wheat had fallen 9⅝ to 10 cents a bushel.

It was just before the time for the board to open that the announcement of Roumania's spectacular entrance into the European war was posted on the bulletin board and flashed over the tickers. To the owners of wheat options the news appeared to mean the probable opening of the Dardanelles in the near future, with the consequent release of the enormous stores of wheat which the Russians are believed to hold on the shores of the Black sea awaiting the forcing of the narrow passage through which it can reach the allied countries, which will need bread so greatly this winter.

ROUMANIANS START BATTLE

Latins Seek to Force Austria at Two Points

LONDON, ENG. — Following its declaration of war against Austria-Hungary, the Roumanian government ordered the invasion of the enemy province of Transylvania, the majority of the inhabitants of which are Roumanians.

Troops immediately advanced in the southwestern passes of the Carpathians, where they clashed with forces of the Dual Monarchy, and a battle for possession of the frontier is now raging.

According to official advices from Vienna, the vanguards came in contact at the Rothen-Thurm pass, fifteen miles south of Hermannstadt, Transylvania, and in the passes about six miles south of Kronstadt (Basso) in the same province.

Major Guy M. Wilson, court officer of the thirty-third infantry, declares that Private Garipy, of Company M, Sault Ste Marie, will be tried on a charge of resisting an officer. Garipy attacked the mess sergeant.

Miss Marcia Richardson, of Pontiac, eighty-seven years of age, the only surviving sister of Major General Israel B. Richardson, who served in the civil war, and who claimed descent from William the Conqueror, is dead.

Michigan Master Bakers, with more than seventy-five members present, voted to increase prices on all baked goods, beginning Monday Aug. 27. This move affects the entire lower peninsula and probably will be state-wide.

A little daughter of Thos. Tietz of Pigeon, was instantly killed when the little son of Mrs. George Cribbs of Gladwin, who is visiting at the Tietz home, discharged a shotgun which he found hanging in the woodshed while playing there.

STONE SCHOOL REUNION

A most delightful time was enjoyed at the first annaul reunion of the Spaulding Stone School, Dist. No. 3, Franklin Township, which was held at Putnam's Landing, Sand Lake Wednesday, August 30.

Eighty-five were present, including teachers and some of the oldest attendants down to present pupils. It was an occasion of hearty greeting as old friends met and recalled their childhood pleasures, some not having seen each other for a score of years or more. Although this was the first gathering, there were many present who came from distant homes. Notable among them was Rev. John C. Ernst of Pittsburg, of whom the school can feel justly proud. "Little John" has developed into a forceful personality, portly and imposing. He is a natural leader, a brilliant speaker and it was a pleasure to all to have him grace the occasion with his presence.

Another point of interest was the presence of Mrs. Margaret Mitchell who was a pupil when the first school was held in the old Stone schoolhouse in 1860, Austin Hall being the teacher.

A potluck dinner was served. There was plenty to eat, but the cutlery was reported to be a little short at one end of the table, it being necessary for about a dozen diners to get along with two knives. Each one would "lick" off a knife before passing it on his neighbor.

All the old school-day pranks were recalled, such as the time when a bunch of mischievous boys held Ben Rockwood and dropped a live frog down the top of his pants. Bert Marshall also recalled the fact that Frank Peggle used to "clean up" on him once a day. G. W. Allen was threatened with the penalty of standing on the floor for being tardy and told incidentally that he must make a speech. He said,, however, that he preferred the other punishment of having to sit with the girls.

Geo. DePuy was called upon for a fish story, but responded with a few graceful remarks as the fish have not been biting good of late.

The crowd later retired to the bance hall where a musical program was furnished, it being finished by all present singing some of the good old "Knapsack" songs. All were just "kids" again and enjoyed a most delightful time. It is the hope that all may assemble again next year and meet additional faces who were unable to be present this time.

The following officers were elected:

Pres. George Taylor
Vice Pres.—Tom Conlin
Sec'y—Mrs. A. B. Wisner
Cor. Sec'y—John Taylor
Treas.—Ed Spalding
Chairman Program Committee—Edith Simmons

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by ctaarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Cattarh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Fire seems to be the order of the day now-a-days. Thursday noon fire was discovered creeping over the field of the F. E. Bradley and Stacy farm. Evidently a spark from a passing train started the fire. Prompt action averted further disaster, as it was many of the fence posts were burned off at the ground.

BIG CROWD

Greeted "Japland" at the Bradley Last Night

Manager Mark of the Bradley Opera house certainly has reason to be pleased with Tecumseh's reception of John W Vogel's Big City Minstrels last night in "Japland."

The opera house was filled with a crowd who came to enjoy themselves and they surely were not disappointed for it was gigle, laugh, roar from the [illegible] of the curtain until the [illegible] when Old Glory occupied the center of the stage and the united company sang a selection from El Captain

The show was far superior to the [illegible] [illegible] minstrels. The scenery was of Japanese design and most exquisite. The men did their work well but no better than the operatic troupe with them. A gorgeously dressed ballet of most excellent dancers with Mlle. Rose Edyth lent chic and charm to the performance that is lacking just in a troupe of men minstrels. The end men kept things humming with their jokes and jingles and there wasn't an old, motheaten joke sprung in the whole evening

Among those we will remember longest were "Skinny" Lamont, the longest, thinnest man imaginable in his dance with little Wilson, Arthur Deming in his "Archaic Melodies" and Chas. Hilliard, who had them all guessing in his female impersonations and was some singer.

The pickaninnies' frolic and other such songs were most excellent but none as good as the chorus work of the whole company. The soprano, Miss Hazel Davenport, has about the most wonderful voice ever heard here. Miss Josephine Bond, contralto, Chas Fulton, tenor, and Claude Amsden, basso, are also hard to beat.

So Mr Mark sees what pleases Tecumseh and we'll have more of its kind this season.

ANOTHER GOOD CROWD IN TECUMSEH

Wednesday, August 30.

An afternoon entertainment was given as usual on our four corners on Wednesday afternoon which was attended by a small crowd, but in the evening our streets were again thronged with people and they were not disappointed in the entertainment provided for them. The Tipton band was again with us and gave a very fine program.

There were three acts: The first, a juggler who did some very good stunts; The second act was a lady who was seen in an aerial act Her work was clever and much appreciated by the crowd. The last act was the strong man who lifted a table with his teeth and, not satisfied with this, he hammered it with a chair while still holding it with his mouth He also pulled a big spike from a plank with his teeth, Another stunt was the lifting of a full grown man in a chair, also with his teeth

As the city vaudeville houses are putting on their shows it is very difficult for the management to secure good acts and they did not know what they were to have here Wednesday until late Tuesday afternoon The acts however were up to standard

Quite a little excitement was caused when the 9 o'clock train pulled in. Peter Patterson, a farmer living nine miles east of Tecumseh, had parked his new Paige Six a little too close to the railroad track. The train struck it and demolished the front fender. The train stopped and a bunch of men pushed the car from the track and it was driven into the "Big Chief" garage where it was found that aside from the demolished fender no other damage was done A quite remarkable feature of our Wednesday entertainments is that there has not been any accident worthy of note and refle cts great credit on the committee who have had charge of the handling of the crowds

There will be two more Bargain Day entertainments, the final one one week from next Wednesday.

MORNING FIRE

About 4:30 Thursday morning the people were wakened by the fire alarm and soon everybody was astir and in a short time a crowd had gathered on the scene, at the home of the Jewels on Kilbuck street where flames were going up through the roof in a lively fashion.

The fire department were quickly at work and by perservering efforts got the fire under control, having to cut through the roof and side of the house to reach it.

One of the family was wakened by the fire and soon roused the others and they tried to fight the fire alone, but finally called for help.

The fire caught from outside, running up one of the corners of the porch to the roof. Some match or cigar stub might have set the dry grass afire and it crept to the house.

It is estimatd that the damage by fire and water would be about $200. Considering the early hour, this was a narrow escape from totla destruction and our fire department deserve all praise for their good work.

The Soldiers and Sailors Association of Lenawee county will hold their 26th annual reunion Sept. 6th at the court house in Adrian, to which all soldiers and sailors of whatever command are cordially invited. Disastrous Fire

FARM BIULDINGS OF CHAS. WILSON DISTROYED

Wilson Nearly Looses His Life

A most disastrous fire occurred Wednesday on the farm, north west of Tipton, owned by Chas. Wilson of Adrian, but run by George Wilson.

Fire was discovered in a straw stack near one of the barns, and in a short time all of the barns were burning, with their contents of hay, grain, farming impliments and two horses. The loss is estimated at $5000., with $4000. insurance.

Mr. Wilson, who was in one of the barns, trying to save some of the contents was found in an unconsious condition on the floor by a neighbor. It was with difficulty that the home was saved.

The origin of the fire is a mystery as no one had been near the stack that they know of.

PASTOR RESIGNS

The following communication has been received by the vestry of St. Peter's church, which will be acted upon at their next meeting. It is with regret that we hear of this decision of the Rev. Hewitt for we feel that he has been a power for good during his pastorate here. He has built up the church and united in a bond of brotherhood so many of the young men of our community who will miss his social spirit of comradeship. As a man among men he has proven himself great and the community at large will join with the Episcopal church with regrets at his departure. We understand that he has accepted a call to Dearborn where he will take up his work in October, and while we feel that it will be our misfortune to lose the Rev. Hewitt, yet it will be Dearborn's gain.

August 30th, 1916.

Mr. Georg Ziehr,
Sc'y St. Peter's Vestry, Tecumseh
My Dear Mr. Ziehr:

I herewith beg to tender my resignation as rector of St. Peter's church, Tecumseh, to take effect September 30th.

I beleive short pastorates are good for small churches, and I have a new field opened up for me that after careful consideration I expect to accept.

I will do everything in my power to help the vestry in their choice of a new man, and only hope that the vestry individually and collectively will be as loyal to him and the church as they have been to me.

Thanking you and all the members of the vestry for all their kindness in the past, I beg to remain,

Yours most cordially,
Frederick Hewitt.

FARMERS PICNIC

The East Side Farmers Club and Tecumseh Grange held a basket picnic at Clare Beland's grove, two miles east of Tecumseh Wednesday. About a hundred farmers and their families were present going in the morning and making a day of it.

A big dinner was served at noon tables being set in the grove for the use of the diners. The afternoon was spent in a general good time.

We trust that the farmers did not combine to boost the price of wheat higher, but no doubt they expressed regret that they did not have more to sell. The real sport among the men was centered in a tournament of horse-shoe pitching. We understand that A. W. Mills and Dr. Hartzog outclass all the others at this game. Thursday was a pleasant one and all enjoyed the outing.

LANDLORD PUTNAM ETERNTAINS

Tecumseh and Adrian Business Men, His Guests

The Tecumseh men made the trip by autos, leaving here about seven o'clock. A five course dinner was served which was keenly enjoyed by those present.

Landlord Putnam made the evening a very pleasant one and those who were fortunate in being his guests considered themselves highly favored.

Many Tecumseh People in Poor Health Without Knowing the Cause

There are scores of people who drag out a miserable existence without realizing the cause of their suffering. Day after day they are racked with backache and headache; suffer from nervousness, dizziness, weakness, languor, depression. Perhaps the kidneys have fallen behind in their work of filtering the blood and that may be the root of the trouble. Look to your kidneys, assist them in their work—give them the help they need. You can use no more highly recommended remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills—endorsed by people all over the country and by your neighbors in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Alex Reid, Maiden Lane, Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly and I felt dull and languid. I tired easily too. My back ached. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Pulver's Drug Store, and they relieved the back aches and helped me in every way."

SATISFY!

—what does that mean?

It means that NEW quality, in a cigarette, that does for your smoking exactly what a drink of cold water does for your thirst!

To satisfy, a cigarette must do far more than just "please" you—it must let you know you've been smoking.

That's what Chesterfields do—they satisfy! And yet they're MILD!

For the first time in the history of cigarettes, here's a cigarette that satisfies and yet is mild! Chesterfields!

Other cigarettes may be mild, but they don't satisfy.

BUT, Chesterfields satisfy—yet they're mild!

This is new enjoyment for a cigarette to give. It is something that no cigarette, except Chesterfields, can give you—regardless of price.

Why?

Because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend!

DEMAND GREECE OUST ALL FOES

British and French Envoys Present Strong Note.

HELLENES READY TO COMPLY

Entente Powers Also Demand That Greek Government Order All Posts And Telegraphs Including the Wireless System Turned Over—Greek Subjects Guilty of Espionage Are Punished.

Athens, Sept. 4.—Representatives at Athens of Great Britain and France presented to the Greek government a note demanding control over the Greek posts and telegraphs, and insisting on the deportation from Greece of agents of the central powers.

The note reads as follows:

"By order of their governments the undersigned ministers of France and Great Britain have the honor to bring the following communication to the attention of the Greek government:

"First, the two allied governments, having from a sure source learned that their enemies receive information in divers ways, and notably through the agency of the Greek telegraphs, demand the control of the posts and telegraphs, including the wireless system.

Enemy Agents Must Leave.

"Second, enemy agents employed in corruption and espionage must immediately leave Greece, not to return until the conclusion of hostilities.

"Third, necessary measures have been taken against such Greek subjects as rendered themselves guilty of complicity in the above mentioned corruption and espionage."

Greece to Comply.

The note formed the subject of a conference between King Constantine, Premier Zaimis and Dr. Streit, a former minister of foreign affairs. It is understood that there will be no objection on the part of the Greek government to the acceptance of the Anglo-French demands.

Sees Greece in War.

London, Sept. 4.—"German newspapers," says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen, "are preparing public opinion for the entry of Greece into the war, stating that King Constantine in order to prevent a civil war must join the allies."

The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger says:

"The possibility of Greece joining the war is now so great that the central powers will make a great blunder if they do not act as though a Greek declaration of war had already been made."

WIZARD EDISON FOR WILSON

Republican and Bull Mooser Says President Has Made Good.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Thomas A. Edison, the electrical wizard, Republican and supporter of Theodore Roosevelt for the president nomination, announces that he will work and vote for Woodrow Wilson.

He said: "Not since 1860 has any campaign made such a direct call on simon pure Americans. The times are too serious to talk or think in terms of Republicanism or Democracy. Real Americans must drop parties and get down to big fundamental principles. More than any other president in my memory Woodrow Wilson has been faced by a succession of tremendous problems, any one of which decided the wrong way, would have had disastrous consequences. Wilson's decisions so far have not got us into any serious trouble, nor are they likely to."

"GREAT STONE FACE" SAFE

"Old Man of Mountain" of Hawthorne Story to Be Preserved.

Concord, N. J., Sept. 4.—The "Old man of the mountain" will not lose his head. Governor Spaulding and the executive council voted to have the state prevent further displacement of the top stone which forms the forehead of the rocky profile known to thousands of visitors to the White mountains. The profile is best known in this country and abroad through Nathaniel Hawthorne's famous story, "The Great Stone Face."

Mrs. Henry White Is Dead.

Lenox, Mass., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Henry White, sixty-two, wife of the former Ambassador to France and Italy, died here. Mrs. White was Miss Margaret Stuyvesant Rutherford of New York. She was married to Mr. White in 1879.

Austria Cuts Meat Rations.

Berlin, Sept. 4.—According to a dispatch from Vienna to the Overseas News agency, an order has been published in the Austrian capitol introducing the third "meatless day." Mutton, however, may be eaten on this day.

Shafroths Land Net Title.

Denver, Col., Sept. 4.—Morrison and William Shafroth, sons of United States Senator John Shafroth of Colorado, won the state doubles tennis championship by defeating Berrien Hughes and Tyson Dines Ja. The score was 6—4, 7—5, 6—3.

Why He Was on Time.

Beranger was one day complimented by a lady on the punctuality with which he kept his engagements. "It is a pleasure," said she, "to invite you to dinner, for you never make us wait."

"I am no longer young, madam," replied the poet, "and experience has taught me one thing—it is dangerous not to arrive at the precise hour, for the guests who are waiting for you will pass the time in discussing your faults."

A Rising Concern.

"So you've invested your money in a new airship company?"

"Yes. If our airship goes up the stock will go up."

"But suppose it doesn't?"

"Then the company will go up."—Boston Transcript.

ALLIES CAPTURE 2,000 GERMANS

New Drive on Somme Sweeps All Positions

BULGARS INVADE ROUMANIA

Force Commanded by German Officers Enter Foe's Territory on Black Sea. Will Soon Meet Russians—Czar's Men Capture New Carpathian Height—Invade Poland.

Paris, Sept. 4.—The villages of Forest and Clery-Sur-Somme and all the German positions between these two points have been captured by the French and British in a joint attack after intense artillery preparation. More than 2,000 prisoners, as well as twelve cannon and fifty machine guns, were taken.

The gain is on a four-mile front.

Bulgarians Invade Roumania.

London, Sept. 4.—The Bulgar-German invasion of Roumania has begun. After concentrating in the vicinity of Vara, Bulgaria, a strong force of Germans and Bulgarian troops, officered by Germans, and prepared for a long campaign, was thrown across the Danube and the Black sea, according to official announcement from Berlin.

The Roumanian frontier guards were thrown back "with losses," Berlin reports, but it is likely that before long the invaders will find a Russian army confronting them, as Russian troops in considerable numbers have been landing at the Roumanian Black sea port of Constanta for several days. The Bulgar-German army is advancing in a direction which will precipitate a battle half way between Silistria, on the Danube, and Constanta.

Adds Another Front.

Thus one more is added to the numerous battle fronts of Europe.

Of operations on the eastern frontier of Roumania, Berlin reports that German and Austrian advance guards have been in combat with the Roumanians on both sides of the River Bystritza.

Russ Capture Carpathian Height.

London, Sept. 4.—The capture by the Russians of another height in the Carpathians was officially announced by the Berlin war office. Renewing their offensive against Magura Height and the hills to the southeast, the Russians stormed Ploska height, southeast of Zelona, and retained possession of it, the German war office admits.

In Galicia the Russians also are attacking again, but Berlin reports that Archduke Karl's army repulsed the attacks east and southeast of Brzezany.

Attack In Poland.

In Poland strong Russian forces attacked the Germans north of Zbroov, and a terrific bayonet battle resulted. General Von Ebens' command drove the Russians back to their trenches Punta Arenas, Chile, Sept. 4.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest H. Shackleton has rescued the members of his antarctic expedition who were marooned on Elephant Island.

WILD FREIGHT WRECKS TRAIN

Chicago Passenger Coaches Smashed by Runaway Cars in Indiana.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 4.—A coupling of a freight train on a steep grade at Altamont broke releasing fifteen cars which rushed down the incline and crashed into the rear of Big Four passenger train No. 43 standing in front of the local passenger station. No one was killed.

William Kreuger and Roy Stinger of Rock Island, Ill., were injured slightly. The two last coaches on the passenger train were empty. The wreckage was piled high about the station.

John Evers Out for Year.

Boston, Sept. 4.—Johnny Evers, captain and second baseman of the Boston Braves, is out of baseball for the remainder of the season, Manager Stallings announces. "Neuritis is bothering him so his family doctor says it is useless for him to think of getting back into the lineup this year," Stallings said.

U. S. Army Aviator Killed.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 4.—Captain Ralph McMillan, head of the aviation corps of the Nebraska national guard, was killed in a flight at St. Francis, Kan., according to a private message received here.

Story of a Bakeshop.

In Braunschweig, a quaint old German town, is pointed out the building—still used as a bakeshop—where Till Eulenspiegel, famous as a jester in the fourteenth century, worked as a boy. Many persons who have listened to the musical composition "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks," which enshrines his name, have never associated this with the merry baker boy of Braunschweig. He is credited with having made many little gingerbread owls and monkeys, which he gave away to children. The shop at 11 Backerlint still does a thriving business.

CONGRESS MAY FOIL PAY RAISE

Wilson Signs Act While Breakfasting on Train

SOLONS PLAN TO AMEND LAW

Leaders Will Seek to Prevent Use of New Time Standard as Basis for Wages—If New Program Goes Unions Will Lose Fruits of Victory.

Washington, Sept. 4.—The Adamson eight-hour day bill was signed by President Wilson in his private car at the union station, where he stopped on his way from Shadow Lawn, N. J., to Hodgenville, Ky. That there may be no question of the measure's legality the President will sign it again upon his return Tuesday.

Plan to Amend Act.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Hardly was the ink dry on President Wilson's signature of the Adamson eight-hour railroad act, than information was divulged that determined efforts would be made to amend the measure before it enters into effect on Jan. 1.

These efforts will not be made during the remainder of the present session, but between the first Monday in December, when congress will reconvene, and the date when it will adjourn for the Christmas holidays.

Will Fight Wage Basis.

The eight-hour day as a standard work day has come to stay; of this there is not the slightest doubt. If the railroad managers are wise they will accept it without further resistance, but the eight-hour day merely as a wage basis and merely as a vehicle for obtaining an increase of pay for employes is a different proposition. It is upon this feature of the act approved by the President that the attacks will center.

Moreover, at the coming regular session it is proposed to urge action upon a comprehensive labor reform bill, which will present the development of such a situation which congress feels it has so adequately met. Included in that bill will be the Canadian commission plan, advocated by the President to guard against a recurrence of the situation which has just been arranged.

Out After Labor's Hide.

That it will be the disposition of many members to make organized labor suffer in return for the humiliation they feel they were compelled to accept is the unfortunate feature of the aftermath of the course pursued by the railroad brotherhood chairmen.

Some members are not candidates for re-election; others will be defeated. Their temper will manifest itself not only in speeches, but in the deliberations of the committees which will frame the legislation that ultimately will be placed before the President for approval.

Nor is the fact lost sight of that President Wilson, if re-elected, will not be as disposed to consider the labor vote as he naturally was throughout the strike negotiations just concluded.

Therefore organized labor must be on tiptoes watching every move which will be made during three months of the coming session. If any measures pass the house which it feels are harmful upon its friends in the senate to inaugurate and keep up a filibuster in order to prevent a vote.

BIG YEAR FOR UNION LABOR

President Samuel Gompers Says Record Is Made for 8-Hour Day.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has made public a statement on "Labor's Achievements and Issues" for 1916, in which he characterizes the year as a remarkable one in the progress of the labor movement, especially in the shortening of the working day and in general labor legislation.

"Taking the labor movement as a whole," the statement says, "there has been greater progress in securing the eight hour day or the shorter workday than in any other similar period of time. The shorter workday is something more than an economic demand. It is a demand for opportunity for rest, recuperation, and development; things which make life more than mechanical drudgery."

SUPPOSED DEAD 26 YEARS

Harry James Breaks in on Old Home at Pana, Ill.

Pana, Ill., Sept. 4.—Harry James of Chicago, supposed by Pana relatives to have been dead for twenty-six years during which time they had kept up continuous search for him, arrived here only to find parents long ago dead.

It was, however, a happy surprise to his brother Louis James and sister, Mrs. Minnie Brown, still residents of the old home place.

Value of White Oak.

The white oak has served for more useful purposes than perhaps any other tree, and its wood today is worth as much as mahogany. Furniture of "solid oak" is now a rarity, for the wood has become so expensive that it is used in the form of a veneer over baser woods. So used it loses none of its beauty, and even the thin veneer resists wear for an incredibly long time. This wood was a useful one to the early agriculturists as well as to those of the present day. It was durable when exposed to the elements and was also durable in contact with the soil. It was and is still used in fencing, and much of the second growth white oak timber in America is now being cut for railroad crossties.—Outing.

TWO REPORTED DEAD IN RAID OVER LONDON

One Zeppelin Brought Down and Others Driven Off.

London, Sept. 4.—While reports of the damage caused by Saturday night's air raid are still incomplete, Sir John French, commander of the home force, announced that from information at hand he is able to state that the results were entirely disproportionate to the number of airships engaged.

Reports of casualties at hand show that two persons were killed and thirteen injured. Twenty-five houses and some cottages in London were damaged, but no military point was hit. A gas works was set on fire, accounting for the early reports of flames caused in London.

Only three of the thirteen airships engaged in the raid succeeded in reaching London. No lives were lost in the metropolitan district. Indeed, the raiders failed to reach the center of the metropolis, all the damage being done in the outskirts.

Of the three ships which reached London one was shot down in flames by antiair craft guns and aeroplanes. It fell in a wrecked condition near a village named Cuffley. Experts of the war office plan an attempt to reconstruct parts of it.

Half-burned bodies of the crew were found scattered around the wreckage of the engines. A great part of the airship had been consumed by flames.

How to Remove Rust From Various Necessary Articles.

Rusted ironware or sinks may be cleaned by smearing thickly with unsalted lard, then covering with powdered quicklime and being left for several hours. It is best to do this at night and in the morning wash off with hot water and washing soda. Use a cloth tied to a stick or sink broom for the purpose, thus avoiding danger of getting any on the hands.

If a pen rusts in its holder soak it in oil. It will soon loosen enough to be removed without difficulty.

S. W. PENNYPACKER IS DEAD

Was Former Governor of Pennsylvania and Prominent Judge.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 4.—Samuel W. Pennypacker, former governor of Pennsylvania, died of uraemic poisoning at his home at Schwenckaville, Pa. He was seventy-three years old.

Governor Pennypacker for many years had been a foremost figure in Pennsylvania affairs. Before the notable contest in the Republican party in 1903 which resulted in his election as governor, he had served for many years as a judge in Philadelphia.

Anecdotes of Richter.

Mme. X. was singing at a rehearsal and was decidedly out of tune. Dr. Richter stood it as long as he could, then turned to her. "Madame," he said, "will you kindly give the orchestra your A?"

At another rehearsal one of the instrumentalists made a mistake. "No," said Dr. Richter; "it goes so (humming)—rum-tum-tarum!" The same player made another mistake. "No, no—rum-tum-tarum!" At the third mistake Dr. Richter momentarily lost patience and cried, "Why do you make so many mistakes, Mr. ——?" Then quickly recovering his habitual good humor, "Ah, I know why it is—you like to hear me sing!"—Manchester Guardian.

He now lies between life and death in the Bridewell hospital.

"Yes, I killed her," he said to Charles L. Larkin, chief of detectives, who sent to the hospital to get his story at first hand. "I did it to save her purity."

HOW To Feed the Family Well and Inexpensively

IN response to several inquiries as to the minimum cost of food for a family we publish herewith a list of articles of food sufficient for a family of five for one week, says a bulletin of the New York city department of health. It may be of interest to our readers to know that this diet supplies about 9,500 calories and 430 grams of protein per day. On the assumption that the family consists of two adults and three children this allowance is ample:

1 lb. butter	$0.42
1 bag sugar (3½ pounds)	.24
1 lb. rice	.08
1 lb. dried peas	.09
1 lb. beans	.09
1 lb. farina	.06
1 lb. oatmeal	.06
1 box cocoa (¼ pound)	.10
1 lb. prunes	.15
1 lb. onions	.04
6 lbs. potatoes	.22
1 head of cabbage (medium size)	.05
1 lb. cheese	.22
2 doz. eggs	.60
2 lbs. meat daily at 20 cents	2.80
2 loaves of bread daily at 8 cents	1.12
2 qts. of milk daily at 7 cents	.98
Total	$7.31

The list of foods here shown has been tested practically for about two years. [illegible] nutritional results have been excellent, a fact which indicates better than any theoretical study would do that the diet combines all the food elements needed by the body.

If we could devise a plan for insuring such a diet or its equivalent to all the poor people in this city we would materially reduce our death rate. In many instances of malnutrition encountered at the department's clinics the fault is due to ignorance of what constitutes a proper diet. The department of health has been trying to spread such knowledge for some time. Certainly this list should prove invaluable to the housewife who is trying to provide a wholesome diet at a very limited cost.

TIP FOR MOTORISTS.

How to Remove Greasy Dirt From Your Lily White Hands.

The owner of a car who cares for his vehicle to a large extent generally makes up his mind to having dirty hands when some periodic and greasy job falls due. There is no real need for this, as a little care beforehand will obviate the retention of the greasy dirt afterward. Before starting work on a greasy piece of machinery take cylinder oil and rub it well into the skin. After the work is done do not take the grime off by rubbing the hands on waste or a cloth. Instead put on some more cylinder oil or any light oil liberally, using it as you would soap and water. When the oil has worked under the grease and cut it loose from the skin wipe the hands thoroughly on a piece of waste. When you have wiped off the oil you will find that it has taken the grime with it, leaving the hands ready for a good wash with soap and water. If the motorist will try a tar soap for this final stage he will be surprised at the results obtained. Kerosene, gasoline or washing powders should not be used, as they harden the skin and give it a tendency to crack. When on the road the hands can be made fairly presentable by using the oil wash alone, leaving the soap and water until reaching the destination. This method of keeping the hands in shape is used by many of the mechanics in big repair shops and in motorcar factories. It is a particularly useful tip just at this time, when all the cars in America are being run out of the garages for their season's work, most of them by owners, who have no decided preference for dirty hands.

COOK SPEAKS.

How to Cook Vegetables and Conserve Their Food Value.

It is important that vegetables should be prepared and cooked in such a way as to conserve all the available food material and their mineral salts. The portion of the vegetable next to the skin contains the greater quantity of mineral matter, protein. Carrots and vegetable oysters should be scraped. Other vegetables should be pared as thinly as possible.

When the liquid in which the vegetables are cooked is drained off it carries with it much that is valuable, says Good Health. As far as possible this should be saved and used as the foundation for soups and sauces.

Vegetables should be cooked only until tender. Many vegetables develop a strong and unpleasant flavor and are rendered less easily digested by overcooking. This is especially true of cabbage, cauliflower, etc. When overcooked they also take on a reddish hue.

Strong flavored vegetables, such as onions, cabbage and turnips, should be cooked uncovered.

How to Pull Your Auto Out of a Hole.

If the rear wheels are stuck in the mud dig holes in front of the front wheels for them to fall into to give the initial start, and if the car does not continue then block the rear wheels instantly and repeat the operation. Place brush in front of the rear wheels and turn them as slowly as possible to keep from churning. If one rear wheel is on good road, try putting on the hand brake fairly tightly to destroy the action of the differential, or fasten the mired wheel so that it cannot turn and the other wheel will do the work and slide the mired wheel along the ground.

The instant you realize you are getting stuck in sand or mud stop right there and look over the situation instead of fighting the car and burying it deeper and deeper.

AN INFARE DINNER.

It Used to Be an Important Function For the Newly Wedded.

Were you ever invited to an infare dinner? You are familiar with the "house warming" that is as likely to take place in midsummer as any other season, and if you are a business man you cannot have escaped the demand for a floral tribute when some new firm has embarked in your particular line of trade or profession.

But the chances are that if you know anything definite about an infare dinner you are [illegible] care about discussing it or you are of Scotch or North of England origin, unless, of course, you happen to have [illegible] your life in Indiana. In the latter event you learned all about a charming custom from your mother or grandmother.

In rural Indiana the old ceremonial has even yet not gone the way of most of the ceremonial practices of our ancestors, for it is still observed in a modified form. However, there is no sinister meaning attached to its omission, as was the case two generations ago.

In the days of our grandparents if the groom's mother failed to invite the bride to the infare dinner the day following the wedding it meant one thing and one thing only—that she was not to be regarded as a member of her husband's family. The dinner was usually a more elaborate affair than the wedding supper at the bride's father's house the previous evening. It was served at high noon and included the entire bridal party, although in Scotland the bride was supposed to leave all her own kindred behind when she went to eat the dinner cooked by her mother-in-law.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

JAPAN'S WOLFISH DOGS.

Famed For Their Savage Ferocity and Tenacity of Grip.

Most of the dogs in Japan are of native breed and are quite different from the dogs in western countries. Like the Japanese horses, they are smaller. As the Japanese have ever been an agricultural people, hunting dogs were not known, nor did they have any use for watch dogs, as they kept neither flocks nor herds. The Japanese dog, therefore, is a domestic animal, to the breeding of which no particular attention was given, thus producing a mongrel type.

A great many years ago one of the shoguns became interested in the breeding of dogs, so more care was given to developing a good type. Many of the daimyos, thinking that they would stand in better favor with the shogun, presented him with presents of anywhere from ten to twenty dogs. At one time the emperor had over 5,000 at Kamakura.

The average native dog of Japan has a savage, wolfish aspect, with flat head, pointed muzzle and short, erect ears, with bushy, foxlike tail. They are bold and obstinate in disposition and never know when they are beaten. A Japanese once gave a live dog to his pet tiger as a treat. But the animal, realizing the situation before the tiger did, seized the tiger by the throat and choked it to death before it could defend itself, though the dog also died from its wounds. The Japanese dog is thus far famed for its unexampled ferocity and tenacity of grip, something like the western bulldog.—Japan Magazine.

Byron In an Ugly Mood.

I have not yet read Byron's "Conversations," but there was an anecdote in one of the extracts which confirms what I heard long since, but which I could not depend on before. He had an aversion to see women eat. Colonel —— was at Byron's house in Piccadilly. Lady Byron in the room, and luncheon was brought in—veal cutlets, etc. She began eating. Byron turned around in disgust and said, "Gormandizing beast!" and, taking up the tray, threw the whole luncheon into the hall. Lady Byron cried and left the room.—Told by Haydon, the Painter.

He Saved Time.

An English weaver who had spent two or three years in America was paying a visit to the old mill to see some of his former workmates.

One of them said to him: "I bear it's all hustle and bustle in America. In fact, you 'aven't time to eat."

"Hustle and bustle," said the visitor. "Why, when I left here I spelt my name 'Mirrill,' but now I spell it 'Merrell!'"

"How's that?" asked his friend.

"Because," replied the Americanized one, "I haven't time to dot the 'I's!"—Exchange.

Curious Old Clock.

In the tower of the town house of Heidelberg was an old clock so constructed that when the hours struck the figure of an old man pulled off his hat, a cock crowed and clapped its wings and soldiers fought with one another. But this curious piece of workmanship, with the castle and town, was burned by the French in 1693.

LIKED BLACK VILLAINS.

Audiences In Shakespeare's Time Wanted No Neutral Knaves.

There has been a dreadful amount of lese majesty talked about "Richard III." recently. "It is to be feared," says the London Times, "that 'Richard III.' has seen his best days," and the Manchester Guardian says boldly that the play, with all its paraphernalia of villains and victims and ghosts and weeping queens, "is perhaps best enjoyed nowadays with laughter."

Not so did playgoers think in Shakespeare's time or for centuries later. For at least fifty years after it was written "Richard III." was probably the most popular of the Shakespearean plays. It was printed ten times in thirty-seven years—oftener than any other of the plays during a similar period of the early century.

Critics have wrangled long and loud over the problem, but there seems no getting away from the conclusion that the audience of King James' time preferred its villains black and thoroughly bad and entirely free from those ambiguous and neutral tints which are so perplexing in, say, "Macbeth."—London Observer.

Our First Glass Factory.

The first mention of the manufacture of glass in the United States is in Captain John Smith's "History of Virginia." He speaks of the founding of a factory at Jamestown in 1615 and of a second one seven years later. The work was coarse and was confined chiefly to bottles. In 1779 factories were established in Temple, N. H., and in 1795 the present great industries in Pittsburgh were founded. By 1813 the Smoky City had five glass making plants, of a total valuation of $160,000.

OUR FIRST FOREIGN WAR.

When Tripoli Tried to Wring Tribute From Our New Republic.

The first foreign war in which the United States was engaged began in 1801, when Tripoli issued a declaration of war against the new world republic.

The ruler of the piratical African state had learned that the United States had paid larger sums to Algiers than to himself and demanded a greater annual tribute. This was refused, and on June 10, 1801, he declared war.

An American squadron under Commodore Richard Dale was dispatched to the Mediterranean and was followed by squadrons commanded by Commodore Morris and Commodore Preble.

The war continued until 1805 and was characterized by several feats of valor performed by American sailors. The bey of Tripoli and the other Barbary rulers, who had long preyed upon the commerce of America and Europe, were brought up with a short turn.

Prior to the Tripolitan war the United States and France fought several sea engagements, but war was not officially declared, and the difficulties were settled without recourse to open and avowed hostilities.—New York World.

Painfully Explicit.

The proprietor of a certain hotel in Europe posted up the following warning to his clients:

"Gentlemen who come in this hotel not say anything about their meals they will be charged for, and if they should say beforehand that they are going out to breakfast or dinner, and if they say that they not have anything to eat they will be charged, or unless they bring it to the notice of the manager, and should they want not to say anything, they must order the manager for, and not any one else, and unless they not bring it to the notice of the manager, they will be charged for the least things not, according to hotel rate. And no fuss will be allowed afterward about it, and nothing will be allowed to deduct anything out of it."

After this explicit information there surely could be no excuse for misunderstanding.

Antiquity of the Senate.

The senate is historically much older than the lower house, or house of representatives, as it is called in our country and time. In the remote time, while as yet there was no such thing as a science of government, the tribe was wont to look to its old men, on account of their wisdom and experience, for advice in all matters pertaining to the tribe, and those old men were the first senators. The word senator comes from "senes," meaning old. As civilization advanced and seated government became a fact the senate continued to be composed of the old men, and when by and by the second chamber, or council, was added the senate continued to receive the larger measure of reverence and respect.

A FANTASTIC FRIGATE.

Its Captain Did the Best He Could With the Paint He Had.

Before the days of steel ships the allowance of paint in the British navy was very small, and sometimes the officers had to pay large sums in order that their ships might maintain a decent appearance.

Sir John Phillimore resorted to a curious expedient either to soften the heart of the navy board or, if that proved impossible, to express his opinion of the situation. He painted one side of his yellow frigate black and white and used the rest of the black paint in printing on the other side in large letters, "No More Paint!"

The navy board wrote to call his attention to the impropriety of his conduct and signed themselves, as they always did officially, "Your affectionate friends." Sir John made reply that he could not obliterate the objectionable letters unless he were given more paint, and signed himself in turn, "Your affectionate friend, John Phillimore."

The naval authorities then called his attention to the impropriety of the signature, to which Sir John responded in acknowledging the letter that he regretted that the paint had not been sent and ending, "I am no longer your affectionate friend, John Phillimore."

His frigate was permitted to retain her original yellow, and thus the navy board punished Sir John's impertinence.

Force of Light.

Light has an actual mechanical pressure and can be measured in the laboratory. It has been found that the sun's light in itself presses against the earth with a force something like 70,000 tons. As the surface of a sphere varies as the square of the radius, and as the volume or mass varies as the cube of the radius, and as the mechanical pressure of light on the whole surface varies as that surface, and as the force of gravity varies as the mass, if a sphere is made smaller and smaller it is easily seen that the pressure of light does not decrease so fast as the force of gravity, so bodies beyond a certain minuteness could not reach the sun, but would be repelled by the mechanical force of its light.

HOW TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

—Dr. C. Bolduan, director of public education of the New York city health department, and Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller institute, explained how to detect symptoms of infantile paralysis and how to ward off the disease and prevent its spread.

The first symptoms are fever, bowel disturbances, headache and irritability.

After a few hours pains develop, usually in the lower part of the legs and in the feet. [illegible] pains in the region of the spine, in the arms and neck—stiff neck.

Within twelve hours the patient is unable to move his arms or legs and sometimes cannot talk.

Vomiting, delirium, twitchings and convulsions accompany the progress of the disease.

A temperature of from 100 to 103 degrees lasts two or three days.

Sometimes, but rarely, the patient has chills, sore throat and skin eruptions.

Health is no protection. Often children go to bed apparently well and awake in the night with the first symptoms and are partly paralyzed by morning.

Cleanliness is the only known preventive.

The isolation of children in the house is next in importance.

Have children wash their hands and faces often.

Avoid buying candy, ice cream and fruits which are eaten without being cooked from peddlers and storekeepers who are not careful of their wares.

Don't kiss children on their mouths.

Keep their noses clean. This applies especially to young babies.

Don't cough in their faces.

Protect them from flies.

The germs of this disease, which are so small that they cannot be seen with microscopes and which pass through germ filters, almost always enter the bodies of their victims through the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.

Keep children away from their mates in the streets or at moving picture shows.

Report all cases at once to the board of health, so that the city's doctors can immediately investigate and remove the patients to hospitals.

Adults are not free from the disease. If your hands are dirty or if you are not careful about the preparation of your children's food, remember that you can give your little ones the disease as readily as can outsiders.

THOSE SKEETS!

Why We Must Take Care of Castoff Tin Cans.

In connection with one health department campaign for the elimination of the mosquito it has been suggested that every housewife should punch a hole in the bottom of a tin can after the contents have been removed and before throwing it into the rubbish heap. The family tack hammer or ice pick may be used satisfactorily to punch the hole. In the opinion of one expert this practice would prevent lots of mosquito breeding which is now going on in empty tin cans, which collect stagnant water.

It is stated on authority that a tin can half filled with stagnant water will easily breed over 200 mosquitoes. Old bottles and broken crockery are also a prolific source of mosquito breeding.

In many towns and cities the small boys have been put at the task of punching holes in all discarded tin cans in back yards and vacant lots and smashing all old bottles and broken crockery found on the rubbish heap.

BRITTLE FINGER NAILS.

How to Care For Your Finger Nails So They Will Not Break Off.

The best remedy for brittle nails is oil, and plenty of it. Soak the finger tips for five or ten minutes every night in warmed sweet almond oil.

When the surface of the nail shows ridges and there is a general appearance of coarseness apply grease about the edges whenever possible. Cleanse the nails with grease instead of using soap or nailbrush. It will produce a satinlike appearance and the tinge of pink that is so desirable.

Many women use cold cream about their nails, but vaseline is better. After soaking the finger tips in the almond oil take an orange stick and fill the cuticle with vaseline. The superfluous grease may be removed with a piece of chamois or absorbent cotton.

Surprising the Bullock.

In times of crisis and worry a kind word has been known to have surprisingly good results. The unexpectedness of such a word is perhaps the secret of its force. A book, "On the Wool Track," backs the moral with an anecdote.

A team was working on the Broken Hill road, and a bullock—the Beelzebub of the team—had gone obstinate, and the coach was passing. The whip was swinging, and some apt remarks were just forming on the back of the teamster's tongue when he caught sight of a clerical hat on the front seat and just in time thought better of it. He coughed politely.

"Ahem—Strawberry," he said, "proceed!"

To his obvious astonishment Strawberry proceeded.

WHY Mufflers Are Necessary On All Automobiles

LET us consider the case of the muffler. The exhaust valve opens while the burned gas is still under a pressure of from twenty-five to thirty pounds per square inch. If this were exhausted directly into the air the resulting noise would stifle conversation in the car, annoy everybody along the [illegible] quickly get the driver into difficulty with the police. The muffler prevents all this. It provides a chamber in which these exhausted [illegible] somewhat and at the same time breaks up the pressure by allowing it to leak out slowly through a number of very small holes instead of letting it loose in one "big noise."

In the early history of the automobile mufflers were not used, and everybody for blocks around knew when an auto was coming. As the automobiles increased in number this became a nuisance and was stopped by law. Then they sought a means of stifling the sound. In the early muffler there was trouble because the gas would back up in the cylinder and decrease the power of the motor. It was thought there was no way to decrease the sound without decreasing the power. Therefore the automobile manufacturers devised a valve to "cut out" the muffler on the car whenever extra power was desired. Sometimes the back pressure was so great as to interfere when driving through heavy roads or up hills. The "cut out" let the gas exhaust directly into the air instead of going through the muffler. At the present time nearly every city has a law prohibiting entirely the use of muffler "cut outs."

As a matter of fact, those well posted on automobile engines understand today that the "cut out" is absolutely unnecessary if the muffler is kept in proper condition. Muffler manufacturers have been able to produce a design with which there is no back pressure at all.

The average driver, however, does not know that his muffler needs as careful attention as any other part of the mechanism, and so he neglects it. In these days of noiseless cars it requires a great number of very small openings inside the muffler. These become clogged with soot or carbon from the exhaust. The deposit collects very rapidly, especially when the grade of the oil is poor or too much oil is used. It also results when the carbureter is adjusted to give too rich a mixture. When these small openings become clogged the exhaust gas cannot escape readily, and naturally the cylinder of the engine is not clean at the exhaust stroke. Result: It is impossible to bring in a full cylinder of new gas on the next intake stroke. There is not a full charge to explode, and this means a loss of power to the engine.

How to Make Bechamel Sauce.

Put a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and as it melts add half an onion, chopped fine, and let it stew until tender, but do not let it brown. Mince two ounces of raw ham, add the ham and let it brown. Then add a stick of celery, chopped fine, and half a carrot, also chopped fine. Add a bunch of sweet herbs, chopped fine; two cloves and four allspices. Let all simmer gently for two minutes without browning. Then add half a pint of cream by degrees, but do not heat it. Stir until the whole is velvetlike. Strain and set on the fire for a few minutes to heat.

HOW TO PICK OUT YOUR NEW "SPECS."

—If you find it difficult to thread a needle; if the printed page dances before your eyes, if you feel an inclination to avoid reading because it "makes you nervous," if your eyes are red rimmed or perhaps puffy looking after an evening of bridge, undoubtedly the time has come when you need glasses—not necessarily that badge of declining years, "sight glasses," but certainly the beneficent "rest glasses" which make so much difference in comfort and happiness and, if women did but realize it, in the condition of the nerves. "Rest glasses" take the strain off the eyes, make needlework and reading more enjoyable and incidentally help to put off the day when "sight glasses" will be needed. When you need "sight glasses" you will know it. No one will have to tell you that—you can no longer read newspaper print—but there are dozens of women struggling along, straining their eyes over fine sewing and trying to read music in the light that always used to seem good enough over by the piano, who do not realize that inexpensive "rest glasses" would improve their spirits and their tempers. Nothing makes one nervous and irritable—even depressed and blue—like the need of help for the eyes.

The straight bar of metal bisecting the nose makes the eyes look nearer together and imparts a hard, shrewd look to the face. The nose piece with an arch or curve rising over the nose seems to blend into the lines of the face and eyebrows, and glasses are not the first things one thinks of when gazing at that face.

The Secret of Success.

"There has been altogether too much talk about the secret of success," says Dr. Russell H. Conwell in the American Magazine. "Success has no secret. Her voice is forever ringing through the market place and crying in the wilderness; and the burden of her cry is one word—will. Any normal young man who hears and heeds that cry is equipped fully to climb to the very heights of life."

MOSBY AND HIS MEN.

The Old Warrior's Attitude Toward Reunions After the War.

"The late Colonel John S. Mosby differed from many military men in that instead of being pleased at being given a higher designation than he was properly entitled to the conferring of the higher title was extremely obnoxious to him," remarked Henry D. Rose of Norfolk.

"People who thought to please him by calling him general instead of finding favor invoked upon themselves the resentment of the old partisan chief. 'I never was a general, sir,' I heard him once say with great warmth to a young Virginian who thus addressed him. 'I am Colonel Mosby, and I never attained any higher rank than colonel, so please don't call me general.'

"As brave a spirit as ever lived, the old warrior was full of eccentricities. One of his peculiarities was his persistent declination to attend any of the reunions of Mosby's men. He probably gloried in the fact that these reunions were held, but no amount of persuasion could get him to be present.

"He used occasionally to indulge in a little grim humor regarding the number of those who attended the reunions. As the years went by naturally many of his old followers would cross to the great beyond, but curiously enough, according to the colonel's own statement, there seemed to be just as many of Mosby's men at these annual gatherings a generation after the war as ever he had enlisted in his command at the height of its numerical strength."—Washington Post.

WORLD'S LARGEST CLOCK.

Its Dial, Forty Feet Across, Carries a Twenty Foot Minute Hand.

The largest clock in the world is in the tower of the Colgate building, on the Jersey side of the river, writes the New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

This clock, which is illuminated at night, can be seen by persons using any of the ferryboats leaving from the lower part of Manhattan and those plying between the New York and New Jersey shores. Staten Island dwellers coming to or leaving New York city and commuters from New Jersey points use it as their official timepiece and regulate their watches by it.

The clock was built at Waterbury, Conn., and so gigantic are its parts that it was necessary to bring the hands from the factory on a flat car and use a box car to transport the works. The minute hand is twenty feet long and weighs half a ton, and the hour hand is fifteen feet long.

The weights of this monster time piece are more than a ton. The dial is forty feet in diameter, surpassing by thirteen feet six inches that of the second largest clock in the world, in the Metropolitan tower; it is fifteen feet greater than that of the clock in the tower of Philadelphia city hall, the third largest in the world, and it doubles "Big Ben," on top of the house of parliament, London, which is perhaps the most widely known clock in the world.

Where a King's Clothes Were Kept.

St. Andrew's-by-the-Wardrobe is a conspicuous waymark in Queen Victoria street and derives a grotesque distinguishing title from former proximity to the king's great wardrobe. This was originally the town mansion of Sir John Beauchamp and purchased from his executors by Edward III. for the keepers of the king's apparel. "There were kept," says Fuller, "the ancient clothes of our English kings which they wore on great festivals." Shakespeare in his will left to his favorite daughter, Susannah, the Warwickshire doctor's wife, a house near the Wardrobe, "wherein one John Robinson dwelleth." The present Church of St. Andrew's-by-the-Wardrobe was rebuilt by Wren after the great fire and became the city center of the evangelical revival under William Romaine.—Westminster Gazette.

FEEDING THE BOY.

Give Every Healthy Youngster the Diet His System Craves.

The growing boy—the active, healthy, normal boy—is a better judge of his diet than mother or father or doctor. He needs every kind of food, plenty of it, and his system will naturally crave for just those foods that are best for him.

Such, in substance, is the theme of an article in the National Food Magazine by Dr. H. E. Barnard.

There are two kinds of food—proteins, with which the body is built up, and the growing boy needs as much of these as the full grown man, often more; carbohydrates, which are the fats and sugars and starches that supply heat and energy.

The boy's protein food need not all be meat. Dr. Barnard says "it is better that no small part of this nitrogenous food come from milk and eggs, cheese, beans and peas. If he has plenty of these rich and relatively cheap foods he will not crave meat so inordinately as some growing boys do." Dr. Barnard continues:

"The boy needs a large quantity of carbohydrates. That is why his demand for bread and butter is limited only by the supply at hand; and when he uses almost as much butter as bread, do not stint him. By the pound butter is expensive, but it is pure, wholesome food, and he can use it readily. It will not make him ill; quite the contrary.

"And do not be afraid of sugar and sweet foods. Sugar is a true concentrated food. Give him candy for dessert. He craves it and his craving is natural, not abnormal.

"The boy's instincts will lead him to choose the all around diet he needs."

THE HASTINGS DIAMOND.

It Involved a King of England In a Bribery Scandal.

Nearly every great diamond has a history. These histories are always romantic, embodying numerous adventures, some of which are tragic.

In the history of the Hastings tragedy of England is a charge of bribery against a king, George III., which gave the gentle art of caricature an opportunity such as had never come to it before and showed the power that caricature could wield upon a people.

At a levee of the king held on June 14, 1786, a very valuable diamond of unusual size and brilliancy was presented to George III., ostensibly as a gift from the nizam or native ruler of Deccan, India.

At the period when this magnificent peace offering was given to the king the impeachment of Warren Hastings was advancing in parliament, and it was current rumor that this and several lesser diamonds were the purchase price of Hastings' acquittal.

Caricatures appeared in the windows of the printshops. One represented Hastings wheeling the king to market in a barrow and saying, "What a man buys he may sell again." In another the king was exhibited kneeling, with his mouth open and Hastings throwing diamonds into it.

An Italian juggler then in London pretending to eat paving stones placarded the walls with bills describing himself as "The Greatest Stone Eater." Improving upon this, the caricaturists represented the king in the character of the Greatest Stone Eater.—Indianapolis News.

Treating a Cut.

When you have a cut, a scratch, a bruise or any other kind of injury paint it with iodine. As soon as injured dip a toothpick with cotton rolled on the end of it in the iodine and paint over the wound without washing. The iodine will kill all germs in the dirt that gets into the wound, while washing only drives the germs farther into the flesh. When painted with the iodine wrap the injured part in a clean cloth for a couple of days.

A Submarine Record.

Although the submarine is, in a way, nearly 300 years old, yet the first under sea destroyer to sink a hostile warship without also sinking herself was the E-9 of the British navy, which in September, 1914, blew up the German cruiser Hela in Helgoland bight.—Argonaut.

LUCKY GREENSTONE.

It Is Found Only In a Wonderful Mine In South Africa.

Situated in the beautiful Kaap valley, in the Jamestown district of Barberton, Transvaal, there is a mine known by the name of Verdite. The name was given to it on account of the peculiar green stone found in the mine, which is unknown in any other part of the globe. Articles of jewelry and ornaments are made of verdite, and it has been called the lucky greenstone of South Africa.

The greenstone is a silicate of magnesia, or talc, colored green by nature in the course of its formation. Other silicates of magnesia may be mentioned here, peridot, serpentine, meerschaum and steatite. The mine, or rather hill, consists of three varieties of talc—green, white and black.

But a peculiar fact is that in the black talc there is present pure gold. Some of the finest specimens of gold bearing rock have been found at this mine. Every one knows that gold is found in quartz, pyrites, or even sea water, but scarcely ever has it been mentioned in books that gold exists in talc.

When the verdite rock has gone through the ordinary process of crushing and the gold has been extracted the waste (or what is called the slimes of a gold mine) is used in the manufacture of soap, grease, paint, paper, toilet powders, gas jets, electric insulators, crayons and many other articles of everyday use.

In fact, one might say that everything got from this mine can be used for some commercial purpose.—Chambers' Journal.

WALDRON-PARKER

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Chas Parker in Howell Wednesday, Aug. 30, 1916, when their daughter Miss Ethel was united in marriage to Harry Waldron of Tecumseh.

Promptly at noon, to the notes of the wedding march played by Miss Lucile Pratt, a cousin of the bride, the bridal party took their places before a bank of ferns and golden rod where the Rev. Littlejohn performed the ceremony, using the ring service.

The bride was attended by Miss Mabel Eager while Ora Parker, a brother of the bride, acted as best man, Helen Tullie being ring bearer.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe with pearl trimmings and carried white asters. The bridesmaid wore yellow satin. The bride's traveling suit was black velvet.

After congratulations a three course dinner was served by Mrs Emma Bailey and the Misses Irene Parker, Maude Scofield, Bertha LaPointe and Irene Scollen

The house was prettily decorated, the parlor in yellow and white, golden glow and asters, the dining room in pink and white asters.

Among the out-of-town guests were Eugene Parker, wife and daughter of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. M. E Ovenshire of Bath, N. Y., with about 20 relatives from Tecumseh, among whom were Mr. and Mrs J. K. Waldron, Florence and Leon, Mr and Mrs Bert Foor, Mr and Mrs Leon VanValkenburg.

We understand that Miss Pratt was so impressed with the ceremony that she "went and got married" herself Saturday.

The many friends of the newly-weds extend congratulations and best wishes. Harry has made many friends in his position as clerk at Avery's grocery and Mrs Waldron won the friendship of young and old while teaching in our schools

The attractions for tomorrow will be the Burfino's in their slack wire acts, and two other double acts, and possibly the fourth, this will be a hummer and will pay to be on hand to witness it The program for next week has not been announced, but will be right up to the mark and the best the committee can secure, as they are trying to make this occasion a little extra.

LABOR DAY

When Monday morning dawned upon us and the railroad trains were all reported on schedule time, a great dread was lifted. for the threatened strike was too terrible to contemplate. Its effects would be so far reaching and disastrous to every community, every family sharing in the common calamity. But now we hope for continued peace and prosperity along this line of traffic.

Labor Day was a very quiet day in Tecumseh though most of the stores were open Uncle Sam closed his place of business the post office, except for an hour from 10 to 11 a. m. and the Banks and barber shops were also closed. The automobiles were busy, carrying people to the lakes and other points of amusement.

Tom, Dick and Harry and several others went fishing. A very few came in from the country to trade. Towards night it began to be cloudy and look like rain, but we did not dare hope as we had been disappointed so many times, but in the night we did have a thunder shower which refreshed the face of nature.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

SUSPECT YOUR KIDNEYS

Too Many Tecumseh People Neglect Early Symptoms of Kidney Trouble

If your back is lame—if you feel dull, tired and all worn out—

If you have hard headaches, backaches and dizzy spells—

If the kidney secretions are disordered—

Suspect your kidneys and "take a stitch in time."

Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the time-tried, home-endorsed kidney remedy.

It may save you from some serious kidney trouble.

Make use of Mr. Langton's experience.

Thomas Langton, retired farmer, W. Chicago St., Tecumseh, says: "I had kidney complaint awfully and suffered with my back a great deal. My kidneys acted irregularly and the kidney secretions were unnatural. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they straightened my back, regulated the action of the kidneys and benefited me in every way."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Langton had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Latest Picture of The Queen of Spain

Since it was rumored that King Alfonso XIII. of Spain would probably be chosen as an arbitrator in the peace conference that will follow the ending of the war the royal family of Spain has been in the public eye. The portrait of Queen Victoria, here reproduced, is the latest of her royal highness and just received in this country. Queen Victoria was an English princess, daughter of Prince Henry of Battenberg and Princess Beatrice, who is a sister of the late King Edward VII. of England.

Proper Method of Pressing Garments

Good pressing is not only an important part of dressmaking and tailoring, but it is also one of the most important features in the care of clothing.

Skirts should be pressed over an ironing board.

The board should not be too heavily padded. The covering should be drawn tightly and should be of a firm, smooth material that will not leave the imprint of the texture or weave.

Darts and curved seams should be pressed over a curved surface such as a tightly padded cushion.

Sleeve seams may be pressed over the handle of a broom after covering it smoothly with cloth.

Use the curved edge or side of the ironing board when pressing open seams. This prevents the edge of the seam being pressed into the garment.

Nearly all pressing is done on the wrong side of the garment.

The seams may be dampened if the material permits. For surface pressing lay over the material a damp cloth and press dry. When pressing on the right side a firm dry cloth is first placed over the garment.

Use a rather heavy iron for pressing. Press slowly. Lift and place the iron, bearing down heavily.

Always avoid a sliding motion, as it is apt to stretch the material.

The Children's Play Corner

"Secret History."

Each player is requested to write on a card or slip of paper the name of some well known woman in history or fiction or in modern life. These are dropped into a basket, and all are then asked to write upon another set of papers the names of certain men whose names and careers are familiar to the average person. These are put in a second basket and well mixed, and both are passed around.

Each player draws one paper from each basket and cudgels his wits to [illegible] the names of the man and woman that he has drawn, as hero and heroine. The more impossible and ridiculous the letter. One person who drew "Rip Van Winkle" and "Xantippe" represented Rip's wife as a reincarnation of the virago who made Socrates' life miserable.

"Mother Bird and Hawk."

This is a fine out of door game and may be played by a large number. Children are arranged in groups in a row. Each group has the name of some bird, such as robins, sparrows, canaries, etc. About fifteen yards to the right of the birds and in front of them is a space for the "mother bird." The same distance to the left is reserved for the "hawk." The mother bird calls, "Come out, canaries" (or any other group). At these words the canaries all run to the mother bird, the hawk trying to intercept and capture them. If tagged they are imprisoned by the hawk. If they reach the mother bird's home without being tagged they are safe. Game continues till all birds have been called out.

Decapitation.

For ONE, which flows from tropic trees,
Men brave the storms of southern seas.
TWO'S thought to bring its wearer ill,
Yet's purchased and paraded still.
My dearest friend I call my THREE,
Though some rebuke me, half in glee,
And say, "That is but slangy lore.
His name is Albert—call him FOUR."
Answers—Copal, opal, pal, Al.

Streets In Mexico.

As so many of the Indians cannot read the streets in Mexico are named after birds or beasts. The name of the street appears in Spanish letters, but this is followed by the figure of the creature after which the street is named. For instance, Ox street is indicated by a figure of an ox in plaster or painted on a wall. The street of Flamingo presents the tall flamingo with back of fiery red, and Elephant street has a well molded figure of that animal with enormous tusks and trunk. [illegible] the youngest child can thus find its way home.

Sea Terms.

The terms larboard and starboard come from the Italian "questa borda" and "quella borda," which by rapid delivery became starboard and larboard, but owing to the strong similarity of sound they were changed into starboard and port, the use of the terms in the original form having been the cause of many accidents.

Dancing on the Beach.

It's a merry, merry tune,
On a summer afternoon,
That the sea keeps singing, singing, to the shore,
As we gayly dance away
To its music bright and gay,
For we love to hear the dear old ocean roar.

What to Do For Insect Bites

The most common bites or stings are those of the bee, wasp, yellow jacket, spider, horse fly, yellow fly, red bug or chigger, flea, mosquito and bedbug.

In case of a sting of any kind the first thing to do, of course, is to remove the sting. This can best be done with the point of a knife or needle, but care should be taken not to break the skin for fear of infection. Then the next best thing perhaps is to apply ammonia [illegible] parts.

In the case of bites, as well as of stings, when the sting is removed, as a rule, a paste of common baking soda applied to the affected part or these bathed in ammonia water is all that is necessary. Where the poisonous effect is severe, however, send for a doctor. In the meantime the patient should lie down and keep quiet.

An application of a 50 per cent solution of a saturate solution of potassium permanganate, which you get at the drug store, is very efficient for insect poisons and for the poisons of plants, too, such as poison ivy and sumac.

Cheesecake.

Cheesecakes are made by adding egg, sugar and flavoring to fresh curd, such as is used for cottage cheese. Add an egg to a cupful of curd, beat smooth and beat in half a cupful of sugar and a piece of butter the size of a walnut. Flavor with vanilla, nutmeg or any other spice. Line a pie plate with paste and fill with this mixture. Bake without a top crust.

A Taste For Soap.

Surely one of the queerest of tastes was that of the historian Prescott, of whose life in Rome Mrs. Hugh Fraser tells in "A Diplomatist's Wife In Many Lands." She says that he used to keep a cake of soap on his writing table and nibble at it constantly, "saying, when he was remonstrated with, that people should be clean inside as well as out."

ART OF BEING ALONE.

Try Taking to the Woods and Being Natural For Awhile.

The art of being alone is worth cultivating. Unless you have really tried it you have no idea how unusual and refreshing it is. City life and even modern country life are not conducive to its practice. It is very different from being lonesome and quite another matter from being ill. It is found at its full flower only in the woods, and its best development requires some adjustment and practice.

The first experience is apt to leave one somewhat baffled if not frightened. We live so much with other men and with the evidences of their activity that we hardly know how much is ourselves and how much some one else.

In the woods—and it need not be the remote wilderness—we can divest ourselves of all that is not really a part of us. We can learn how small—or perhaps how large—we are. We can soak up impressions with time to taste them and consider them. We can learn the true value of wind and clouds and sun and stars. There is no one there we can talk out loud to ourselves, and there will be no one to think us crazy. We can sing and no one will tell us we are off the tune.

In short, we can be natural for once in our lives—free from the warping effect of what other people think. That is surely an experience worth while.—Outing.

ALLIED GAIN IS ON LONG FRONT

18 Miles of German Trenches Are Captured.

SWEEP OF ALLIES GOES ON

Over 8,000 Teutons Are Captured in Two Days—Whole Ridge of Heights Won by Slavs in Carpathians—Russ Also Gain in Asia Minor.

PARIS — On the Somme front the battle in which the British and French troops were engaged Sunday developed on Monday on both banks of the river and continued throughout the day with extreme violence.

North of the river, continuing their success, the French have decidedly progressed east of the village of Le Forest, swept into Hospital farm and occupied a ridge west of the Marrieres wood. Violent counter attacks by the Germans against French new positions south of Combles, which debouched from the village, were broken up by the machine gun and barrier fire, which caused them very heavy losses. All of the ground which the French captured has been completely retained. The number of prisoners taken north of the Somme during these two days and so far counted has reached 2,500. The French captured about ten machine guns in addition to those reported Sunday.

Attack on 12½ Mile Front.

South of the river French troops attacked the German organizations on a front of about 20 kilometers (twelve miles and a half) extending from Barleux to the region south of Chaulnes. Everywhere the French artillery fire enabled them [illegible] objectives sought. On the Barleaux-Deniscourt front the German first line trenches were taken. The French established themselves in the outskirts of the village of Berny and the northern edge of Deniecourt. On the right the village of Soyecourt was attacked from the north and southwest, and was entirely captured. During an assault further to the south between Vermandovillers and Chilly, after the most violent fighting, French infantry captured on a front of more than four kilometres (two miles and a half) the entire first lines positions of the old German front, including various strongly fortified defensive lines.

The village of Chilly has been completely occupied and the French have captured the eastern slopes of Hill No. 85 as well as the western edges of the Chaulnes wood. They hold part of the village of Vermandovillers, which they entered from the north and south. Heavy artillery took under its fire and dispersed German detachments which were moving on the Liancourt-Roches road. The number of unwounded prisoners taken south of the Somme and actually counted is more than 2,700.

Gain Also in Meuse.

On the right bank of the Meuse, in spite of a violent bombardment by the Germans the French increased their gains of Sunday, advancing about 100 metres in the region west of Fleury. The Germans towards 9 o'clock in the morning launched a powerful attack against French positions in the Chenois wood. In the beginning of the attack they were able to capture a redoubt on the road to Vaux as well as some trenches to the west, but brilliant counter attacks enabled the French to completely recapture the ground momentarily abandoned and to capture about 100 prisoners. During the afternoon they repulsed some German attempts east of Chanois. The number of unwounded prisoners captured in the last day in the region of Fleury is more than 500.

British Gain on 3,000 Yard Front.

LONDON, ENG.—German positions on a front of 3,000 yards (one and three-fifths mile) were captured depth of a half a mile in Sunday's fighting north of the Somme, General Haig reported.

The British at one time occupied all the Village of Ginchy, but later were forced to give ground. Despite their hold on part of the village and on the strongly fortified town of Guillemont, won at the beginning of Sunday's drive.

A sweeping advance in terrific fighting Sunday gave the French a grip on the outskirts of Combles and threatens the German hold on Peronne, one of the objectives of the Somme offensive. Guillemont Forest and Clery villages were captured in a forward drive by British and French troops on a front of six and one-half miles. Combles is now under heavy attack from three sides.

The French captured more than 2,000 prisoners and the British 800.

British Take East African Capital.

LONDON, ENG. — Dar-Es-Salaam, capital and chief town of German East Africa, has surrendered to the British, it is officially announced.

The address was delivered by Archbishop J. J. Keene, retired.

A ROAST

This poem was written and read by C. E. Hampton of Fowler, Ind., at the reunion in Jackson. He was a member of [illegible] G, Old 4th Mich. Infantry.

In the year "Sixty-one," we thought it fun
To clean out those "Rebs" in a minute,
But when we got there, we were led to declare
Those "Johnnies" were very much 'in it."

At the battle of Bull's Run, the Rebs had their fun,
For we ran first, and they ran right after;
We run and they run, but couldn't catch us, "by Gum".
Because we ran so VERY MUCH faster.

Now there was Jim Lane, whom it gave such great pain,
Because he couldn't whip the whole "Push";
But after much gunning and fighting and running,
He finally just took to the "Bush".

Lon Farlamon said he never would flee,
From any Reb that walks;
But out at Culpepper, he proved a good stepper,
And didn't get time to talk.

Now Hampton, in battle, when muskets did rattle,
Concluded to get up and scoot;
Said he, I sure will be killed, and my body all filled,
With bullets, those blaimed Rebels shoot.

Henry Plummer was plumb, always cleaning his gun;
And he carried a great big pack;
Was wounded down there, I don't know just where,
It might have been right in his back.

Steve Mallery so bold, and the stories he's told,
Of the men, that he slew, in the fray;
Of the Rebels he gored, with his tad stabber sword,
And never a man got away.

Major Cole, he is nice and will give good advice;
Those who take it are sure to do well.
If you list to his preaching, and follow his teaching,
You never would land down in - - - - "Halifax".

Leve Taylor was slick, he'd do you too quick
Whenever a trade he makes;
He bought of the Suttler some cakes and strong butter,
His profits, cool hundred on a barrel of cakes.

Billy Fiester, you know, how the fife he could blow;
He'd blow and blow, I'll be blamed.
If he didn't blow all the day in most any old way,
Till he made old "Yankee Doodle" ashamed.

Harrison Daniels could eat, never saw the beat;
Would eat every thing before "Taps".
He'd clean up the platter, now that's whats' the matter,
And I, would eat up the scraps
(You see, boys, I know all about Daniels. I boarded him for three years and, there is where I got my start.)

John Rintz, our "Dutch", liked saver-kraut and such,
And had plenty of sand, in his craw.
He could fight like the dickens and steal all the chickens,
And eat 'em up just about raw.

John Hall, my honest Joe John, when this war first began,
He went to fight the Rebels John, and drive them from the land
But when the Battle raged John, we wanted home with "Ma"
We fight our battles now John, but fight 'em with our JAW.

And when these Jaws, cease wagging John,
As from this realm we go;
We'll wag them way up yonder John,
Or way down there below.

TECUMSEH BOY IN MANILA

Interesting Letter from Orrell Olds

The following letter was received by Lloyd McQuarie from his cousin Orrell Olds, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Olds of this place, and kindly given to us for publication.

Manila, July 22, 1916.

Dear Cousin Lloyd:

I will write you a few lines to let you know where I am and how I am I am well and hope this will find you the same. It seems I am so far away that I will write often.

Well, I left Columbus, O., May 23, and got to SanFrancisco the 27th. There we boarded the U. S. S. Sherman. At the Golden Gates the water began to get rough, the ship began to pitch up and down and I never was so sick in all my life, but it only lasted about two days, then the water was smooth all the rest of the way to Manila.

We got to Honolulu Monday, June 12, and we left on Wednesday. We had a fine time there. It is the finest place in the world. I would like to stay there all the rest of my life.

We did not get to Manila till July 3rd. It was a long time to be without seeing land. It was a lonesome trip, could see nothing but a lonesome sea bird flying near.

On Saturday, July 1st, we began to pass little islands on both sides of us, then we knew we were near the Philippines. Did not get to Manila Bay until Monday noon.

The bay was full of ships of all kinds, U. S. battleships, submarines, torpedo boats, mine planters and tramp steamers. The coast artillery on the island at Manila Bay is thirty miles from Manila.

We have gun drills once a week with 16 inch guns. In the army we have but little work to do from 10 [illegible] till 4 o'clock [illegible] noon. We can go over to Manila on Saturday morning and stay until Monday morning.

Manila is a large and beautiful city.

I get three "deer" more a month than I did in the U. S. and if I get to be first-class gunman I will get five more "deer" a month, for I can stay in the army three or four years if I care to.

The Philippines are not as I expected to see them. I supposed it was so warm that I would burn up, but it is not. I have seen it warmer in Michigan in June and July than it is here. I have slept here three weeks and have slept every night with a fig blanket over me.

I have not seen anyone from Tecumseh since I enlisted but I have met quite a few from Adrian and Detroit and Jackson.

Next month five of us are going on a hunting trip. We are going up in the mountains to see how many deer and wild hogs we can kill. We are going to stay five or six days.

The Philippines are a nice people. They wash our clothes and shine our shoes for $1.00 a month.

Well, I cannot think of any more to write this time, dear cousin, so will draw my letter to a close. Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain

Your cousin,
Orrell Olds.

PRESIDENT ACCEPTS LINCOLN BIRTHPLACE

40,000 See Ceremonies at Memorial Structure.

HODGENSVILLE, KY. — Standing before the log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born, now housed in a magnificent memorial structure, President Wilson, in behalf of the United States, accepted the Lincoln homestead, acquired by popular subscription through the Lincoln Farm association. The President made his trip to Hodgensville wholly one of tribute to the memory of Lincoln, declining all invitations to make speeches in the political campaign.

"How eloquent this little house within this shrine is of the vigor of democracy," exclaimed the President as he spoke of Lincoln as exemplifying the American spirit as showing the heights which men of lowly birth may attain.

"We are not worthy to stand here," said he, "unless we ourselves be in deed and truth democrats and servants of mankind, ready to give our very lives for the freedom and justice and spiritual exaltation of the great nation which shelters and nurtures us."

Entered in the postoffice at Tecumseh, Mich., second class mail matter.

Telephone Number 36.

WHAT STREETDO YOULIVE ON?

A movement is on foot to secure free delivery for Tecumseh. The matter is now in the hands of the postoffice department at Washington and without doubt this change is in store for us in the near future.

Some of us will miss our daily trips to the postoffice, but when we get used to the change every one will be better satisfied and will find it a great convenience to have their mail delivered twice a day at their homes.

Besides the convenience of having mail delivered, it will bring about another improvement that is much needed here, the numbering and classifying of houses. This we believe would be of great assistance to our people. A person living on Kilbuck street west of the corner of Kilbuck and Union streets, say the third house from the corner on the north side of the street, would be described as follows to a stranger asking to be directed: "Go to the Baptist church, then two blocks south to Kilbuck and your party lives the third house west of the corner on the north side of the street."

How much more simple it would be to say "John Jones lives at 415 West Kilbuck street." All the party would have to do is to find Kilbuck street and [illegible] side of the street until he arrives at the proper number.

This new service should call for two things when installed, viz. a town directory and street signs at each corner bearing the name of the streets.

How many people in Tecumseh today know the names of the streets in their own town? We wager that one in ten do not and some do not even know the name of the street on which they live. This we know because last fall we went to a fire which had started in a certain house situated on one of our residence streets, in fact on a corner lot. We asked several the names of the streets, but none could tell. They told us the name of one but could not tell the other. Finally we asked the occupant of the house and he too was unable to tell us.

It seems to us that it is high time we learned the names of our town streets. Why isn't it proper to teach our children in our schools the names of these streets? The children are as much at sea as the grown-ups when it comes to this matter. We would welcome free delivery for Tecumseh, also the numbering of our homes.

THE SHOE PINCHES

We hear a great deal now-a-days about the wonderful prosperity of our nation. How our industries are all working over time and everything is booming along at fever heat. Perhaps this is true. Our industries do seem to be very busy and what is more, no doubt but what these industries are making enormous profits. But how about the people? Do the fiynd upon going to the market that meat has dropped in price? Do they find upon going to the mrket store that provisions, which are necessary to sustain life, have dropped in price? Do they find upon going to the clothing store, or drygoods store, that these necessities have dropped in price? How about wood and coal? How about the many other things which are necessary to buy? Taxes? They are, of course, lower. We never have to worry about them being higher.

We printers don't have to worry about higher prices. Print paper doubles in price and then some. Ink has increased in price, in fact everything that goes into the make-up of a newspaper has increased, but we, of course, know that the increased prosperity of our neighborhood will offset these things. Our merchants will advertise more, of course, because they're so prosperous and people are buying more because they have so much more money to buy with. These things all help the newspaper man. (Does it?) The high prices would not worry people any if salaries and incomes would increase in porportion to the increased cost of living, but they don't and so the shoe pinches and is pinching mighty hard too.

Moslem Etiquette.

All true Moslems when eating must begin with salt and finish with vinegar. If they begin with salt they will escape the contagion of seventy diseases. If they finish with vinegar their worldly prosperity will continue to increase. The host is in etiquette bound to be the first to start eating and the last to leave off. Tooth picking is considered an act of grace in the true Moslem, for the angel Gabriel is reported to have brought a tooth pick from heaven for the prophet after every meal. The priests recite certain passages of the Koran before and after lunch and dinner and also before drinking water at any hour of the day.—London Globe.

One of the Regulars.

"He's a pessimist."

"Worries over his bad luck, eh?"

"Oh, even optimists do that. This fellow's a regular pessimist. He worries over other people's bad luck."—Exchange.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, Aug. 30.—Turkey has declared war against Roumania, according to a Reuter dispatch from Constantinople.

The Roumanian fourth army is reported by Bucharest to be within three miles of the large industrial city of Kronstadt, Hungary, and more [illegible] Austro-Hungarians have been taken prisoners.

Vienna admits a withdrawal along the whole Roumanian front, "in accordance with plans provided for a long time ago in case of war."

The Russians have captured Panker mountain in the Carpathians on the Hungarian border, the war office announces.

Thursday, Sept. 1.—With their armies overrunning Transylvania, a large part of which is to be abandoned by Austria, the Roumanians are reported to have struck at Bulgaria. Roumanian troops have crossed the Danube and occupied the large Bulgarian city of Rustchuk. Russian troops are massing in the Roumanian Dobrudja to strike at Bulgaria from the north. Transports are landing troops at Constanza.

Nine Transylvanian towns and villages have been occupied by the Roumanians. All the passes of the Transylvanian Alps have been given up by the Austrians. Kronstadt, with 40,000 inhabitants, chief commercial city of the province, is semi-officially admitted to be in Roumanian hands, together with four other towns, whose populations are more than 8,000.

Friday, Sept. 1.—Reports from Saloniki are that King Constanine of Greece has abdicated and the Crown Prince George has assumed the royal prerogative. he revolt of Greek soldiers in Macedonia over the Bulgarian invasion is said to have hastened the King's act. A committee of the entente powers is said to have taken over the affairs of Greece in Macedonia. Premier Zaimis, it is reported, will continue to power.

BRITON RETAINS HIS FIGHT TITLE

Welsh Wins Over White and Riot Marks Decision.

SPECTATORS TAKE A HAND

On Points the Champion Was Winner, but Contender's Work Entitled Him to Draw, Critics Assert—Stand Gives Way, Precipitating 200 to Ground.

DENVER, COLO — When Billy Roche gave Freddie Welsh the decision over Charlie White after twenty rounds of scientific and interesting championship milling the officials in the Welsh corner were subjected to a cushion bombardment from the irate Colorado fans, who thought the Chicago challender deserved an even break. There was a near riot around the ringside, and Roche and Harry Pollock, Welsh's manager, were surrounded by angry spectators. Pollock, Roche and Welsh's seconds were struck on the head with several heavy cushions. Wild-eyed fans threatened them, but nothing serious happened.

Nate Lewis rushed around the ringside shouting that Roche had robbed White, and some of the experts agreed with him. In the writer's opinion the decision was just from a technical standpoint, Welsh scoring the greater number of blows, even though all of them were of the slap variety.

White Too Cautious.

White kept on the heels of his flat feet too much and did not act like himself often enough to hold his own in the scoring line. Charlie was evening up in the closing rounds, but started too late. Fighting as he did, in a mechanical, methodical way, it rounds to trim Freddie. He would might have taken thirty or forty have done it sooner or later, but this was no finish affair. He knew this when he started and should have got busy earlier.

Welsh retained his title with a couple of love taps—a left to the face, hooked or poked straight, and a right to the kidneys, used at close quarters. White made no effort to stop the kidney pummeling and permitted Freddie to pile up many points that way. These two powder-puff blows, coupled with that English defense so well perfected by the champ, decided the day in Roche's mind.

A draw verdict would not have hurt Welsh. Freddie was guilty of continual holding, and that should have counted against him.

Stand Falls; None Killed.

The big first show got off to a bad start when twelve rows of bleacher seats 200 feet long collapsed at 1:40 p. m., carrying 400 people to the ground with a thud. They dropped from fifteen to eighteen feet, those in the center going down first and hardest. No body was killed and about twenty-five people were injured. A woman was seriously hurt about the chest. The others were more or less jammed up, but remained for the battle. They were given places in other sections of the arena. The badly hurt were removed to hospitals.

Cheney Easy for Kilbane.

CEDAR POINT, OHIO — Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland sucessfully defended his title as feather-weight champion of the world by knocking out George Chaney of Baltimore in the third round of a scheduled fifteen-round fight.

Kilbane stepped all around the challenger, playing his left upon his face constantly. Chaney became wary, but as he stepped in in the third round Kilbane whipped one to the jaw and knocked him cold.

HOMEMADE MARSHMALLOWS

How to Make These Delicious Sweetmeats In Your Kitchen.

If you wish pure, delicious marshmallows soak two tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin in ten tablespoonfuls of cold water until soft. Pour ten tablespoonfuls of boiling water over two cupfuls of sugar and boil until it makes a sirup which will form a thread when dropped from a spoon. Remove the sirup from the fire and stir into it the softened gelatin. Let stand until cool, then add salt and flavoring and beat until it becomes stiff enough to hold its own shape. Pour the candy into granite pans dusted with powdered sugar and let stand in a cool place until set. Cut in cubes and roll in powdered sugar.

Chocolate marshmallows are made either by coating the plain marshmallows with melted, unsweetened chocolate or by adding melted chocolate to the marshmallow mixture before cooking. Chopped nuts or candied fruits may be stirred into the mixture after it has been removed from the fire. Instead of vanilla flavoring fruit juice may be used in place of part of the water. Marshmallows are dainty and attractive if rolled in grated cocoanut before being coated with sugar.

CHALMERS MOTOR CO
Detroit, Mich., U.S.A.
Quality First

A LITTLE MORE QUALITY
ALWAYS PAYS

A friend of mine bought a lawn mower. I forget what he paid, but it was the cheapest he could find.

He cut his lawn twice, then took the lawn mower to the repair shop.

Every time he finished mowing the grass the cheap machine had to go back to the repair shop to be sharpened or tuned.

"That's the most expensive lawn mower I ever owned" he told me one day.

He had learned the lesson I've been trying to teach people about motor cars. And that lesson is—the cheapest car is often the most expensive. It pays enormously to pay a little more.

By paying $1090 for a Chalmers, for example, you get a five-year car. A car that will do everything you expect of it for at least five years.

And at the end of that time it will be in fair condition.

The motor—it's the famous 3400 r.p.m. It will never worry you. Never cause you to lose your temper.

For it has been tested in the han's of 30,000 owners and found 99.21 percent perfect.

Caution: Don't take the cheap-lawn-mower attitude in buying motor cars.

Miss Emma Rogers received a telephone message Thursday evening from Homer saying that Harry Beeden had passed away thatafternoon. The funeral will be held Sunday at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Beeden was formerly Miss Eloise Merritt and has many relatives in Macon and Tecumseh.

BARGAIN DAY

Next Wednesday the Last of the Season

The entertainment offered by the committee in charge for Bargain Day was especially good. It consisted of three acts, the first Mr and Mrs Tom Hughes, the bag punchers; 2nd, the Lowes in their rope spinning act; and the last, the Stanleys were seen in their balancing and slack wire performing. These acts were very much enjoyed by a large crowd in the evening. The Tipton band again favored us with a fine program. A performance was also given in the afternoon.

Next week Wednesday will be the last of the series of Bargain Day entertaiments and the committee are planning for this night to have the strongest program of the season Besides the program the people are asked to mask and a parade of the maskers will be given. Four prizes are offered for the best costumes: 1st prize to man or woman will be $5.00 in cash; 2nd prize, $3.00; and 3rd, $2.00, 4th, $1.00.

A stock of confetti will be on tap. Everybody is invited to come to Tecumseh next Wednesday and help make this wind-up day a big one. Come early and stay late. There will be plenty of music The Tipton band will be here

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Fred Tessman the Victim when a Pot of Hot Creosote Mixture is Overturned

Tuesday, Sept. 5th

While making some repairs on the Brownville bridge a creosote mixture was used, being kept hot. At the close of the day's work Tuesday, Fred Tessman and two others lifted it from the fire and by some mis-step it was overturned, the contents splashing over one side of Mr. Tessman's face and over his clothes, [illegible] intensely, tears rolling down his cheeks in spite of his grit. His face is quite sore, but fortunately the burns were not deep and his eyes were uninjured.

DR. HARTZOG HONORED

Dr. W. B. Hartzog, pastor of the local Baptist church, has been engaged as organizer for Lenawee county for the State Wide Prohibition Movement. This appointment comes to the doctor because of his recognized ability as a leader and as a reward for the service he has rendered the cause His work as manager of the local option campaign recently carried on in this county has fitted him for the work he has now undertaken.

We understand that he will devote his time during the week to the State Wide work and will take charge of his services as usual each Sunday, also will be here each Thursday evening

Wednesday night he was in Clinton where an organization was effected with Rev. O J. Lyon as chairman. A number of business men have enlisted in the fight for State Wide Prohibition.

BAPTISTS MEET

The mid-week meeting at the Baptist Church was somewhat varied from its usual routine last evening, when the District Superintendent W. T. Roberts of the church made a very interesting speech, outlining his work and the work of the churches in his district. At the close of his talk, a social meeting was enjoyed, with ice cream and wafers for refreshments. The occasion was an instructive and interesting one throughout.

DAMAGE BY WIND THURSDAY

Our long looked for rain came Thursday afternoon, but the pleasure was not unmixed for the high wind that accompanied the thunder and lightning wrought quite a little damage.

A new silo on the Routson farm was blown down "Dick" Wilson had just finished painting it, coming down about twenty minutes before the storm struck it

A large tree at H T. Dunn's was laid low and part of a tree at F. J. Temple's, while large branches were broken from many trees in town—But the rain was fine.

O. E. S. MEETING

Regular meeting of the O. E. S. was held last evening with four initiations, Mr. and Mrs. Chas, Nobles, Miss Ella Murphy and Ernest Pangburn. Owing to the storm that threatened, there was not a large attendance, but those who were present report a very pleasant evening and that the melons were fine.

That was a jolly bunch who spent last week at the Waldron cottage at Wampler's lake. They were chaperoned by Miss Agnes McWilliams. The crowd was composed of the Misses Irene Conklin, Lillian Kennedy, Gladys Bowen, Gertrude Peters, Muza Rice, Edna Taylor, Winnifred Mitchell, Camilla Hayden and Margaret McWilliams. Could you imagine a happier combination?

Frank Smalledge and neice, Mrs E. R. Stevens of Detroit have been visinting Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smalledge this week. Mr. Smalledge is an old Tecumseh boy, leaving home for Detroit nearly 40 years ago. In looking over an old file of 35 years ago in Nov. we find a like entry of Frank Smalledge of Detroit visiting Tecumseh. It also goes on to say that he was running a large store on Jefferson Ave. He is still on the job and has the finestdrug store in Detroit and one of thefinest in the state.

LINEN SHOWER

Teachers Honor Mrs. Harry Waldron Wednesday Evening.

Mrs. Emma Bailey Hostess.

A jolly company assembled at the home of Mrs. Emma Bailey Wednesday evening, honoring the latest bride, Mrs. Harry Waldron. The lady teachers of the Tecumseh schools, of whom Mrs. Waldron was a former member, and a number of other friends were present and presented her with an abundant supply of linen for her household use

The evening was spent in social visiting and games, after which refreshments were served. As the guests took their leave they left many good wishes for her journey over the matrimonial sea.

TWO AT SAME TIME

Indications point to a merry time at the Lenawee county court house at 11 o'clock in the morning of September 12th. Saturday night the Democratic county committee published a notice, calling their county convention for September 12th at the court house. Monday the Republicans issued a call to their cohorts, inviting them to the county gathering which they set for the same hour, day and place chosen by the Democratic brethren John C. Howell, secretary of the Democratic county committee, says his party's call was issued first. F. A. Bradish, Republican county chairman, is in Detroit today and the tangle will be let alone until he returns.—Wednesday's Adrian Telegram.

RAISIN TO THE FRONT

New Flag raised at Opening of School

District No 10 of Raisin township celebrated the opening of their school this week by a flag raising. The staff was provided by the patrons of the school and Don Wright was the donor of a large American flag.

The parents and friends of the pupils and their teacher Miss Ruth Curry were present for the occasion. All joined in singing "America," after which H. C Daniels gave an address, taking "Our Flag" for his theme. The affair was a very pleasant one and much enjoyed by all.

THE REX FAMILY PLOWING THROUGH MISSOURI MUD

Rev Rex and family appear to be having some time driving home from Kansas City. The wet weather has been the cause of most of their trouble and in a jolly letter received from the Rev. he says:

"Give me the roads of Michigan any day to the mud of Missouri and Illinois. One day we drove 164 miles, the next eight. - But we expect to be on hand next Sunday even if we have to walk to make it. - - There is some advantage in starting off the campaign with a 'bang,' but the 'bang' happened out in the hills of Missouri."

Appropriately his morning subject will be "Have a Heart;" evening, "A Railroad Sermon"

KITCHEN SHOWER

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Leon VanValkenburg entertained for the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waldron, about thirty guests being present. A bountiful kitchen shower was given them and the time was spent with games and music, with dainty refreshments at the close of the evening. A very merry evening is reported.

Neighbor Told Her Cure for Lumbago

Rheumatism and lumbago are awful things and cause great pain and misery, but Foley Kidney Pills can rout them.

Mrs. G. H. Eveland, Duncan Mills, Ill., writes the following letter: "I was stricken down with lumbago and was unable to turn myself in bed. A neighbor brought me a half bottle of Foley Kidney Pills, and said she had been similarly afflicted and that they had helped her. So I tried them and was completely relieved by the use of two or three bottles. I have had splendid success with them and have never known them to fail. I most heartily recommend Foley Kidney Pills."

Foley Kidney Pills tone up weak, inactive, sluggish kidneys, rid the body of poisons, give appetite, energy and refreshing sleep after pain. Don't neglect kidney trouble. Remove the cause with Foley Kidney Pills.

GOMPERS PRAISES WILSON

Head of American Federation of Labor Opposes Compulsory Arbitration.

LEWISTON, ME. — In a Labor day address here Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, praised President Wilson's administration for its achievement in the interest of the labor movement.

In a lengthy discussion of the threatened railway strike he defended the attitude of the brotherhoods and while he praised President Wilson for his efforts to settle the controversy, he unqualifiedly denounced any attempt at legislation to compel arbitration.

HERE'S TO CAMPERS.

How to Build a Campfire For Cooking Purposes.

In the Woman's Home Companion are the following directions for building a camp fire:

If you add the contents of a small bag of charcoal to your wood fire as soon as it has a good start the fire burns with a steady glow conducive to culinary success.

We have a way of building a fire which has proved most satisfactory. With a stick or flat stone dig a trench about eighteen inches long and four inches in depth and width. Build the fire in this, placing two flat stones across the top, one for the frying pan and the other for the kettle. Bacon can be broiled by holding it on the ends of green pointed sticks. Potatoes, corn and apples can be roasted in the same way. One of the chief charms of this fire is that there is little danger of its spreading. Then, too, it can be easily extinguished. Be sure to carry matches and an old newspaper to start the blaze.

Wade Killifer, Smart Outfielder.

Wade Killifer, who was recently traded by Cincinnati to the New York Giants with Charley Herzog in exchange for Pitcher Mathewson, Infielder Bill McKechnie and Eddie Rousch, outfielder, is a brother of Billy Killifer, catcher of the Philadelphia Nationals. He has played in sixty-four games this year for a batting average of .238.

Welsh and White to Battle.

Freddie Welsh's lightweight title will sway in the balance in a twenty round decision contest at Colorado Springs on Labor day. Welsh has signed to meet Charley White of Chicago to a referee's decision. The Colorado Springs promoters will give a purse of $17,500 for the bout. Welsh to get $13,500 with the option of accepting 50 per cent of the gate receipts White will get $4,000 for his [illegible] cent of the moving picture receipts. Billy Roche of New York city will referee.

Matty's Record With Giants.

Christy Mathewson, the new manager of the Cincinnati Reds, went to the New York Giants in 1900 from the Cincinnati club in exchange for Amos Rusie.

Matty's start with the Giants was not a brilliant one, as he lost all three games that he pitched in 1900. But in 1901 he started out on his wonderful pitching career, which enabled the New York club to win five National league pennants and a world's championship.

In his seventeen years with New York Matty won 371 games and lost 190 for a grand average of .663. His best season was in 1909, when he won twenty-five games and lost six for an average of .806.

During his career with the Giants the "old master" struck out 2,188 batters, issued 782 passes to first and 4,282 hits were made off his delivery.

Winning With Discards.

Apparently the way to win a pennant is to go out and pick up ball players other clubs can't use. Stallings won that way in 1914 with Gowdy, Rudolph, Smith, Evers and Mann. Moran accomplished the same stunt last year with Demaree, Stock, Niehoff and Whitted. Now Brooklyn is leading with Marquard, Cheney, Coombs, Mowrey, Olson, Meyers—all major league discards.

McInnis Not Batting to Form.

Stuffy McInnis, the Athletics' star first baseman, is down in the doleful dumps of a real batting slump. For six years, including last year, he has batted well above .300. This year so far he has been hitting under .300. He is not the only one of the older stars who have hit the slide this year. His former teammates of that $100,000 infield also belong to the Slump Bros.' aggregation.

Fair Drivers May Race.

Promoters of the Labor day auto races at the Sheepshead Bay speedway, New York, are seriously considering staging a race for women drivers. Mrs. Nina Boney, a fair speed [illegible] from the south has issued a challenge to women racers, and she hopes that a race for her sex can be arranged.

Village Changes.

Everything in the dear old village seemed the same to Jones after his absence of four years. The old church, the village pump, the ducks on the green, the old men smoking while their wives gossip—it was so restful after the rush and bustle of the city. Suddenly he missed something. "Where's Hodge's wind mill?" he asked in surprise. "I can only see one, and there used to be two." The native gazed thoughtfully around, as if to verify the statement. Then he said slowly: "They pulled one down. There wasn't enough wind for two of 'em."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

At the Beach.

It was at the seashore and they were sitting on the beach while the moon shone beautifully on the surging waves.

"What effect does the full moon have upon the tide?" she asked, looking sweetly up into his face.

"None," he replied as he drew closer to her, "but it has considerable on those who aren't tied."

No Faith In Presentiments.

"Tony," said a British officer to his soldier servant, "something tells me that I shall never come back alive. I seem to have a presentiment that way." "Then take no heed of it, sir," responded the servant. "Them presentiments is frauds. A cousin of mine had one once, and it treated him very badly. It was just like the one that's troublin' you now, sir. He felt sure that he'd be killed out in Egypt, so he divided his savings between his sweetheart and his bosom chum and went out to be shot. But never a scratch did he get." "And what happened when he returned home? Did they give him back his money?" "Not a farden, sir. They'd been and got married while he was away, and they'd set up housekeeping with the money."—Toronto Sun

Knocking Down.

First Trolley Conductor—Why was Kelly fired? Second Trolley Conductor—His car struck a man at Steenth street and carried him a block on the fender. After collecting a nickel from him Kelly in the excitement forgot to ring it up—and the man was a spotter—Life.

How to Mend the Screens Without Hailing a Carpenter.

The broken door or window screen is an eyesore all summer if it is left unmended or the repairing is done clumsily. The neatest way to mend the screen is to cut a piece of wire netting about three inches larger than the hole. Remove the wires around the edge of the patch for half an inch or more, like drawing away the threads from a piece of linen. Bend the resulting prongs at right angles and fit the patch in place with the wire ends sticking through the screen. Press the patch flat against the larger surface, then on the other side press the ends back to their original position. This secures the patch.

How to Set Hooks In Hardwood Without Splitting It.

To put hooks in hardwood first make a hole with a small gimlet; then slip the handle of a knife or any small steel article through the hook and turn it until it is secure in the wood.

The Reason.

"I wonder why Alice has remained a miss." "Because she failed to make a hit."—Boston Transcript.

SUCCESS.

Believe with all your heart that you will do what you were made to do. Never for an instant harbor a doubt of this. Drive it out of your mind if it seeks entrance. Entertain only the friend thoughts or ideals of the thing you are bound to achieve. Reject all thought enemies, all discouraging moods—everything which would even suggest failure or unhappiness.

Water and Greens For Chicks

During the spells of hot weather the drinking water for chicks should be replenished at least twice a day. Hot, stale water is not appetizing and will have the same sickening effect upon fowls as it will upon mankind. Unless they consume plenty of water the birds will not only suffer greatly from the heat, but will be unable to contribute much to the summer egg yield.

Bad odors arise with double strength on hot days, especially on premises that are not kept clean. Not only should the droppings be frequently gathered, but disinfectants must be employed. Bad odors harbor disease germs, and so long as they are present the health of the flock is kept in jeopardy. Another fruitful source of disease is unclean drinking vessels. Once a week they should have a good cleaning. A small lump of lime constantly kept in the vessel will assist greatly in purifying the drinking water.

During hot spells plenty of green food should be given and the quantity of heating food reduced. Green food has a medicinal effect. It keeps the bowels in good shape and it prevents scrofula taints of the blood. Fowls enjoy greens best in the morning. It seems to be a bracer for them, and it is then that it apparently does them the most good.

Orchard and Garden

Late lettuce, radishes and endive may be sown now.

Keep the cauliflower leaves tied over the heads if you want clean, white, marketable heads.

Keep the new strawberry beds clean of weeds and let the plants produce new runners.

The effect of spraying is noticeable now in clean apples and plums. It pays to spray.

Early celery is best blanched with paper or boards. It is more apt to decay if earth is used. Earth is best to blanch late celery.

Begin to save seed of shrubs, trees and perennials for next year's planting. Some may be planted now, and they will bloom next year.

GOOD DEEDS.

Remember that if the opportunities for great deeds should never come, the opportunity for good deeds is renewed for you day by day. The thing for us to long for is goodness, not glory.—Dean Farrar.

Horses the Cossacks Use.

The Cossack's horse is small, with a short, thick head and neck and a sloping back, but what he lacks in size he makes up in sense. To weather and climate he is alike indifferent and does not miss a warm stable, because that is a luxury he never had. He will thrive where any other horse would starve and relishes food that a goat would scorn. His rider will tether him on a snow covered plain, and he will get his own food by scraping aside the snow to get at the reindeer moss. And so docile is he that he will form a breastwork for his master to fire over or cover incredible distances on the shortest of commons.—London Chronicle.

A Dream Fulfilled.

Dream premonitions have always left me somewhat incredulous when they happen to other people. But they sometimes happen to me. The other night I had a vivid dream of a man walking toward me in a principal street of my native town. He smiled. we spoke a few words—in the dream.

It was a man I hadn't seen or thought of for at least twenty years, and, though I had completely forgotten him when awake, I knew him in the dream. You will guess the sequel. Next afternoon I encountered him at the front door and started as he mentioned his name. He had the same smile on.—London Opinion.

OUR IDEA IN BANKING IS JUST PLAIN OLD FASHIONED HELPFULNESS.

The Tecumseh State Savings Bank is just as open to you as the Post Office. The people in it, from the President down, want to see you come in and talk things over.

If you do not know any one here, come in and get acquainted. Remember, we bankers are professional advisers in business matters, just the same as the doctor is in the matter of health, and the sick man who refuses to see a doctor, and sticks to it, is likely to have the undertaker call pretty soon.

And the man who never gets acquainted at a bank is likely to have a pretty extensive acquaintance among Bill Collectors.

There are many suggestions we can offer to the man who receives the salary check or the pay envelope, which may be as valuable to him as any raise he is apt to get.

However, we can't advise you 'til we know. Let's get acquainted.

BULGARS SEIZE FORT ON DANUBE

Silistria, Roumanian Stronghold, Is Captured.

IN PATHWAY TO BUCHAREST

Fall of Black Sea Fortress, 40 Miles from Roumania's Capital, Is Last Obstacle to Advance Across the Danube—Bulgar-German Troops are Now 50 Miles In Foe's Territory.

London, Sept. 11.—The Roumanian fortress of Silistria, on the Danube forty miles southeast of Bucharest, has fallen to German-Bulgarian army, according to the official announcement made by the Berlin war office.

Silistria is in the province of Dobrudja on the southern side of the river, which separates the province from Walachia. The advance of the invaders to this point marks a progress of more than fifty miles since the drive into Roumania began. Silistria is the second great Roumanian fortress to fall, Turtukai having been the first.

Silistria is one of the strongest fortifications of the little kingdom and is considered the gateway to Bucharest. With its guns disposed of there are practically no more natural obstacles to the drive of the Teutonic allies toward the Roumanian capital.

Losses Are Considerable.

In speaking of the fall of Silistria Berlin says the losses of the Roumanians and Russians have been considerable, making it appear that Russian troops have been sent to the Danube to aid the Roumanians in defending their country.

Berlin als [illegible] tle with the Roumanians in the Carpathians, where the Russo-Roumanian army has invaded the southernmost part of Bukowina and Transylvania is still continuing.

Bulgars Yield in Macedonia.

On the Macedonian front an official statement issued in Paris reports that the Bulgarians have evacuated their trench east of Vetrenik, which is forty miles east of Lake Doiran. The German official statement reports that the King and Crown Prince of Bulgaria are visiting German headquarters on the eastern front to confer with the Bulgars.

JAPAN IS DEMANDING MORE

Nipponese Plan to Run War Schools of China.

Pekin, Sept. 11.—In addition to demanding police power in South Manchuria and Inner Mongolia as one of the terms of the settlement of the incident at Cheng-Chiatun, in eastern Mongolia, Japan, it was learned in government circles here, also has secretly suggested to China that the employment of Japanese military advisers at the large Chinese centers and of Japanese instructors in the Chinese military schools would be highly desireable.

The Chinese press says the granting of the Japanese demands would mean the abandonment of Chinese sovereignty in inner Mongolia and in south Manchuria.

GERMANS ADMIT RUSS GAINS

Over 1,900 Prisoners Captured by Slavs in Carpathians in Week.

London, Sept. 11.—Loss of ground west of Shypot, in the Carpathians, near Zabie, is admitted by Berlin in the official war statement. Attacks by the Russians from the sea to the Carpathians also are reported.

The capture of fifteen German officers and 1,889 men in battles in the wooded Carpathians from Aug. 31 to Sept. 6 is reported by the Russian war office. A quantity of German war munitions also was taken.

OBREGON IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mexico's Leading Military Man Suffering from Bright's Disease.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 11.—General Alvaro Obregon, Mexican Minister of war, has been stricken with Bright's disease and is in a serious condition, according to unconfirmed reports.

Obregon never has been well since a shell tore off his right arm a year ago. General Francisco Serrano, chief of staff, is in charge of the war office.

Soldiers' Sweethearts "Widows."

Karlsruhe, Sept. 11.—The minister of justice of the grand duchy of Baden has decided that girls who have been formally engaged to soldiers killed in the war may assume the names of their dead sweethearts and call themselves widows, as though they had been married. This decision is important, because many of the girls are the mothers of "war babies" whose birth will now be legitimate.

Wilson Rewards Sailors.

London, Sept. 11.—President Wilson has awarded binocular glasses to J. Robb, W. Pritchard and William R. Williams, captains of the British vessels Oxonian, Pinna and Lucellum, respectively, for services to the American ships Cora A., Ella L. Davenport and Thomas Winamore respectively in the North Atlantic. Four seamen of the Lucellum were awarded gold medals.

Canada to Raise $100,000,000.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 11.—Canada's new war loan will be for $100,000,000 at 97½, bearing interest at 5 per cent and running for fifteen years, it was announced here. The subscription books will be opened Tuesday. The last loan was $50,000,000, but twice that amount was subscribed.

"Father of Wire Fence" Dies.

Adrian, Sept. 11.—J. Wallace Page, known as the "father of the wire fence industry," died here. He was seventy-three years old.

MAINE FOCUSED IN NATION'S EYE

Pine Tree State Leads Van in Fall Elections.

USUALLY CARRIED BY G. O. P.

President Wilson Got State's Electorial Votein 1912, with Roosevelt and Taft Splitting Republican Votes State Issues Cutting Figure—National Politics Played.

Augusta, Me., Sept. 11.—The anxious eyes of politicians all over the country are on Maine for the early fall state elections of this pivotal commonwealth, are always watched as straws to show which way the political winds are veering. Both sides have conducted tremendous campaigns, in which national issues figured largely.

Maine election figures in recent years have been:

1912. Wilson, 51,113; Roosevelt, 48,493; Taft, 26,545. Wilson's plurality, 2,620. Combined Taft and Roosevelt majority over Wilson, 23,925.

1914. (State Election)—Curtiss (democrat) elected Governor by plurality over Haines (republican of 3,177. Gardner (progressive) received 18,225 votes.

1910—Democratic Governor elected by plurality of 8,753.

Three out of four congressional districts are now represented by Republicans. In the fourth district the G. O. P. is making a desperate effort to oust Representative Daniel J. McGillicuddy and sweep the field. The Republican candidate is Wallace H. White, Jr., who as candidate for Mayor of Lewiston last spring, received the largest vote ever cast for a Republican in that city.

Governor Oakley C. Curtis, Democrat, is a candidate for re-election against Carl E. Millikin, a Roosevelt Republican and President of the senate last term.

The Republicans are for strict enforcement of the anti-liquor statute, while the Democrats take a more liberal view.

The Democratic candidates for United States Senators are Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, who is running for a second term, and Professor Kenneth C. M. Sills, dean of Bowdoin College. Against them the Republicans have placed Colonel Frederick Hale, a son of Ex-Senator Eugene Hale; and ex-Governor Bert M. Fernald.

Absent Voters Act on Trial.

Denver, Col., Sept. 11.—Tuesday's primary elections are the first test of the new Colorado law by which a traveler does not lose his vote by reason of being away from home on election day.

He can now vote in any county of the state, after being through certain preliminaries. The new law will also apply to state offices.

JAPANESE CRITICISE SATO

New Envoy to U. S. Accused of Blundering at Portsmouth Conference.

Tokyo, Sept. 11.—Much criticism of Aimaro Sato, who will take up his post as Ambassador to the United States, has been appearing in the Japanese press lately, and the Tokyo News Agency has circulated a report that on account of the criticisms Sato would shortly resign on the plea of bad health. The foreign office issues a flat denial of the reports, stating that as Sato has been appointed by the Emperor to represent Japan at Washington his resignation is out of the question.

The allegation made against Sato by his critics is that he lacks the ability necessary for such an important post. His record at the Portsmouth Peace Conference has been raked over and it is alleged that he blundered there by gving away information to newspapermen. Since the conference at Portsmouth Sato has been Japanese minister to Holland, a country which has comparatively little business with Japan. In 1900 he was accredited to Mexio but was recalled for duty at the foreign offie.

10,000 MEN AFTER VILLA

Gen. Trevino to Put Large Force in Field to Capture Bandit.

El Paso, Sept. 11.—Ten battalions of 1,000 each are to be placed in the field by General Jacinto B. Trevino in an effort to stem the rising tide of Villa, according to a message from Trevino to General Gonzales, commanding in Juarez. The decision was reached at a conference in Chihuahua City. Villa is supposed to be still in the Santa Clara Canyon with his bandits, numbering in the neighborhood of 500.

The activity of the de facto government was stimulated by reports of a speech delivered by Villa to the populace of Satevo after his capture of that town. The bandit declared he had plenty of money and was ready to pay every man who enlisted with him high wages in silver. He said he would soon have a great army.

Allies Seize Valuable Ships.

Odessa, Russia, Sept. 11.—The value of enemy ships seized in Greek ports is ten million roubles.

HOLD 143,000,000 DOZ. EGGS

Two Hundred and Twenty-one Firms Have Them in Cold Storage.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Two hundred and twenty-one firms are holding nearly 5,000,000 cases of eggs—about 143,000,000 dozens—in cold storage, according to the latest report to the department of agriculture.

Great as the figures may seem, the official report shows them 10 per cent less than a month ago.

Reports German Factory Burned.

Coppenhagen, Sept. 11.—According to the Politiken, an airship factory at Frankfort has been destroyed by fire. Four large Zeppelins, almost completed, and fifteen aeroplanes were destroyed.

GRAND RAPIDS BEGINS WAR ON JOY RIDERS

Three Persons Are Hurt in One Day.

Grand Rapids, Sept. 11.—Three persons were seriously injured in traffic accidents, and the police have been ordered to arrest all violators of the traffic and autofobile laws in an effort to curb reckless driving, which has cost on an average of four injuries a day for the last two weeks.

The victims for one day are J. C. Darling, nineteen years and Joseph Sande, twenty-three. Both were riding on a motorcycle and were run down by Theodore Verhage, a farmer, living near Zeeland. Darling's left leg was fractured at the ankle and the foot was torn off. Sande suffered internal injuries. The police have ordered Verhage's arrest.

Michael Bowler, fifty years old, of Parnell, is in a hospital here with a fractured skull and internal injuries, received when his automobile turned turtle. He will probably die.

MAY DROP HOTEL MAN'S CASE

Prosecution Has Not Placed Name of Pontiac Owner on Docket.

Pontiac, Sept. 11.—The prosecution has practically decided to drop the case against Grover C. Ake, who was arrested nearly a year ago following a raid on the Cleveland hotel, which he conducted when charges of running a house of ill-fame wer preferred against him.

The raid was made at the same time as the one which resulted in the conviction of Harvey J. Davis, who owned the Wayside inn. Ake this week sold the hotel, the new owners being M. R. and L. L. King. The [illegible] had been postponed and does not appear on the docket of the present term of circuit court.

WANTS SHARE OF $300,000

Unacknowledged Daughter of Kazoo Man Continues Fight.

Kalamazoo, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Mary I. Rupert, unacknowledged daughter of the late Amos J. Winslow, of this city, has filed a petition in probate court asking that an order, barring her from further proceeding in settlement of the estate, be set aside.

Mrs. Rupert declares she will carry the matter to the supreme court in an effort to obtain a share of the estate, which at one time was estimated to be worth more than $300,000. Affidavits are submitted, signed by two friends of the capitalist, intending to show that he acknowledged Mrs. Rupert as his daughter.

ADMINISTRATION IS AFTER BREAD TRUST

Advance in Price of Loaf Being Inquired Into.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The administration is seriously concerned over the broad situation and views with alarm the threat of bakers to increase the price of the loaf.

Government investigations already are in progress, and it is believed here that criminal prosecutions will result if the price of bread actually is increased and two facts can be established. These are: That there is no economic justification for the increase; and that the bakers have acted in association.

An official says there must be an investigation and the facts of it detailed to the public so the public by the weight of its expressed opinion may frown any attempt to increase unjustlly the price of bread. The Federal Trade Commission, through Chairman Ed. N. Hurley, has been making an investigation of the economic phases of the question. He is now in Chicago authorized by the Commission to pursue this inquiry as far as he deems necessary.

Will Pay Buffed Losses.

Buffalo, Sept. 11.—Walter Mullen has agreed to shoulder the loss of every dollar, about $80,000, sustained by the stockholders in the defunct Buffalo Federal League Baseball club. He will exchange each of the now worthless stock certificates at its face value for real estate in one of the choice suburban sections in Buffalo.

FOREIGNERS MAY BE BARRED

Physician Fears Night Schools May Be Unhealthy for Pupils.

Pontiac, Sept. 11.—Education of Pontiac's foreigners may be removed from the public schools, if the objection raised by Dr. R. Y. Ferguson, a member of the board of education, is given weight by the rest of the board.

When the matter of re-establishing a night school, conducted by interested private parties last year in the high school building, was taken up at a meeting, the physician objected to the use of the schools on the ground that health precautions made it unwise. He suggested that a down-town store or coffee room be rented for the purpose, rather than allow the men to make common use of a room used in the day for children's classes.

Rome, Sept. 11.—Minister of Industry and Labor Giuseppe De Marva has published a decree forbidding excessive luxuries in feminine apparel during the length of the war.

AUTONOMY TO POLES DECLARES STUERMER

Independence Not Contemplated, Says Russ Premier.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—Prime Minister Stuermer has issued an official statement addressed to the Russian people and allied nations, in which he states that the Polish question will always be treated as an internal affair by Russia and that in its adjustment no foreign interference will be tolerated. The latter remark is evidently directed against the French and English press which is advocating the greatest possible measure of freedom for Poland in case of a victory for the Allies.

"Poland will shortly be in the possession of the Russian armies again" the statement continues. "Russia is prepared to sacrifice her last man to prevent the realization of the Austro-German plans. The creation of a Polish buffer state is out of question for many reasons. No true Russians will for a moment harbor the thought of giving up even as much as a square foot of Russian territory, and the Poles themselves do not want to come under Teutonic domination. As a Slavic race they are inseparable from Russia. The policy of the Russian government in regard to Poland has been clearly defined in the proclamation issued by Grand Duke Nicholas in August, 1914, and by later statements of former Prime Minister Goremykine.

"Poland, at the end of the war, will receive the same measure of autonomy that has been granted to Finland. This is the only possible solution of the Polish question. The Polish conspirators who have listened to the lures and promises of the Central Powers will soon regret the treason committed by them."

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

With tomorrow's Bargain Day program, the season of 1916 closes. The merchants of Tecumseh feel very much pleased with the success of these Bargain Days and also feel that their efforts have been rewarded, for each Wednesday during the summer has brought large crowds of our friends and neighbors to Tecumseh. In fact it has been somewhat of a surprise to see the size of the crowds. Some weeks it has been estimated that we have had 7000 people on our streets.

What makes the portion sweeter is the fact that these Bargain Day entertainments and the trade in Tecumseh idea is original with them. A year ago this last spring the idea was born here in Tecumseh and we started our Bargain Days. It was a winner from the start and our merchants were so much pleased with last summer's campaign that it was adopted again this year. This year the program was strengthened and the committee in charge have given the people a series of fine entertainments, as good as can be seen on any vaudeville stage in the country. Good bands have been furnished each Wednesday and all given to the people gratis.

Our merchants have been rewarded with increased trade, as on each Wednesday night the stores have all been open. Our merchants have become better acquainted with the people from the outside and we are continually hearing from people that they have enjoyed their weekly visits to Tecumseh.

Tecumseh has long been famed for her excellent stores. No town in southern Michigan can offer better goods to the people and we feel that our prices are right. We want people to come to Tecumseh and we go still farther, we want them to do their trading here, to make Tecumseh their home town.

It has been surprising to note the distance people have been driving to come here on Wednesday nights. People have been coming 25 and 30 miles and they have been rewarded for their efforts.

With the large crowds of people who have been on our streets and the great number of autos and rigs massed on our streets, still there have been no accidents worthy of mentioning. Our committee in charge have given time and a good deal of thought to this matter and early in the season worked out a good plan to safegaurd the people, with the result that crowds have come and gone in perfect safety.

To-morrow, the last day, will be gala day. The closing program will be the best of the season, the Tipton band will furnish the music and an extra feature will be added, in "dress up" night. People are asked to mask and dress up. To the best dressed contestant $5.00 will be given and to the next best $3.00. To the funniest dressed person $2.00 will be given and to the second funniest $1.00. The maskers will be formed in line and a parade will be given in the down town district. Confetti will be on tap and a gay time will be in store for every one. Don't fail to be here to-morrow, all day.

HOW To Wind Watches So They Keep Good Time

YOU cannot secure the best services from a good watch or clock unless you know how to wind it so as to cause the least wear and irregularity in its delicate machinery.

A watch should be wound at the same time every day. If allowed to run down, or even almost do so, and then wound up until it will not wind any farther, it cannot do as perfect work as a watch that is not allowed to run to its full capacity or wound up until it is as tight as it can be made.

If the watch is wound both morning and evening at about the same hour and the key is given only enough turns to wind it a little less than half what it could be wound the watch will run more evenly, wear much longer and keep more accurate time than if it is wound up tight once a day.

A watch spring will last longer if it is wound when there is the least extreme of temperature, and morning and evening are, of course, the best in that respect.

It is more or less dangerous to wind a watch during a heavy electric storm, and it is best to avoid winding while on an electric car.

An eight day clock should be wound twice a week at as regular periods as possible to secure the best results. Never allow the clock to run down, and if possible do not wind it until it is tight.

Learn by experience just how many turns of the key it takes to wind the clock to run eight days, and then when half the week is gone wind the clock by giving the key just half as many turns as it would require to wind it all the way. More accurate time will be had, and it will avoid placing any of the parts on a strain, which is frequently the cause of good clocks giving out in some particular before they have served half as long as they should.

A little attention to this advice will lengthen the life of any watch or clock and make it a better timepiece.

HOW AUTOS CAN OBTAIN GREATER MILEAGE

TO THE GALLON.—Gasoline is elastic. A gallon will drive a car almost any distance—the record is nearly ninety miles—says a writer in the current number of Motor Print. This is food for thought for those who are worrying over the high price of fuel. By taking a few simple precautions it is possible for every owner to reduce greatly the consumption per mile.

If the car is run too slowly or fast there is fuel waste. Fifteen miles per hour is a good average.

Until now the average motorist has been careless about the amount of fuel he used because it was comparatively cheap and was a small percentage of the total car expense.

Make sure that you are getting all the gasoline that you pay for. Some owners are not. Watch the counter on the pump to see that it registers the correct number of gallons and that the operator does not tamper with it while filling your tank. Furthermore, be certain that you obtain full measure. Some gasoline pumps leak; others have been "fixed" to give a short gallon. It is almost impossible to find the error by examining the pump, so it is necessary to check the amount in your tank by frequent measurement, or, if this is not feasible, it is advisable occasionally to buy a gallon in a can of your own and measure the quantity when you get home.

Most cars can be operated with a leaner mixture without affecting the production of power. Some motorists may even deem it advisable to run with a very lean adjustment, notwithstanding a reduction in hill climbing ability or speed. The exact adjustment must be determined by trial.

An auxiliary device which may be attached to the manifold and operated from the dash should be used. It will be found helpful when running with light load along a smooth, level road or downhill. When the motor is used as a brake the suction on the carburetor is [illegible] minimum by opening the auxiliary air device wide.

The car should run easily. All the bearings should be well greased and free. It should be possible to push the car without difficulty with one hand on a smooth, level surface. The importance of reducing friction to the minimum is shown by the fact that a racing car in good condition may be pushed with one finger.

THE HUSTLER.

How to Look Well Dressed Without a Great Expenditure.

In the American Magazine is an account of one of the most successful insurance solicitors in the country, who attributes a large part of his success to the fact that he always looks well dressed and prosperous.

"If you have only one suit of clothes keep that one suit clean and pressed all the time," he says. "Press your trousers yourself every day if necessary. I have pressed my trousers lots of times. Keep your shoes shined.

"If you can afford several suits change off from one suit to another frequently, and keep all of them spotless and well pressed. I never wear a suit longer than the second day at a time. To change every day is better. It gives the clothes a chance to 'rest.' I always hang my clothes on hangers the minute I take them off. It gives them a chance to 'come back' into shape and the nap to come up again.

"It is a great economy to have lots of good clothes. A suit will last twice and three times as long and always look well if you keep changing off from one to another. Besides, people get tired of seeing a man in the same suit day after day for a whole season."

Family Pride.

The following story is told of the mayor of a western city:

A small boy who afterward proved to be a nephew of one of the mayor's stenographers was wandering about in the city hall when one of the officials there happened upon him.

"Well, sonny," inquired the man genially, "for whom are you looking?"

"For my Aunt Kate."

"Can't you find her?"

"I can't seem to."

"And don't you know where she is?"

"Not exactly. She's in here somewhere, though, and I know that the mayor works in her office."—Harper's Magazine.

No Sale.

Notwithstanding the fact that the ventures of native students into the labyrinths of English are sometimes adventures indeed, nevertheless it is the mistakes of the Americans who attempt to express themselves prematurely in other languages which most appeal to our risibles. The Spanish word for sons is "hijos," for figs "higos." One can therefore easily understand how the following conversation might easily have taken place. A lady went to a grocery store to buy figs. The conversation actually was as follows:

"Have you any sons?"

"Yes," replied the storekeeper pleasantly.

"White ones?"

To this the man replied in the affirmative.

"Very well, I will take one pound, if you please," said the lady.

The storekeeper is said to have replied that they were not for sale, and certainly not by the pound.—World Outlook.

Where the Splinter Came From.

Certain members of the house party were describing the accidents that had happened to them during their various careers. Adventures by flood, fire and field had all been well received, and De Sappleby, eager for fame, thought it was his turn.

"D'you know," he said, "I had a very painful experience once. I ran a confounded splinter quite half an inch long right under my finger nail, don't you know."

"Really, Mr. de Sappleby," said a maiden of the party. "How did you do it?"

"Well," he said, "it happened like this." As he spoke he unconsciously raised his hand and scratched his forehead.

"Oh, I see," she interrupted sweetly. "How very careless of you!"

LETTER FROM DR. HAMMIL

Troop K ,6th Cavalry.
Sept. 3, 1916.

Dear Friend Duaine:

After leaving SanAntonio I went to Marfa. From there I was assigned to my permanent station Evart's Ranch with U S. troops, 6th Cavalry, Troop K.

To reach this place one goes to Valentine, a small station on the S. Pacific. Then over the "Rim Rock Trail" thirty-eight miles. Some places [illegible] feet straight down. It is on this trail that a troop of cavalry were completely wiped out during the Indian wars.

It is a hot dusty, rocky ride, but the scenery is wonderful. One large rock may be blood red, the next one nearly white, next one blue, hence the term "The Painted Desert." On the ride one sees many herds of goats guarded by a Mexican. The goats live on mesquite (mess-keet). The Mexican lives on "frijoles" (free-holes, like kidney beans). Whenever there is any water, quail and blue doves are present in large numbers.

After crossing the Rim Rock one comes out on a big plateau about twelve miles across.

After crossing this, one comes to the famous VanHorn canyon. Going down this canyon five miles one strikes this camp.

Across the Rio Grande from us is the rendevous of the famous Mexican-French outlaw "Chick" O'Connor.

This troop patrols forty miles of the border. While the Mexicans show every evidence of friendship to us, still it has been found from experience that they are not to be trusted. Our camp is well guarded double guard, outposts and a machine gun commanding a large area is placed on a hill at the foot of which our camp is located.

Occasionally we have a little "brush" with some cattle rustlers, but the Mexicans have the most profound respect for this troop, as they are real soldiers and stop at nothing. Some of the men have been in the service twenty years. In 1914 this troop was at Vera Cruz. They were with General Pershing on his first drive in Mexico. They rode 132 miles in thirty hours at one time.

A Mexican just came into camp and wants me to go see a baby that is ill. In a case like this I take four men with me.

You might be interested to know that yesterday I was appointed sanitary inspector of four camps which all within 75 miles of here.

I am trying my best to get relieved from duty by October 1st. I want to get back to Tecumseh.

Your friend,
Dr. H. H. Hammel.

Natural Curiosity.

Joe had been working in Baltimore. On the day before Christmas he received his pay and planned to go home to Washington, but first he started out to buy presents for all his family. He did this with more generosity than foresight, and when evening came he found himself at the railway station loaded with bundles, but with no money for his fare to Washington.

Somehow he got through the gate and approached the conductor. He laid the case before him and ended with a plea that he might ride to Washington on the platform of the baggage car. The conductor, his heart warmed by the spirit of the season, said, "All right; go ahead."

So Joe climbed on the platform of the car next to the engine. It was a cold night, and it was on a road where the engine takes up water from a track reservoir as it goes along.

When the train reached Washington the conductor saw Joe approaching covered with ice from head to foot, bundles and all. He came up to the conductor and said: "I sure does thank you, boss, for muh ride. You's very kind to allow muh to ride up with you, but there's jus' one question I wants to ax. Kin yuh tell me the name ob that rivuh we run through back there?"—Youth's Companion.

Not His Fault.

Little Augustus Johnson had learned some things about the face of a clock, but not quite all there is to know.

"What time is it, Gustus?" asked his employer one night to test him.

"It's jes' 8 o'clock," said the boy after a careful survey of the clock.

"No, you're wrong," said his employer. "It won't be 8 for quite awhile yet—not for twenty minutes."

"Bofe hands is p'intin' to 8 jes' as straight as dey can p'int," said the boy stubbornly. "If dey ain' tellin' de truf I cyant help it."—Youth's Companion.

Little Mary Pickford in the latest Paramount-Pickford Photoplay "Cinderella" at the Bradley Opera House next Wednesday, Sept. 13th

"CINDERELLA"

Without the question of a doubt, "Cinderella" with the charming little Mary Pickford in the leading role, which is the latest of the Paramount-Pickford pictures to be shown at the Bradley Opera house and which is booked as a special attraction for this Wednesday night, September 13, will prove to be the best Pickford picture ever seen in Tecumseh. Reports from all surrounding cities where this picture has been shown are to the effect that capacity houses are the rule at every performance.

The story is so well known by both young and old that it is not necessary to go into details here but we do wish to say that little Mary Pickford makes the most charming "Cinderella" one could imagine. The play is very interesting, especially to the children, be sure and bring them along.

Of course Wednesday night will be the big night, that is why we booked this extra good attraction and there will be 'lots doing' on the street but you can drop in any time during the evening and see the entire performance of "Cinderella" without a moments wait. The performance will be continuous. To miss this charming photo play is to miss one of the best picture plays ever bought into Tecumseh. Be sure and see it at the Bradley Wednesday night.

BRITTON BOOSTERS

Large Delegation Motor Through Tecumseh in the Interest of the Tabernacle Meetings

28 AUTOS IN LINE

Our streets were quite alive Saturday morning when the Britton Boosters made their appearance with 28 cars in line, boosting their Evangelistic meetings at their tabernacle.

Each auto bore the sign of the Cross, and was decorated with flags and bunting. The crowd left the cars, and assembled on the four corners where they sang two hymns followed by prayer by the pastor of the Christian church. Prof. Leonard the musical director made a few remarks, inviting the people of Tecumseh to attend these meetings. After two selections by the band the procession formed again and left for Clinton.

They left Britton at 9:30 making Ridgeway, Tecumseh, Clinton, Macon, Mooreville, Milan, Dundee, Petersburg, Deerfield and Holloway, arriving in Britton at 4:30 p. m.

Britton has built a tabernacle 60x75, for these meetings and Evangelistic Miller a converted infidel lawyer is conducting some very interesting meetings.

Origin of the French Tricolor.

The origin of the French tricolor is usually explained as it is by Carlyle "Women, too, are sewing cockades not now of green, which being d'Artois color the Hotel de Ville has had to interfere in it, but of red and blue, our old Paris colors. These, once based on a ground of constitutional white are the famed tricolor—which (if prophecy err not) will go round the world." Another explanation, however, is that the tricolor combines the blue hood of St. Martin, which was borne on the standard of the ancient kings, the oriflamme (originally the banner of the abbey of St. Denis) and the white flag of the Bourbons. Others make it the shield of the Orleans family.

Powerful Bulls.

During a debate upon the second reading of the Irish land bill in 1896 Lord Londonderry concluded a period with: "This is the keystone of the bill. Are you going to kill it?"

Sir Frederick Milner, speaking on the budget, said, "A cow may be drained dry, and if chancellors of the exchequer persist in meeting every deficiency that occurs by taxing the brewing and distilling industry they will inevitably kill the cow that lays the golden milk!"

Lord Curzon—"The interests of the employers and employed are the same nine times out of ten—I will even say ninety-nine times out of ten!"

HOW TO ADJUST YOUR NEW CARBURETOR.

In adjusting a carburetor the first essential is to be able to tell the difference between a weak and a rich mixture. In either case the car will lack power and may knock, and with [illegible] a mixture it may [illegible] overheat.

With too much gasoline, on the other hand, the car will respond instantly to the opening of the throttle, but with not the same vim as with a perfect mixture. A great excess of fuel will produce black smoke in the exhaust.

Too frequently, when one of these symptoms is recognized or the car is operating badly for any reason at all, the conclusion is that the carburetor needs adjusting, and, instead of improving it, it is made worse. Never touch the adjustments on a carburetor until you are sure that they require it.

Faulty ignition and leaky cylinders are often mistaken for bad carburetion. Before looking at the carbureter it is only common sense to make sure that the trouble is not elsewhere; otherwise you may complicate matters by throwing the carburetor out of adjustment.

A thin mixture may be caused by air leaks in the manifold, cylinder head gaskets, valve plugs or valve guides. Any of these will produce missing at low speed. A leak in any part of the manifold may be determined by noting whether smoke from a cigar or cigarette will be sucked in. Other leaks may be located by feeling or listening.

The mixture will be weak if the fuel level is too low in the float chamber, and this may be due to a bent float mechanism, a stuck float, or if there is a float level adjustment there may be some difficulty with this.

If the float is made of cork the shellac may gradually dissolve and the fuel will soak into it, making it heavier and consequently raising the level. Similarly a pin hole in a metal float will allow gasoline to enter and weight it. The cork float may be repaired by drying in an oven and then shellacking it again and the metal float by enlarging the hole, draining the gasoline out and then closing it with a little solder.

Sweet Content.

Sweet are the thoughts that savor of content.
The quiet mind is richer than a crown
Sweet are the nights in careless slumbers spent.
The poor estate scorns Fortune's angry frown,
Such sweet content, such minds, such sleep, such bliss,
Beggars enjoy when princes oft do miss.

The homely house that harbors quiet rest,
The cottage that affords nor price nor care,
The mean that 'grees with country music best,
The sweet consort of mirth and modest fare—
Obscured life sets down a type of bliss.
A mind content both crown and kingdom is.
—Robert Greene.

Charlotte Rooster.

Samuel O'Keefe, a retired Wall street man, is almost a daily visitor at a hospital for joint diseases, where a friend is receiving treatment. There are many invalid children at the hospital and Mr. O'Keefe often takes them candy, and on one memorable occasion imported a consignment of charlotte russe.

A day or two following the charlotte russe festival he visited the children's ward again and was greeted by loud shouts of approval. His arrival was first noted by a little boy, said by the nurses to be "as smart as a whip," who shouted gleefully:

"Oh, look! here comes the charlotte rooster!"

Under the circumstances Mr. O'Keefe felt that any further refreshment ought to be "on him."—New York Sun.

A Real Puzzle.

Ezra Haskins, constable of a New England village, had an exalted opinion of his ability as a detective. He also read everything he could find on the career of Sherlock Holmes, until he imagined that he had thereby acquired wonderful deductive abilities. "Now gentlemen," said he, on one occasion to his assistants in a particular case "we have traced these clews—the footprints of the horse and the footprint of the man, right up here to this stump; from the stump on there's only the footprints of the horse. Now, gentlemen, the question arises: What has become of the man?"

CHICAGO LAVISHES PRAISE ON "RAMONA"

Clune's Mammoth Cinema-Operatic Triumph Proclaimed Collossus of Spectacular Productions--Vast Capacity of Huge Auditorium Taxed by First Night Throngs---Audience Thrilled and Captivated by Charm and Beauty of Greatest Love Story of Century.

Ramona, following its successful conquest of New York and the greater cities of the East, has taken Chicago by storm.

The triumph of the now world famous cinema-operatic spectacle in the great Western city stands out as the [illegible] year.

Chicago was staggered when a short time ago it was announced that the mammoth Auditorium one of the biggest show places in America—had been engaged for this spectacle

Hitherto playhouses of small seating capacity had been sought by even the greatest cinemac productions.

But the sound judgement of the producers of "Ramona" was proved the opening night when thousands stampeded the Auditorium boxoffices

It seemed all Chicago had read Helen Hunt Jackson's fascinating California romance and longed for the opportunity to see it enacted in real life to the accompaniment of enthralling musica description

The unheard-of happened—the house sold out! Next day Chicago newspapers, their verdict unanimous. revealed the secrets of "Ramona's" irresistible appeal in a review chorus of laudation the equal of which had not been accorded more than three theatrical productions in the past fifty years.

No one can read the reviews of these trained critics and fail to discover that they had been gripped by thrill so tense and entranced by scenes of sueh overwhelming beauty their best powers of description were barely equal to the test

"Ramona" with a special orchestra and alll of the magnificent stage settings will be seen at the Bradley Opera house the latter part of September.

Young Mother Taken

Death Comes Suddenly to Mrs. Lee Ferguson This Morning

FIVE CHILDREN LEFT MOTHERLESS

The community was shocked this morning when the word was received that Mrs. Lee Furguson has suddenly passed away She was feeling well as usual when she arose this morning but just before her husband was to leave for his work. she complained of feeling ill He gave the usual home remedies but she grew rapidly worse, and a doccor was summoned but to no avail, death taking her about ten o'clock.

She leaves a husband and five small children to mourn her untimely taking away.

As we go to press, no funeral arrangements have been made.

SOCIAL PARTY

In answer to the following invitation, quite a number of the ladies of the Methodist church met in the church parlors Friday afternoon, Sept. 8th:

"To every letter in your name
A penny take and cast the same
Within this envelope,
And if you would be very nice
Go through the operation twice
Then quickly shut and seal it
Attend our social on this date,
Where music fine and games of fate
Will entertain and please you
Refreshments, too, will be on hand,
Served to you by our faithful band—
And that will surely please you.'

The party was given in the interest of the apron booth, Mesdames Guy Belding, H. Whaley, C. Buler and Claud Gray being the committee in charge

The rooms were beautifully decorated with maple boughs and brown-eyed Susans with many other boquets of flowers on the tables and every available place.

The guessing contests caused much amusement, also the other games. Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies and the afternoon proved a most delightful one The sum of $11 68 was realized. Several of the ladies accompanied their pennies with a poetical response.

NONAGENARIAN DAY

Nonagenarian Day is one of the odd events to be observed at the Panama California International Exposition within a few weeks. Dr. Belle M. Pope who has conducted an old people's day, an invalid children's day, and a newsboys' day, has been granted permission to have as her guests on Nonagenarian Day, all persons more than 90 years old At this time she has fifteen persons who are to enjoy and have a part in the day, and the chairman of the events will be 105 years old, with a vice-chairman 102, and secretary and treasurer who are at the century mark. The smaller details of the day will be cared for by guests between 90 and 100.

THAT WRESTLING MATCH

The wrestling match advertised for Saturday evening came off on schedule time, but Irish Mike failed to down Elmer Hooten in the prescribed time, and was himself downed by Hooten in 15 minutes forfeiting the $20. There was a good attendance to witness the match. In the preliminaries Everette Cilley of Adrian won two out of three falls from Chas. Kidd, and Fields two out of three from Floyd Kidd.

A certain farmer was buying some linoleum of one of our merchants lately and remarked something like this. "Now I could have bought this of Sears, Roebuck & Co, but I figured they had not paid a cent towards these Wednes day entertainments, and I have attended every one, and felt I owed it to you merchants to trade in Tecumseh." Quite a good argument in favor of Bargain Day.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

AFTER NINE YEARS

Tecumseh Testimony Remains Unshaken

Time is the best test of truth. Hre is a Tecumseh story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and Pattawatamie Sts., Tecumseh, says: "The first notice I had that my kidneys were disordered was a sharp, shooting pain across my back. At that time I was sick in bed with malaria. The nurse I had attending me said I ought to try Doan's Kidney Pills; I got a box and began their use. The pains left, the kidney secretions became natural and the gravel stones that I had been passing for years, disappeared." (Statement given December 10, 1906.)

Still Using Doan's

On July 27, 1916, Mrs. Stevenson said: "I still use and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I could not get along without them when my back or kidneys trouble me, for they never fail to give me relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Stevenson has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

COOLER ICEBOXES.

How to Keep Your Refrigerator Cold Without Extra Ice.

Many people do not keep their refrigerators at the proper temperature. Their economical nature permits the ice to melt away until there is little if any left in the compartment. This is a big mistake, for there is no economy in an empty refrigerator. The more ice you have in it the greater the economy. It is the melting of the ice which makes the refrigerator cold. The colder the refrigerator the more slowly will the ice melt.

Another way to keep the refrigerator cool is to open it as little as possible. It is also advantageous to keep the refrigerator in a cool part of the house.

It is difficult to say whether it is more important to keep the refrigerator cool or keep it clean. They are both big essentials in maintaining the health of the family. Every morning the refrigerator should be wiped out to remove the dampness which collects on the sides and affords a splendid place for bacteria growth. Once a week scald the refrigerator thoroughly with soda water. Cleanse all the corners and the drainpipes well. Fish, cheese, bananas, cantaloupes or any other strong smelling food should be kept well covered if placed in the refrigerator.

OUR IDEA IN BANKING IS JUST PLAIN OLD FASHIONED, HELPFULNESS.

The Tecumseh State Savings Bank is just as open to you as the Post Office. The people in it, from the President down, want to see you come in and talk things over.

If you do not know any one here, come in and get acquainted. Remember, we bankers are professional advisers in business matters, just the same as the doctor is in the matter of health, and the sick man who refuses to see a doctor, and sticks to it, is likely to have the undertaker call pretty soon.

And the man who never gets acquainted at a bank is likely to have a pretty extensive acquaintance among Bill Collectors.

There are many suggestions we can offer to the man who receives the salary check or the pay envelope, which may be as valuable to him as any raise he is apt to get.

However, we can't advise you 'til we know. Let's get acquainted.

LORIMER DETERMINED TO ENTER CONGRESS

Ousted U. S. Senator Fighting Single-hand Battle.

CHICAGO, ILL. — William Lorimer is trying a "come back" Shorn of all his former power and influence in Illinois politics, shunned by the men whom he "made" politically and facing the many who lost their savings in the collapse of his La Salle Street bank a few years ago, the former United States Senator is making a strenuous effort to get back into the political game and regain his former laurels. Lorimer is a Republican candidate for the nomination for congress from the Sixth Illinois district in the primaries.

The contest is holding the attention of a great deal of the Middle West. He has received no support from the Republican national or state committees. He is making his fight alone, save for the few friends who stuck with him during the stormy days which culminated in the lossof his seat in the United States senate. They are financing his campaign, and they declare that he will gain the nomination, whether he is elected or not.

Just what would be the result if Lorimer should be nominated is providing food for much speculation in western political circles. The former senatorhas many bitter enemies in Illinois, who, it is believed, would not support him for election under any circumstances.

Lorimer is sincere in his determination re-enter "the game."

"It may be that I shall not succeed this year," he declares, "but William Lorimer will yet sit in the national congress from which he [illegible] by scheming enemies."

BULGARIA IS HIT ON THREE SIDES

Roumanians, Russ, Serbs, French and British Strike.

BIG OFFENSIVE HAS BEGUN

As Roumanians Continue to Gain in Hungary, British Cross Struma and Strike in Macedonia—Drive Buljars from Four Villages—French Attack on Whole Front.

Bucharest has claimed the occupation of Csik-Szedera, some twenty-five miles in the domains of Emperor Franz Josef and fifty miles north by east of Kronstadt, which is in the possession of the troops of King Ferdinand. The intimation is that the Austrians have retired well west of the Maros.

British Cross Struma.

Simultaneous with the Austrian report is the announcement here that the British on the Macedonian front have crossed the Struma and driven the Bulgarians from four villages in the Lake Tahinos region.

These statements are interpreted as indicating that, in spite of Roumanian reverses in southern Dobrudja the entente allies from Bukowina to the [illegible] which bodes ill for their foes.

Marketing Peaches with Michigan Flavor.

East Lansing, Mich., Setp. 5.—"The Peaches with the famous Michigan Director of Markets, are now being marketed. For several weeks there have been peaches in the market, but the big freestone yellow peaches are just at their best. The fruit associations along the west side of the state from New Buffalo to Northport are going into high geer for the handling of the fruit that will be ready for market during the next four weeks. A much larger share of the total crop will be graded and packed this year in central packing houses than ever before and the grading rules that will be observed are a little stiffer than has been the case in seasons past. On the whole the peach buyers will get a better quality of fruit than what they might expect from former experiences.

An effort has been made this year to interest Michigan peach consumers in the home grown article. Attention has been called in various ways to the Michigan flavor and there has been a fair response to the efforts made. Last year no less than 200 cars of peaches were shipped into Michigan from other states particularly New York, Ohio, and West Virginia. It is expected that the figures telling the story of this years importations will be much smaller.

Many of the granges in nnn-peach producing sections of the state are placing orders with the marketing associations for fruit for canning purposes Form this source alone it is expected that a noticeable increase in demand will occur. If Michigan farmers eat, and can Michigan peaches instead of using fruit from other states the producers of the other states the producers of the Michigan fruit will enjoy substantial gains.

HENRY FORD SOME FIGHTER AFTER ALL

Anto Maker Meets Suit of Navy League Squarely.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Henry Ford may be a pacificist. But some times he's not too proud to fight. His recent suit against a Chicago newspaper was followed by his filing here an answer to the $100,000 libel suit brought against him by the navvy league.

Mr. Ford's appearance here through his attorney's was entirely voluntary. The District of Columbia courts have no jurisdiction over him, he was advised.

However, he not only made answer to the allegation, but he neither retracts or apologizes for the display advertisements which implied connection between the league and munition manufacturers. In fact he stands perfectly pat, saying what he published was "true in substance and in fact."

He holds also that the publication was privileged because it concerned everyone in the country—of which he is a citizen. He says similar statements were published and also made on the floor of cosgress, without, so far as he knows, over producing an authoritative denial from the navy league.

HER FIRST DINNER PARTY.

And Why She Didn't Know Just What to Say to the Cook.

They had been married only three months, and it was their first dinner party, consequently they were both a little flurried when the time drew near for the guests to arrive. She had arranged the table herself and stood surveying the effect.

"Do you think everything will go well, dearie?" she asked for the untieth time.

"Of course. Why shouldn't it? I'm really sorry for the fellows who are not married. They have to give their dinners in restaurants."

"Oh, how sweet of you, dearie," she gurgled. "And I'm really sorry for the poor girls who have no nice husbands."

She wandered around awhile, then stood still and listened.

"Hush! There's a carriage."

And they hustled into the living room. But the carriage rolled on. He looked at his watch. It was 7.

"How foolish of us! Of course no one would dream of coming before the half hour," she said. "You know, lovey, one always says half an hour before the real dinner hour."

Half an hour passed. Not a soul put in an appearance. The clock struck 8. The bride burst into tears.

"It's never been so [illegible] life. My friends always accepted my invitations before I was married."

"So did mine, even if I did have to invite them to restaurants."

"I shall go home to mother, and you can go to your old restaurants as much as you please."

"Oh, don't let me keep you."

She rushed into her bedroom and began piling her pretty things pellmell into a suitcase. Then she gave a cry. Her eye fell on a heap of white envelopes in the corner of a drawer.

"Husband!" she called out in a tragic voice. "Here are all the invitations. I forgot to mail them."

They looked at one another for a moment; then he opened his arms and she fell into them. The blissful moment of reconciliation was interrupted by a voice from the kitchen. "Would yez be havin' any dinner tonight?"

"Oh," the bride cried, "what am I going to say to cook?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Criticise Yourself.

A little less criticism of others and more thorough criticism of ourselves would have a tendency to make us lenient to and sympathetic with the faults and follies of others.

Enough to Do Already.

Little Mary had frequently been scolded by her mother for tying her sled on sleighs and had promised to reform. One day her mother saw her going past with her sled tied to a bob. She called her in and told her how dangerous it was and also that the law did not allow it.

"Don't talk to me about law," said Mary. "I have all I can do to keep the Ten Commandments."

Found the Word.

The late Thomas Lowry of Minneapolis was a great wit and a great story teller as well as a great financier. He needed $1,000,000 one time for one of his railroad enterprises, and he went to New York to get it. On the morning of his arrival a friend met him at the hotel and asked, "What are you doing, Tom?"

"I am going downtown to get $1,000,000."

"Can you do it?"

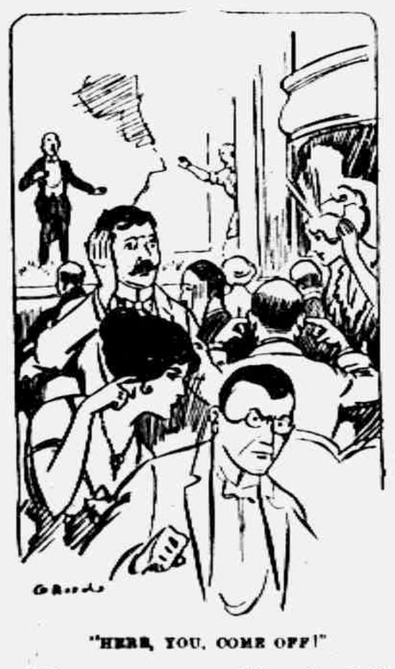
"My boy," said Lowry impressively, "in the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as fail."

That night Lowry came back to his hotel after a hard day. The same friend met him. "Did you get the million?" he asked.

"No," replied Lowry, "I didn't. I opened that bright lexicon of youth, and the word was in it."

Wanted Back Action.

After many efforts the aspiring singer had managed to get permission to give a trial performance at the local music hall. The house was full, and he warbled in his sweetest tones. Everything seemed roseate until suddenly a hoarse voice came from the side of the stage:



"HERE, YOU, COME OFF!"

"Here, you, come off!" ordered the stage manager. "Can't you see you're emptying the house?"

"Er—I don't seem to be a success, then?" said the amateur timorously.

"Success! Huh!" snorted the manager angrily. "At clearing them out you're the most successful chap I ever met. Now, for goodness' sake, go and sing outside and drive 'em in again!"—London Tit-Bits.

Massachusetts and Tobacco.

The use of tobacco was prohibited in any form in Massachusetts in the year 1640.

Kitchener's Way.

It happened some years ago. London. Regent street where it turns a semicircle. Two gamins are fighting. A crowd. No interference. We hesitate. We know how the Londoner loves his fight in or out of the fight. One boy is some twenty pounds heavier than the other. And two inches taller. A woman shrieks, "Why doesn't some one stop it?" It goes on. Then comes a tall man, top hatted, heavy stick, morning coat, a sort of squint in his eye. He brushes us all aside. Drops stick. Has a boy in each hand. "Learn to fight for each other, not against each other," said Lord Kitchener as he walked away.—London Mail.

The First Comedy.

The first recorded comedy was played at Athens B. C. 578, when Susarion and Dolon, the earliest traveling actors, performed a comedy of Susarion's composition on a movable stage mounted upon four wheels. The new form of play was so successful that the actors were rewarded by the grateful populace with a cask of wine and a basket of figs. Susarion belonged to Megaris, a state of ancient Greece, whose inhabitants were celebrated for their coarse humor and who in their villages during the evenings were wont to hold what they called a comus, really a revel, in which impromptu acting, coupled with buffoonery, played a considerable part. From this word we have our comedy.

Miss Mabel VanBuren who is seen in one of the principal parts in the big film production "Ramona" which comes to the Bradley Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday, September 26-27.

'RAMONA' A FILM OF RARE BEAUTY AND STRENGTH

Romance is the alpha and omega of "Ramona." Tears are its punctuation, and unadulterated beauty its season to be. Helen Hunt Jackson never dreamed when she wrote her historic book of appeal in behalf of the Indians of California that her story would some day be the means of procuring the keenest artistic enjoyment to a whole nation.

Last night's Chicago premiere of the big splendid Clune production at the Auditorium Theater left the feminine contingent of the vast audience dewy-eyed and pocket handkerchiefed, and male members satisfied with a rattling good picture and a most unusual and original offering.

The story is to well known to need iteration. The American people know that it deals as a leit-motif with the fate of the early mission Indians and the usurpation of their lands by the white invader, or "homesteader."

The story is told in a series of some of the loveliest pictures ever thrown on a cinematographic screen. The natural grandeur and laughing sunshine of Southern California, mountain, valley ocean and flower, all the traditional fascination of the architecture vegetation and atmosphere of this near Spain, are here wonderfully reproduced. To those who love their California, the film but seals a new pact of loyalty.

Space forbids my dwelling upon all the fine points of this splendid piece of photography and stage management. The interludes before each act were very well conducted, scenically the coloring was excellent and the stagelighting very skillfully controlled.

The musical portions were especially good. They placed everything in the orchestral repertoire, almost, from Suppe to Wagner, and from Puccini to Beethoven, not forgetting the Rimsky-Korsakoff "Indian song" which opened the final act, beautifully sung by a quartet of female voices.

To single out each actor in the film for comment is impossible for obvious reasons. But I must mention the noble atmospheric acting of Monroe Salisbury as the Indian Allessandro, Mabel VanBuren's delightful playing of the young Ramona Gonzaga, Richard Sterling's Angus Phail of the prologue—for he was less convincing as the older Phail—the wistful sweetness of Adda Gleason as Ramona Phail the perfect delineation of Father Salvierderra by H. M. Best and the charming bit by little Anna Lehr as the four year-old Ramona Phail in the prologue.

"Ramona" will play a two days engagement at the Bradley Opera House, September 26-27 with a special matinee on Wednesday 27. The company carry their own special orchestra machines, operators etc complete.

A GOOD WORD FOR BASEBALL

Port Royal, S. C.,—Americans are latently the best bomb and grenade throwers in the world and are capable of waging wonderful trench warfare in case of hostilities, say United States Marine Corps officers in charge of recruits training at this place.

"The average American youth early learns to throw a baseball with speed and accuracy and it is because of that, we, as a nation, are especially fitted to wage the modern war of the trenches. Baseball is encouraged at all our stations and the skill displayed by marines—even untrained recruits—in the bomb and grenade throwing practice is really remarkable," said Drill Sergeant Moore today.

MENACES GUARDS' HEALTH

Illinois Board Warns Springfield of Dumps near Camp Lincoln.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Asserting that the health of the national guard is being placed in danger, Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, secretary of the state board of health, acting upon the request of Brigadier General D. Jack Foster, notified the city health authorities that garbage in the vicinity of Camp Lincoln must be removed.

"The health of the men while we were in Texas was excellent," said General Foster, "and we do not want conditions any different now that we are back home."

Murder and Suicide Follow Walk with Another Man.

BUXTON, IOWA. — Jealousy was the motive that prompted Louis Hoffman of this town to kill his wife and then commit suicide according to a statement given out by the chief of police.

THE IDEA IS—PRACTICE REAL

ECONOMY

I was in a hardware store a few days ago. A man walked up to the paint counter and said to the salesman:

"Show me the cheapest paint you have. I'm going to paint my barn."

"Here you are, Sir," said the salesman as he brought out a gallon can.

"This is the cheapest?" inquired the customer.

"By far," answered the salesman. "We've three other grades that sell for considerably less, but this is the cheapest—in the long run."

Now that set me thinking, because every day I meet folks who, when they want a new car, look for the "cheapest."

I regard this new 1917 Chalmers the cheapest. Cheapest, I mean, in the long run.

There are other cars costing $300 or $400 less, and they are probably mighty good cars for the money. But more costly than this 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers in the end.

I believe I can easily convince you in a few minutes that it pays to pay a little more.

I'm always ready and glad to show the new 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers—the car with the wonderful 99.21% perfect motor.

BUSINESS CHANGE

Clyde Barbor, for the past two and a half years a member of the grocery firm of Anderson Grocery Company, retired from the firm, Wednesday. Mr. E. B. Anderson has taken over Mr. Barbor's interest and the business will be continued under the name of Anderson Grocery Company, E. B. Anderson Proprietor.

Mr. Barbor came to Tecumseh, from Detroit, about two and a half years ago and purchased the interest of B. P. Anderson, who had been a member of this firm for a good many years.

The Anderson Grocery Company is the oldest grocery business in town, being first established in 1870, by Albert A. Anderson father of the present owner, In 1880 the father took his two sons, E. B. and B. P. Anderson, into the business and changed the name to A. A. Anderson and Sons. The father retired from the business in 1888 and at this time the name was changed to Anderson Brothers. The two brothers carried on the business of 26 years. In 1914 it was again changed to its present name, Anderson Grocery Company On remarkable feature is that the Andersons have for 46 years continued in business in the same building.

Mr. E. B. Anderson is a successful business man and has always enjoyed the confidence and respect of this community and we bespeak for him continued success and a liberal share of the patronage of this vicinity.

LETTER FROM F. D. AVERY

Through the courtesy of Mr. L. D. Kenyon we print the following letter from F. D Avery which we think quite interesting

East Jordan, Sept. 10 1916

Mr. L D Kenyon,

Dear friend:-

Thinking that you might be interested in knowing about the folks here. I thought I would write you just a few lines. First I will tell you something of our trip.

We had perfect weather for a steamer trip, warm and pleasant and not enough wind to make the lake rough

We left Toledo at 3:30 p. m and arrived at Detroit at 8:45 p. m. Enjoyed the sights up the Detroit river, till it got too dark to see them. For the last half hour or more before getting to Detroit we enjoyed seeing the lights The river front is very handsome with all the lights showing from the steamer. Did not leave Detroit till 8:30 Wednesday morning I will not attempt to describe the beautiful scenery between Detroit and Port Huron To appreciate it one must see it for himself.

Wednesday night was a fine night to sleep, I could not have slept any better had I of been at home in my own bed.

We were up in good season Thursday morning and enjoyed the pure air and the wonderful scenery. Arrived at Macinac Island at 10:40. Remained there till 4 o'clock p m. and kept busy seeing the sights. We then took another steamer ride of nearly an hour to Macinaw City on the (Mainland) taking a train on the G. R & I. We arrived at Boyne City late in the evening, took a room at the Wolverine House.

Got up early and hired a man to bring us to the farm before breakfast The seven mile ride in a Ford gave us an excellant appetite for breakfast.

Friday afternoon we all went to East Jordan, It is an incorporated city though it is not much larger than Tecumseh,

Some of the principal streets are paved which is very nice The streets that are not paved are not nearly as nice as ours

In some places the [illegible] deep and the track badly rutted. The road between here and East Jordan is up and down with several hills There are some good farms and some not so good.

Yesterday Rude and I went to Boyne City which is about seven miles east. The road is much better than the one to East Jordan We drove three or four miles along the shore of Pine Lake Boyne City is still larger than East Jordan and while it is a nice place situated at the head of Pine Lake I think old Tecumseh has any of these northern towns beaten a mile at least, I was greatly surprised at R. W. Meads farm, somewhat hilly and broken but has some good fields.

He has a good crop of corn, much better than most of the corn I have seen in Lenawee County this season

The potato crops are green and there are lots of potatoes but they are not large.

If the frost does not come for two or three weeks, it looks as if there might be quite a crop of potatoes. We expect to leave here tomorrow morning for Charlevoix. Will spend the day there and at Petoskey and then start for Duluth Tuesday We have decided to go to Duluth by rail instead of by steamer for fear that we might get some bad weather.

Yours truly
Frank D. Avery

SEASON CLOSES

Tecumseh's Last Bargain Day Drew a Large Crowd

Wednesday's Bargain Day closed the season in Tecumseh for 1916 The afternoon's performance drew a fair sized crowd and again in the evening our streets were full of people.

Three good acts were given on the platform located on the main corners. The first, a noelty act, by Denny and Bradford, the second, an aerial act, by Lewis and Miles and the third, a unicycle act. The aerial and unicycle acts were especially good. Music was furnished during the evening by the Tipton band.

An interesting and amusing feature of the evening, was the parade given by the maskers, a large number taking part. The Tipton band headed the parade which marched around the business section of the town. After the parade the maskers assended on the platform and displayed themselves before the Judges. The first prize, $5. for the best costume, was awarded to Mrs. Roy Draper and the second, $3.00, went to Rob't Moore Jr. The first prize, $2 for the funnest costume, went to May Nobles and the second, $1.00, to Doris and Dorthy Marsh.

Coller's Imperial band, with the popular Charlie Chaplin "Waring" and his noble band of musicians made a fine appearence and charmed the crowd with their fine (?) music. Everyone seemed to be having a good time and the younger generation spent most of their time throwing confetti. All kinds of noise makers were used to make the people understand that it was Gala night.

Abont 40 couples attended the dance at Witherell Hall. It was a late hour when the last auto pulled out for home.

Mrs. H. S. Lee who has been visiting relatives in Ohio returned home Thursday night.

Mrs. Geo. W. Jennings went to Detriot this morning for the M. E. Conference being held in that city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Camburn who has been spending the last two weeks with Mrs. Jas Wood and other friends left for her home in Dowagiac this morning.

While Robt. McCoy was going home to dinner another car came with good speed from the west and bunted Robt's car off in the ditch in front of Halley's Carriage Shop. The fender was badly damaged, but no one hurt.

Grateful Mothers Tell Experiences

Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cured my boy of a very severe attack of croup after other remedies had failed. Our milkman cured his children of whooping cough. I recommend it to every one, as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough."

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, Youngstown, O., writes: "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. I tried lots of cough remedies, but she didn't get any better. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to me. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat, and after using one bottle the cough left her."

This sterling old remedy has been in use for years and is just as efficient for adults as for children. It gives relief for irritated and tickling throat, tight and sore chest, grippe and bronchial coughs.

AFTER NINE YEARS

Tecumseh Testimony Remains Unshaken

Time is the best test of truth. Hre is a Tecumseh story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and Pottawatamie Sts., Tecumseh, says: "The first notice I had that my kidneys were disordered was a sharp, shooting pain across my back. At that time I was sick in bed with malaria. The nurse I had attending me said I ought to try Doan's Kidney Pills; I got a box and began their use. The pains left, the kidney secretions became natural and the gravel stones that I had been passing for years, disappeared." (Statement given December 10, 1906.)

Still Using Doan's

On July 27, 1916, Mrs. Stevenson said: "I still use and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I could not get along without them when my back or kidneys trouble me, for they never fail to give me relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Stevenson has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

BRITISH DRIVING AHEAD IN WEST

Over Mile and Half of Trenches Captured.

FAMOUS "DANUBE" WORK FALLS

Great Gain Made at Thiepval and South of Ancre—"Tankers" Used by British Prove Most Effective Engine Devised During Whole War—Prisoners Tell of It.

London, Sept. 18.—The British forces continued their gains south of the Ancre, smashing through German positions along a mile front close to Thiepval and capturing the famous "Danube trench," which the Germans believed to be as impregnable as the "Wunderwork," which was taken on Friday.

So sudden was the rush of the British troops in the final assault on the "Danube trench" that the Germans left alive after the works had been literally shot from under their feet fled, leaving their rifles and equipment.

Berlin official reports admit that "the Somme battle continues uninterruptedly," but claims that north of the river all attacks were repulsed, and that north of Ovillers, in the direction of Thiepval, their attack gained them some advantage.

"Most Dramatic Day."

There seems no question that Friday was the most dramatic day in the history of the British army in France. The Germans themselves were massing at many points, it appears, with a view to attacking to recover some of the high ground they had lost. The British anticipated the German attack with their own onslaught, assisted by the new "hell" machines, whose secret they had been keeping up their sleeves for just such an occasion as this.

Both accounts of wounded British soldiers and prisoners taken from all parts of the line agree that the German losses were immense. As a rule the forces in the front line trenches support patrols in the shell craters in the Somme battle area in small numbers wih a plentiful supply of machine guns. This means a smaller force exposed to artillery concentration in case of an attack. If machine guns are silenced and the front trench taken then the reserves are expected, under cover of artillery fire from their side, to retake it by a counter-attack.

As the Germans intended to attack they had massed large numbers of men in their front trenches. These were not only caught by the surprise of the sudden blast of the early morning concert of the British guns preceding the charges of the British infantry, but were raked by machine gun fire from the "tanks," as the new armored cars have been designated by English soldiers.

WINSOME WAYS CASHED, CHARGE

Alleged Flirtatious Blackmailers In Jail.

SWINDLES NETTED $250,000

Accused "Swell" Men and Pretty Women to Be Taken to Philadelphia for Trial—Came to Grief by Tackling Wrong Woman—Rich Victims Keep Silence.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The five men and three women arrested by government officials and city detectives in a raid Saturday night on the Tyson apartments, East Forty-third street and Grand boulevard, as members of a band that has mulcted wealthy men and women out of $250,000 or more, are to be tried in Philadelphia. They will be started there immediately after they are arraigned before United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote in the Federal building.

According to Hinton G. Clabaugh, head of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice; Henry Russell, one of the arrested men, had been posing as a brother of Mayor Thompson.

Held In Default of Bail.

The bonds of the eight were fixed late Saturday night, but they are still held in the county jail in default of bail. Those held are:

Henry Russell, Edward Donahue, alias "Doc Donahue;" Helen Evers, said to be the wife of George Irwin, alleged director of the group; Mrs. Frances Allen, Mrs. Edward Donahue, wife of Donahue; James Christian, alias "W. J. Gross; Frank Crocker, George Bland.

Mr. Clabaugh says those held, together with others at liberty, have fleeced at least fifteen prominent men and women in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and New York by blackmail methods of a most modern type. He said there were many other victims who never complained, fearing the notoriety.

Flirtations Lured Victims.

"The women flirted with wealthy men and then demanded money from them on threats of exposure and the men did likewise with wealthy women and made similar demands," said Mr. Clabaugh.

The operations of the band of alleged international swindlers lead through many cities. Its victims, according to the federal officials, number hundreds.

Tackled Wrong Woman.

William Butler, said to be one of the same organization, was arrested in Philadelphia posing as a federal officer and attemptng to mulct Mrs. J. Bolton Winpenny, wealthy widow, out of a large sum of money. Mrs. Winpenny charged that Butler came to her and showed her a United States warrant for the arrest of her son on a Mann act charge.

He offered to drop the charge on the payment of $8,000. When she protested she did not have that much money, they offered to compromise for $5,000. That aroused her suspicion and she took the story up to the Philadelphia district attorney's office.

SETH LOW SUCCUMBS AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Was Former New York Mayor and President of Columbia.

New York, Sept. 18.—Seth Low died at his summer hame at Bedford Hills, N. Y., after a long illness.

Seth Low was twice mayor of Brooklyn, once mayor of New York and for eleven years was president of Columbia university. In each of these offices he became distinguished for public service and he was known throughout the country as one of the leading figures in New York City life.

Unlike most college presidents, Mr. Low was not a scholar in the accepted sense of the word when he was appointed president of Columbia. He was head of a mercantile house. He was also active at that time in politics. So for once a business man and politician instead of a scholar became a university president.

He was born Jan. 18, 1850, and was educated at the Polytechnic institute of Brooklyn and graduated at Columbia university. He excelled in both studies and Athletics.

KIND WORD FOR THE MEXICAN

Mexico Border Rows Originate on U. S. Sde, Says Captain.

Omaha, Sept. 18.—"From my observations and conversations with army officers and others on the Mexican border, I am convinced that most of the trouble there originated on this side of the boundary," said Rev. Jorn F. Poucher, captain and adjutant of the Fourth Nebraska, who returned home on a furlough.

"The trouble is mostly over wages and the treatment of the Mexican laborers by land owners on the American side. This land was formerly Mexican territory, and the Mexicans who have been forced off the land on which they had lived from time immemorial resent the treatment they receive. It is claimed Mexican laborers are treated little better than slaves, and when they revolt are shot down without compunction."

DR. KELLOGG LOSES TRADEMARK FIGHT

Toasted Corn Flake Co. Has Right to Use Name.

Battle Creek, Sept. 18.—The Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake company was advised that it is entitled to register as a trademark for its prepared foods the word "Kellogg's," through a decision of the examiner of the patent office at Washington.

The decision also says that the Kellogg Food company and Dr. J. H. Kellogg have lost to the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake company any right which either of them may have had to the name Kellogg or Kellogg's in connection with flaked cereal foods, or in connection with the broader business of the manufacture of prepared cereal foods.

The decision is on a petition filed by the Kellogg Food company and Dr. Kellogg in August to prevent the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake company from registering the word "Kellogg" as a trade-mark for its products. The decision goes into detail in regard to the history of the food business of the Kelloggs and concludes with the statement that "the opposition is believed to be fatally defective."

It has a capacity of 2,000,000 bales of cotton and is adapted to the storage of all other packed commodities, such as sugar and coffee. It was built at a cost of $3,500,000 by the state of Louisiana and is said to reduce the cost of handling any agricultural commodity 40 per cent. There are twenty-three acres of ground under roof, while the entire plant occupies 150 acres.—National Geographic Magazine.

Busy All the Time.

Little Howard came in the other day, crying and rubbing several bumps caused by a series of "butts" administered by a pet sheep.

"Well, Howard," said his sympathetic auntie, "what did you do when the sheep knocked you down?"

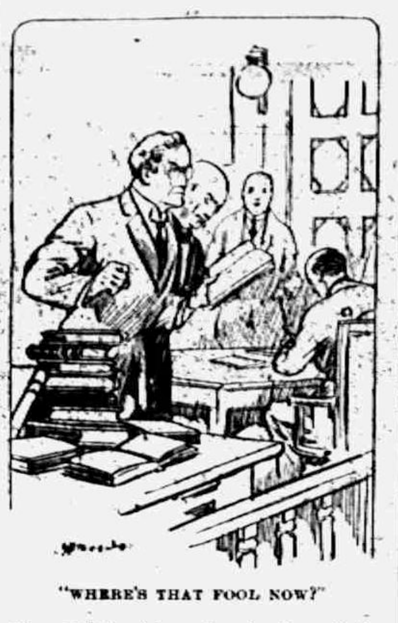
"I didn't do anything. I was getting up all the time."

AN UNANSWERED QUESTION.

The Lawyer Who Asked It Was Willing to Forego Any Reply.

There is a judge on the circuit bench who hears testimony and listens to arguments after any manner he chooses. Sometimes he does a marathon around the courtroom, at other times he takes a flier out into the corridor, and again he goes into his chambers.

A certain eminent legal light wasn't on to all these curves, and he was trying an important case before the wandering judge. There was a most interesting point of law involved, and the lawyer came up well prepared to drive his argument home. The books were piled on a table in front of him.



"WHERE'S THAT FOOL NOW?"

The jurist had been sitting on the bench at the outset, and the attorney had reached the point where he wished to make the court realize the import of the matter by reading from United States supreme court decisions. He leaned over the table and hurried through the tome to where he wished to read.

Looking up, the lawyer discovered the seat on the bench was vacant. He gazed into space for a second, then asked right out loud:

"Where's that infernal fool gone now?"

And then he looked around, and there was the judge directly behind him, peering into the lawbook from which the now rather embarrassed legal light wished to read.—Case and Comment.

Best Way to Look at Life.

Make the most and best of your lot and compare yourself not with the few that are above you, but with the multitude which are below you.—Samuel Johnson.

Getting Full Value.

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, the pianist, tells the story of a pupil who came to Harold Bauer and asked his terms for lessons. After the fourth lesson he said to her:

"Why, madame, do you always bring rhapsodies, etudes, swift music? Why not a quiet number, something that shows your phrasing—some andante?"

"Mr. Bauer," replied the pupil, "your lessons are too expensive—I can't afford to play the slow music."

A Nice Distinction.

A congressional committee went to a certain state to assist in opening an exposition. There was a parade in the morning in which all the visiting statesmen rode in automobiles. The local committee brought the cars around to the leading hotel. The scheme was to have two senators or representatives and two local men in each car.

After the vice president and his party had been sent away a local notable who was acting as a major domo came into the lobby of the hotel, where the statesmen were waiting, and bawled:

"Two congressmen and two gentlemen, please!"—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

Much Cheaper Toothless.

With a view to advertising his business a dentist in an English town announced that he would supply artificial teeth to the first twelve aged ladies in poor circumstances who applied for them.

The earliest application on the appointed day was an elderly woman in shabby but respectable clothes.

Scarcely was she seated when a red faced old man came to the place and announced that he had come "about them teeth."

"You are making a mistake," the dentist replied. "I only made my offer to ladies. In fact, there's one lady waiting now."

"An' it's about 'er I've come," retorted the old man gruffly. "Tell 'er 'er 'usband's waitin' for 'er and if she don't 'op out quick there'll be trouble. She's got a happetite like an 'oss already, and if you set 'er up wi' a strong lot o' teeth she'll eat both me an' 'er into the work'us in a week. Send 'er out at once!"

How It Is Done.

"Dear Sir—Will you kindly publish directions for tying a bow tie? Roger Coot."

Well, Roger, you hold the tie in your left hand and your collar in the other. Slip your neck in the collar and cross the left hand end of the tie over the right with the left hand, steadying the right end with the other hand. Then drop both hands, catching the left with the right and the other with the other. Reverse hands and pick up the loose end with the nearest hand. Pull this end through the loop with your unengaged hand and squeeze. You will find the knot all tied, and all you have to do is to untangle your hands.—Dartmouth Jack-o'-Lantern.

Reason For Insistence.

The vicar of a certain parish in England stopped an aged parishioner and congratulated him on his approaching marriage.

"I am sorry," he added, "that a prior engagement will prevent me from performing the ceremony on Tuesday, but no doubt my curate will do just as well."

"Oh, nowt o' t' soort!" ejaculated the old fellow. "That be 'anged for a tale! Mebbe, now, ye'd be at liberty on Wednesday?"

"Well," was the reply, "I certainly shall be free on Wednesday, but"—

"Then Wednesday it is," went on the prospective bridegroom. "Just mak' a note on it, parson."

"But surely," protested the vicar, "you'll never postpone the wedding for twenty-four hours"—

"Aw'd postpone it for twenty-four year if necessary," came the firm reply. "You've allus done this job for me, an' you allus will as long as Aw live."

Then the vicar remembered that the old fellow had been three times previously married.

WHY WE NEED THE NAVY

Never at any time since the foundation of our republic have American rights been so flagrantly disregarded by the maritime powers of Europe as during the past two years. We have made protests in words, but Europe has not thought we meant what we said because we have taken none of the obvious and simple steps that would have secured respect for the rights of neutrals. The leverage that we might have used to secure recognition of the rights that we have asserted will soon be gone. It will not be a great while before the military and maritime powers of Europe will be released from their present absorption and terrific strain. The most fatuous people on earth are those Americans who say that the end of the war will leave Europe exhausted and helpless, while leaving us vigorous and invincible. Canada alone, if the war should end within six months could thoroughly defeat the United States long before our ill-prepared country could find rifles or ammunition for its recruits. Never at any moment in their history have any of the European powers been as strong for war as today; and it is perhaps within bounds to say that they have never been as little regardful of the rights of other nations as now. In the early weeks of the war they were all rather sensitive as to what is called "the public opinion of the world." But the longer they fight and the more they spend of blood and money, the more hardened they become and the more contemptuous of such abstract considerations as right and wrong. It is not one side along that acts upon the cynical precept that necessity knows no law." The Allies, even more than the Central Powers if anything, have determined to make the world some how recoup them for their sacrifices. The only thing likely to stand between the people of the United States and profound national humiliation within the next five years is a greatly increased navy. That the party in power begins to see the truth is fortunate beyond expression. From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for September, 1916.

The Scrap Book

Too Much Ornithology.

Some years ago Carl Crow, the author, was a cub reporter on a newspaper, one of his duties being to cover the police station. One day just before press time he made his usual trip to see the desk sergeant.

"Have a great story for you," said the sergeant. "We arrested a parrot out on Front street awhile ago on a charge of using abusive language. The neighbors complained so much we had to go out and lock the old bird up."

After getting a few more details Crow rushed back to the office and wrote a funny story about the arrest of the bird. He was congratulating himself on landing a story on the first page an hour or so after the paper got on the streets when the telephone bell rang and he had to listen to a torrent of abuse from an irate lady at the other end of the line. It developed that she was Mrs. Parrot and she had been arrested for using abusive language, but she bitterly resented being written up as a bird. After she had exhausted her vocabulary and was preparing for a new start she asked:

"What is your name?"

"Crow," said the reporter.

"What did you say?"

"I said my name was Crow."

"You think you are blamed smart, don't you?" said the freshly insulted Mrs. Parrot as she hung up the receiver.—Exchange.

Shrewd Beggar.

A man while walking with two ladies through one of the principal streets of London saw a man begging. One of the ladies, who had evidently seen the mendicant before, said:

"This is the most singular man I ever heard of. No matter how much money you give him, he always returns the change, and never keeps more than a penny."

"Why, what a fool he must be!" remarked the man. "But I'll try him and put him to a little trouble."

So saying, the man pulled from his pocket a sovereign, which he dropped into the beggar's hat. The mendicant turned the coin over two or three times, examined it closely, and then, raising his eyes to the countenance of the benevolent man, said:

"Well, I'll not adhere to my usual custom in this case. I'll keep it all for luck, but don't do it again."

The donor opened his eyes in astonishment and passed on, while the ladies smiled with delight.

Bad Place to Talk Shop.

"The trouble with some men," said an observer, "is that they have such an exaggerated sense of caution that they cannot adapt themselves to new conditions quickly enough. They are like a certain recruit in England. He was a typical, cautious English store clerk before he was taken into the army, and he was not making very rapid progress in military science as it is taught to the rookie.

"'Charge!' yelled the drill sergeant one day. But the recruit stood stock still.

"'To whose account?' he inquired, with instinctive caution."

A Man Who Knew Everything.

Thiers, the French statesman, was a victim of many whimsies. None had stronger hold on him, says Mgr. Gabriel Hanotaux in "Contemporary France," than his desire to get everybody to recognize his universal competency.

Of an applicant for the post of director at the Sevres manufactory Thiers said:

"He is no more made for that part than I for"—and then he stopped.

"Ah, oh! M. Thiers," said his interlocutor, "you find it hard to say what you could not do."

"That's the truth! That's the truth!" cried the statesman gleefully.

One day Thiers said, speaking of a man who had been raised to a high function:

"He is no more suited for that office than I am to be a druggist. And yet," he added, catching himself up, "I do know chemistry!"

Most and Least.

Fred was told that if he were to take the castor oil without complaint he would get 5 cents to spend for candy. Then his mother sent him to the corner drug store with 15 cents—10 cents for the oil and 5 cents for the candy.

Arriving at the drug store Fred decided to buy the sweetmeats first and told the clerk that he wanted a nickel's worth of candy.

"What kind of candy do you want?" asked the clerk.

"Gimme the kind you get the most for a nickel," answered Fred.

The clerk compiled, and Fred said rather reluctantly:

"Now gimme some castor oil, I want the kind you get the least for a dime."

When a Swan Is a Cygnet.

"It amuses me to hear people speaking of the young swans at the Avondale zoo as 'swanettes,'" said Miss Lucy Williams. "The diminutive for swan is cygnet, just as a young goose is called a gosling. You might as well speak of a gosling as a ganderette or a goosette as to call a cygnet a 'swanette.'"—Birmingham News.

JAMES B. ANGELL MEMORIAL DAY.

Friday October 13, 1916.

To the Teachers of Michigan:

It is especially fitting that the schools of Michigan pay tribute to the memory of James Burrill Angell, I therefore designate Friday October 13, as Angell Day and suggest that appropriate exercises be held on that day in the schools of Michigan in honor of his memory.

Teachers should acquaint the boys and girls of Michigan with the possibilities that our system of schools puts before them. They should be made to know and feel that these things are within the reach of all. A study of the life and work of Dr. Angell will be an inspiration to every child in Michigan—an inspiration that will be a deciding influence in the lives of many.

This bulletin has been prepared to suggest suitable material for a program on Angell Day. Teachers will of course not confine themselves to the material here given. Programs should be varied as occasion suggests. Most communities in Michigan have citizens who are graduates of the University of Michigan. These should be called upon to contribute their intimate knowledge of the University and its famous president.

We hereby acknowledge the courtesy of Longmans, Green & Company, in allowing selections to be used from Dr Angell's autobiography, "Reminiscences."

Respectfully,
Fred L. Keeler
Superintendent of Public Instruction

AN UNLUCKY MEETING

Last Friday Dept. John Smith just missed being thrown into the Raisin river from the bridge east of town when his car collided with an auto driven by Earl LaBounty. LaBounty's car was loaded with cans of milk and crowded Smith's car close to the railing of the bridge. Smith's car was quite badly damaged, but fortunately neither of the men were injured.

BIG SPEAKERS ARE COMING FOR WOMAN'S CONGRESS AT THE FAIR

Possibility That Gov. Ferris Himself Will Be Here on Thursday.

The committee in charge of the Woman's Congress, which is to be held on the fair grounds Wednesday and Thursday of the fair, have secured some excellent speakers for their program,s, with a possibility that Gov. Ferris himself may be here on Thursday. The governor is visiting his aged mother in New York, but has written that he may return in time to appear on the program. Lieutenant Governor Luren D. Dickinson will speak on Thursday, and there will be an address on "Conservation of the natural resourses of Michigan" by Augustus C. Carton of Lansing, member of the public domain commission.

On Wednesday E. C. Lindeman of the M. A. C., state leader of boys and girls' club work, will be the first speaker, and a special invitation is extended to the boys and girls to hear him. Mrs. A. L. A. Robinson of Lansing, formerly of Melbourne, Australia, will speak on "Equal Suffrage," and Dr. F. A. Perry of Adrian will give an address. Some excellent musical numbers have been secured for both days.

The programs will begin at 1:30 and will be held in a large tent. It has been the desire of Lenawee county women for several years to have a building erected for the congress, and it is hoped that before many years this will be possible. Certainly such a program as the ladies have prepared this year will be one of the best features of the fair. There will be no charge for admission and everyone is invited to hear these programs. Diamonds In This Country.

Diamonds are to be found in the United States, but only occasionally in alluvial materials and drift. More than fifty specimens have been identified, of which the largest, says the International Encyclopaedia, weighing nearly twenty-four karats, was found at Manchester, Va., in 1855. Their occurrence is generally confined to the regions of the southern Appalachians, the great lakes and to the coast and Sierra Nevada ranges of California and Oregon.

Word comes to the postoffice officials that after Nov. 1st the postoffice will be located in the rooms now occupied by the Barrett lunch room on Evans St.

It has been known for some time that a change was contemplated, and that the postoffice department was considering several locations. One reason for a change which may have had more or less weight with the department is the fact that the postoffice has outgrown its present proportions and they have been much cramped for room. The present quarters have been occupied for over twenty years, Tom Kyle being the first postmaster here and was followed by J. D. Shull, J. W. Wightman, Chas. Bidwell Sr. and Chas. Bidwell Jr,

Grateful Mothers Tell Experiences

Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cured my boy of a very severe attack of croup after other remedies had failed. Our milkman cured his children of whooping cough. I recommend it to every one, as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough."

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, Youngstown, O., writes: "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. I tried lots of cough remedies, but she didn't get any better. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to me. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat, and after using one bottle the cough left her."

This sterling old remedy has been in use for years and is just as efficient for adults as for children. It gives relief for irritated and tickling throat, tight and sore chest, grippe and bronchial coughs.

The Scrap Book

Ruined His Climax.

It used to be the annual custom of Mr. Ledger, proprietor of the London Era and a clever journalist, to entertain the theatrical celebrities of the day at dinner and to commemorate the occasion by some Lucullan freak.

He once had eighty strawberry plants carefully nurtured in pots so that at dessert he might say to his guests, each opposite a blooming strawberry plant, "Now, my dear friends, gather your own fruit."

The dinner had progressed finely to the dessert when the service seemed slow. Ledger cried to his man:

"Come, come! The dessert!"

"In a minute, sir," was the reply. "They've nearly finished picking the strawberries!"—London Globe.

The Right Road.

The right road is a long road,
  And at times it may be rough;
But don't leave it for the wrong road
  That is paved with sham and bluff.
And don't mistake the smiling
  Of the men who travel there;
Or the gold that they are piling,
  As a sign that all is fair.

For beneath the jewels shining
  And the pleasures they possess,
And behind their hours of wining,
  There is fearful loneliness.
Though the road that they are taking
  Seems a splendid thoroughfare,
Hearts for honest joys are aching,
  And the lives they live are bare.

There are rough spots in the right road,
  There are dangers grim to face;
And it's often not a bright road,
  But it's free from all disgrace.
And it's lined with friends to love you,
  And its joys are of the best;
And when stars come out above you,
  With a conscience clear you rest.

He Quit His Kidding.

"I've quit kidding," said a business man. "That kind of chickens come home to roost and can't be driven away again, I've found to my sorrow.

"The way of it was this: A few days ago I took my wife to a well known restaurant for luncheon. We got a table next to that occupied by a pair of fellows whom I have 'kidded' unmercifully in times past. In a moment of temporary mental aberration I introduced these fellows, both good friends of mine, who can take a joke and never wince under it, however severe it may be on them, to my wife.

"The quicker witted of the two, seeing an opportunity to get square with me for the last joke I played on him, said without a smile: 'I am delighted to make your acquaintance, Mrs. B—. The last woman Mr. B— introduced as his wife had red hair.'

"When I tell you that my wife has black hair you can readily understand the position this placed me in. As a matter of fact I am not out of it yet, as she more than half believed that I had met these fellows with a red headed woman whom I passed off as my wife. I don't know whether I will ever be able to convince her that they were 'kidding,' so I've stopped it."—Philadelphia Press.

Weather and the Moon.

Those who ascribe potency to the moon at certain stages of its visible march eastward through the nocturnal heavens as a matter affecting terrestrial weather appear to overlook the fact that the operation of that luminary is constant and that its changes are going on all the time. Why special magic should be imputed to the change from one quarter to another, from crescent to full, from full to gibbous, from gibbous to the final wane, is difficult to understand. Yet sober minded men and women will gravely inform you that there is such magic and will believe it rather more sincerely than they believe some things in their Bibles.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

Making Bouquets

In making bouquets or arranging flowers in vases amateurs often make the mistake of placing all the leaves around the outside and of massing the flowers tightly. This is suitable for a small corsage or buttonhole bouquet, but is not good for other purposes. The leaves and flowers should be mixed so as to present a natural, growing look and not enough flowers should be placed in one vase to give a crowded appearance. The simplest and surest way of securing a graceful, well balanced bouquet is to put the foliage in the vase first, using enough to make the leaves stand up nicely and not enough to crowd the vase. Into this foundation stick the stems of the blossoms, making sure that they reach down into the water. It is easy by this method to make few or many flowers show off to advantage. Even when a bouquet is to be taken away this will be found the surest method of securing good arrangement.

How to Avoid Smoke When Lighting a Fire.

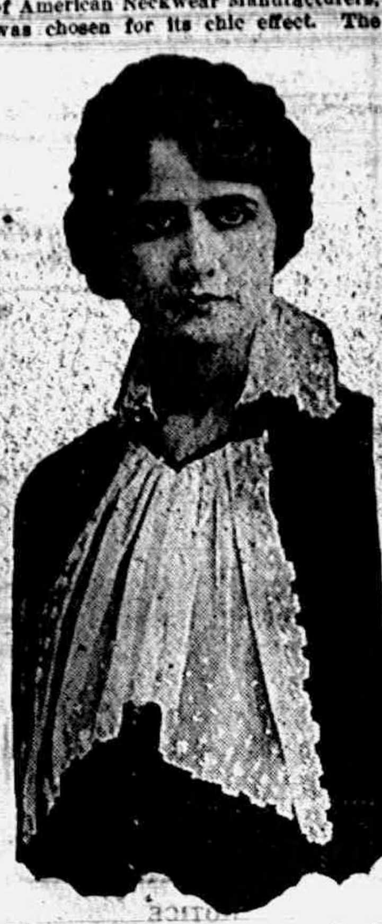
Simple way of avoiding the smoke and gas which always pour into the room when a fire is lit in a stove, heater or fireplace on a damp day: Put in the wood and coal as usual, but before lighting them ignite a handful of paper or shavings placed on top of the coal. This produces a current of hot air in the chimney, which draws up the smoke and gas at once.

Some of Burns' Phrases.

Here are a few specimens of Burns' happy phrases: "The best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft agley;" "The fear of hell's the hangman's whip, to haud the wretch in order;" "But pleasures are like poppies spread—you seize the flower, its bloom is shed;" "Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us to see oursel as ithers see us;" "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn;" "Nursing her wrath to keep it warm;" "The mirth and fun grew fast and furious;" "What's done we partly may compute, but know not what's resisted;" "Princes and lords are but the breath of kings;" "The rank is but the guinea stamp; a man's a man for a' that."

The Newest Jabot

Out of 175 designs for fall neckwear the handsome jabot here illustrated, originated by the Association of American Neckwear Manufacturers, was chosen for its chic effect. The fabric is white net, daintily embroidered in tiny daisies, the high standing collar being attached to the jabot by narrow black moire ribbon.



String Bean Salad.

String the beans and boil whole. When tender and cold slice each lengthwise and place them carefully crosswise on a platter. Season them an hour or two before serving with a marinade of a little pepper, salt, three spoonfuls of vinegar and one spoonful of olive oil. Just before serving drain off and mix with salad dressing.

Frozen Desserts

Dainty Frozen Pudding.—One quart of very ripe blackberries, two cupfuls of water, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, a pinch of salt, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one-fourth cupful granulated tapioca, one cupful of whipped cream. Cook and mash the blackberries through a very fine strainer. Add the sugar and salt. Boil the tapioca in the two cupfuls of water until clear. When cold add the blackberry and lemon juice and freeze.

Frozen Currant and Raspberry Punch.—Two cupfuls each of ripe currants and raspberries, two cupfuls of sugar, two cupfuls of water, half cupful of orange juice. Crush currants and put them into an agate saucepan with one cupful of water. Boil for three minutes and mash through a fine strainer. Mash raspberries and cover with one cupful of cold water. Boil the sugar and water for three minutes and cool. Freeze.

Frozen Banana Pudding.—Three cupfuls of milk, one-fourth cupful of cornstarch, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of mashed bananas, one cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Put the milk on in a double boiler. When hot add the cornstarch, sugar and salt, mixed with cold milk until smooth. Cook for twenty minutes. When cold add the bananas. The lemon juice is added just before closing the freezer. Freeze.

Frozen Caramel Custard.—One quart of milk, two cupfuls of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of maple flavoring, two eggs, four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch. Heat the milk in a double boiler. Mix the cornstarch with a little cold milk, two eggs well beaten and one cupful of sugar. Add salt. Cook for ten minutes. One cupful of sugar is melted and slightly burned. To it add half a cupful of cold milk and add to the custard. When cold add the flavoring and freeze.

FLOWER NAMES.

Camellia was named from a missionary in the orient, Kamel. On his return to France he brought with him some gorgeous specimens of a flower which he called the rose of Japan. His friends, however, gave it his name, Camellia.

Dahlias were brought from Peru by one Andre Dahl.

Fuchsias were named for their discoverer, Leonard Fuchs.

Magnolias received the name of Professor Magnol de Montpelier, who first brought the beautiful trees from Asia and America to France.

Anemone means to tremble with the wind.

Lavender, so called because the Romans put a spray of them in the water to perfume the hands. The Latin word to wash is lavare.

Feminine Confidence.

"I shall never scold my husband again for spending so much time at the club."

"Tell me about it."

"Well, last night a burglar got into the house, and my husband knocked him senseless with a poker. I've heard several men speak of him as a poker expert. He has evidently been practicing at the club for just such an emergency."—Judge.

An Ancient Black Race.

Generally the Sudanese are a race of many origins, Berber and Arab mixing with their negro blood. But the sultan of Darfur reigns over an almost purely negroid people. They are derived from a negro tribe—the Nobatai—who were invited by Diocletian to settle above the first cataract and restrain the neighboring tribes from marauding and mischief. They accepted the invitation, founded a kingdom with old Dongola for its capital, gave the region its name Nubia and remained settled there until their utter rout and defeat by the invading Arabs in the fourteenth century. Some of them, however, escaped to the Darfur district.—London Chronicle.

Her Words Came True.

The squad had been particularly stupid, and the drill sergeant was exasperated. After vainly attempting to induce them to execute some movements he gave the order, "Stand at ease." Addressing them seriously, he said: "I remember when I was a small boy I had a set of toy soldiers made of lead and tin. One day I lost them, and I wept bitterly. My mother told me not to fret; that some day I would find them again, and, by gum, I have!"—Vancouver World.

NAB BLACKMAIL CHIEF IN EAST

Butler, Head of "Trust", Taken at Philadelphia.

$1,000,000 SWINDLE BARED

One of Gang, Left Out in Division of Loot, Turns Informer—Woman Buyer for Big Philadelphia Department Store Fell for Mann Act Bluff—New Woman Is Arrested.

CHICAGO, ILL. — William Butler, said to be the leader of the blackmailing gang now under investigation in Chicago, was arrested in Philadelphia according to Hinton G. Clabaugh of the local bureau of justice.

The $1,000,000 blackmailers' band was no stronger than its weakest member. When one man, disgruntled at what he deemed an unfair division of spoils "squealed" to the police the end was in sight. When two others, frightened at the vision of penitentiary walls, "coughed up" the finish was near. It came when federal and city officers Saturday night raided the Tyson apartments at East 43d street and Grand boulevard and arrested four men and three women who are said to have been the principal operators in the extortion gang.

"Ladies' Man" Squeals.

Frank Crocker, the "ladies' man" of the crowd, got a lot of "phony" jewelry for his share of the haul from Mrs. Regina Clipper of Philadelphia. "Doc" Donahue and George Irwin laughed at him when he later demanded part of the cash, Crocker told the police, had Irwin arrested and later appeared against him. And though he later rejoined the gang, for his graces with the women were necessary to its operations, he had let the cat out of the bag and detectives were busy.

It was not many weeks until "Dick" Barrett and Edward J. Thompson, members of the band, saw the finish. They confessed, were promised immunity and are expected to appear with Crocker as witnesses against the seven whose arrest they caused. These three government witnesses, it is understood, will receive immunity.

The Story Told by Crocker.

Crocker's story, as it appeared in his testimony against Irwin, is roughly as follows:

"I met Mrs. Clipper in a New York cafe. We became pretty friendly and she invited me to her home in Philadelphia. I went there and spent several days, scarcely leaving the house. One night I walked out for a little air, and got to thinking about "Doc" Donahue. We had worked together some. He lived only a few doors away. I went to see him, and told him what fine 'pickings' the woman was. He introduced me to Irwin, and the two gave me $100 expenses to swing the deal.

"I took Mrs. Clipper back to a New York hotel. Then when we got things right 'Doc' and Irwin, as per arrangement, walked in on us. The old lady was scared to death. She gave up what money she had, about $5,000, and her jewelry. I took the jewelry and the other fellows the money. When I examined the jewelry it was bogus. I made a holler but the other fellows laughed at me. I came to Chicago to see Irwin in June, but got nothing. So I went to Detective Sergeant Crot, and he went to the district attorney, with the result that Irwin was arrested."

Irwin Was Freed on Bonds.

Irwin was ordered held, but procured his release on bond. Then, according to the officers, he returned east and he and William Butler, another of his associates, went to Mrs. Clipper in the guise of federal officers and kidnaped her, so that she might not appear as witness against Irwin. She was taken to Montreal, but released when federal operatives found her.

Another Woman Arrested.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Grace Butler, alias Grace Israel alias Sadie Israel, has been arrested in Philadelphia charged with complicity in kidnaping Mrs. Regina S. Clipper complaining witness against the blackmail syndicate. The Butler woman is the ninth person arrested as a result of the department of justice's exposures.

REJECTS U. S. MAIL DEMAND

But Great Britain Promises It Will Censor as Lightly as Possible.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Great Britain's reply to the American note protesting against seizure and censorship of neutral mails is on its way to Washington, and is understood to be largely a repetition of arguments in justification of the policy of the allies contained in a preliminary memorandum received here last February. The protest of the United States May 24 declared that "only a radical change in the present British and French policy, restoring to the United States its full rights as a neutral power, will satisfy this government."

At the British embassy it was stated that the allies desired to lighten the censorship as much as possible, and that it was with this end in view that the series of conferences to be held in New York this week between leading American exporters and Sir Richard Crawford, trade advisor of the embassy, had been arranged.

On sanitary grounds, education of Pontiac's foreigners may be removed from the public schools, if the objection raised by Dr. R. Y. Ferguson, a member of the board of education, is given weight by the rest of the board.

Mrs. Joseph Marshall, a fighting woman of Imlay City, charged with assault and battery, was fined $50 and costs of $41.35, a total of $91.35. Mrs. John Seabury accused Mrs. Marshall of striking her in the abdomen and calling her names.

During the tug-of-war contest at Eaton Rapids in the high school class day festivities, the bridge spanning Spring Brook collapsed under weight of spectators, throwing 30 men women and children into the water. No person was injured.

FRENCH ARE AT COMBLES' GATE

Line at Edge of Stronghold Is Captured.

BERLIN ADMITS GAIN BY FOE

Trench on Dead Man's Hill Is Also Captured from the Germans—Official Statement Tells of Allied Victory at Berney and Denicourt—200 Yards from Objective.

PARIS, FRANCE—South of Combles on the Somme front, the French have carried another group of German trenches, according to the official statement from the war office. Desperate fighting continues around Denlecourt, while actions both in the Champagne district and on the Verdun front, where the French captured a trench on Dead Man's Hill, are recorded.

The captured Denlecourt trenches are 200 meters from Combles.

Germans Admit Losses.

LONDON, ENG. — Loss of the villages of Berny and Denlecourt, together with the positions between Barleux and Vermandovillers, south of the Somme river, is admitted by the German war office.

North of the Somme, the statement says, the fighting developed favorably to the Germans.

"The mighty Somme battles," the statement adds, "carried out on a front of forty-five kilometers (twenty-eight miles) from Thiepval to the south of Vermandovillers, led to extraordinary bitter fighting. Those south of the Somme resulted in the abandonment of completely razed portions of positions between Barleaux and Vermandovillers, together with the villages of Berny and Denlecourt."

French Wedge Moves.

The new thrust by the French south of the river Somme in northern France, where the important railway town of Chaulnes is their objective, has resulted in the complete encircling of the village of Denlecourt, the Paris war office announced.

Further progress was made by the French in this region and heavy counter attacks by the Germans on the new French positions both north and south of the Somme have been repulsed, according to the report, which announces that the Germans sustained enormous losses, two battalions being nearly wiped out. The French have taken 1,200 prisoners and ten machine guns.

"BANKING" PLACE IS RAIDED BY OFFICIALS

Indictments Returned against Two Private Institutions.

CHICAGO, ILL. — A squad of detectives headed by Assistant State's Attorney A. E. Arkin descended upon the private banking establishment of M. Ginsburg & Sons, 635 West 12th street, which closed Saturday night, and seized records and books which are alleged to have been "doctored" to show solvency. The vaults were opened and an examination of their contents begun under direction of Prosecutor Arkin and S. H. Vowell, representing the Central Trust company, receivers.

Judge Landis appointed the Central Trust company receivers for the Ginsburg institution, and requested Frederick F. Hummell, counsel for the trust company, to bring him a list of all downtown banks which have been receiving deposits "from these criminal private bankers" during the last five years.

True bills, naming Michael Michniuk and his son, Stephen, twenty-one years old, on charges of receiving deposits while their private bank of Michniuk & Sons were insolvent, were voted by the September grand jury. Bills were also returned against Ginsburg and his son.

ASQUITH'S SON IS KILLED

Victim Eldest of Three Boys; Two Others Were Wounded.

LONDON, ENG.—Lieutenant Raymond Asquith, son of Premier Asquith, was killed in action on Sept. 15, it is announced.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE

His "Love Lorn Ladies" Scheme Fails to Work.

"LOVE LORN" SCHEME FAILS

Lord Northcliffe's Plan Was Abused by Foes of Britain.

LONDON, ENG.—The official press bureau has announced that, in future, no newspaper shall print advertisements of "lonely soldiers, or love-lorn ladies who wish to correspond with them."

The reason is the fear that numerous women, even though they are of British birth, are being employed by the German government to correspond with "lonely soldiers" and under the guise of courtship lay themselves out to "obtain information calculated to be of use to the enemy." The idea of forming guilds of leisured women to correspond with "lonely soldiers at the front," originated in the brain of Lord Northcliffe. His principal papers, the Times, the Daily Mail and the Evening News, boomed the idea and "correspondence guilds" spead with the rapidity of wildfire all over Great Britain. The idea has long been popular in France.

TECUMSEH GOES TO THE FAIR

Not to be out classed by our wide awake neighbors to the north, Tecumseh's business houses closed at 11 o'clock Thursday to enable both business men and employees to attend the fair at Adrian. Tecumseh's streets were nearly deserted in the afternoon and even the picture show announced that no afternoon performance would be given.

The morning train carried large crowds and scores went by autos. At 11 o'clock the Clinton delegation passed through and while the stop was made at the Chicago street crossing the Clinton band honored us with a selection. Two extra coaches were added to the train to take care of those who wished to attend the fair.

Clintons action followed by a simular action on Tecumseh's part seemed to pleaes the fair officials and called forth favorable comment through the columns of the Telegram.

Thursdays attendence at the fair was a record breaker. We asked at the Secretary's office the number of paid admissions but was told that at that hour (about 4:30) it was impossible to tell as the ticket sellers were buried under with work and the actual number would not be known until a late hour, but they were estimating about 35,000. Wednesdays attendence was very large and as large as any Wednesday in the history of the Association.

The exhibits this year were unusually fine. We were told by the Secretary that the cattle exhibit this year was far ahead of recent years and that the holstein exhibit, made up largely of Lenawee County cattle, was the best yet seen at any fair in Michigan.

In passing through the grounds we found Chan Beebe presiding over the Co-Operative tent and he seemed to attending strictly to business. Leon Williamson was found at the Buick headquarters and with his usual convincing line of talk was making a strong impression on, at least, half of the assembled crowd. In one of the main buildings we found attractive displays from the Hayden and Gratz mills and did not notice any announcement that flour had made another advance in price.

Tecumseh people were well sprinkled over the grounds and from every indication were enjoying the holiday to the fullest and aside from a few exceptions (we noticed one or two Tecumseh cars stalled beside the road "?") A threatening rain hastened the departure of many, but as usual, the rain was only a bluff.

COUNCIL TAKES ACTION

At the meeting of the council held Monday evening, the Village President was instructed to order numbers for houses and business places in Tecumseh, also to procure street signs for our various streets to conform with the requirements of the Postal Authorities.

Another requirement of the department is that each person to be served by mail carriers shall provide a proper box or receptacle for mail. When these things are complied with Tecumseh will be ready for free mail delivery and it will be up to the Government to start the ball a-rolling.

The Worm That Turned.

Just by looking at him as he sat in the witness chair one could tell that he was harmless, but a close inspection would also have revealed that there lurked behind his narrow and apologetic orbs a latent fire indicative of a past when his life had been all his own—a past now long distant. His general air was that of one having been detected by the minister while hoeing his garden on Sunday.

"YES, VERY."

Counsel for the plaintiff in the case proceeded to ask him the usual questions:

"Please state your name to the jury."

"John Jones."

"Your age?"

"Fifty-eight."

"Married?"

Then it was that John slid lower into his chair as a flash of determination came into his eye, and he answered in a voice that could be heard distinctly, "Yes, very."

In the rear of the room a woman of 250 pounds glared at the timid little witness as he was seen trying to conceal a half-worried smile beneath his straggling mustache.—Indianapolis News.

Lodge Again Candidate.

Boston, Aug. 21.—United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge filed papers as a Republican candidate for renomination in the September primaries.

GARRICK DISOWNED.

To Tell the Truth, Though, His Appearance Was Against Him.

Garrick's brother Peter lived at Lichfield. On the occasion of some townsman going to London Peter Garrick addressed a letter to his brother David in Southampton street, where he lived then, requesting him to show the lions of London to their townsman, with whatever civilities he could confer.

The man of Lichfield arrived in the great city, proceeded to Southampton street and, on knocking at the door, was told that Mr. Garrick was not at home, being engaged to attend the rehearsal at Drury Lane theater that morning, as he must play Abdel Drugger in "The Alchemist" that evening, when he would be sure to see him if he did not find him before.

John of Lichfield, acting agreeably to this information, went to the theater and then went back to Lichfield, where he attended his own business and took no notice of Peter Garrick.

The latter, surprised at this neglect, questioned him why he did not bring an answer to his letter.

"Because your brother did not give any," was the conclusive reply.

"Indeed," said Peter, "that is very extraordinary. What did he say to you?"

John of Lichfield exclaimed: "Well, Master Garrick, as you will have an answer, you shall have it. Take it as you please. I went to Southampton street. David was not at home. They said I might go to him at the playhouse. Well, they made me pay 3 shillings to go in, which I thought a strange proceeding. Howsoever, that was nothing. When he did show himself on the stage he was the nastiest, dirtiest, shuffling little blackguard that I ever set my eyes upon. I would not speak to him nor see him or own him as a townsman, though he is your brother. So I came away and left him to play his dirty tricks by himself."—Pearson's.

Greeting the King.

King Alfonso of Spain is given to the habit of mingling with his people unexpectedly and unannounced.

Some little time ago he visited a small town near Madrid and walked about the streets. But the rumor of his presence somehow got abroad, and he suddenly found himself among an excited throng, all of whom were looking for Alfonso."

"HAVE A LOOK AT ME."

One excited old lady began to exclaim shrilly when he was near her:

"Get out of the way!" she cried. "How can I see what the king is like if you will crowd me so!"

Turning, with a smile, to the excited old lady, King Alfonso whispered:

"Have a look at me—I am the king."

"King!" she exclaimed scornfully. "You the king! Don't tell me that, you blackguard. Why, you're more like some one who has come to blow the poor boy up!"

Anecdote of R. Harding Davis.

The late Richard Harding Davis once dined with a Philadelphian whose hobby was autograph first editions. The man had first editions of Kipling, Stevenson, Howells and all the literary bigwigs, and in each book was a complimentary dedication to him signed by the author.

But some of these autograph dedications were looked on with suspicion, and Mr. Davis expressed this suspicion jocularly at the dinner in question when the host passed round the table a fine old folio Shakespeare.

Mr. Davis, manipulating a pencil unperceived, sent the Shakespeare back to his host with these words inscribed on the flyleaf:

"To John Blank, from his affectionate old friend and well wisher, Bill Shakespeare."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Just His Luck.

At breakfast the other morning a Chicago woman regarded her better half sternly and demanded:

"Tom, what did you do with that letter to Aunt Clara I gave you to mail last Tuesday?"

Tom clapped his hand on the breast pocket of his coat.

"Was it to Aunt Clara?" he asked, hastily extracting from his pocket a bundle of letters and miscellaneous documents and looking them over.

"Of course it was. I wrote to ask her to come and spend a month with us."

"Marie," gasped Tom, "I—I mailed it!"—Chicago News.

BETTER THAN "BIRTH OF A NATION

Grand Rapdis Herald Says "Ramona" More Wholesome and Beautiful Story

The Grand Rapids Herald of Monday September 4th has the following to say regarding "Ramona" which was presented at Powers' theatre the entire week of September 3rd.

"Ramona" the marvelous motion picture drama which was played upon the screen of Powers' theatre last night, is more than a film romance. It is the story of the tragedy of a people, a chronicle of the sad fate of the American Indian. Although not in the main a drama of thrills, the interest in it never slackens, and the audience last night did not tire nor become restless.

Resembling in some respects, "The Birth of a Nation" that other cinema marvel, "Ramona" may be favorably compared with the Griffith masterpiece in the excellence of its protography, the attention to detail and the continuance of interest. But the story of "Ramona" is a more wholesome and beautiful one. Unlike "The Birth of a Nation" which left those who saw it in many cases depising the Negro, 'Ramona' impresses upon its spectators the "shame of the white race" in America.

Throughout there is not a single flaw in the picture."

"Ramona" with a complete company and a special orchestra will be the attraction at the Bradley Opera house, next Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept 26-27. Seat sale opens at Hay's Monday morning

A good audience was in attendance at the Baptist church Wednesday evening to hear the noted speaker Dr. Steele who spoke on the Alcohol problem from a scientific standpoint His lecture was quite different from the average temperance talk, and held ones close attention He traced the effect of alcohol on the human race from generation, to generation, showing its disastrous effects on the children of this generation whose mental, moral and physical conditions are being dwarfted by this fearful inheritance He cited many incidents to prove the truth of his assertion. He held his audience in close attention throughout his whole lecture and many facts of deep importance were impressed upon them as he set forth the evils of Alcoholism from a scientific, as well as a moral and physical standpoint

The Booster

However, when he saw what a terrible animal he had made, and observed its possibilities he decided on something to combat it. So he took a ray of sunshine and placed it in the heart of a child, the brain of a man, filled it with civic pride covered it with brotherly love, gave it the softness of velvet and a grip of steele and called it a BOOSTER a creature that loves the flowers, delights in the sound of children's voices and then he gave all men the previlege of choosing their associates. 35 YEAR AGO

Sept. 22, 1887.

To-days paper has heavy black column rules throughout and the front page has a long article on the death of President Garfield who passed away on Monday evening, Sept. 19 at 10:35. When the news was received the various church bells tolled and a feeling of deep gloom settled over the community. Business places were speedily draped with emblems of mourning. A public meeting was held in the evening at the Opera House and further commemorative services were planned. This service was held at the Opera House on Tuesday evening when a number of speeches were made and Resolutions of respect were drafted.

The Disappearing Lady.

The terms "madam" and "sir" are now employed much less than formerly, according to a book called "The A B C of Correct Speech," though, it says, children "should be taught to use these terms in speaking to ladies and gentlemen of the old school." "Lady" has also passed out of use in circles in which it was formerly current, except, curiously, the author observes, when a hostess talks to "her caterer or her maids." To them she describes her guests as "ladies," while to her friends they are "women" or "girls."—Outlook.

Botany Bay.

Sir Joseph Banks was the man who invented the once familiar phrase "Botany Bay." He was the botanist attached to the expedition of Captain Cook, the "Australian Columbus." Landing at this bay, close to the present city of Sydney, he found such an abundance of strange plants and flowers that he associated the word "botany" with it for all time. For a long time Botany Bay and Australia were synonymous in England. Sydney has spread out to the historic bay, and you can travel by tram car to "Botany." It was Sir Joseph Banks who made the kangaroo and other Australian animals known to science.—London Graphic.

Our Flora.

American florists, it is declared, are now able to produce in this country practically all the flowers and plants for which they were formerly dependent on Europe. "With the exception of certain bulbs indigenous to Holland, and boxwood, there is nothing which the American grower cannot produce better than any foreigner," says an expert.

TECUMSEH'S LOSS, IS DEARBORN'S GAIN

Rev. F. Hewitt Will Preach His Last Sermon as Rector of St. Peters Church, Sunday, at 4 P. M.

It is with deep regret, that we announce that next week will be Rev. Hewitts last one, as Rector of St. Peters Episcopal church

Since his coming to Tecumseh he has made many friends, not alone in his parish, but with the whole community by his interest in every good work and his royal good fellowship with everyone

He has reached out a helping hand to those in need of counsel and advice He has drawn together in the bonds of brotherhood, many who have had no real Church home before.

During the four years rectorate of Rev. Hewitt, he had administered the rite of baptism to 52. There have been 61 confirmed. The present number of communicants is 135, with 125 as nominal adherants. When he first came to the Church there were 67 communicants and 30 children enrolled in his Sunday School which now numbers with the infant roll and exclusive of the Men's class 113 During their stay in Tecumseh Rev. and Mrs Hewitt have made 3425 pastoral calls from house to house in Tecumseh and vicinity

During this time the St. PetersSunday School Association has been organized with Lester Rogers President at this time. A Men's class with Chas. Patterson president, a Woman's Auxillary (Missionary Society) Mrs. T. C. Harris president. The Men's class under the leadership of the Rector and its president C. Patterson has been a real force in this community. Capable speakers both local and from outside have been brought in from Sunday to Sunday by this class, and the good seed sown has taken root in the hearts and minds of those who have come in touch with its influence During Rev Hewitts rectorate here, many improvements have been made to the Church property, notably the building of the Parish house, the gift of Mr and Mrs J F Hicks which has added so much to the working efficiency of the Church. The Church building has been redecorated outside and in. The rectory fitted out with a furnace and plumbing A garage and roadway built and the grounds about the Church and rectory graded and put in excellent condition.

Surely Tecumseh's loss will be Dearborn's gain, for Rev. Hewitt, with his scholarly sermons and pastoral works in his four years sojourn, has built up a strong Church, and leaves every department in a healthy condition. We bespeak for Rev F. Hewitt a continued success in his new field of labor.

The Knocker

When God made all the good things in the world he had some scraps that left and so he gathered them together and he made the poisonous insects, the beasts and rattle snakes

But when he had finished he still had a few pieces, too bad to be used for the rattlesnake, the hyena, the scorpion, or the skunk so he tied them together with suspician, wrapped them with jealousy, put a yellow streak up their back and called it a KNOCKER

Mrs. Carrie McCollum of Macon is spending the day with Mrs. Ed. Holdiway.

Warren Jones and daughter of Ridgeway are calling on friends in town to-day

Miss Franc Aten, who has been so seriously ill for the past three weeks, is but little better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Williamson have been entertaining Mrs. C. L. Newmiller of New York and Mrs. Geo. A. Williamson of Toledo for the past week. They left for Toledo Wednesday.

Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Kenyon of Litchfield were weekend visitors with his brother L. D. Kenyon and daughter. Sunday they visited Jay Kenyon and wife in Detroit and took in the Billy Sunday services.

While we were pondering the question, Thursday morning, of rain or no rain, three miles west of Tipton they had a heavy shower with wind and hail. It lasted but a short time, but was fierce while it lasted.

Miss Mildred Boyce entertained at her home on Pearl Street Tuesday evening, the Misses Fern Hanford and friend Miss Beach of Dexter, Mary Scarlett, Corrinne Cardwell and Helen Chilson. A very pleasant evening was passed with visiting and music.

The Chairmen of the Committee's of the towns in Lenawee County, who are working for State wide Prohibition, had a meeting of several hours in Adrian, Wednesday, and discussed ways and means for carring on the work. A fine dinner was one of the features of the meeting, which was especially enjoyed by all.

No amount of explanation in, or out of class could convince Mr. Lowry otherwise (as usual). Will some one please illustrate?

Air Blast Tears Hole Two Inches Long in Intestine.

Pontiac, Sept. 25.—Frank Miller died in the City hospital of peritonitis, resulting, according to physicians, from internal injuries caused by a blast of compressed air injected into him during a friendly scuffle at the Wilson foundry plant, where he was employed.

The man was injured Thursday. When operated on it was found that a hole nearly two inches long had been torn in an intestine by the force of the air. It is understood by the officers, that before his death, Miller made a statement exonerating his fellow workmen, stating that no blame should be attached to them. An investigation is being conducted. Miller was married and has a family.

SEEK MICHIGAN FUGITIVES

Police Watch for Man and Woman Charged With Robbery.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Police have been watching all trains for the arrival of a man and woman who beat William Ford of Paw Paw, Mich., and robbed him of $7 near Benton Harbor.

The couple consented to take Ford in an automobile from Colomo to Benton Harbor, and on the way induced him to get out of the car, when the man struck him with a gaspipe. They left him lying in the road.

Precisely.

"This," said the guide who was piloting a bunch of tourists through Egypt, as he pointed to the mummy, "was a high priest, the wisest man of his day. He lived to a great age."

"Was his last illness fatal?" queried the wag of the bunch.

"Of course it was," answered the guide, with a look of pity at the other.

"That's queer," rejoined the waggish person. "His appearance would seem to indicate that he was permanently cured."—Exchange.

EXTORT $15,000 FOR BLACKMAIL

Two More Arrested in Alleged Nation-wide Plot.

VICTIMS HELD IN CHICAGO

New York Business Man and Girl Spirited to Loop Hotel in Western Metropolis—Swindlers Posed as U. S. Officers, Is Charge of Federal Authorities.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Secret service men made two more arrests in their Chicago roundup of the alleged "blackmail syndicate." Charged against their prisoners is the extortion of $15,000 from a wealthy New Yorker—the largest single "shake down" that the government is prepared to prove against the band. On top of this charge, the department of justice states that the alleged extortionists, posing as federal officers, brought their wealthy victim and a woman with whom he was found in a New York hotel, to Chicago and here kept them prisoners for more than a week in a loop hotel.

The men arrested are: Homer T. French, alias "Jack" French; James Christian, alias "Jimmie" Cross.

Latest Exposure Sensational.

The latest and most sensational of all the government's charges against the "syndicate" concerns the alleged blackmailing of A. R. Wesley, a prominent New York business man, and Alice Williams, supposed to be a young married woman residing also in New York. The blackmailers in this case, the government claims, were Homer French, George Irwin and "Doc" Evans. Here is the story told of the swindling by the department of justice:

French, Irwin and Brady, representing themselves to be officers of the government, gained entrance to a room in a New York hotel and there found Wesley and Mrs. Williams. Irwin informed the couple that they were under arrest for violation of the Mann act.

Posed as Chicago Officer.

"I am United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote of Chicago," the department of justice states he told Wesley. "These men are my officers, and we have come to take you back to Chicago for prosecution on a warrant we have here."

Irwin, the government says, then read and showed Wesley a forged warrant supposedly issued in a United States court. Neither of the couple doubted the authority of the "federal officers." On the next day they were taken in a train and brought to Chicago. Hints that their release might be accomplished by payment of sufficient money were made to both the man and the woman on the journey to Chicago, the department of justice believes.

Would Listen to Reason.

Wesley and Mrs. Williams were taken to a loop hotel and while "prisoners" there were told definitely that "Commissioner Foote would listen to reason." Wesley gave up $12,500 in currency—all he had. They were still held, however, and a few days later he secured $2,500 more which he turned over to the "officers."

RUSS CAPTURE 1,500 TEUTONS IN GALICIA

Both Petrograd and Berlin Tell of Stubborn Battle.

Petrograd, Sept. 25.—Russians and Austro-Germans are engaged in stubborn battles at various places on the Russian and Galician battle front from the Pripet marshes to the Roumanian frontier, according to the Russian official statement.

Fifteen hundred Austro-Germans were taken prisoners in the fighting on the upper Sereth river.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Strong Russian forces made repeated attacks on the Austro-German positions north of Zboroff between the rivers Sereth and Stripa in Galicia, says the German official statement.

The Russians penetrated the German lines near Manaov, but were driven out by a counter attack, leaving more than 700 prisoners and seven machine guns in the hands of the Teutons.

Guards to Use New Gun.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 25.—The machine gun troop, First Illinois cavalry, left overland for Harlington for a two week's instruction period in the operation of the Lewis Macine gun and a course on the target range. This will be the first opportunity the troop has enjoyed for firing the new rapid fire guns.

Convict Frisco Bomb Thrower.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—Warren K. Billings, tried here for the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Von Loo, one of the ten persons killed by the explosion of a bomb during the San Francisco preparedness parade July 22, was found guilty in the first degree. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

When a Swan Is a Cygnet.

"It amuses me to hear people speaking of the young swans at the Avondale zoo as 'swanettes,'" said Miss Lucy Williams. "The diminutive for swan is cygnet, just as a young goose is called a gosling. THIRTY KILLED IN LONDON RAID

British Destroy Two of Twelve Zeppelins.

CREW OF ONE RAIDER KILLED

Twenty-two Men in Other Airship Are Taken Prisoner—Machines of Very Latest Type—110 Persons Are Injured—Fires and Bombs Wreck Scores of Buildings.

London, Sept. 25.—Twelve Zeppelins, which raided London and the southeast counties of England Saturday night, killed thirty persons and injured 110 others, according to a British official statement. Of the casualties twenty-eight men, women and children were killed and ninety-nine men, women and children were injured in the metropolitan area of London.

Two of the Zeppelin airships, both of a new pattern, were shot down in Essex. The crew of one was killed, but the crew of the other, consisting of twenty-two men, was captured.

Outside of the London district two persons were killed and eleven injured in an East Midland town, and it is feared that two other bodies may be buried in the ruins.

Bombs Cause Fires.

The missiles dropped by the hostile aircraft caused numerous fires and demolished or damaged a large number of residences and stores in London.

The casualties in the metropolitan area, according to an official compilation, are as follows:

Killed, men 17, women 8, children 3. Total 28.

Injured, men 45, women 37, children 7. Total 99.

French Raid Essen.

In one of the longest flights attempted in the war, two French aviators raided Essen, Germany, throwing bombs on the blasting furnaces there. While the French official announcement of the raid does not so specify, it is believed the furnaces were those of the great Krupp gun factories.

Another raid on German munitions plants in Lorraine is thus described:

"Last night seven of our aeroplanes threw forty-six shells of 120 caliber and four 150 caliber on the blasting furnaces of Rombach and Thionville."

Forty-eight Planes Shot Down.

Forty-eight aeroplanes were shot down on the western front during twenty-four hours, according to official reports from Paris and Berlin.

Aerial combats were fought almost continuously during the daylight hours. Airmen on the entire front from the region of Havre to the Vosges were engaged. In the Somme region alone, according to the Paris report, twenty-nine distinct engagements were fought.

Official claims as to the results of aerial field day are contradictory. Paris asserts that the French flyers "indusputably had the upper hand," while Berlin says the combats generally "resulted favorably for us,"

French Claim 24 Victories.

The French statement enumerates twenty-four German machines brought down, making no mention of casualties suffered by the French air corps. Berlin admits the loss of but six machines and says "we shot down twenty-four machines, of which twenty fell on the Somme front."

OUTRAGES SHOCK GERMANS

High School Faculty Warns Countrymen Regarding Verdict on Armenia.

New York, Sept. 25.—The faculty of the German high school at Aleppo, Turkey, recently protested to the German government against the Armenian atrocities, stating that unless Germany acted to restrain the Turks the outrages committed "will always remain a terrible stain on Germany's honor among generations to come."

Through its censorship the British government got possession of a copy of the protest, found in a letter by Dr. Edward Graetner, one of the signers from Basle, Switzerland, to a prominent German theologian in a neutral country, and made it public news here.

Gold Per Capita in U. S. Triples Since Bryan's "First Battle."

New York, Sept. 25.—According to a computation made here, there was on September 1 last enough gold in the United States to give every man, woman and child $24.80. This includes coin and bullion, but not jewelry. Since September 1 gold has been flowing in very fast, too.

In 1896, when William J. Bryan's espousal of "16 to 1" had forced much gold out of the country the per capita amount was only $8.40. In 1888, it was $11.76.

German Furniture Prices Rise.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Despite Germany has immense forests, furniture prices have increased from forty to fifty per cent since the beginning of the war. The rise is caused by the scarcity of labor and the increase of wages made necessary by the high cost of living

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 25.—Twenty-three hundred dollars were secured by yeggmen that blew the safe of the Bank of Melville and escaped.

Diamonds In This Country.

Diamonds are to be found in the United States, but only occasionally in alluvial materials and drift. More than fifty specimens have been identified, of which the largest, says the International Encyclopaedia, weighing nearly twenty-four karats, was found at Manchester, Va., in 1855. Their occurrence is generally confined to the regions of the southern Appalachians the great lakes and to the coast and Sierra Nevada ranges of California and Oregon.

A Nice Distinction.

A congressional committee went to a certain state to assist in opening an exposition. There was a parade in the morning in which all the visiting statesmen rode in automobiles. The local committee brought the cars around to the leading hotel. The scheme was to have two senators or representatives and two local men in each car.

After the vice president and his party had been sent away a local notable who was acting as a major domo came into the lobby of the hotel, where the statesmen were waiting, and bawled:

"Two congressmen and two gentlemen, please!"—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

Much Cheaper Toothless.

With a view to advertising his business a dentist in an English town announced that he would supply artificial teeth to the first twelve aged ladies in poor circumstances who applied for them.

The earliest application on the appointed day was an elderly woman in shabby but respectable clothes.

Scarcely was she seated when a red faced old man came to the place and announced that he had come "about them teeth."

"You are making a mistake," the dentist replied. "I only made my offer to ladies. In fact, there's one lady waiting now."

"An' it's about 'er I've come," retorted the old man gruffly. "Tell 'er 'er 'usband's waitin' for 'er and if she don't 'op out quick there'll be trouble. She's got a happetite like an 'oss already, and if you set 'er up wi' a strong lot o' teeth she'll eat both me an' 'er into the work'us in a week. Send 'er out at once!"

BEANS MAY CLIMB TO $10 BY SPRING

Market Director McBride Says Frosts Have Blighted Crops.

Lansing, Sept. 25.—According to the reports received by State Market Director James M. McBride, the recent frosts have spoiled all possible chance that any of the Michigan crops might have had of giving a good yield this year.

"Some of the crops had a chance with excellent weather for another week or so," said Mr. McBride, "to pull out almost even, but the frosts have settled all that. Beans and potatoes have been especially hard hit and any possibility of these crops being underestimated at first has gone glimmering. The bean crop reduction means something, too, for the frost played havoc with the crop in Minnesota within the last few days. Beans will be worth their weight in gold before long, and although there is some contention now between the growers and the jobbers over the price of them, I think that the price fixed for them will be considered low when the big market opens up.

"I should not be one bit surprised to see beans retail at $10 a bushel before the winter is over. They are running now between $7.50 and $8 a bushel retail.

LAKE CITIES SEEK U. S. PLANT

Benton Harbor and St. Joseph Advertise Their Superior Location.

Benton Harbor, Sept. 25.—The advantages of locating the government's new armor plant in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph are put forward in circulars now being sent out jointly by those cities to the leading newspapers of the middle west.

It is pointed out that both Benton Harbor and St. Joseph are within sixty miles of the second city on the continent—Chicago—and on the shores of the largest body of water wholly within the United States: that it is in the center of a fertile farming country, the products of whose fertility can be distributed over night to a dozen of the largest cities of the nation.

WILL PROBE AUTO KILLING

Inquest to Be Held in Birmingham on Jos. Paulus' Death.

Pontiac, Sept. 25.—An inquest is to be held in Birmingham on September 29 to determine the responsibility for the death of little Joseph Paulus, who was killed in an automobile accident there.

The case had aroused interest in the country because of the frequency of fatal accidents on the new concrete road.

Holland Man Is Killed.

Holland, Sept. 25.—Carry C. Rice, aged about forty-five years old, was killed and Lewis Davis, aged twenty-two years, was probably fatally injured when a carload of lumber on which they were working, left the rails at the Limbert Furniture factory and capsized.

MANY UNIONS BALK ON SUSPENDING WORK

New York Leaders Confront Crisis in Ranks.

New York, Sept. 25.—Labor leaders held secret meetings in various parts of the city to devise a plan for making effective the call for a general suspension of work on Wednesday.

Reports of defections among the unions that had been counted upon as among the most loyal adherents of the American federation in any situation that may arise brought the leaders face-to-face with the fact that they were confronting a crisis.

Grave doubts were expressed by many of the leaders as to the ability of the Central Federated union to make good its threats. Pinned down for definite statements as to the numbers of men that would leave their work the union leaders declined to make any estimates.

CRYING LAD DUPES FARMERS

They Permit Him to Rummage Their Pockets and Lose $500.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—A crying youth, who said he had lost a pocketbook that contained $400, which he had intended paying a mortgage on his parents' home, accused two Aledo, Ill., farmers in Hammond City, Ind., of taking his money.

They permitted him to search their clothing to convince him of their innocense. After he was gone they discovered their pocketbooks containing nearly $500 were missing.

American Venice in New York.

New York, Sept. 25.—Work has just been started here on a project to build an American "Venice," composed of scores of little islands connected by bridges over little canals, in Jamaica Bay. It will be a gigantic summer resort, teeming with canoes, gondolas, launches and summer girls. A new million dollar city boulevard from the mainland will intersect it.

Italian Airman Makes New Record.

Turin, Sept. 25.—The Italian airman Antonacci has just beaten the world's height record near here. He carried six passengers and rose to a height of 19,000 feet. The previous record with the same number of passengers was recently achieved in France by Poire, but the height reached was only 9,000 feet.

Chicago Grew 50,000 Last Year.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The lack of immigration because of the war has played no part in Chicago's growth during the last year. Figures compiled from the new city directory to be issued shortly show that this city has gained more than 50,000 inhabitants during the last twelve months.

To Recover Lusitania Gold.

London, Sept. 25.—An attempt is planned to recover some of the cargo of the Lusitania, which was sunk by a German submarine. While a portion of the liner's cargo is believed to have been destroyed by the war, it is hoped the large amount of gold the steamship had on board may be recovered.

Coast-to-Coast Race Ends.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 18.—The war department's message from Plymouth, Mass., to Puget Sound, relayed across the continent by automobile in a race against time, was delivered at 10:12 a. m. Saturday to the commanding officer at Fort Wawton, its destination. The message left Plymouth at noon Monday.

TIP FOR MOTORISTS.

How to Remove Greasy Dirt From Your Lily White Hands.

The owner of a car who cares for his vehicle to a large extent generally makes up his mind to having dirty hands when some periodic and greasy job falls due. There is no real need for this, as a little care beforehand will obviate the retention of the greasy dirt afterward. Before starting work on a greasy piece of machinery take cylinder oil and rub it well into the skin. After the work is done do not take the grime off by rubbing the hands on waste or a cloth. Instead put on some more cylinder oil or any light oil liberally, using it as you would soap and water. When the oil has worked under the grease and cut it loose from the skin wipe the hands thoroughly on a piece of waste. When you have wiped off the oil you will find that it has taken the grime with it, leaving the hands ready for a good wash with soap and water. If the motorist will try a tar soap for this final stage he will be surprised at the results obtained. Kerosene, gasoline or washing powders should not be used, as they harden the skin and give it a tendency to crack. When on the road the hands can be made fairly presentable by using the oil wash alone, leaving the soap and water until reaching the destination. This method of keeping the hands in shape is used by many of the mechanics in big repair shops and in motorcar factories. It is a particularly useful tip just at this time, when all the cars in America are being run out of the garages for their season's work, most of them by owners, who have no decided preference for dirty hands.

COOK SPEAKS.

How to Cook Vegetables and Conserve Their Food Value.

It is important that vegetables should be prepared and cooked in such a way as to conserve all the available food material and their mineral salts. The portion of the vegetable next to the skin contains the greater quantity of mineral matter, protein. Carrots and vegetable oysters should be scraped. Other vegetables should be pared as thinly as possible.

When the liquid in which the vegetables are cooked is drained off it carries with it much that is valuable, says Good Health. As far as possible this should be saved and used as the foundation for soups and sauces.

Vegetables should be cooked only until tender. Many vegetables develop a strong and unpleasant flavor and are rendered less easily digested by over cooking. This is especially true of cabbage, cauliflower, etc. When overcooked they also take on a reddish hue.

Strong flavored vegetables, such as onions, cabbage and turnips, should be cooked uncovered.

How to Pull Your Auto Out of a Hole.

If the rear wheels are stuck in the mud dig holes in front of the front wheels for them to fall into to give the initial start, and if the car does not continue then block the rear wheels instantly and repeat the operation. Place brush in front of the rear wheels and turn them as slowly as possible to keep from churning. If one rear wheel is on good road, try putting on the hand brake fairly tightly to destroy the action of the differential, or fasten the mired wheel so that it cannot turn and the other wheel will do the work and slide the mired wheel along the ground.

The instant you realize you are getting stuck in sand or mud stop right there and look over the situation instead of fighting the car and burying it deeper and deeper.

The First Comedy.

The first recorded comedy was played at Athens B. C. 578, when Susarion and Dolon, the earliest traveling actors, performed a comedy of Susarion's composition on a movable stage mounted upon four wheels. The new form of play was so successful that the actors were rewarded by the grateful populace with a cask of wine and a basket of figs. Susarion belonged to Megaris, a state of ancient Greece, whose inhabitants were celebrated for their coarse humor and who in their villages during the evenings were wont to hold what they called a comus, really a revel, in which impromptu acting, coupled with buffoonery, played a considerable part. From this word we have our comedy.

Botany Bay.

Sir Joseph Banks was the man who invented the once familiar phrase "Botany Bay." He was the botanist attached to the expedition of Captain Cook, the "Australian Columbus." Landing at this bay, close to the present city of Sydney, he found such an abundance of strange plants and flowers that he associated the word "botany" with it for all time. For a long time Botany Bay and Australia were synonymous in England. Sydney has spread out to the historic bay, and you can travel by tram car to "Botany." It was Sir Joseph Banks who made the kangaroo and other Australian animals known to science.—London Graphic.

WHY

Mufflers Are Necessary On All Automobiles

LET us consider the case of the muffler. The exhaust valve opens while the burned gas is still under a pressure of from twenty-five to thirty pounds per square inch. If this were exhausted directly into the air the resulting noise would stifle conversation in the car, annoy everybody along the street and very quickly get the driver into difficulty with the police. The muffler prevents all this. It provides a chamber in which these exhausted gases may expand and cool somewhat and at the same time breaks up the pressure by allowing it to leak out slowly through a number of very small holes instead of letting it loose in one "big noise."

In the early history of the automobile mufflers were not used, and everybody for blocks around knew when an auto was coming. As the automobiles increased in number this became a nuisance and was stopped by law. Then they sought a means of stifling the sound. In the early muffler there was trouble because the gas would back up in the cylinder and decrease the power of the motor. It was thought there was no way to decrease the sound without decreasing the power. Therefore the automobile manufacturers devised a valve to "cut out" the muffler on the car whenever extra power was desired. Sometimes the back pressure was so great as to interfere when driving through heavy roads or up hills. The "cut out" let the gas exhaust directly into the air instead of going through the muffler. At the present time nearly every city has a law prohibiting entirely the use of muffler "cut outs."

As a matter of fact, those well posted on automobile engines understand today that the "cut out" is absolutely unnecessary if the muffler is kept in proper condition. Muffler manufacturers have been able to produce a design with which there is no back pressure at all.

The average driver, however, does not know that his muffler needs as careful attention as any other part of the mechanism, and so he neglects it. In these days of noiseless cars it requires a great number of very small openings inside the muffler. These become clogged with soot or carbon from the exhaust. The deposit collects very rapidly, especially when the grade of the oil is poor or too much oil is used. It also results when the carbureter is adjusted to give too rich a mixture. When these small openings become clogged the exhaust gas cannot escape readily, and naturally the cylinder of the engine is not clean at the exhaust stroke. Result: It is impossible to bring in a full cylinder of new gas on the next intake stroke. There is not a full charge to explode, and this means a loss of power to the engine.

How to Make Bechamel Sauce.

Put a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and as it melts add half an onion, chopped fine, and let it stew until tender, but do not let it brown. Mince two ounces of raw ham, add the ham and let it brown. Then add a stick of celery, chopped fine, and half a carrot, also chopped fine. Add a bunch of sweet herbs, chopped fine; two cloves and four allspices. Let all simmer gently for two minutes without browning. Then add half a pint of cream by degrees, but do not heat it. Stir until the whole is velvetlike. Strain and set on the fire for a few minutes to heat.

HOW TO PICK OUT YOUR NEW "SPECS."—If you find it difficult to thread a needle, if the printed page dances before your eyes, if you feel an inclination to avoid reading because it "makes you nervous," if your eyes are red rimmed or perhaps puffy looking after an evening of bridge, undoubtedly the time has come when you need glasses—not necessarily that badge of declining years, "sight glasses," but certainly the beneficent "rest glasses" which make so much difference in comfort and happiness and, if women did but realize it, in the condition of the nerves. "Rest glasses" take the strain off the eyes, make needlework and reading more enjoyable and incidentally help to put off the day when "sight glasses" will be needed. When you need "sight glasses" you will know it. No one will have to tell you that—you can no longer read newspaper print—but there are dozens of women struggling along, straining their eyes over fine sewing and trying to read music in the light that always used to seem good enough over by the piano, who do not realize that inexpensive "rest glasses" would improve their spirits and their tempers. Nothing makes one nervous and irritable—even depressed and blue—like the need of help for the eyes.

The straight bar of metal bisecting the nose makes the eyes look nearer together and imparts a hard, shrewd look to the face. The nose piece with an arch or curve rising over the nose seems to blend into the lines of the face and eyebrows, and glasses are not the first things one thinks of when gazing at that face.

Byron In an Ugly Mood.

I have not yet read Byron's "Conversations," but there was an anecdote in one of the extracts which confirms what I heard long since, but which I could not depend on before. He had an aversion to see women eat. Colonel —— was at Byron's house in Piccadilly. Lady Byron in the room, and luncheon was brought in—veal cutlets, etc. She began eating. Byron turned around in disgust and said, "Gormandizing beast!" and, taking up the tray, threw the whole luncheon into the hall. Lady Byron cried and left the room.—Told by Haydon, the Painter.

He Saved Time.

An English weaver who had spent two or three years in America was paying a visit to the old mill to see some of his former workmates.

One of them said to him: "I hear it's all hustle and bustle in America. In fact, you 'aven't time to eat."

"Hustle and bustle," said the visitor. "Why, when I left here I spelt my name 'Mirrill,' but now I spell it 'Merrell.'"

"How's that?" asked his friend.

"Because," replied the Americanized one, "I haven't time to dot the 'i's'"—Exchange.

HOW

To Feed the Family Well and Inexpensively

IN response to several inquiries as to the minimum cost of food for a family we publish herewith a list of articles of food sufficient for a family of five for one week, says a bulletin of the New York city department of health. It may be of interest to our readers to know that this diet supplies about 9,500 calories and 430 grams of protein per day. On the assumption that the family consists of two adults and three children this allowance is ample:

1 lb. butter	$0.42
1 bag sugar (3½ pounds)	.24
1 lb. rice	.06
1 lb. dried peas	.09
1 lb. beans	.09
1 lb. farina	.06
1 lb. oatmeal	.05
½ box cocoa (¼ pound)	.10
1 lb. prunes	.15
1 lb. onions	.04
6 lbs. potatoes	.24
1 head of cabbage (medium size)	.05
1 lb. cheese	.22
2 doz. eggs	.60
2 lbs. meat daily at 20 cents	2.80
2 loaves of bread daily at 8 cents	1.12
2 qts. of milk daily at 7 cents	.98
Total	$7.31

The list of foods here shown has been tested practically for about two years. The nutritional results have been excellent, a fact which indicates better than any theoretical study would do that the diet combines all the food elements needed by the body.

If we could devise a plan for insuring such a diet or its equivalent to all the poor people in this city we would materially reduce our death rate. In many instances of malnutrition encountered at the department's clinics the fault is due to ignorance of what constitutes a proper diet. The department of health has been trying to spread such knowledge for some time. Certainly this list should prove invaluable to the housewife who is trying to provide a wholesome diet at a very limited cost.

Natural Curiosity.

Joe had been working in Baltimore. On the day before Christmas he received his pay and planned to go home to Washington, but first he started out to buy presents for all his family. He did this with more generosity than foresight, and when evening came he found himself at the railway station loaded with bundles, but with no money for his fare to Washington.

Somehow he got through the gate and approached the conductor. He laid the case before him and ended with a plea that he might ride to Washington on the platform of the baggage car. The conductor, his heart warmed by the spirit of the season, said, "All right; go ahead."

So Joe climbed on the platform of the car next to the engine. It was a cold night, and it was on a road where the engine takes up water from a track reservoir as it goes along.

When the train reached Washington the conductor saw Joe approaching covered with ice from head to foot, bundles and all. He came up to the conductor and said: "I sure does thank you, boss, for muh ride. You's very kind to allow muh to ride up with you, but there's jus' one question I wants to ax. Kin yuh tell me the name ob that rivuh we run through back there?"—Youth's Companion.

JAPAN'S WOLFISH DOGS.

Famed For Their Savage Ferocity and Tenacity of Grip.

Most of the dogs in Japan are of native breed and are quite different from the dogs in western countries. Like the Japanese horses, they are smaller. As the Japanese have ever been an agricultural people, hunting dogs were not known, nor did they have any use for watch dogs, as they kept neither flocks nor herds. The Japanese dog, therefore, is a domestic animal, to the breeding of which no particular attention was given, thus producing a mongrel type.

A great many years ago one of the shoguns became interested in the breeding of dogs, so more care was given to developing a good type. Many of the daimyos, thinking that they would stand in better favor with the shogun, presented him with presents of anywhere from ten to twenty dogs. At one time the emperor had over 5,000 at Kamakura.

The average native dog of Japan has a savage, wolfish aspect, with flat head, pointed muzzle and short, erect ears, with bushy, foxlike tail. They are bold and obstinate in disposition and never know when they are beaten. A Japanese once gave a live dog to his pet tiger as a treat. But the animal, realizing the situation before the tiger did, seized the tiger by the throat and choked it to death before it could defend itself, though the dog also died from its wounds. The Japanese dog is thus far famed for its unexampled ferocity and tenacity of grip, something like the western bulldog.—Japan Magazine.

MR. AVERY HEARD FROM

Cathay, N. Dakota
September 18, 1916

Mr. W. H. Westcott
Tecumseh, Mich.

Dear Will:

Thinking that you and the other folks at home might be interested in our trip, I will tell you of some of the sights we have seen since leaving East Jordan.

A week ago this morning Rude took us to Crosby's landing on the South Arm of Pine Lake which is about two miles fr[illegible]. There we took the small steamer "Hum," which runs between East Jordan and Charlevoix

The distance between the [illegible] is about 14 miles. The steamer stops at a number of landings and does quite a passenger business and also hauls some freight. The day was perfect and we enjoyed the ride very much

After spending an hour or two at Charlevoix, we took the train for Petoskey, arriving there we found our friend J Hand of Onsted who is staying there to avoid having hay fever. He took us to dinner with him and then showed us the town, which by the way is a very interesting place, until our train left at 3:05 p m.

We then started for Duluth going to Mackinaw City, thence nine miles across the Straits of Mackinac to St Ignace, thence to Duluth by the Duluth South Shore and Atlantic R R. Arrived in Duluth the next morning, were entertained by our friends there until Wednesday morning I wish I had words to describe Duluth to you It is so different from anything I had ever seen. It is a city of about 80,000 people. It has many miles of water front Most of the business places are along the water front and the dwellings are high up. Our friends gave us an auto ride of forty or fifty miles We first drove along near the shore of the lake and later on the hills back of the city. There are a number of places where we could look down on the city and the lake. The sight was similar to what we might see from a balloon There we were 600 hundred feet above the level of the beautiful bay with the city between us and the bay.

From one place we could see a ridge of Wisconsin hills and at their base the city of Superior. There is a narrow strip of land nearly seven miles long which nearly connects Duluth and Superior, and also makes a natural harbor We drove to one of the suburbs called the Model City. This was built by the owners of the immense steel mills that are located there, for the benefit of the men working in the steel mills.

This is built on nearly level ground The streets are wide and all paved and the houses are all built of cement blocks. I noticed that they were not all alike as you often see houses that are built for workmen, but are built in different shapes just as if they had been built by different individuals.

Nearly all the lots are terraced and the lawns are fine. I think they named it right when they called it the "Model City".

Wednesday morning we left Duluth and at 8:37 p m. we arrived at Valley City N. D., we spent the night there and came to Cathay Thursday morning

Our ride from Duluth to Cathay was very interesting. All through Minnesota we could see that the farms were large, the main crop is wheat, but we saw many large fields of corn. The wheat was nearly all drawn and stacked near the building which were usually good, especially the barns Some corn was cut but much of it was still standing, although ready to be cut and looked as if it was very good

In North Dakota the farms are still larger and instead of the wheat being stacked as it is in Minnesota, it is left in the shock until they get ready to thresh it. The farms here are mostly from 320 to 1000 acres. The ground is quite level, though not as much as I expected to find it. We can see the smoke from several threshing outfits from here.

They have large machines and set them up in the field in some convenient place and commence. They have enough teams to keep the machine going and have one load on each side of the machine with a man on each pitching the bundles into the machine

The straw takes care of itself, the wheat is carried by a spout high enough to empty into high wagon boxes which hold 72 bushels of wheat. A good deal of it is drawn directly to the elevator, One man who has a 800 acre farm several miles from town has a large granary and an elevator of his own, told me that last year he had his bins all full and a pile of 5000 bushels of wheat on the ground when they finished threshing. Each man who runs a threshing machine furnishes the teams and men to draw the grain to the machine, They also have a cook house on wheels large enough for a kitchen and a dining room to seat about 25.

This is certainly a fine country Many people who came here poor 20 or 30 years ago are rich today. We were treated to an auto ride about 30 miles yesterday. At one place we could see five towns. Cathay, Emrick, Heaton, Syxeston and Fessenden. You can readily see that the country is not very hilly. We expect to start for Greely, Colorado tomorrow. If not too busy I may write you from there.

Yours truly F. D. Avery

AN INFARE DINNER.

It Used to Be an Important Function For the Newly Wedded.

Were you ever invited to an infare dinner? You are familiar with the "house warming" that is as likely to take place in midsummer as any other season, and if you are a business man you cannot have escaped the demand for a floral tribute when some new firm has embarked in your particular line of trade or profession.

But the chances are that if you know anything definite about an infare dinner you are either too old to care about discussing it or you are of Scotch or North of England origin, unless, of course, you happen to have spent most of your life in Indiana. In the latter event you learned all about a charming custom from your mother or grandmother.

In rural Indiana the old ceremonial has even yet not gone the way of most of the ceremonial practices of our ancestors, for it is still observed in a modified form. However, there is no sinister meaning attached to its omission, as was the case two generations ago.

In the days of our grandparents if the groom's mother failed to invite the bride to the infare dinner the day following the wedding it meant one thing and one thing only—that she was not to be regarded as a member of her husband's family. The dinner was usually a more elaborate affair than the wedding supper at the bride's father's house the previous evening. It was served at high noon and included the entire bridal party, although in Scotland the bride was supposed to leave all her own kindred behind when she went to eat the dinner cooked by her mother-in-law.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

OUR SCHOOLS 50 YEARS AGO

The Board of Trustees were Dr. M. A. Patterson moderator, Att'y E B, Wood director, with Att'y P. Bills, Moses Wright Wm. B. Rowland and Geo Curtis the other members. The instructors were C. B Thomas principal, Mrs C. B. Thomas preceptress, Intermediate Dept Mr. Samuel Rundall, Mr C. W. Barney Miss Libbie Rosebough. On February 14, 1864 Mr Rundall passed away, deeply mourned by all his pupils. The school boasted a Library of 400 volumes which library was opened every Friday.

The expenses of the school varied according to the course of studies which the scholar pursued.

Many a "Grouch" Could Be Glad

Too often a person's disposition is blamed, when it is his digestion that is at fault. Some time when the world looks blue and dingy, when you feel an irresistible impulse to snap and snarl, when you feel dull and gloomy, stuffed up and uncomfortable—with a mean headache, bilious stomach, furred tongue—then take a Foley Cathartic Tablet.

If your bowels are sluggish, if your intestines are clogged with a decomposing poisonous mess, if you are not eliminating properly, this little tablet will afford prompt, sure and safe relief without griping, pain, nausea or costive effects.

Foley Cathartic Tablets are a genuinely wholesome physic—an ideal laxative. They keep the system fit and fine, purged of poisons, and ready to resist disease. Stout people say they have no equal for bringing a light and free feeling.

Sold by druggists everywhere. Distributed by Foley & Co., Chicago, makers of the celebrated Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs and colds.

Sold everywhere in Tecumseh.

that Sandusky, O., is criminally liable for allowing death trap to exist, regardless of any other conditions that caused the automobile accident in which five Ann Arbor residents were killed was the statement by Fred Heusel, Jr., brother of Irwin Heusel, who was the least injured of the party.

Baffled by silence of the victims of the shooting at Birmingham, believed to have been the result of Black Hand machination, the sheriff's office has been unable to discover any definite clue to the assassin who killed Edward Crawford, fifteen years old of Southfield, with a bullet believed to have been intended for Sam Atoronto, Italian fruit dealer.

Don Stark, his wife, Mrs. M. Stark, Harry Millman, Norman Eschelbach and Paul Reule, all of Ann Arbor, are dead and Irwin Heusel and Martin Jacobus are seriously injured as the result of an accident in which Norman Eschelbach drove his automobile, in which they were all returning from Cedar Point, through an iron guard railing into a brick paving subway under the New York Central tracks at the foot of Depot street, Sandusky, Ohio.

MOSBY AND HIS MEN.

The Old Warrior's Attitude Toward Reunions After the War.

The late Colonel John S. Mosby differed from many military men in that instead of being pleased at being given a higher designation than he was properly entitled to the conferring of the higher title was extremely obnoxious to him," remarked Henry D. Rose of Norfolk.

"People who thought to please him by calling him general instead of finding favor invoked upon themselves the resentment of the old partisan chief. 'I never was a general, sir' I heard him once say with great warmth to a young Virginian who thus addressed him. 'I am Colonel Mosby, and I never attained any higher rank than colonel, so please don't call me general.'

"As brave a spirit as ever lived, the old warrior was full of eccentricities. One of his peculiarities was his persistent declination to attend any of the reunions of Mosby's men. He probably gloried in the fact that these reunions were held, but no amount of persuasion could get him to be present.

"He used occasionally to indulge in a little grim humor regarding the number of those who attended the reunions As the years went by naturally many of his old followers would cross to the great beyond, but curiously enough, according to the colonel's own statement, there seemed to be just as many of Mosby's men at these annual gatherings a generation after the war as ever he had enlisted in his command at the height of its numerical strength."—Washington Post.

WORLD'S LARGEST CLOCK.

Its Dial, Forty Feet Across, Carries a Twenty Foot Minute Hand.

The largest clock in the world is in the tower of the Colgate building, on the Jersey side of the river, writes the New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

This clock, which is illuminated at night, can be seen by persons using any of the ferryboats leaving from the lower part of Manhattan and those plying between the New York and New Jersey shores. Staten Island dwellers [illegible] and commuters from New Jersey points use it as their official timepiece and regulate their watches by it.

The clock was built at Waterbury, Conn., and so gigantic are its parts that it was necessary to bring the hands from the factory on a flat car and use a box car to transport the works. The minute hand is twenty feet long and weighs half a ton, and the hour hand is fifteen feet long.

The weights of this monster time piece are more than a ton. The dial is forty feet in diameter, surpassing by thirteen feet six inches that of the second largest clock in the world, in the Metropolitan tower; it is fifteen feet greater than that of the clock in the tower of Philadelphia city hall, the third largest in the world, and it doubles "Big Ben," on top of the house of parliament, London, which is perhaps the most widely known clock in the world.

Where a King's Clothes Were Kept.

St. Andrew's-by-the-Wardrobe is a conspicuous waymark in Queen Victoria street and derives a grotesque distinguishing title from former proximity to the king's great wardrobe. This was originally the town mansion of Sir John Beauchamp and purchased from his executors by Edward III. for the keepers of the king's apparel. "There were kept," says Fuller, "the ancient clothes of our English kings which they wore on great festivals." Shakespeare in his will left to his favorite daughter, Susannah, the Warwickshire doctor's wife, a house near the Wardrobe, "wherein one John Robinson dwelleth." The present Church of St. Andrew's-by-the-Wardrobe was rebuilt by Wren after the great fire and became the city center of the evangelical revival under William Romaine.—Westminster Gazette.

Reason For Insistence.

The vicar of a certain parish in England stopped an aged parishioner and congratulated him on his approaching marriage.

"I am sorry," he added, "that a prior engagement will prevent me from performing the ceremony on Tuesday, but no doubt my curate will do just as well."

"Oh, nowt o' t' soort!" ejaculated the old fellow. "That be 'anged for a tale! Mebbe, now, ye'd be at liberty on Wednesday?"

"Well," was the reply, "I certainly shall be free on Wednesday, but"—

"Then Wednesday it is," went on the prospective bridegroom. "Just mak' a note on it, parson."

"But surely," protested the vicar, "you'll never postpone the wedding for twenty-four hours"—

"Aw'd postpone it for twenty-four year if necessary," came the firm reply. "You've allus done this job for me, an' you allus will as long as Aw live."

Then the vicar remembered that the old fellow had been three times previously married.

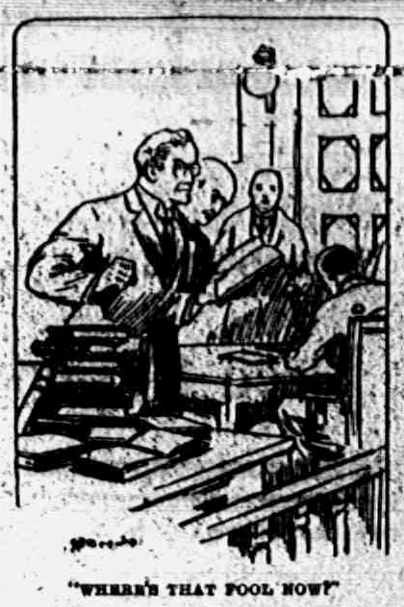
AN UNANSWERED QUESTION.

The Lawyer Who Asked It Was Willing to Forego Any Reply.

There is a judge on the circuit bench who hears testimony and listens to arguments after any manner he chooses. Sometimes he does a marathon around the courtroom, at other times he takes a flier out into the corridor, and again he goes into his chambers.

A certain eminent legal light wasn't on to all these curves, and he was trying an important case before the wandering judge. There was a most interesting point of law involved, and the lawyer came up well prepared to drive his argument home. The books were piled on a table in front of him.



"WHERE'S THAT FOOL NOW?"

The jurist had been sitting on the bench at the outset, and the attorney had reached the point where he wished to make the court realize the import of the matter by reading from United States supreme court decisions. He leaned over the table and hurried through the tome to where he wished to read.

Looking up, the lawyer discovered the seat on the bench was vacant. He gazed into space for a second, then asked right out loud:

"Where's that infernal fool gone now?"

And then he looked around, and there was the judge directly behind him, peering into the lawbook from which [illegible] wished to read.—Case and Comment.

Best Way to Look at Life.

Make the most and best of your lot and compare yourself not with the few that are above you, but with the multitude which are below you.—Samuel Johnson.

Getting Full Value.

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, the pianist, tells the story of a pupil who came to Harold Bauer and asked his terms for lessons. After the fourth lesson he said to her:

"Why, madame, do you always bring rhapsodies, etudes, swift music? Why not a quiet number, something that shows your phrasing—some andante?"

"Mr. Bauer," replied the pupil, "your lessons are too expensive—I can't afford to play the slow music."

THOSE SKEETS!

Why We Must Take Care of Castoff Tin Cans.

In connection with one health department campaign for the elimination of the mosquito it has been suggested that every housewife should punch a hole in the bottom of a tin can after the contents have been removed and before throwing it into the rubbish heap. The family tack hammer or ice pick may be used satisfactorily to punch the hole. In the opinion of one expert this practice would prevent lots of mosquito breeding which is now going on in empty tin cans, which collect stagnant water.

It is stated on authority that a tin can half filled with stagnant water will easily breed over 200 mosquitoes. Old bottles and broken crockery are also a prolific source of mosquito breeding.

In many towns and cities the small boys have been put at the task of punching holes in all discarded tin cans in back yards and vacant lots and smashing all old bottles and broken crockery found on the rubbish heap.

BRITTLE FINGER NAILS.

How to Care For Your Finger Nails So They Will Not Break Off.

The best remedy for brittle nails is oil, and plenty of it. Soak the finger tips for five or ten minutes every night in warmed sweet almond oil.

When the surface of the nail shows ridges and there is a general appearance of coarseness apply grease about the edges whenever possible. Cleanse the nails with grease instead of using soap or nailbrush. It will produce a satinlike appearance and the tinge of pink that is so desirable.

Many women use cold cream about their nails, but vaseline is better. After soaking the finger tips in the almond oil take an orange stick and fill the cuticle with vaseline. The superfluous grease may be removed with a piece of chamois or absorbent cotton.

Kitchener's Way.

It happened some years ago. London. Regent street where it turns a semicircle. Two gamins are fighting. A crowd. No interference. We hesitate. We know how the Londoner loves his fight in or out of the fight. One boy is some twenty pounds heavier than the other. And two inches taller. A woman shrieks, "Why doesn't some one stop it?" It goes on. Then comes a tall man, top hatted, heavy stick, morning coat, a sort of squint in his eye. He brushes us all aside. Drops stick. Has a boy in each hand. "Learn to fight for each other, not against each other," said Lord Kitchener as he walked away.—London Mail.

Most and Least.

Fred was told that if he were to take the castor oil without complaint he would get 5 cents to spend for candy. Then his mother sent him to the corner drug store with 15 cents—10 cents for the oil and 5 cents for the candy.

Arriving at the drug store Fred decided to buy the sweetmeats first and told the clerk that he wanted a nickel's worth of candy.

"What kind of candy do you want?" asked the clerk.

"Gimme the kind you get the most for a nickel," answered Fred.

The clerk complied, and Fred said rather reluctantly:

"Now gimme some castor oil, I want the kind you get the least for a dime."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

HER FIRST DINNER PARTY.

And Why She Didn't Know Just What to Say to the Cook.

They had been married only three months, and it was their first dinner party, consequently they were both a little flurried when the time drew near for the guests to arrive. She had arranged the table herself and stood surveying the effect.

"Do you think everything will go well, dearie?" she asked for the umtieth time.

"Of course. Why shouldn't it? I'm really sorry for the fellows who are not married. They have to give their dinners in restaurants."

"Oh, how [illegible], dearie," she gurgled. "And I'm really sorry for the poor girls who have no nice husbands."

She wandered around awhile, then stood still and listened.

"Hush! There's a carriage."

And they hustled into the living room. But the carriage rolled on. He looked at his watch. It was 7.

"How foolish of us! Of course no one would dream of coming before the half hour," she said. "You know, lovey, one always says half an hour before the real dinner hour."

Half an hour passed. Not a soul put in an appearance. The clock struck 8. The bride burst into tears.

"I've never been so insulted in my life. My friends always accepted my invitations before I was married."

"So did mine, even if I did have to invite them to restaurants."

"I shall go home to mother, and you can go to your old restaurants as much as you please."

"Oh, don't let me keep you."

She rushed into her bedroom and began piling her pretty things pellmell into a suitcase. Then she gave a cry. Her eye fell on a heap of white envelopes in the corner of a drawer.

"Husband!" she called out in a tragic voice. "Here are all the invitations. I forgot to mail them."

They looked at one another for a moment; then he opened his arms and she fell into them. The blissful moment of reconciliation was interrupted by a voice from the kitchen, "Would yez be havin' any dinner tonight?"

"Oh," the bride cried, "what am I going to say to cook?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Criticise Yourself.

[illegible] of others and more thorough criticism of ourselves would have a tendency to make us lenient to and sympathetic with the faults and follies of others.

Enough to Do Already.

Little Mary had frequently been scolded by her mother for tying her sled on sleighs and had promised to reform. One day her mother saw her going past with her sled tied to a bob. She called her in and told her how dangerous it was and also that the law did not allow it.

"Don't talk to me about law," said Mary. "I have all I can do to keep the Ten Commandments."

Found the Word.

The late Thomas Lowry of Minneapolis was a great wit and a great story teller as well as a great financier. He needed $1,000,000 one time for one of his railroad enterprises, and he went to New York to get it. On the morning of his arrival a friend met him at the hotel and asked, "What are you doing, Tom?"

"I am going downtown to get $1,000,000."

"Can you do it?"

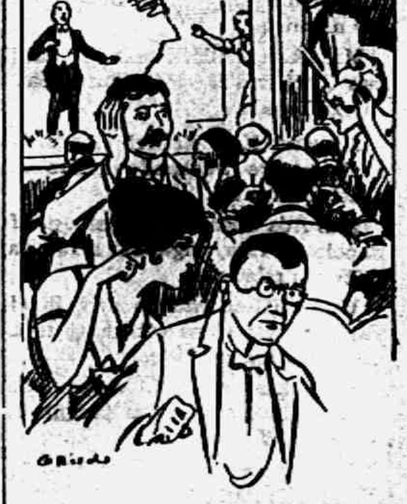
"My boy," said Lowry impressively, "in the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as fail."

That night Lowry came back to his hotel after a hard day. The same friend met him. "Did you get the million?" he asked.

"No," replied Lowry, "I didn't. I opened that bright lexicon of youth, and the word was in it."

Wanted Back Action.

After many efforts the aspiring singer had managed to get permission to give a trial performance at the local music hall. The house was full, and he warbled in his sweetest tones. Everything seemed roseate until suddenly a hoarse voice came from the side of the stage



"HERE, YOU, COME OFF!"

"Here, you, come off!" ordered the stage manager. "Can't you see you're emptying the house?"

"Er—I don't seem to be a success, then?" said the amateur timorously.

"Success! Huh!" snorted the manager angrily. "At clearing them out you're the most successful chap I ever met. Now, for goodness' sake, go and sing outside and drive 'em in again!"—London Tit-Bits.

How It Is Done.

"Dear Sir—Will you kindly publish directions for tying a bow tie? Roger Coot."

Well, Roger, you hold the tie in your left hand and your collar in the other. Slip your neck in the collar and cross the left hand end of the tie over the right with the left hand, steadying the right end with the other hand. Then drop both hands, catching the left with the right and the other with the other. Reverse hands and pick up the loose end with the nearest hand. Pull this end through the loop with your unengaged hand and squeeze. You will find the knot all tied, and all you have to do is to untangle your hands.—Dartmouth Jack-o'-Lantern.

PATRIOTISM.

Never let patriotism die. There is no greater sign of a general decay of virtue in a nation than a want of zeal in its inhabitants for the good of their country.—Addison.

RUSS WIN GREAT BALKAN SUSCESS

Petrograd Reports 2,000 Captured at Dobruja

GREECE AFLAME WITH REVOLT

Venizelos on Way to Saloniki to Join Allies—Crete, Former Premier's Birthplace, Declares Independence—Entente Wins in Macedonia—Russians Take Strong Position.

PETROGRAD — A great Russian success is reported in the Dobrudja. Two thousand prisoners are said to have been captured.

LONDON, ENG. — The unrest which for weeks has been smoldering in Greece has at last burst into flame and a series of startling developments is reported in dispatches.

Having apparently failed in his utmost efforts to influence King Constantine in favor of hostilities against the central empires, former Premier Venizelos, the allies' "strong man" in Greece, has left Athens for Saloniki, and, it is reported, will head the growing revolutionary movement in Macedonia and Crete.

Venizelos Expected at Crete.

The departure of Venizelos from Constantine's capital is reported in dispatches to the Star and the Reuter agency. He is expected to visit Crete either on his journey to Saloniki or to go from the latter port to the island. All crete is in rebellion. Thirty thousand armed revolutionists [illegible] the cities of Canea, capital; Heraclion and other coast towns. The government buildings in Canea have been seized and the governmental representatives expelled.

Will Head Revolution.

Accompanying Venizelos on his journey from Athens are Rear Admiral Condouriotis, commander-in-chief of the navy, and officers of his staff as well as sixty-nine of the eighty members of the king's famous Cretan guard. Only eleven of this royal troop remained loyal. Venizelos, a Cretan by birth, is generally expected to assume the leadership of the revolution. The king's summer palace at Tatoi is being guarded by 6,000 loyal troops. The king is reported in ill health and confined to his bed.

The Daily Telegraph has received a dispatch from its correspondent at Athens, G. J. Stevens, declaring that Venizelos has agreed to lead the revolutionary movement. This is not confirmed from any other source, but in view of the developments of the last few weeks in Greek politics is generally accepted as true. No more than a week ago Venizelos was questioned as to his intentions, but refused to commit himself at that time, still having hope, it is believed, that his determined stand would influence the government to submit to his demands. He said he would wait a brief period until the government had reached a decision.

Allies Demand Friendly Ministry.

The Greek government is reported devoting its entire energy in an effort to learn from the entente representatives at Athens what cabinet changes will be necessary to mollify the entente and allow negotiations to continue with more smoothness. The allies are said to have replied to this that the unacceptable members of the cabinet are well aware of the position in which they stand and that if Greece means what she says she will remove these ministers without further ado.

Meanwhile the Greek newspapers, including the recognized government organs, are demanding drastic reprisals against Bulgaria for the action of that nation in holding prisoner Greek soldiers and invading Greek territory.

Allies Win in Macedonia.

PARIS — Russian troops on the western end of the Macedonian front have taken the offensive. The war office announces that they captured Hill 916, west of Florina, which had been fortified strongly by the Bulgarians. A Bulgarian counter attack was checked by French and Russian artillery and bayonets. French artillery fire caused an outbreak of flames in Doiran, and French troops made progress on their left wing. On the Broda river Serbian troops reached the frontier, and French infantry made a slight advance to the north of Florina.

British troops, continuing their successes on the east bank of the River Struma, made a successful attack on Janinah. The French captured a trench on the west bank of the Struma.

French Win Over Fifteen Miles of Foe's Defenses.

BRITISH GAIN EQUALLY GREAT

Combles Is Completely Invested. Britons Penetrate Teuton Positions for Depth of Over Mile on Six Mile Front—Many Prisoners and Supplies Are Captured.

PARIS, FRANCE—The French made another smashing inroad into fifteen miles of the German lines on the Somme front, and the important base of Combles is practically surrounded.

The town of Rancourt was captured and Regicourt was entered. They lie east and northeast of Combles respectively. The attack swept the French more than half a mile east of the road from Rancourt to Peronne.

The assault came after three days and nights of incessant bombardment of the German trenches, miles of which were shredded into shapeless masses of pulverized earth.

British Gain on Six Mile Front.

LONDON, ENG.—British headquarters report:

South of the Ancre the British attacked and everywhere were successful between Combles and Martinpuich to a depth of more than a mile. The strongly fortified villages of Morvak and LesBoeufs, together with several lines of trenches have fallen into British hands.

The village of Merval stands on the heights north of Combles and with its subterranean quarries, trenches and wire entanglements constituted a formidable fortress. Possession of these villages is of considerable military importance and practically covers the German communications with Combles.

A large number of prisoners, machine guns and war material was taken and heavy losse were inflicted on the enemy.

In comparison with the results achieved the British report claims their losses are comparatively small.

Sunday six German aeroplanes were destroyed in air fights and at least three others were brought down in damaged condition. Three British machines are missing.

A Useful Eyewash.

If the eyelids are red or gritty or the eyes burn and sting as if filled with dust and fire, wash them with a cold solution of boric acid. If the eyes ache and they are dull and heavy looking, wash them three times a day with the lotion. After being exposed to strong sunlight or after driving in a cutting wind the lotion will soothe and relieve every bit of the distressed feeling in the eyes. Carry a bottle of boric acid eye lotion on a journey too. It heals the sore and scratchy feeling in the eyes caused by traveling on trains and will wash out an offending cinder from the eye. The timely use of an eyewash prevents serious trouble.

Britain has grown abroad to seventy-eight times her area at home.

MRS. GELATT'S DEATH PUZZLES HER FATHER

Dr. Hoktoen Says, "I Can Not Understand It".

CHICAGO, ILL. — Dr. and Mrs. Ludwig Hoktoen, parents of Mrs. Arthur A. Gelatt, whose body, with that of her daughter, was found in their home at Madison, Wis., has arrived there.

"I cannot understand it," said the father. "I had no intimation that Aikyn and her husband were not congenial. The last I heard from her she was happy over the fact that they were getting settled in their new home and that the baby was learning to walk. I am fond of Arthur Gelatt. He was a splendid boy and a brilliant student. He has a great future and we do not want to do anything which will in any way interfere with him. I can understand why he does not want to appear at this time. Just what the trouble was I do not know."

A letter from the husband indicated that Gelatt and his wife had a quarrel Sept. 2. The letter indicated that Mrs. Gelatt grabbed a loaded revolver during the quarrel and was prevented from using it by the quick action of her husband. His subsequent absence is taken as an indication that he was fearful of being placed in an incriminating position if his wife carried out her threats to kill herself.

BEVERIDGE ASSAILS WILSON

Course of President in 8-Hour Controversy Attacked.

BOSTON, MASS.—Former Senator Beveridge of Indiana opened the Republican campaign at the Middlesex club here, and was greeted with a large and enthusiastic crowd. Mr. Beveridge drew many former Progressives, he being the Progressive candidate for governor and U. S. Senator in Indiana and 1912 and 1914.

Beveridge's speech was devoted to criticism of President Wilson's course on the eight-hour rail controversy. He concluded "the fight now is against the government of terrorism which has usurped the functions of the representatives of the people; and we must wage that warfare until all men understand once for all that no power within the Republic is greater than the Republic itself: and that no threat of any kind, or from any quarter, can overawe the government of the American nation."

The Restaurant Bluffer.

"Of all the bluffers one meets socially and in business, and their name is legion," remarked a minor cynic, "none amuses me more than the restaurant bluffer. This brand is numerous. I met one today, and his embarrassment was ludicrous.

"This chap, you know, is a living lie. He lodges in a rather high priced house, but occupies a cheap little room up under the roof, to which he is careful not to invite any acquaintance. He's an underclerk somewhere, but talks familiarly of high finance. He pretends to be on friendly terms with influential men who wouldn't know him from Adam.

"Several evenings ago he was impressing me with the frequency with which he lunches at one or two places famous in the Wall street section. When I met him today bending over coffee and rolls in a place where his check was 10 cents you should have seen his face. It was a study.

"Of course I wasn't surprised, but he was. I enjoyed the encounter, but he didn't."—New York Globe.

Spies In Revolutionary Days.

A curious and unfamiliar page in American history shows that the treatment of the spy in Revolutionary days was painfully prompt and rigorous. Every American schoolboy knows the fate of Major Andre, but few know of any others, with perhaps the exception of Nathan Hale, executed by the British as a spy. In the second year of our Revolutionary war General Israel Putnam caught a man lurking about his post at Peekskill, on the Hudson. A flag of truce came from Sir Henry Clinton, claiming the prisoner as Lieutenant Palmer of the British service. The answer of the stout old general was brief and to the point:

> Headquarters, Aug. 7, 1777.
>
> Edmund Palmer, an officer in the enemy's service, was taken as a spy lurking within our lines. He has been tried as a spy, condemned as a spy and shall be executed as a spy, and the flag is ordered to depart immediately.
>
> ISRAEL PUTNAM.
>
> P. S.—He has accordingly been executed.

Noise and Hearing.

There are two distinct meanings to the word "sound"—one the sensation produced in the brain, the other the external vibration which produces the sensation. The physical cause may exist where there is no ear; the sensation cannot exist unless there is an ear to hear it. Suppose two men—one totally deaf, the other with a normal sense of hearing—are in the same closed room in which a third man beats upon a piece of iron with a hammer. Is there no physical vibration because the deaf man cannot hear it? The sensation may be ear splitting to the one and totally nonexistent to the other. The same vibrations beat through the air. The same sound exists in the room, but the sensation exists for only one of the men.—Philadelphia Press.

The "Bad News" Bell at Lloyd's.

The bell of the British frigate Lutine, which sank off the Dutch coast in 1799 with a cargo of coin and specie valued at $6,000,000, is the "bad news" bell at Lloyd's. Whenever news is received that a ship is overdue or when definite news comes of the loss of a ship the bell is rung by the "caller." At its tolling all transactions are suspended until the news it heralds is read.—London Mirror.

We often hear some one say "What's the matter with Tecumseh," "Why don't it grow," "Tecumseh has gone to sleep and it needs something to wake it up," etc.

Now we don't feel that there is much of anything the matter with Tecumseh. We have one of the finest towns in the country. The fault is not with Tecumseh, for surely Tecumseh is as up to-date as any town of its size in the state.

The fault is not in ur town, but in the people who live here.

A short time ago a fellow townsman returned from a western trip and made the following statement in our hearing that left its impression with us. "If Michigan would push Michigan as California pushs and advertises California we would have people flocking to Michigan as they are no wflocking to California."

There is a good deal in the above statement. What we want here in about our town say something good Tecumseh is every person a booster for Tcumseh. If you say anything about our town say something good. and keep continually at it. Advertise Tecumseh.

Successful industries to-day are advertising their business and are [illegible] Thy don't like to spend their money any more than we do but they see where spending thousands of dollars in advertising will pay large returns of the investmnet.

We don't have to spend a fortune in advertising Tecumseh but if money were spent in the right way it would, in our opinion bring our town good returns on the investment.

The last season our merchants put on a Bargain Day campaign to last during the summer. It did not cost much money but it did cost a bunch of hustlers a good deal of time, but the result was mighty wholesome as far as our town is concerned as it wouldn't have come here if they out of the ordinary. It was a decided boost for Tecumseh

There are a great many people living in our town who never have a good word to say for it, others who never express themselves one way or the other and a few who are always saving something good. Now if every one would get behind the town and boost don't you think its influence would be felt?

Tecumseh doesn't grow. Is there a town in Lenawee County that's shown any noticeable growth in the last 10 years? If there is we haven't heard of it. More factories. We surely would like to see more factories come to our town, but if they are brought here it will mean that our people will have to do more than just wish for them. It's action and money well spent and not wishing for them, that bring factories and industries to a town.

Our Commerce club have had many chances to consider industries for our town and a good many have been considered, but for lack of backing and other reasons they have fallen through

We would like to see a Commerce club in Tecumseh made up not alone of business men, but of every citizen who has the interest of this town at heart, people with ideas and willing to devote time to pushing their town, a Commerce Club full of action with frequent meetings and an active head If the interest was here there would be no question about collecting the dues and meetings would be full of interest and their results telling.

This is only one avenue through which our town might benefit. But wouldn't it help to get our people boosting instead of saying nothing and letting just a handful of people do it all? "Oh! Tecumseh is a dead one and you can't start anything here." You can start something and the outside world would know that Tecumseh was on the map. (The Biggest Little Town on Earth,) if all of our people would get behind the movement and boost for our town.

Our Bargain days were heard of all over the country and it had a good effect. It can be done if everyone will only do his or her part.

A dozen new families brought into our town would pay for a lot of advertising. Try it. Let's hear from others along this line.

Poison Rings.

To speak of poison rings at once conjures up thoughts of Lucrezia Borgia and her gentle methods of eliminating those of her entourage whom she considered undesirable, but these rings were used by several far greater though less notorious than she. Hannibal killed himself by means of a poison ring. Demosthenes possessed one, and it is recorded by Pliny that when Crassus had stolen his treasure from beneath the throne of Capitoline Jupiter the guardian of the shrine "broke the gem of his ring in his mouth and forthwith died." Those who have seen a poison ring will have noticed how the fatal scratch could be inflicted while shaking hands.—London Globe.

A Bit of New York Life.

It is often little things that show most impressively the size of a city. During the last six months the people who used the subways in New York city carried into them on their feet 1,500 tons of dirt, an amount greater than even the most pessimistic farmer's wife would accuse the hired man of "tracking in" during plowing time.—Youth's Companion.

Cheap Coal

We honestly believe our RED BAND Coal is better than any coal we have ever sold. We really believe you will agree with us after you try some.

To illustrate, the average farmer for threshing wants good cheap coal. Many buy RED BAND year after year, because it is the cheapest in the end as it goes so much farther.

You will find the same experience in your home as the farmer does.

It comes in two sizes, Egg for cook stoves and Lump for heating stoves. The price per ton are Egg $5.00, Lump $5.50. If not delivered 50c per ton less.

Please do not get this coal confused with the other kinds, as there is only one RED BAND and that is sold only by

AN EDITORIAL

Through the persistent efforts of the local management of the Bradley, Tecumseh theatre goers will have an opportunity of seeing one of Cohan & Harris' mammoth road attractions. Cohan & Harris are considered the largest producing company in the theatrical business having some of the largest and best attractions on the road and very seldom consider a town of less than 5000 popultaion, they can't afford to, but Mr. Marks has finally induced them to book one of their best attractions here and they are giving us one of their very best for a starter, namely "It Pays to Advertise."

"It Pays to Advertise" is considered the best comedy on the road this season. Ask anyone who has seen it. It's a scream from start to finish and played by a cast of the very best artists out of New York city.

Cohan & Harris are sending the company with a complete scenic production and a car load of special furniture. The local theatre furnishes nothing, not even the stage carpet.

This is by far one of the best things theatrical ever coming to Tecumseh, let everyone do their share to make it a success. Let's boost Tecumseh, to get the best theatrical attractions, Tecumseh must have the fact advertised that it supported a good attraction. This opportunity comes next Thursday, October 5th, when "It Pays to Advertise" will be presented at the Bradley. Don't lets 'set back' and let Clinton, Britton, Manchester nd several of the surrounding towns make up the greater part of the audience but when the seat sale opens at Hay's next Wednesday morning go down and get your seats. Show the local management and Cohan & Harris that you appreciate their efforts and want these big attractions in Tecumseh and is supported by Tecumseh people.

Again we say "Boost Tecumseh." This is the first Cohan & Harris attraction ever booked into Tecumseh, the firm that has never yet disappointed the American people. Let's give them a capacity house and thereby guarantee more of their big attractions for Tecumseh. Buy your seats now—you can't go wrong. Ask anyone who saw it in Adrian last year.

By special arrangements between Mr. Hier, business manager for Cohan & Harris, and Mr. Mark you can order seats by 'phoneing Mr. Mark now, his 'phone number is 365, in that way reservations can be made which will assure you of your choice of seats.

RAMONA

The wonderful picture play of Ramona was presented at the Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, with a matinee Wednesday afternoon. It has fitly been called "the sweetest love story ever told," and those who have read the book from which it has been dramatized cannot fail to appreciate the wonderful production.

It is the tragic story of the American Indians fate, and as we follow the pictured story, from scene to scene, we have a more realizing sense of the abuses that the Indian has suffered from the white man.

The story of Ramona from her birth in the Indian lodge to the final happy caluination in the home with Felipe is replete with intercost, so much of sadness mingled with her joy.

The play was in three acts and held ones close attention for 2½ hours. The music was unusually fine.

There was a good crowd out Tuesday night, but owing to the heavy rain Wednesday, the audience was small

The matinee Wednesday afternoon was well attended, many of the school children being present. If this is a sample of what Ed has in store for Tecumseh this winter, theater goers will have no reason to complain.

"Only 'Gets-It' for Me After This!"

It "Gets" Every Corn Every Time. Painless. Nothing More Simple.

"I'll tell you what, I've quit using toe-eating salves for corns, I've quit making a package out of my toes with bandages and contraptions—quit digging with knives and scissors. Give me 'GETS-IT' every time!"

When You See These Pretty Girls in Your Druggist's Window It's a Good Time To End Your Corns.

That's what they all say the very first time they use "GETS-IT." It's because "GETS-IT" is so simple and easy to use—put it on in a few seconds—because there is no work or corn-fooling to do, no pain that shoots up to your heart. It gets your corns off your mind. All the time it's working—and then, that little old corn peels right off, leaves the clean, corn-free skin underneath—and your corn is gone! No wonder millions prefer "GETS-IT." Try it tonight. "GETS-IT" is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Tecumseh and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by B. J. Pulver. adv.

HOW TO CLEANSE AND CARE FOR A WOUND WITHOUT A DOCTOR.—In cleansing any wound the final washing should be with boiled water that has been cooled. Boiling kills any germs that may be in the water, so that when the germ carrying dirt has been washed away the boiled water will leave no other germs in its place. Boiled bandages are best too. Of course they cannot be boiled as wanted every time, so it is a wise plan to boil some pieces of old tablecloth and roll them up ready for use. In case of sudden emergencies when dry bandages must be applied and there are no boiled ones at hand put a piece of old linen or other clean white cloth on a plate and bake it in a hot oven for ten minutes. The oven must not be hot enough to scorch the cloth.

Mothers who remain in the city ought not depend upon the drug store too much, either. It is equally wise for them to be prepared for accidents. There is so much refuse left in vacant lots, such as broken china and tin cans, on which a child may cut himself, or a fall on the pavement may grind dirt into hands and knees. It is the part of wisdom to keep a solution of boric acid in the house and use it to bathe the infected parts, using one tablespoonful of the liquid to a glassful of boiled water.

While a broken skin is one chief factor in infection, there are other ways for children to get germs and dirt into their systems. These cannot be reached by antiseptics. They must be prevented by teaching children to form clean habits.

Not Good Enough.

Some people say that things that were good enough for their fathers and their grandfathers are good enough for them. They are not! This is an age of progress. It is well enough to have ancestors, but it is greater to be an ancestor. It is better to be like the best of your grandchildren will be than like your grandfather was.—Shailer Mathews at Chautauqua.

An Englishman has developed a method for growing lawn grass on such a foundation that it can be handled as a carpet or rug.

HOW To Buy and Plant Choice Bulbs For Winter

WHEN you are buying bulbs get the best ones, and after you have mastered the growth and care of one sort set out to learn about another sort.

The Chinese lily bulb is the easiest and most satisfactory to grow.

A lover of greens and flowers who has ivy at her windows is a past mistress of the art of growing Chinese lilies. She says it is no art she says she "simply sticks one of the bulbs into the water every week or so" until all the available dishes throughout the house are filled.

It is said that nothing but drafts hurts these bulbs, and drafts kill them. The best way to grow them is to leave them in a cool, semidark room until the roots are well formed and the green growth has started. Then take them into the light and give them sun when they are about to bloom.

They can be planted in stones covered with water, or they can be planted in the prepared fiber sold by some of the seedmen. A little sand in the bottom of a dish of stones and water in which they are to grow is advantageous to the lilies, and a tiny piece of charcoal in the water keeps it sweet.

If you would have the best success with Chinese lily bulbs get the best you can find and pay for. They may be had in packages of fifty, imported in that shape from China, and these are usually satisfactory. The flowers are already formed in the bulbs when you buy them, and unless flowers are there you cannot make them bloom. Therefore pay for good bulbs if you would have free flowers.

Geraniums, marguerites and begonias are perhaps the most satisfactory of all house plants. Geraniums and begonias give flowers for eight or nine months. The marguerite has a flowering period of only three or four months, but these months of beauty make it worth cultivating.

All these plants can be raised from cuttings. The marguerite cuttings should be planted in a soil light with plenty of good leaf mold. Begonias and geraniums thrive in a rich soil—the richer the better.

NEW TREES FOR OLD.

Why Saplings Should Be Planted About the House.

Aren't there some promising saplings wasting their good looks in your wood lot that you can find time to dig and plant near the house? Have you an old shade tree that is getting ready to die or a bald spot in the yard with no tree at all? Put in a little one, advises G. B. Hill in the Farm and Home, and you'll find it pays, not only in beauty and sentiment, but in comfort in dog days and in the salability of your place if you ever want to sell.

In moving a tree first dig out a circle as near the size of the crown of the tree as possible, making sure to get all the roots. Leave the sod on; it holds the soil together. Cut all broken roots off smooth.

In setting have the hole deeper than the roots will reach, which insures them a soft place to start. Spread the roots naturally and sift in rich surface soil. The tree must be set no deeper than it stood naturally. This is so important that one person had better hold the tree up while another shovels.

Water the tree if it is planted in its growing season, otherwise not. Heap a mound of dry soil around the base and keep this stirred to prevent caking. Don't let sod form near the tree at first. The best time to transplant is just before growth starts, though the fall or late spring will do. Pick a cloudy day for the work. Prune the top according to the amount you cut off the roots.

REPAIRING FURNITURE.

How to Get Rid of Marks From Dents.

When wood is badly dented or scratched it is often a problem to know how to get rid of the marks. This is quite easy if the following plan, suggested by the Scientific American, is adopted: First of all, fold a piece of blotting paper at least four times; then saturate with water, finally allowing the superfluous moisture to drip away. Now heat a flatiron until it is about the warmth required for laundry work. Place the damp blotting paper over the dent and press firmly with the iron. As soon as the paper dries examine the mark. It will then be found that the cavity has filled up to a surprising extent. Where the dent is very deep a second or even a third application on the lines indicated might be tried. Sooner or later even serious depressions can be drawn up, and most people who have not tried this plan will be surprised at the result of the treatment. Repolishing will clear away even the slight marks that might finally remain.

How to Locate a Storm and Determine Its Distance.

When you see a flash of lightning count the seconds before it thunders and you can tell how far away the storm is. Since light travels 186,000 miles a second we may for all practical purposes regard ourselves as seeing the lightning the instant it flashes. But sound travels only 1,087 feet a second. Multiply 1,087 by the number of seconds during the interval between the flash and the thunder and the result is the distance between you and the storm. As a rule, says the Popular Science Monthly, from twelve to fifteen miles is the greatest distance thunder can be heard.

ENJOY THE PRESENT.

Get all the happiness you can out of the present. There can be no use in thinking of painful past things. They ought always to be forgotten as quickly as possible, for they have a trick of turning the present sour, the one thing we really have in hand. I like to make it as cheerful as possible, like to get, by industrious squeezing, every drop of honey out of it.—Bettina von Arnim.

THE PRECIOUS DAYS.

The days come and go like veiled figures sent from a distant friendly party, but they say nothing, and if we do not use the gifts they bring they carry them as silently away.—Emerson.

LEMBERG DRIVE NETS RUSS GAIN

Slavs Press Foe North and South of Goal.

BERLIN ADMITS CZAR GAINS

In Important Sectors Teutons Were Driven Back—4,000 Prisoners Taken. Drive Continues, Says Petrograd. Berlin Claims That Other Attacks Were Repulsed.

London, Oct. 2.—The two-pronged advance of the Russians on Lemberg is again gathering full headway, and the Austro-German armies of Prince Leopold of Bavaria and Archduke Karl have been pushed back. Both northeast and southeast of the Galician capital the Russians have registered advances, capturing, according to the official report issued in Petrograd, more than 4,000 prisoners. Russian gains are admitted by Berlin.

The two main actions are being waged in the region of the Brody-Krasne railway, about thirty miles northeast of Lemberg, and in the Brezezany sector on the Zleta Lipa river, fifty miles southeast of the city.

In the former district the Russians have pressed forward against heavy resistance, taking about 2,000 prisoners. A Teuton position on the right bank of the Zlota Lipa was carried on the southeastern sector of the advance.

Puts Teutons on Defensive.

This new stroke of General Brusiloff is believed to have been made to forestall the offensive contemplated by Field Marshall von Hindenburg. It puts the Teutons upon a strict defensive in the eastern theater, a following close upon the heels of a tentative attacks by them which are believed to have been the first movement of the contemplated "push."

Russian Statement.

The Russian official statement says:

"In the neighborhood of the Brody-Krasne railway and to the southwards, out troops, by heavy fighting are forcing their way forward, the enemy stubbornly resisting the advance. We have captured here fifty-nine officers and 1,982 men of the rank and file.

"The fighting is turning to our favor to the south of Brzezany, on the River Tseniuvka and in the region of the heights on the right bank of the Zlota Lipa. Here we captured part of the enemy position by assault, taking 112 officers and 2,263 of the rank and file as well as some machine guns. Enemy counter attacks during the night were frustrated by our fire."

2 KILLED IN DRY LAW RAID

Night Marshal in Colorado Shot in Rooming House Trouble.

Fort Morgan, Col., Oct. 2.—Charles Eyser, night marshal, was shot and instantly killed in a raid on a rooming house here shortly before midnight, and Mrs. Godfrey Weymer, wife of the proprietor, was struck by flying bullets and received wounds from which she died soon afterward.

Eyser was seeking violators of the prohibition law. A posse took up the chase for two cowboys who fired the shots.

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Formal control of the Republican state central committee passed from the regular wing of the party to what is known as the united wing when the new committee met here to organize.

Supporters of Governor Hiram W. Johnson were elected to all the offices, and the candidacy of Charles E. Hughes was indorsed.

Fighting Marks Election.

New Orleans, Oct. 2.—Martinez Le Clair, a representative of the liberal party of Nicaragua, telegraphed Secretary Lansing protesting that liberals had been threatened with violence in the present presidential elections. He said fighting already had begun in the streets of Managua.

Missouri Votes Wet or Dry.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 2.—The Missouri supreme court ordered that the proposed constitutional amendment providing for state-wide prohibition be placed on the November ballot.

Peanut Milk.

The synthetic milk from peanuts which is made in Europe is said to have a taste not overpleasant, but to be usable in coffee and other drinks and to cost only half as much as cow's milk. The shelled peanuts are crushed and stirred with powdered starch into distilled water, and the mixture is boiled and filtered. In a couple of hours the liquid has much of the appearance and food qualities of milk. It thickens on standing, but becomes liquid again when stirred.

WOMAN SLAIN IN MOTOR MYSTERY

Body of Apparently Wealthy Victim Found in Bushes.

JEWELRY AND CASH ARE GONE

Tragedy Victim Thought to Have Been a Member of Party Touring in Vicinity of Grand Rapids—Letter Bore "Mrs. Mary Kimball, Elkhart, Ind."

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 2.—The body of a well dressed and apparently wealthy woman, who had been shot twice in the head and robbed, was found in a clump of bushes just outside this city. The only clew to her identity thus far discovered is a letter in her purse addressed to Mrs. Mary Kimball, Elkhart, Ind. The letter was from a daughter at Neepwa, Manitoba, Canada.

The police believe the woman was one of a party of automobile tourists, but whether she was murdered by her own party or whether she was the prisoner of auto bandits or under what circumstances she was killed cannot be determined.

Body in Shrubbery.

The body lay in the midst of a clump of natural shrubbery, which evidently had been used as a picnic grounds by an auto party. Paper plates, tin spoons and other indications of a picnic dinner were scattered about.

The police and deputy sheriffs have covered the country for miles around, but have not succeeded in finding any one who ever saw the woman. They are divided in opinion as to whether she was killed by companions or whether she was shot and robbed elsewhere and the body thrown out of an automobile. Apparently it had lain on the ground for two or three days.

Money in Purse Taken.

The letter was in the woman's purse, which had been rifled of all money. It was not in an envelope, but the envelope was in the purse, with the postmark so blurred, by accident or design, that it cannot be read.

Letter Believed Blind.

Not a penny was left in the purse; nothing but a few toilet articles and the letter. This inclines the police to the belief that the letter may have been placed there to lead them on a false trail, as it would certainly have been taken away or destroyed if the robbers had considered it a means of identification and wanted to baffle the officers.

The woman seems to have been about forty years old, and the condition of her hands and the quality and style of her dress, indicate refinement. No inquiry has been received by the police here regarding any one who disappeared on a trip through this part of the country.

FRENCH AND BRITISH PUSH SOMME GAINS

Allies Extend Positions on Both Sides of River.

London, Oct. 2.—British troops on the Somme front made further gains the war office announces. They captured German positions between Flers and Le Sars and also in the Thiepval area.

In the fighting at close quarters on the Somme front the French pushed forward their lines at some points, it was announced officially by the French war office. Ground was gained in hand grenade encounters southeast of Morval, along the Somme and to the southeast of Clery. There was considerable artillery activity.

SENATOR J. P. CLARKE DEAD

Was President Pro Tem of U. S. Senate When Death Came.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 2.—United States Senator James P. Clarke, president pro tempore of the senate, died after an illness of four days with apoplexy.

Senator Clarke was a Democrat and a resident of Little Rock. He was elected to the United States senate to succeed James K. Jones and took his seat March 9, 1903. The present was his third term. He was elected the president pro tempore of the senate at the beginning of the sixty-third and sixty-fourth congresses. The senator's present term would not have expired until 1921.

U. S. SENATOR CURTIS HURT

Kansan Falls Down Flight of Stairs at Hammond.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 2.—Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, on a spellbinding tour of Indiana, for the Republican party, cut his tour short at Crown Point.

While climbing a thirty foot flight of poorly lighted stairs to the auditorium, Senator Curtis missed his footing and fell down the entire length of stairs. He was not seriously injured but unable to go on with his tour.

Waters Left by the Deluge.

The Desert de Carlitte, in the Pyrenees, close on 10,000 feet above the sea, contains no less than sixty lakes of varying sizes. These, according to local tradition, were left at the time of the flood. When the waters subsided it appears that Noah and his family landed on the Puy de Prigue, one of the highest peaks in the district. Convincing proof of the truth of this tradition is found in an iron ring to which, the peasants declare, the ark was moored when the landing was effected.

LINER PHILADELPHIA RUNS TO PORT AFIRE

Believed Blaze Started at Beginning of Voyage.

New York, Oct. 2.—Racing to port from mid-ocean when flames were discovered in the hold underneath the steerage quarters, the steamship Philadelphia, of the American line, arrived here with the fire still smoldering, the hatches battered down and steam being poured in over the cargo in an effort to prevent the fire from gaining headway again.

Although the fire was not discovered until Thursday morning when the ship was 800 miles from New York, it is believed it had been smoldering since the Philadelphia left Liverpool five days before.

The Philadelphia carried 640 passengers, of whom 343 were in the steerage. It was feared that a panic might result in the steerage if the passengers there learned of the fire and accordingly, when the situation seemed serious they were removed to another part of the vessel.

At times the heat was so great that the pitch in the seams of the deck melted.

MYSTIFIED BY COAL BOOST

Federal Experts See No Reason for the Advance.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Government experts see no economic reason for the present advance in prices of anthracite or bituminous coal.

They are inclined to the belief that "the coal barons" are incited to advance prices in a spirit of reprisal because of federal prosecutions of the anthracite coal-owning railroads to force separation of carriers and mining business, and federal inquiry into the bituminous coal situation to enforce competition in trade.

KENTUCKY MOOSE BAR T. R.

Demand Colonel's Figure Be Eliminated as Emblem—Oppose G. O. P.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 2.—The names of thirteen presidential electors to be voted for in November by Kentucky Progressives have been certified to the secretary of state at Frankfort. The purpose was said to be to keep the party organization intact.

The certificate requested that the figure of Theodore Roosevelt be eliminated as the party emblem and that of a bull moose substituted.

W. Scott Cowan Weds.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Illinois Republicans and the state official circle were surprised to hear that W. Scott Cowen, former state grain inspector, had been married. His bride is Miss Irene Margaret Guion of 2681 Orchard street. She was his secretary when he was secretary of the Republican state committee.

Piano Box Strangles Boy.

Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 2.—Robert Leggett, aged two years, was strangled to death when the lid of a piano box fell on his neck.

PASTORS NOT EXPERT AT MARKING BALLOT

4 Per Cent Spoiled at Methodist Conference Test.

Grand Rapids, Oct. 2.—Every member of the Michigan Methodist conference and in fact every Methodist pastor in Michigan, will take up in their churches at once organized political work for statewide prohibition as the result of a specified ruling made by Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, of Detroit, now head of the conference.

The ruling of the Bishop says:

"Every preacher is to make the prayer meeting preceding the election a school of instruction.

"Every preacher is commissioned to make every church a school of instruction for the election on statewide prohibition and the home rule amendment."

In order that every member of the conference might know how to mark the ballots on election day, each member was required to vote in the lobby. The result of a count showed that the instruction was needed. The ballots spoiled on the state-wide prohibition vote were 4.4 per cent and 3.6 per cent of them were spoiled on the home rule amendment. Five ballots were marked "wet." The assumption is that it was a mistake in marking.

SAVES TOTS FROM FIRE

Father of Kent Youngsters Carries Three From Home.

Grand Rapids, Oct. 2.—With his clothes aflame, W. A. Steelmaker, nearly exhausted, staggered from his burning home, two miles south of Grand Rapids late in the night, carrying the last of his three children to safety.

The first two youngsters were taken out without trouble.

Find Manistee Captain's Wife in Lake.

Manistee, Oct. 2.—The body of Mrs. J. T. Johnson, thirty-nine years old, who has been missing since September 7, was found twenty miles northeast of Milwaukee, in Lake Michigan, by the captain of a fishing tug. The suicide theory is given credence. Mrs. Johnson was the wife of captain Johnson, one of the well known men of local marine circles.

GREECE'S DECISION IS EXPECTED HOURLY

King Said to Have Set Hour for Entering War.

London, Oct. 2.—Definite statement of Greece's decision to join the war and the immediate formation of a war ministry in which probably will be included former Premier Venizelos, are possible within a few hours, according to dispatches from Athens. King Constantine, despite allegations of the revolutionaries that he is only playing against the clock, is authoritatively reported to have reached a decision for war on the side of the allies and the day is set for the monarch's announcement of this decision to the entente representatives at Athens.

Meanwhile the revolution is spreading. There is reported to have been serious rioting on Zante, a Greek island, between loyal reservists and Venizelists. At Athens the French minister supplied a guard to a number of Greeks who desired to join the revolutionists at Saloniki. Under the arms of this escort they walked through the streets of the capital to the landing stage, where they boarded a steamer for Saloniki.

GEN. PENNYPACKER IS DEAD

Youngest Man to Become Brigadier General During Civil War.

Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—General Galusha Pennypacker, U. S. A., retired, died in the Jefferson hospital from a complication of diseases which were the outcome of the many wounds received in the civil war. He was seventy-two years.

General Pennypacker, who was the youngest officer in all the Union and Confederate armies to win the rank of brigadier general, was a cousin of Samuel W. Pennypacker, former governor of Pennsylvania, who died about a month ago.

HOW

To Make a Huge Success Of Your Life Work

GENERAL CHARLES H. TAYLOR of Boston is one of the most widely known newspaper men in the country and popular everywhere, is especially esteemed among those in the newspaper business. The Boston Globe, which he built up from obscurity to be one of the greatest newspapers of the country, is conclusive proof that he knows what success is. He is especially fitted with evidence and by nature to talk on that subject and a recent address of his on "The True Secret of Success" deserves as wide a reading as possible. It is full of sense and of encouragement. The Courant takes the occasion to publish a brief extract from it as a choice sample of a delightful paper. We should like to see it in every paper in the country:

"The best rule for success in life is to do a little more than is expected of you in any position that you may secure. The boy or man who does more than is expected of him and is anxious for his employer's progress will never get mislaid in the smallest office or the largest establishment. The people who do not succeed are those who begin at noon to watch the clock so that they will be certain to be all ready to rush out of the building at 5 o'clock or whatever the hour for closing may be. The people who are afraid they will do more work than they are paid for will never be paid for more than they do. Unsuccessful people in this world think that those who have succeeded have had luck. There may be something in luck, but the man who sits down and waits for it to come to him will starve. If there is any luck the man who is courageous and ambitious and industrious will be sure to find it.

"Some years ago Senator John James Ingalls of Kansas wrote a poem called 'Opportunity.' His theory was that Opportunity knocked at your door but once. His poem is one of the most beautiful in the English language, but his theory is all wrong. The persons who have the microbes of ambition and industry do not wait for Opportunity to knock at the door, but have the door wide open and are out on the side walk or in the street hunting for Opportunity, and it is not difficult to find it. Do not wait for Opportunity to knock if you wish for success."

MARKING FISHING SPOTS.

How to Recall the Places and Properly Locate Them.

A. Hamilton, Jr., writes for the New York Sun on how to mark good fishing spots as follows:

"It is necessary for the successful fisherman to mark the good fishing spots, and it is a simple matter.

"The first thing a civil engineer is taught is to tie his survey to something permanent. Of what use would a deed be setting forth the boundaries of a piece of property if it did not have a permanent point of beginning?

"If you are fishing in a body of water with land on all sides it only becomes necessary to look in four directions—first north and then take some object due north of your fishing spot and remember it, such as a big tree, smokestack or building.

"Then look due east and fix upon another object and your fishing spot will be at the intersection of imaginary lines drawn from both those points.

"If you desire to be doubly sure you can site on objects due south and west, but any two objects ninety degrees apart will be sufficient to fix a point.

"It is assumed that you are seated in a boat directly over the spot you wish to mark; hence it is easy to take 'shots' due east and south or north and west. Any two are sufficient."

CARE OF AUTO TIRES.

How They Should Be Treated to Conserve Their Life.

Buy a tire tester. It will cost about $1.

To prevent rim cutting and broken down fabric keep tires inflated to the following pressure: Three inch tire, 60 pounds; three and one-half inch, 70 pounds; four inch, 80 pounds; four and one-half inch, 90 pounds; five inch, 100 pounds.

Seal all cuts in rubber either with a preparation made for the purpose or by vulcanization. This is important to prevent moisture and sand from reaching the fabric.

When not in use keep tires in a cool, dark place.

Do not start or stop the car suddenly.

Do not turn corners at high speed.

Be sure the front wheels are parallel.

Do not allow oil to get on the tires.

Do not use too much or too little talc in the tires. Too little causes the tubes to stick, while too much causes a gradual accumulation into a solid lump, which is a frequent cause of a puncture.

Do not put a tire on a rusted rim.

Why United States Marines Suffer Little From Foot Troubles.

That United States marines suffer little from foot troubles on long hikes in the tropics is attributed to the fact that they invariably sprinkle soap powder into their shoes or soap their stockings just prior to the march, according to a naval surgeon just returned from Haiti.

In the Haitian campaign the United States marines were sometimes forced to march thirty or more miles a day over rough mountainous roads, and the cases of blistering or painful swelling of the feet were almost negligible.

"She's been my wife since yesterday morning"—Scene from the best comedy ever written "It Pays To Advertise" which Cohan & Harris' will present at the Bradley Opera House, next week Thursday, October 5th. One of the biggest and best attractions yet appearing in Tecumseh.

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE" COMES TO THE BRADLEY NEXT THURSDAY, OCT. 5

If you want to be thoroughly entertained and made to forget your troubles, your pet corn and the weather report, take a night off when it comes this way and see Cohan & Harris' latest laugh promoter, "It Pays to Advertis."

"It Pays to Advertise" really needs no boosting, for it advertises itself, being one of the brightest, most enjoyable plays produced in many seasons. It is not a "high brow" play. It is just a sweet, clean comedy of the farce variety that every one can understand and appreciate. Wittily written and excellently acted, with enough romance to make it attractive to the sentimentalloving portion of an audience—and which of us is not interested in a lover?—especially if we can laugh with him and at him.

"It Pays to Advertise" was written by Roi Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett who have told a succinctly delicious story into which is woven love, laughter and the philosophy of advertising that teaches a lesson and points the way to big activities in the business world at one and the same time.

The story of the play has to do with the idle son of a rich man, who, goaded into an active business career by his fond father, starts an advertising campaign that creates a sensation in the commercial world that astonished no one more than the young man himself. Few theatrical offerings of recent seasons have furnished so good an evening's entertainment. Primarily, the farce is funny—not merely funny, but exceedingly funny—and also it is clean and wholesome.

For many, many moons there has existed in the domain of theatricals a mythical figure known as "the tired business man." The tired business man, according to all traditions, is the acme, of carping criticism, a most difficult person to please and at the same time one whose amusement must be of the lightest order.

There is no adequate reason for this presumption save time honored custom, and this custom is defied in "It Pays to Advertise," which is a straight farce comedy without a scrap of music, and if there is a tired business man in all this broad land who won't find a viewing of this play a better nerve tonic, [illegible] and health restorer than any musical comedy that ever saw the light of day we are willing to be placed among the false prophets.

Cohan & Harris, who produce "It Pays to Advertise," have made a reputation for bringing out corking good plays of the lighter variety, and this one adds another to their long list of successes.

As this is the first of Cohan & Harris attractions to play Tecumseh the local management wishes to state that patrons of the Bradley will see one of the best acted and best dressed productions in "It Pays to Advertise" of any attraction yet coming to the Bradley. Cohan & Harris have the reputation of "never having dissapointed the American public" and this company is well deserving of coming under their guarantee. A complete carload of special scenery and furniture is carried by the company.

THE DEMOCRATS MADE A WISE SELECTION

Dr. J. B. Hayes of Dundee is the democratic candidate for state senator from the nineteenth senatorial district composed of Monroe and Lenawee counties, and in choosing him as their candidate for this important office the democrats of this district displayed rare good judgement. Dr. Haynes is distinctively a self-made man and by hard work, strict attention to his duties and by grim determination to accomplish something for himself he has made a splendid success of a very busy life.

Dr. Haynes was born in Ridgeway township Lenawee county, and before he reached 13 years of age his father died and he was thrown upon his own resources and compelled to make his own living. His first position was that of a farm laborer and he received but four dollars per month for his services. Until he was 18 years of age he remained on the farm and received the rudiments of his education in the district schools of his native county. At the age of 19 he enlisted in the United States army and served in the Modoc war in Oregon. He had charge of General Wheaton's body guard and also of General Edwards, until the latter was treacherously shot by the Indians.

After leaving the service Mr. Haynes located at Tecumseh and accepted a position as night watch for that village, which he filled acceptably for three years. While engaged in this work he decided to take up the study of medicine and entered the office of Dr. Catlin. While covering his rounds he would take a book with him and by hard work and close application he made rapid progress and soon entered the Detroit College of Medicine, graduating in 1884.

He then located in Dundee and has since made this village his home. During all these years he has enjoyed a good practice and by the practice of thrift and good business judgement has acquired a competency. In 1898 he again entered the service of his country as ceptain of Company D. Thirty-fifth Michigan Infantry anad served during the Spanish American war.

As a physician, citizen and soldier, Mr. Haynes has always striven to do his duty as he understood it, and without fear or favor he has advocated and supported those things which he thought were for the best interest of the community, the state and the nation.

Dr. Haynes is a member of the Methodist church and in a fraternal way he is associated with the Masnoic order and with several other local organizations. He has served Dundee a number of terms as president, has been president of the school board and the Farmers' Telephone Co., and has taken an active part in all movements for the advancement and upbuilding of Dundee.

Mr. Haynes is greatly interested in agriculture and he owns and successfully manages a farm of 130 acres not far from Dundee. He is a member of Dundee Grange and by his extensive acquaintance among the farmers of this section, his sympathies are naturally with them in those movements which are just now receiving so much attention for bettering the condition of the rural communities of our state. He is fitted in every way to discharge the duties of the office of state senator and if elected he will give to his new duties the same careful thought and good judgement that has always been characteristic of him. He has always taken an active interest in politics and he will receive from his neighbors and friends in this section a hearty and loyal support in November.

High School Notes

Last Wednesday evening the Sophomores enjoyed a marshmallow roast on the flats just below the first dam at the Globe Pond. About 25 were present including the teachers. As one of the Sophomores wittily said, "They did these marshmallows up brown."

Miss Rice while working chemistry experiments. "What makes this copper turn green?"

Mr. Goodrich: "Reflection."

Miss Armstrong was explaining to her English Literature class Thursday that each person would be expected to give their book reports on the stated dates, unless of course on account of sickness or any other necessity.

Either Spencer must have been a favorite of the Lord (supposed to have been Grey) or Fay studied his Sunday School lesson in English XII, for he remarked in class Thursday, "And then the Lord gave Spencer a big estate in Ireland."

This week Wednesday, Oct. 4, "Fanchon, the Cricket," a motion picture featuring Mary Pickford, will be given at the Opera House, under the auspices of the Sophomores.

The committee wishes to inform the public that although this is a Stellar attraction the prices will remain the same.

In an argument as to whether or not Miss Rice said that hydrogen was fourteen times lighter than air. Mr. Goodrich tried to convince her that such a statement had not been made. "But," she said," I did say hydrogen was fourteen times lighter than air, and you looked as if that wasn't right, so I said it was fourteen times as light when it solidified." Now Mr. Goodrich would like to know if he looks negative. Miss Rice thinks so.

Woman Escapes from County Home and Discards Night Dress.

Hillsdale, Oct. 2.—Escaping from her upstairs room through the window, by making a rope of sheets and fastening it to the bed, Mary Clark, an inmate of the county home, went to Reading without being missed. She wore a nightgown.

The girl attracted attention at Reading when she proceeded to pull off her night gown in the streets and entertain a few people on the streets by singing.

CHEERFULNESS.

Cheerfulness is a virtue that every one should cultivate. Cheerfulness is a thing to be more profoundly grateful for than all genius ever inspired or talent accomplished. Next best to spontaneous cheeriness is deliberate, intended and persistent cheeriness, which we can create, cultivate and so foster and cherish that after a few years the world will never suspect that it was not a hereditary gift.—Helen Hunt Jackson.

An English King's Death.

William Rufus was killed by an arrow, either accidentally or with murderous intent. He died in the New forest. His body was stripped by tramps and the next day was found by a charcoal burner, who placed the naked corpse on his cart, hoping to receive a reward. On the way to Winchester the cart was upset, and the king's body fell in the mire. Covered with filth and black with charcoal, it arrived in Winchester, where it was buried in the cathedral. A few years later the tower fell and crushed the tomb, and 600 years after the Puritans rifled the grave and played football with the king's skull.

CLUB RECEPTION

MONDAY CLUB HELD ITS OPENING MEETING YESTERDAY

When They Took Up Their Second Year's Study of the United States

The ladies of the Monday Club held the opening meeting of the season at their new quarters, the parlors of the Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon As we entered the room beautiful draperies of "The Stars and Stripes" and banks of fall flowers and foliage greeted us with their gay colors.

In the receiving line were the new officers: Mrs. T. C Harris, president; Mrs J. J Orr, vice prasident; Mrs. Emilie Hall, secretary: and Mrs. Fred Rosacrans, treasurer.

Mrs. Harris called the meeting to order, conducting a short business sesion when Miss Ethel Kenyon, Mrs. Mary Henry [illegible] were voted to membership.

"America" was sung by the assembly, Mrs F. B Wood accompanying, beginning the excellent program.

Mrs J. J. Orr read a splendid paper on "United States 1776-1916," showing the manner in which our territory was acquired from the first settlement until now we own "territory upon which the sun never sets." This she illustrated with maps.

Mrs. F. G Lewis followed with another interesting paper, giving the story of our flag She illustrated her paper with drawings of the old flags down to our own "Old Glory" to which nineteen million people do homage She also showed a picture of the old Betsey Ross home where the first flag was made. In her paper she told of the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and Mrs R. T Meade stepped to the front and pleasingly sang our national anthem with the whole party rising to their feet.

Mrs R. S Moore sang a flag song most delightfully and Miss Margaret Turner recited "Hats Off."

"The Stars and Stripes Forever," a duet played by Mrs. Wood and Miss Camilla Hayden brought the program to a close

The ladies and their guests, some 80 in number, were then refreshed with maple mousse and small cakes from the top of which floated small flags.

Thus ended one of those delightful entertainments for which the Monday Club is famed

SOPHOMORE CLASS ENTERTAINMENT.

The members of the class are selling tickets for the small sum of 10c each, you can get tickets from them or at the theatre that evening, but remember the date, Wednesday October 4th. The class will appreciate your help and they absolutely guarantee that you will enjoy the program.

DR. HARTZOG BEGINS HIS EIGHTH YEAR

Sunday morning Dr. Hartzog surprised his congregation as he arose to speak by announcing that this was the begining of his eight year in the pastorate at Tecumseh He took for his text, 'That Ye May Know." His sermon was a stirring analysis of a true Christian. Some thought it was the best sermon that he had preached since he had been in Tecumseh. He further celebrated the day by speaking at the Union Men's meeting at the Presbyterian church and at 3 o'clock spoke at the Y. M. C. A. at Adrian.

MRS. THEODORE FORD

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Tecumseh People

Too many Tecumseh citizens are handicapped with bad backs. The unceasing pin causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause if the kidneys are weak. To eliminate the pains and aches of kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—thousands testify to their merit. Can you doubt Tecumseh evidence?

Mrs. W. Service, E. Logan St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had weakness and soreness across my back. I felt run down and tired out and could hardly keep going. I had frequent headaches, too, and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they helped me right away. They strengthened my back and put my kidneys in good order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Service had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

BOSTON GETS A. L. PENNANT

Chicago Is Defeated In Cleveland Speaker Beats Cobb's Swat Records.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Fohl's Indians, once a tribe of pennant dreamers, clinched the 1916 championship for Boston. With Fritz Coumbe hurling masterful ball against them, the White Sox tumbled by 2 to 0 in the first game of a double header and that defeat wiped out the last chance to even tie the new champions.

Speaker finished the year with 211 hits to his credit. This exceeds by three the best mark ever attained by Ty Cobb in the nine years that he led the American league in batting.

HOW FLOWERS CAN BE KEPT FRESH FOR A LONG TIME.—Flowers should, if convenient, be gathered at some other time than during the heat of the day and be placed in water in a cool place as soon as possible. After this treatment they will keep much better than they would if not induced to fill up with water. Most flowers keep and look better if gathered when in bud, just before opening. This is true of roses, poppies, peonies and others. Double flowers, as a rule, keep longer than single kinds.

For cut flowers in the house it is very desirable to have kinds which will continue to develop buds into flowers after being placed in water. Perhaps no kind has this quality in a more marked degree than gladiolus. During parching hot winds it is possible to have such in their greatest beauty in the house when the weather will not permit such conditions out of doors. Before storms it is well to secure a supply of flowers for indoor use, that their beauty may be enjoyed while those out of doors are recovering.

Some kinds which have a milky juice, like the poppies and some others, as the dahlia, will keep better if the tips of the stems are dipped in very hot water before they are cared for in the ordinary way. It is well nigh impossible to have the oriental poppies hold up fresh without such treatment.

Poppies should always be gathered in the bud just before they are ready to push through the calyx. With kinds that last well in water it is desirable to renew the water often. Otherwise the smell of decay at the base of the stems sometimes becomes offensive, which is not healthful.

How to Do Your Own Plumbing Without Calling an Expert.

When the sink, bathtub or wash bowl has become clogged one may easily remedy this instead of sending for the plumber. Take a piece of old garden hose the desired length, fit one end over the faucet and the other over the drain, so that no air escapes. Now turn on the water. The direct pressure will remove the obstruction within a few minutes.

HOW TO INDUCE SLEEP.

Try to Think of Nothing and Create a Mental Vacuum.

When insomnia is caused by some trifling or temporary disorder of mind or body it can usually be overcome by ceasing to divagate, says a contributor to the New York Sun. So long as the mind chases itself from one subject to another, as a wakeful mind is apt to do in the dark and in silence, so long is it kept active by the very succession of different thoughts, and sleep refuses to come.

The thing to do is to concentrate the mind on the corner of the room or on anything else. A flock of sheep, the multiplication table or anything else will do. So will counting if the thought can be confined to the succession of numbers without straying away to other subjects while the counting goes on, as a nimble mind is likely to do.

The best of all things I ever found to concentrate on, however, is nothing. Let the sufferer try to form a mental concept of nothing as a start, with the purpose of fixing his mind on it. He will be surprised at first, if he has never tried it before, to find that he cannot do it. Positively one cannot think of nothing as actually existing. Perhaps that is because it doesn't, if a bull is allowable.

But let him not be discouraged. Let him continue to try, and presently he will be so fascinated by the effort that he will still continue till he becomes fatigued and forgets that and everything else in a peaceful slumber.

CARE OF REFRIGERATORS.

Why They Should Be Kept Clean and How to Do It.

An insanitary refrigerator is dangerous because it means disease and perhaps worse. See that yours is clean and sweet.

Keep the door closed; otherwise the temperature rises and the ice melts rapidly.

If the box is kept clean it is not necessary to scald it out, but it is a wise precaution to do this occasionally. Remember that ice is more than apt to be dirty, so it is wise to watch the receptacle for the ice, that there be no leaves or anything collected there to decay or to clog the pipe. This pipe or the pan beneath should never be allowed to get slimy, as slime is a danger signal.

Once a week wash the walls, sides, shelves and every corner with cold water, borax and any sweet, pure soap. Rinse with clear water and wipe dry. The shelves may be taken out and scalded, but must be chilled and wiped dry before they are returned.

If anything is spilled, wipe it up at once, and be sure each day that there are no refuse bits of food lying about.

It is best to keep everything covered. It is imperative that milk and butter should always be covered and if possible kept in a separate compartment.

Do not keep food too long, to spoil and sour, and thus scent up the icebox.

Prudence.

"Sometimes it is wise to say nothing."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "It may enable one to avoid betraying the fact that one has nothing to say."—Washington Star.

GERMANS SEIZE LOADS OF BOOTY

Hermannstadt Victory, However, Not So Signal.

PRISONERS ARE ONLY 3,000

It Is Admitted by Vienna That the Roumanians Have Hurled Back the Austrians—Serbs Also Victors Over Bulgars in Desperate Balkan Fighting.

BERLIN — The victory of General von Falkenhayn over the Roumanians around Hermannstadt, in Transylvania, grows with every new dispatch from the front. The Roumanian First army has been shattered and the second army rushed to its assistance, has been badly battered, being now solely on the defensive. Those Roumanians of the first army not killed, wounded or captured, are scattered widely in the pathless mountains and trackless wilderness, their supplies cut off. Hundreds are expected to be gathered in by the forces thrown out by Von Falkenhayn to scour the country. The victory has caused the greatest excitement and jubilation seen here in months.

LONDON, ENG. — A Zeppelin was shot down north of London Sunday night.

LONDON, ENG. — Vast amounts of war supplies were captured by the Germans in the Hermannstadt (Transylvania) battle, which resulted in the rout of the First Roumanian army, according to advices from Berlin.

The same dispatches state that more than 3,000 prisoners were captured. What this figure signifies is a matter of conjecture, as 3,000 is considered a small number in view of the masses of troops believed to have been engaged.

It may mean that the Roumanians retreated fast enough to save a large portion of their [illegible] may be interpreted as implying that more of the Roumanians caught in General von Falkenhayn's vise were killed.

Position Not Hopeless.

However, that Roumania's position in Transylvania is not hopeless is indicated by the Vienna official report. While declaring that the invading army was dispersed in the Hermannstadt region, the announcement adds that the Roumanians further north, attacking to relieve their compatriots, forced the Austrians to retire on one section of the front.

Capture by the Serbians of Kaimakcalan heights on the Serb frontier of the Macedonian front is admitted by the German war office. The Bulgarians and Serbs have been fighting for the ridge for some time and it has previously been reported in the hands of the Serbs. But this is the first admission of its loss by Berlin.

Force Back Bulgars.

British troops on the Struma section of the Macedonian front, it is officially stated, have seized a portion of the Bulgarian line below the Orljak.

How They Change.

"How marriage changes a man! Before we were married Henry's displays of affection were positively overdone."

"And now?"

"Now they are very rare."—San Francisco Chronicle.

He has accepted a position as a professor in the department of education in an Ohio institution. The school board persuaded him to accept a leave of absence for one year.

BERLIN ADMITS CZAR GAINS

In Important Sectors Teutons Were Driven Back—4,000 Prisoners Taken, Drive Continues, Says Petrograd. Berlin Claims That Other Attacks Were Repulsed.

LONDON, ENG.—A powerful new stroke carried General Haig's British troops within two and a half miles of Papaume, the high road to which they straddle. They smashed the German defense on a front of a mile and three-quarters stretching from a point east of Eaucourt L'Abbaye to the Albert-Bapaume road. The village of Eaucourt L'Abbays is reported in their hands, according to news reaching General Haig at headquarters. More than 300 prisoners had been brought in at a late hour at night, making a total of almost 30,000 on the British front alone since the beginning of the Somme operations.

LONDON, ENG.—The two-pronged advance of the Russians on Lemberg is again gathering full headway, and the Austro-German armies of Prince Leopold of Bavaria and Archduke Karl have been pushed back. Both northeast and southeast of the Galician capital the Russians have registered advances, capturing, according to the official report issued in Petrograd, more than 4,000 prisoners. Russian gains are admitted by Berlin.

The two main actions are being waged in the region of the Brody-Krasne railway, about thirty miles northeast of Lemberg, and in the Brezezany sector on the Zleta Lipa river, fifty miles southeast of the city.

In the former district the Russians have pressed forward against heavy resistance, taking [illegible] prison[illegible] position on the [illegible] bank of the Zlota Lipa was carried on the southeastern sector of the advance.

Puts Teutons on Defensive.

This new stroke of General Brusiloff is believed to have been made to forestall the offensive contemplated by Field Marshall von Hindenburg. It puts the Teutons upon a strict defensive in the eastern theater, a following close upon the heels of a tentative attacks by them which are believed to have been the first movement of the contemplated "push."

Russian Statement.

The Russian official statement says: "In the neighborhood of the Brody-Krasne railway and to the southwards, out troops, by heavy fighting are forcing their way forward, the enemy stubbornly resisting the advance. We have captured here fifty-nine officers and 1,982 men of the rank and file.

"The fighting is turning to our favor to the south of Brzezany, on the River Tseniuvka and in the region of the heights on the right bank of the Zlota Lipa. Here we captured part of the enemy position by assault, taking 112 officers and 2,263 of the rank and file as well as some machine guns. Enemy counter attacks during the night were frustrated by our fire."

Body of Apparently Wealthy Victim Found in Bushes.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — The body of a well dressed and apparently wealthy woman, who had been shot twice in the head and robbed, was found in a clump of bushes just outside this city. The only clew to her identity thus far discovered is a letter in her purse addressed to Mrs. Mary Kimball, Elkhart, Ind. The letter was from a daughter at Neepwa, Manitoba, Canada.

The police believe the woman was one of a party of automobile tourists, but whether she was murdered by her own party or whether she was the prisoner of auto bandits or under what circumstances she was killed cannot be determined.

Telephone Number 36.

A slight epedimic of scarlet fever seems to have broken out in our city, and up to date five cases have been reported.

In talking with our health officer Dr. Hendershot, he states that all the cases are of a mild form and the patients are doing nicely.

All families infected have been placed in quarantine and the rules will be strictly enforced The school board wisely closed our schools, Tuesday afternoon for the balance of the week, and longer if they deemed it necessary. The authorities do not feel that we are in any great danger of a spread of the disease if people will live up to the quarantine rules, and avoid as much as possible, (especially children) congregating in crowded places, it will be a matter of a short time, before the disease will be under control and stamped out. The Sunday Schools in the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches in the children's departments, will be closed next Sunday as a further safeguard.

The village authorities have begun the numbering of our stores and homes through the village The dividing lines are Evans street for streets running East and West, and Chicago street for streets running North and South. The blocks will be divided in hundreds. The first block East and West of Evans street and North and South of Chicago street will be known as the 100 block the second the 200 block, and so on to the village limits.

On the south side of the streets running East and West [illegible] numbers and on the North side the odd numbers

On the streets running North and South the numbers will run even on the East side and odd on the West thus, the Herald office will be known as 127 West Chicago street

Postmaster Brown stated Thursday that as soon as the houses were numbered and the street signs placed, the department would be notified, and the City delivery service would soon be in operation He also stated that the post office must be in its new quarters by Nov 1.

LINER PHILADELPHIA RUNS TO PORT AFIRE

Believed Blaze Started at Beginning of Voyage.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Racing to port from mid-ocean when flames were discovered in the hold underneath the steerage quarters, the steamship Philadelphia, of the American line, arrived here with the fire still smoldering, the hatches battered down and steam being poured in over the cargo in an effort to prevent the fire from gaining headway again.

Although the fire was not discovered until Thursday morning when the ship was 800 miles from New York, it is believed it had been smoldering since the Philadelphia left Liverpool five days before.

The Philadelphia carried 640 passengers, of whom 343 were in the steerage. It was feared that a panic might result in the steerage if the passengers there learned of the fire and accordingly, when the situation seemed serious they were removed to another part of the vessel.

At times the heat was so great that the pitch in the seams of the deck melted.

Some Things In Iceland.

Iceland is far from being a dreary waste, for it exports large quantities of the finest grade of wool in the world, besides quantities of hides, sheepskins, feathers, oil, fish and fish products and, curiously enough, many horses. The island has several natural resources that have never been developed, among them great sulphur deposits One of them contains not less than 250,000 tons of practically pure sulphur. There are extensive deposits of copper ore. This, while of a low grade, could be worked at a huge profit, since the water power is unlimited and always at hand wherever the copper is found. There are also large deposits of geyserite, which is equal to the best Arkansas honestone. In addition there are several sections rich in agates and chalcedony, which are widely used in making jewels for the bearings of watches and electrical instruments. None of them has ever been worked.

Enormous Land Values.

There is an amazing price set upon the land of London. In the center of the English metropolis tiny lots have been sold for fortunes.

An acre there is the dearest in the world. Many a transaction over ground in the heart of the city has set the figure of $16,250,000 per acre. One square mile of London is valued at $750,000,000. The land beneath the Bank of England at low estimate is worth $35,000,000, and there are only three acres in that tract too.

There are places on Queen Victoria, Upper Thames, St. Mary-at-Hill and Cannon streets where one square inch is worth $1.25. In Lombard street and King William street prices have ranged from $200 and $250 to $350 per square foot.—National Real Estate Journal.

DESTROYING MOSQUITOES.

Common Kerosene of a Low Grade the Best Exterminator.

Next to draining, the best way to abolish mosquito breeding places is to treat the water so as to kill the mosquito larvae. While many substances have been tried for this purpose, nothing has given such good results as petroleum, according to experts of the United States department of agriculture. Common kerosene [illegible] is most satisfactory as regards efficiency and price.

It has been found that spraying with a portable pump is the best way to use oil, says Popular Science. Small ponds, however, can be sprinkled out of an ordinary watering pot with a hose nozzle, or, for that matter, pouring out of [illegible] will be satisfactory. In larger ponds pumps with a straight nozzle may be used. A straight stream will sink and then rise, and the oil will spread until the whole surface of the water can be covered without waste.

In choosing the grade of oil to be used two factors must be considered—it should spread rapidly and should not evaporate too quickly. Heavier grades of oil will cling together in spots, and the coating will be necessarily thick. It has been found that one ounce of kerosene is sufficient to cover fifteen square feet of surface, and in the absence of wind such a film will remain persistent for ten days. Even after the iridescent scum apparently disappears there is still an odor of kerosene about the water. A mixture of crude oil and kerosene has been found to be effective in killing mosquito larvae. It has one advantage over pure kerosene in that it does not evaporate so quickly.

Special attention should be paid to little pockets of water that form around the edges of ponds, for it is in such places where the water is not disturbed by wind or otherwise that the larvae breed in greatest numbers. Larvae do not breed in open stretches of water where the surface is rippled by the wind.

In the fight against the mosquito in Panama the government experts found that a larvicide composed of carbolic acid, rosin and caustic soda was very effective, and thousands of gallons of it were used.

How to Mix Plain Boiled Starch and Gum Arabic Water.

This is the way to make plain boiled starch:

Allow two tablespoonfuls of starch to a gallon of water. Wet the starch with cold water until it is of the consistency of cream. Then pour over it the water, which is bubbling. Stir constantly until smooth and boil for five minutes. Add an inch of candle—to a gallon—or a tablespoonful of lard to give a very smooth starch.

This is the foundation for all starching, excepting that done with uncooked starch.

If a very stiff starch is desired a tablespoonful of gum arabic water to a quart of starch gives good results.

To prepare gum arabic water pour two cupfuls of boiling water over a quarter of a pound of gum arabic. When the gum is dissolved strain the solution into a bottle, cork and keep on hand for use in the laundry.

How to Rejuvenate Your Pipe Just For a Hobby.

To make an old tobacco pipe as good as new plug the stem with a bit of match, fill the bowl with alcohol, light and let it burn. Do this three or four times and the pipe will be as clean and as sweet as when new, without the bother of breaking it in.

Canada's River of Mud.

What is perhaps the most wonderful river in the whole world and one which is certainly unique of its kind was discovered by a party of prospectors exploring what is known as the "Smoky river region" in northern Alberta, Canada.

Briefly, it is a river of mud—that is to say, although its course is well marked, with banks clearly defined, as in an ordinary river, its bed contains not water, but thick liquid mud of the consistency of molasses.

The mud river flows, as does a water river, but, of course, much more slowly. In fact, its progress during the time the party were observing it more nearly resembled that of a glacier. Unlike a glacier, however, there is no terminal moraine. A glacier at its foot melts and flows away, leaving an accumulation of rocks, but any heavy masses that may be in this river of mud must settle to the bottom and remain concealed by the mud itself. This mud river debouches on a plain, spreading out fanlike and forming a morass of unknown depth and extent.—London Mail.

AT REST

The angel of death came suddenly to Mrs. M. A. Ide last Thursday and took her to her Heavenly Home and her friends are left to mourn the loss of a dear one.

Her funeral was held from her late home Tuesday morning. A large concourse of the neighbors and friends coming to pay their last tribute of respect and mingle their tears with those of the bereaved family. Her pastor Rev. G. W. Jennings gave a most eloquent and feeling sermon that appealed to the hearts of every one. Mrs. Ella Hodges and Mrs. Anna Mead sang.

Her casket was borne by her brothers and other near relatives to her grave on the family lot in Brookside. A wealth of beautiful flowers covered her last resting place and now that she sleeps, memory takes up the harp of life and touching the strings weaves her virtues into sweetest music, to comfort and to cheer those who are left to mourn her.

Those from out of town who were here for the funeral were her son Edgar Ide and wife and daughter, Katherine of Los Angeles, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. James Postal and Mrs. W. J. Conover of Evart, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Chester Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Humphrey of Adrian, Dr. John B. MRS. THEODORE FORD

Mary E. Stone was born in St. Caesar, Province of St. John. Quebec, Canada, August 10, 1841, making her 75 years, 1 month, 20 days of age at time of death. She was one of five children of whom but two are now living: Mrs. Thersa Morey of Greenfield, Mass., and Mrs. Maggie DeShetler of Dundee. When the subject of this sketch was four years old her family moved to Massachusetts, coming to Adrian when she was 12 Soon the family moved to Blissfield Here on Oct. 6th, 1858, she married Theodore D Ford and for nearly fifty years the couple lived on their farm near Blissfield Sixteen [illegible] moved to Tecumseh where they have since resided

Mrs. Ford had been in poor health for a number of years Last spring she received a terrible shock when a little neighbor child whom she loved dearly was burned to death and then the heart trouble from which she had been a sufferer became serious The latter part of June she and her husband were taken to the home of her daughter Mrs. William LaBounty. where they have been since and there Mrs. Ford received the best care that loving hands could give through her long illness her other daughter Mrs Lillian Wells assisting. The faithful husband was ever by her side, doing for her until the end which came Sunday evening last

She experienced religion in the Methodist church in Deerfield when but 14. For many years she was a member of the Blissfield church but after coming to Tecumseh she attended the Friend's church where her funeral was held Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Lawrence Linton officiated and his consoling address was appreciated by the sorrowing relatives. The bearers were four grandsons and two nephews of the deceased: Theodore and Earl LaBounty, Harry Wells, Goodson Ford, George and Glad DeShetler.

The following from out-of-town who attended the funeral were: Hal C. Ford of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Shetler and son Glad of Dundee; Harry Wells of Jackson, Mrs Kate Ford son Dean and daughter Erva, Goodson Ford and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. H Dolph, Mrs. Ehlert, Mr and Mrs. Will Smith, Mrs. Carrie Smith, L. T. Goff and Mrs. Adelaide Goff, Blissfield; Caddie E. Ford of Clyde, O., George Stone and wife of Petersburg; Jasper Herry and family, and Geo. DeShetler and wife of Macon.

To the deceased were born four children Mrs Lillian Wells of Tecumseh, Irving Ford who died six years ago, Mrs. Mattie LaBounty of Tecumseh and Hal C Ford of Detroit. Besides these she leaves eight grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

With them mourn the aged husband who is making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Will LaBounty.

So we record the passing of a faithful wife, a loving mother and a true friend always ready to do for others and in that measure has she been cared for.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the many friends who by their kind acts made our affliction earier to bear. We want to especially thank those who furnished flowers and the use of autos, also the Rev. Linton for his kind words.

The Name "Noah."

Not many persons are sufficiently acquainted with the Bible to know that Noah was the name of a woman as well as of the patriarch. At an inquest in England a female witness gave her Christian name as "Noah." The coroner remarked that he had never before known a woman to bear the name, whereupon the witness said:

"It is a Bible name, sir. You'll find it in the last chapter of the book of Numbers."

Reference was duly made, and in the eleventh verse of the thirty-sixth chapter the coroner found mention made of "Mahlah, Tirab and Hoglah and Milcah and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad."

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

"It Pays to Advertise," a three act farce comedy by Cohan & Harris, was seen at the opera house Thursday night by a good house. This excellent company of players kept the audience in the best of humor for over two hours.

It is a clever story of how a wealthy soap manufacturer wishes to get his erstwhile idle son interested in some line of business. The father casts his son off, turns him out upon the world to earn his daily bread.

Of course there is a little love affair which spurs the son to action and as the lady in the case is in the father's plans as an accomplice, he plot thickens. The son gets a hunch that he can build up a soap business and bust his father's trust. And the way he scrapes up funds and enlists the services of a wide awake advertising man and avoids his creditors is most amusing.

His advertising finally bears fruit and he is able not only to force the father to buy his company out at a handsome profit, but demonstrates that advertising creates a demand for soap such as the staid old father had never dreamned of and at a price that fairly staggered him. The son made good with the father and won the girl and all ended happily.

The cast was a good one. This is one of the best plays that Manager Marks has yet secured for us. The company carried a car load of scenery and their settings were all very attractive.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

Of the Presbyterian Church—Splendid Reports Given

The annual Presbyterian congregational meeting was held Tuesday evening First at 6 o'clock all enjoyed a big picnic supper. Then the company adjourned to the auditorium of the church where the business of the organization was brought up.

In the absence of R. A. Heesen, the chairman of the board of trustees, John T. Boyce was elected chairman of the meeting.

The secretary, H. S. Waring, read the report of the last annual meeting and of the meeting called in July to act on the proposed improvements on the church building.

The treasurer, J. H. Smith, reported $205 in the treasury at the beginning of the year and $70.26 on hand, but on looking over the books the next morning he found that in his absence the day before enough had been paid in to make the books even with the beginning of the year and all debts paid.

The organizations of the church are in splendid condition as shown by the different reports read as follows:

For the Ladies Aid Mrs. J. R. Nyland as treasurer reported $540 on hand.

Fund for benevolences — R. M. Moiles

Missionary Society—Mrs. S. W. Bordine

Florence Weld Chapter, Wesmtinster Guild—Mrs. Nyland

The pastor gave his report of taking into the church 32 new members during the past year, making the membership over 400. Calls made, 450 on church people and 140 on people not affiliated with the church. He offered the following resolutions which were carried:

That the board of trustees be composed of nine members instead of six; that no officer succeed himself in office; that the clerk prepare a digest of the changes made in the constitution of the church in the last 25 years, the same to be annexed to the constitution.

Chas. Kemp was elected to succeed Mr. Moiles as treasurer of the benevolences.

The terms of R. A. Heesen and H. S. Waring as trustees expiring at this time and three more names having to be added necessitated the election of five who were as follows: H. B. Tallman, Don Cleveland, John H. Smith, Chas. Benedict and A. B. McLachlin.

Much interest was manifested throughout the meeting and each resolution came in for its full share of discussion, showing the church to be fully alive to the importance of the organization. The year's work of Rev. Rex showed he had devoted his wonderful energy and splendid gifts to the furthering of the Kingdom among us and he has the hearty support of his congregation.

ACCIDENT TO FORMER TECUMSEH PASTOR

The older residents of Tecumseh will recall Rev C. E Conley who was pastor of the Baptist church here thirty five years ago. They will regret to hear that some three weeks ago in hurrying to board a street car in Detroit, he was struck by an auto and thrown into the gutter with such violence that his right arm was fractured at the elbow and he was bruised in many parts of his person. He is now just becoming able to sit up and get about the room. Mr and Mrs Conley live at 195 Pilgrim Ave., Detroit He still preaches and is or was organizing a church of his denominational preference, when injured. It seems remarkable that he was not killed outright This is the third time that he has been seriously injured in the city, first by a bicycle, second by a street car, and now by the wholesale automobile. What next? An aeroplane? We sincerely hope that in the matter of injuries, it will be with him "Three times and out."

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT

Card have been received in Tecumseh announcing the wedding of Miss Grace Marguerite Dewey of Washington, D. C. to Dr. Carl Grover Frost of Buffalo, N. Y. The wedding will be solemnized at Gunton Temple Memorial church, Washington, D. C. on the evening of October 7, 1916 at half after seven o'clock.

The bride is a granddaughter of Henry Conkling of Tecumseh. Mr. Conkling will not attend the wedding as he will remain in Tecumseh until after he elects Chas. Evans Hughes, but he expects to visit the newlyweds at their home in Buffalo on his way south.

Grateful Mothers Tell Experiences

Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cured my boy of a very severe attack of croup after other remedies had failed. Our milkman cured his children of whooping cough. I recommend it to every one, as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough." Mrs. D. Gilkeson, Youngstown, O., writes: "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. I tried lots of cough remedies, but she didn't get any better. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to me. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat, and after using one bottle the cough left her." This sterling old remedy has been in use for years and is just as efficient for adults as for children. It gives relief for irritated and tickling throat, tight and sore chest, grippe and bronchial coughs.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Tecumseh People

Too many Tecumseh citizens are handicapped with bad backs. The unceasing pin causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause if the kidneys are weak. To eliminate the pains and aches of kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—thousands testify to their merit. Can you doubt Tecumseh evidence?

Mrs. W. Service, E. Logan St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had weakness and soreness across my back. I felt run down and tired out and could hardly keep going. I had frequent headaches, too, and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they helped me right away. They strengthened my back and put my kidneys in good order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Service had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Corns Loosen, Lift Right Off

Nothing But "GETS-IT" Will Do This to Corns and Calluses.

If you've ever had corns, you've tried lots of things to get rid of them—salves that eat your toe and leave the corn remaining, cotton rings that make your corns bulge out like pop-eyes, scissors and knives that make corns bleed and sore, harnesses and bandages that fill up your shoe, press on the corn and make your foot feel like a paving block. What's the use? Why not do what millions are doing, take 3 seconds off and apply "GETS-IT." It dries, you put your stocking on right away, and wear your regular shoes. Your corn loosens from the toe, it lifts right off. It's painless. It's the common-sense way, the simplest, easiest, most effective way in the world. It's the national corn-cure. Never fails. "GETS-IT" is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price, by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

ALLIES PROTEST U-BOAT ATTACK

Great Britain Opens Diplomatic Controversy with U. S.

CALLS OUR ACTS UNNEUTRAL

Ambassador Spring-Rice Charges That German Submarines Are Given Entrance to U. S. Waters to Obtain News—Position Taken by Other Neutrals Is Cited.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The extension of the German submarine war to the American coast has opened up a new diplomatic dispute with Great Britain. It is stated at the British embassy that the United States will be called upon to decide immediately whether any more U-boats shall be permitted to enter American ports. The allies contend that the entrance of such boats into American harbors is a violation of neutrality.

This point has already been raised with Sweden, Norway and Spain and these countries have decided to sustain the allied viewpoint. They have adopted regulations practically denying submarines the right of entrance.

The British point to the case of a German submarine which entered a Spanish port with a message from the Kaiser to the King of Spain. After leaving the port the U-boat sank a French ship. France has demanded indemnity from Spain and is holding the Spanish government strictly to accountability for any further entrance of U-boats into her ports.

It is intimated at the British embassy that a similar attitude will be taken toward the United States.

Come to Get Information.

The contention of the allies is that the U-boats enter the harbors and obtain information which enables them to sink enemy ships.

They assert that submarines cannot be governed by the same rules as other war ships for the reason that they cannot be observed when they are beneath the surface and that they could therefore violate neutrality without being caught at it.

The navy department maintains that the U-53 was strictly within her rights when she entered Newport harbor and that there was no violation of neutrality.

It is understood that when Sir Cecil Spring-Rice visited the state department he protested against the entrance of the U-53 to an American port and served notice that the United States would be called upon to decide immediately the attitude which it is going to take in regard to such cases.

So far as the sinking of ships off the American coast is concerned there is no disposition at either the state or navy department to dispute the right of the Germans to make war at sea where they please so long as they keep outside the three-mile limit.

At the German embassy it was stated that Germany would adhere strictly to her promises made in settling the Lusitania and Sussex cases that she would not violate international law. It was said that all liners would be warned and that passengers would have every chance to escape before the ship was sunk.

OFFER STOCK FARMS FREE

And Yankees Only Are Eligible for This Georgia Proposal.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 9.—One hundred productive farms will be given free to homeseekers who attend the Georgia Land Show at Atlanta in January.

The only requirements attached to the offers will be that the farms be devoted entirely to the raising of live stock. After five years' operation as a stock farm, the owners will be given a clear title.

The farms will be in sizes of 50, 100 and 150 acres tracts. Already eleven good tracts along railroads have been donated to the show. No waste land will be offered. Only persons living north of the Ohio river and west of the Mississippi river will be eligible for the farms.

ANTILLA TOWED INTO PORT

Coast Guard Cutter Brings In Ship and Ten Rescued Passengers.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The coast cutter Onondaga towed the steamship Antilla which was abandoned burning 150 miles off the Virginia Capes, into Hampton Roads. The Onondaga had the ten rescued passengers and the crew of the Antilla on board. The fire practically gutted the vessel.

The Antilla, which was loaded with sugar and lumber, burned rapidly to the water's edge and was on the point of sinking before the fire was gotten under control.

150 Periled in Train Wreck.

Granite City, Ill., Oct. 9.—Six coaches of Chicago & Alton passenger train No. 3 Chicago to St. Louis overturned in a ditch 4 miles east of here. Of the 150 passengers only one was more than bruised. John Pettit of Dwight, Ill., a mail clerk, suffered several broken ribs.

First Illinois Cavalry Coming Soon.

Brownsville, Tex., Oct. 9.—Announcement was made that the entire First Illinois cavalry will be relieved shortly.

Old Engraved Rings.

Among the legends of Greece it is told that the father of Pythagorus, the famous Greek philosopher, was a celebrated engraver of gems, and, according to classical history, both Helen of Troy and Ulysses of Greece wore engraved rings.

Engraving on stones that were partly precious was an art at a very remote age. The British museum proudly boasts the possession of a small square of yellow jasper bearing the figure of a horse and the name and titles of Amenophis II., believed to date back to about the year 1450 B. C. The very finest specimen of engraved gem now in existence is a head of Nero carved on a first water diamond by the brothers Castanzi in the year 1790 A. D.—St. James' Gazette.

AUSTRIAN WARSHIP REPORTED BLOWN UP

Rome Hears Explosion Occured in Pola Harbor.

Rome, Oct. 9.—Reports are in circulation here that an Austrian battleship has blown up in Pola Harbor.

Pola is Austria's naval base in the Adriatic, and is sixty miles south of Trieste, the principal seaport.

It is from Pola that the Austrian submarines have been operating in the attacks upon the allied merchantmen and warships in the Mediterranean.

Pola is so strongly fortified that up to the present time the Italian fleet has not attempted to measure guns with it.

WILSON TO TALK IN INDIANA

President Will Make Several Campaign Speeches on Thursday.

Asbury Park, N. J., Oct. 9.—President Wilson will leave Shadow Lawn on Wednesday for Indianapolis, where he is scheduled to make several campaign speeches on Thursday.

He will return to his summer home in time to address a gathering of Democrats from Pennsylvania on Saturday afternoon. In addition to the two speaking dates several important political conferences will be held this week. Wm. F. McCoombs, Democratic nominee for United States senator, has been invited to Shadow Lawn for luncheon Tuesday.

RETURNS TO GET THE MONEY

Man Declared Legally Dead Would Impoverish His Children.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 9.—A $15,000 legacy is the stake for which Mrs. Mary F. Hood, and her husband, John E. Hood, a salesman, who disappeared fourteen years ago and was legally declared dead, are fighting in a suit for maintenance filed by his wife in the Ramsey county district court.

Hood is attempting to collect the legacy left him by his father, James Hood, a wealthy merchant of Arcola, Ill., which was distributed among John's seven children when their missing father was declared dead by the Douglas county, Ill., courts, six years ago.

Makes Long Vacation Record.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Oct. 9.—Because he wanted his vacation to be a long and pleasant one when it did come, John J. Neal, station agent here, worked thirty years without one. He took the long-awaited vacation last week. It consisted of a six-hour visit to a farm hand with whom he was acquainted. Then Neal went back to his job.

Dark Paper Don't Hurt Eyes.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 9.—No difference in eye strain is produced by reading from darker newsprint paper than from paper made of white spruce. This is the conclusion reached by the department of psychology at the University of Wisconsin, which has been studying the subject as a result of the shortage of paper.

Labor Most Important.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Labor, mental development and religion are three chief factors in controlling convicts, M. Z. White, warden of the Moundsville (West Virginia) penitentiary and chairman of the standing committee on prison discipline, told the American Prison Congress here. Labor is the most important.

U. of W. to Teach Yiddish.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 9.—Study of the Yiddish language has been inaugurated by the University of Wisconsin, which probably is the first university of the country to teach it. Yiddish is a dialect of German and Hebrew.

Memorable Classifications.

Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, omniscient, but sane, announced that though she had lived a long time and seen a great deal, she had met only two sorts of people, and they were very much alike—namely, men and women. Mrs. Oliphant had her own way of dividing persons into "those I can talk to and those I can't." while Laurence Hutton used to say that there were only two sorts of persons in the world, those who remember to say "Thank you" and those who do not. "Is he a yes-sayer or a no-sayer?" asked Nietzsche, with which simple brevity contrast Galsworthy. "There are two kinds of men in this world—one who will not rest content till he has become master of all the toys that make a fat existence, never looking to see of what sort they are made, and the other for whom life is tobacco and a crust of bread and liberty to take all to pieces, so that his spirit may feel good within him."—Lucy Elliott Keeler in Atlantic Monthly.

Old English Furniture.

That fine old furniture is yet found in Great Britain in many unexpected places is said to be largely due to the stirring up of the country that was given by the great exhibition at London of 1851. This was soon after the development of the railway system in England, and there flocked to London a large number of squires and their wives. A new world has opened to the country dames. The new things had a wonderful fascination for them. On returning home they got rid of much of their old furniture and bought new. Much of the old furniture found its way to secondhand shops and was sold to poor folk who could not afford to buy new. This accounts for the finding today of much good old furniture in small houses in provincial towns and among country people.—Indianapolis News.

He Won the Trick.

"Oh, George, dear," she whispered when he slipped the engagement ring on her tapering finger, "how sweet of you to remember just the sort of stone I preferred! None of the others was ever so thoughtful."

George was staggered but for a moment. Then he came back with: "Not at all, dear. You overrate me. This is the one I've always used."

She was inconsistent enough to cry about it.

WELCOME FOR ENVOY GERARD

U. S. Ambassador to Get Notable Greeting on His Arrival.

New York, Oct. 9.—James W. Gerard, United States ambassador to Berlin, is expected to reach this port within a few hours and a spendid reception has been prepared for him. Mayor John P. Mitchell has appointed a committee of prominent citizens, who will meet the envoy and congratulate him on the record he has made since the outbreak of the war in Europe. Oscar S. Straus, chairman of the public service commission, and former Ambassador to Turkey, is chairman of the committee.

Mr. Gerard was formerly a supreme court justice here and high in the councils of the Democratic party. It is not known yet whether he will make any campaign speeches in behalf of President Wilson.

POSITIONS OF BRITISH ADVANCED ON SOMME

Allied Front Heavily Shelled South of the Ancre.

London, Oct. 9.—The report of the British war office says that south of the Ancre the British front was heavily shelled during the way, especially in the neighborhood of Gueudecourt and LeSars, but the British advanced their line southwest of Gueudecourt.

The Germans again attacked the Schwaben redoubt in the morning but without success.

There was severe fighting north of the Courcelette-Warlencourt road, where the allies won some ground.

The total number of prisoners reported in the last two days has reached thirteen officers and 563 others.

U. S. HIGH COURT IN SESSION

Important Cases Involving Industrial and Social Reform in Calendar.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The supreme court of the United States has opened its fall and winter term, which promises to be one of the most important judicial sessions of recent years. For the first time in more than a year the full court of nine justices sat at the nation's highest bench, after Associate Justice John H. Clark of Cleveland, O., had been sworn in and had taken his place as junior justice at the extreme left of Chief Justice White.

A mess of important cases involving practically every phase of recent industrial and social reform legislation confronted the court when it convened. Nearly a score of so-called "trust" cases will be argued or decided during the coming term and recent changes in the personnel of the court promise interesting times ahead.

British Extend Embargo.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Consul General Skinner at London notified the department of commerce that Great Britain has extended her embargo against importations into the United Kingdom to include cotton knit goods.

Harden's Paper Again Suppressed.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—Die Zukunft of which Maxmilian Harden is the editor, again has been suppressed apparently because of an anti-militarist article, the contributor of which pictured the "horrible side of the war."

No Banbury Fair This Year.

London, Oct. 9.—Banbury Fair, famous in nursery rhyme, will not be held this year. The munitions ministry has prohibited it, saying it might interfere with the production of shells.

After War Badge for Allies.

Paris, Oct. 9.—Frenchmen are proposing that the allied nations adopt a badge, to be worn by their nationals for all time. It is argued this would be specially valuable to commercial travelers.

Just Used Him.

They met again at Atlantic City. The young man asked the girl:

"Now that you have become engaged to George why have you flirted with me so long and let me take you motoring, golfing and theater going? Why did you encourage me so long when you intended to accept George?"

The girl blushed a little and sighed. "I wanted," she said softly, "to test my love for George."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

"Why do you call Bliggins an expert accountant? He isn't up on figures."

"No, but there isn't any phenomenon in the universe that he doesn't assume to be able to account for."—Washington Star.

SUBMARINE WAR OFF U. S. COAST

Six Vessels Sunk by One or Two U-Boats.

MANY AMERICANS ARE ABOARD

Red Cross Liner, Stephano, Engaged in New York-Canadian Service Carried [illegible] Per Cent of Passengers from U. S. States—American Ship Is Halted.

New York, Oct. 9.—The Red Cross liner Stephano sunk by the German submarine U-53 was engaged in passenger service between this city, Halifax, N. S., and St. Johns, N. F. Charles T. Bowring, owner of the line, at his office was seen. "The only fact I know is that the vessel has been sunk," he said. "I can state this, however. Our records show that seventy-five per cent of the passengers we carry are American citizens and I am quite sure there were a large number of Americans on board the Stephano."

Boston, Oct. 9.—Six steamships were torpedoed off the Atlantic coast by the German submarine U-53 which created a sensation by dropping into Newport Saturday. The victims of the submarine were:

The British freighter Westpoint, torpedoed and left in sinking condition. Her crew of thirty were left in open boats.

The steamship Strathdene, also British, torpedoed and sunk. Her crew of twenty were given a chance to take to boats.

The British passenger steamship Stephano of the Red Cross line, plying between New York and Halifax, torpedoed and sunk after her crew and passengers had ben transferred to boats.

The crew of the steamship Stephano is still aboard the destroyer Balch.

Stops American Ships.

Before attacking the vessels the submarine had stopped the steamship Kansas of the American Hawaiian line, flying the American flag. The Kansas was permitted to proceed.

Nantucket lightship, off which the submarine carried out its raid is thirty miles from the coast and well outside the territorial waters of the United States. It is directly in the path of trans-Atlantic steamship traffic.

At least ten United States torpedo boat destroyers left Newport to pick up passengers and the crew of the torpedoed vessels.

Fourth Steamer Sunk.

Following the dispatches telling of these exploits came a second one stating that the British steamship Kingston had been sunk by the German submarine or submarines operating off Nantucket Light. Her crew has been picked up by one of the United States destroyers sent to the rescue of crews of vessels previously sunk.

The Kingston was a vessel of 2,920 tons, owned by the Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd. of Toronto.

Think There Were Two Submarines.

Officials here believe from the extent of the torpedoing operations that there must be two submarines off this coast.

Norwegian Steamer Sunk.

The news of the sinking of the British steamers followed by another dispatch that the Norwegian steamer Christian Knudsen of 4,224 tons, and a Dutch steamer have been sunk by the submarine or submarines attacking trans-Atlantic shipping off Nantucket Shoals lightship.

The Stephano Fine New Vessel.

New York, Oct. 9.—The Stephano was a fine new steamer especially built to carry passengers between this port and Newfoundland. She was commanded by Captain Clifford Smith. The vessel was built in the yards of C. Connell and company at Glasgow in 1911 and though employed exclusively on this side of the Atlantic, is registered in Liverpool. She is of 3,449 tons net register. Her dimensions are 326 feet long, 46 feet beam and 19 feet depth. The vessel was equipped with wireless and submarine signalling apparatus.

Maimed Soldiers Excluded from U. S.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Maimed survivors of the European battlefields will be barred from the United States at the close of the war, the immigration bureau announces. Such immigrants will be rejected on the ground that physical disability would incapacitate them for self-supporting labor. The immigration laws as they now stand would be entirely adequate to exclude such persons as likely to become a public charge, officials declare.

Predicts Kaiser's Exit; Jailed.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—A man has been put in jail by a court martial at Strasburg for saying that the submarines of the Deutschland type were built only for the purpose of giving the Kaiser and the Crown Prince an opportunity of fleeing to the United States.

Browns Win City Championship.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 9.—With a double victory over the Cardinals, 3 to 2 and 4 to 1, the Browns won the city championship, four out of live.

At the election to be held in this State on Tuesday, Nov. 7th next there will be submitted to the electors four amendments to the constitution of this state.

When a voter goes to the polls and is given a ticket with some proposed amendment printed there on, very likely he has never heard of it or if so has given it no attention at all. He consequently votes either one way or the other just to say he has voted and in many cases he doesn't vote on the question at all.

That the readers of the Herald may have time to read and inform themselves on the proposed amendments to be submitted at the November election, we have concluded to print the following which we have just received from the Department of State:

A proposed amendment to Article XVI of the constitution, by adding a section thereto to be known as section 11, and to read as follows:

"Section 11. The manufacture, sale, keeping for sale, giving away, bartering or furnishing of any vinous, malt, brewed, fermented, spirtuous or intoxicating liquors, except for medicinal, mechanical, chemical, scientific or sacramental purposes shall be after April 30th, 1918, prohibited in the state forever. The legislature shall by law provide regulations for the sale of such liquors for medicinal, mechanical, chemical, scientific or sacramental purposes."

The effect of this proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to provide for prohibition in the state forever of the maunfacture, sale, keeping for sale, giving away, bartering or furnishing of any vincus, malt, brewed, fermented, spirituous or intoxicating liquors, except for medicinal, mechanical, scientific, or sacramental, purposes, after April 30, 1918.

A proposed amendment to Article VIII of the constitution, by adding a section thereto, to be known as section 30, and to read as follows:

"Section 30. Every incorporated city, every incoporated village and every organized township (meaning thereby all that part of a township outside the limits of an incorporated city or village located partly or wholly therein) shall each have the right to determine by a majority vote of the electors thereof, whether or not there shall be prohibited therein the manufacture and sale of malt, brewed fermented, vinous, distilled or intoxicating liquors.

Appropriate legislation shall be enacted to enforce and make effective the provisions of this section and, until such legislation is enacted, existing local option and regulatory laws on this subject shall continue in force; but no esisting law inconsistent with the provisions of this section shall continue in force after January 1, 1919."

The effect of this proposed amendment if adopted, will be to provide that every incorporated city and village, and organized township shall each have the rignt to determine whether on not, there shall be prohibited therein the manufacture and sale of malt, brewed, fermeted, vinous, distilled or intoxicating liquors, after January 1, 1919.

A proposed amendment to Section 30, of Article V of the constitution, and to read as follows:

"Section 30. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judical question. No local or special act, excepting acts repealing local or special acts in effect January one, nineteen hundred nine and receiving a two-thirds vote of the legislature shall take effect until approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district to be affected."

The effect of this proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to provide the right of repela of local or special acts by the legislature without requiring the submission of same to the district affected.

A proposed amendment to Article XII of the constitution, by adding a section thereto to be known as section 10, and to read as follows:

"Section 10. The legislature shall provide by general law fo rthe incorporation and regulation of fraternal benefit societies, which societies are defined as, any corporation without capital stock organized and carried on solely for the mutual benefit of its members and their beneficiaries and not for profit, and which shall make provision for the payment of death benefits.

Every such society may provide for the payment of benefits in case of temporary or permanent physical disability, either as the result of disease, accident or old age, and for the payment of last sickness and funeral benefits. Any such society may at its option have a lodge system, with ritualistic form of work but neither such lodge system nor ritualistic form of work shall be compulsory.

The legislature shall also provide by general law, the terms and conditions upon which fraternal benefit societies organized under the laws of another state may do business within this state.

No fraternal benefit society, excepting those now exempted under section 29 of act 169 of the public acts of the State of Michigan of 1913 shall be authorized to incorporate or do business in this state, unless it shall have in its laws:

(a) A representative or democratic form of self-government with a provision for the recall of its officers by majority vote of its members voting, upon petition of not greater than fifteen per cent of the membership;

(b) Provisions authorizing the initiation of, or a referendum upon any law, upon a petition of ten per cent of the membership, the same to be decided by a majority vote of the members voting;

(c) Provisions requiring its officers, upon demand of five or more of its subordinate organizations, to furnish to such subordinate organizations, a mailing list of Michigan members for use in the exercise of the initiative, referendum or recall; Provided, that it shall be a misdemeanor and punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed ninety days for any person to make use of such mailing list for any other purpose than hereinabove stated.

No law shall be valid—

(1). Which requires a valuation or inventory of any fraternal benefit society upon any basis which will show such society to be insolvent when its assets exceed its accrued liabilities, or which shall require the collection of assessments for death benefits is excess of the actual average mortuary cost per thousand dollars ($1,000) insurance in force of the ten largest legal reserve life in companies of the United States of America of fifty years' experience; Provided, that any society having a mortality higher than the average mortality of the legal reserve companies aforesaid, may be required to collect assessments on the basis of its actual average death rate experience for the previous five years; or

(2) Which denies any fraternal benefit society the right to expend its funds other than mortuary funds, for the circulating of petitions or otherwise promulgating laws and constitutional amendments for its own protection; Provided, that no such funds may be used for corrupt purposes.

Existing laws of this state governing fraternal benefit societies are not invalidated except so far as inconsistent with this section.

Any fraternal benefit society authorized to do business in this state on the taking effect of this amendment, may continue to do such business only until the next meeting of its general or supreme body unless its laws shall comply in all respects with the provisions of this amendment Societies organized under the laws of another state, not exempt under section 29 of act 169 of the public acts of the state of Michigan of 1913, may transact business in this state by complying with the provisions of this amendment as to their business in this state; Providee, that if any such society shall fail to comply, any five hundred or more members of such society shall be entitled, upon application, to incorporate and do business under the laws of this state, as a fraternal benefit society."

The effect of this proposed amendment if adopted, will be to require the legislature to provide by law, for the incorporation, regulation and supervision of fraternal benefit societies.

This statement is made in compliance with Act 23, Public Acts of 1915, which in part is as follows: The secretary of state shall prepare concise statements, setting forth the pur port, nature and effect of proposed amendments, and send to the daily and weekly newspapers with a request that said papers give as wide publicity as possible. Publication of any matter by any paper under the provisions of this act, shall be without expense to the State of Michigan.

TEST FOR CLOTHS.

How to Tell if Cottons Hide In Your New Wool Suit.

To test silk boil the sample in 5 per cent solution of caustic potash for fifteen minutes. If the silk is pure the fabric will be practically destroyed leaving but a small residue like paper ashes. If there is cotton in it the cotton will remain. Another excellent test is to remove the threads which form the warp and the woof. Keep these separately and test them in strong hydrochloric or sulphuric acid. If they are pure silk the threads will dissolve within two minutes. If there is either wool or cotton in the fabric the threads will remain unaffected.

Pure woolens are adulterated even more than silk because they are in greater demand and also because they are quite easy to imitate. Many a yard of cloth sold as "pure wool" contains from 30 to 60 per cent cotton. Blankets sold as "half wool" have frequently been found to contain only 10 per cent of pure wool. There are machines today which cleverly wrap wool around cotton threads, and the finished product has every appearance of being all wool. Another method of adulterating is by taking cotton cloth and "felting" short woolen threads upon its surface by means of heat, moisture and pressure.

A purchaser may be fully convinced from the appearance and feeling of cloth that it is all wool, but the only safe method is to take home the sample and make tests. Immerse the sample of so called wool in oil of vitriol for about two minutes. This will destroy the cotton, but the wool will not be affected. Another test is to moisten a sample with 50 per cent nitric acid. This will turn the wool yellow, but the cotton will retain its color.

Use the same tests for linens that you do for woolens. If the sample is genuine linen it will not be affected by oil of vitriol, but any cotton that is in it will be destroyed. Imitation damask is made today by means of printing upon the surface, with a sort of transparent mucilage, the designs. These designs appear to be woven into the cloth. By immersing a sample in boiling hot water and allowing it to boil for several minutes the design will disappear.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Congressman Beakes of This District and Congressman Aswell of Louisiana also Other Prominent Democrats Were Present.

The opening gun of the local Democratic campaign was fired Friday night when a grand rally was held at the opera house. A band concert was given in front of the opera house, at eight o'clock, after which the meeting was called to order by State Representative Harry A. Moore, who made a rousing appeal to the people to stand by the party that had so safely guided them for the past four years.

In introducing Congressman Beakes, he pointed to his excellent work, and to the fact that he had given himself untiringly to this work, and was a most efficient servant of the people of this district. Congressman Beakes said that he felt at home before a Lenawee audience, as Lenawee Co. had always given him good support Another reason was, that thirty years ago, he ran a newspaper in this county.

Mr. Beakes lauded President Wilson and spoke of the pledges that he had fulfilled during his four years of service, of the many measures that had been passed by Congress during his administration noticably among them the Federal reserve banking bill, the Income tax and the Farm Loan bill, and that the Tariff had been revised downward in accordance with his pledge The Democratic party Mr. Beakes claims is a party of progress that there had been more valuable legislation passed under the present administration than had been passed during any presidential term.

In closing, Mr. Beakes introduced his co worker Congressman Aswell of Louisiana, who was one of the public servants in Washington who had been a faithful worker and untiringly on the job He was one of the best informed of the congressman in Washington and a prominent member of the Pension bureau Congressman Aswell was the main speaker of the evening, and gave a very eloquent address. Like his friend Mr. Beakes of Michigan, he was a candidate for Congressman from Louisiana, but as he had no opposition he felt it safe to say that his election was assured, and had offered his services to the National Democrats committee with the proviso, that he choose the territory that he would cover

He was glad to be in Lenawee and to do what he could for his friend Congressman Beakes. Another reason why he was glad to be in Lenawee county was that statistics showed that county had the lowest grade of illiteracy and the highest grade of intelligence of any county in the United States, therefore he judged that he was speaking to an intelligent audience He was somewhat sarcastic in reference to the campaign being waged by candidate Chas E. Hughes, and upheld the diplomatic course of President in regard to the European War and Mexico

The next speaker to be introduced was H. Thane Bauman of Morenci democratic candidate for prosecuting attorney who made a few brief remarks stating that he was out for the office of prosecuting attorney, and made no bones in saying that he wanted the office and appealed to the voters, for their support.

Among the Lenawee candidates aside from the speakers were O. B. Clark, candidate for sheriff, L. A Teachout for register of deeds, John T Boyce for treasurer, Almon J Roberts drain commissioner, Herbert A Knowles clerk and J B Haynes senator.

The platform was decorated with a large picture of President Woodrow Wilson supported on either side by pictures of Washington and Lincoln

There was a good crowd in attendance, the hall being filled

HOUSE PLANTS.

How to Take Care of Them When Potted.

To make ferns grow better place some thin pieces of raw beef close to the inside of the pot, between the pot and the soil. Save your leftover coffee and dilute with cold water. Use this to water your ferns and it will act as a fertilizer.

If an asparagus fern turns yellow, repot it, giving it a strong loam enriched with one-fifth very old and finely crumbled manure and add a little coarse sand. Give the fern an hour or two of sunlight each day. Water when it looks dry, but do not let it stand in any water that may have run through into the saucer.

To destroy aphis, shower foliage of infested plant on both sides with strong tobacco tea, or, if the plant be small enough, immerse it in this tea.

Insects in the earth of a potted plant may be destroyed by pouring over the soil a glass of water in which a pinch of mustard has been stirred.

How to Keep Plants Fresh While You're Away From Home Awhile.

There is a simple way to water ferns and flowers which will be of interest to one who must leave them for a time without care. Take a washing tub and place three or four bricks in it and put about two inches of water in the tub. Place the flowers on these bricks and place the tub where they can get the morning sunshine.

Lord Palmerston's Dinner.

Lord Palmerston was a remarkable feeder, as is shown by this account of his table work when he was eighty years of age.

"He ate for dinner two plates of turtle soup. He was then served very amply to a plate of cod and oyster sauce. He then took a pate, afterward he was helped to two very greasy looking entrees. He then dispatched a plate of roast mutton. There then appeared before him the largest and, to my mind, the hardest slice of ham that ever figured on the table of a nobleman, yet it disappeared just in time to answer the inquiry of his butler, 'Snipe, my lord, or pheasant?' He instantly replied, 'Pheasant,' thus completing his ninth dish of meat at that meal."

This was Lord Palmerston, who lived and worked like a horse till he was eighty-one, and would doubtless have poured scorn upon the scientific slops and gruels offered to old men in our day. Palmerston was one that was nourished by his victuals and would fain have meat.—New York Post.

The Onion.

There is nothing particularly poetical about the onion, but Shakespeare has several references to this "edible biennial bulbous root," defined by Johnson simply as "a plant." The bard's comments are, however, mostly concerned with the lachrymal properties, and Swift refers to it in a cookery book manner, advising that it be well boiled if we do not wish our kissing to be spoiled. Beaumont and Fletcher, however, in "The Mad Lover," make a direct reference to its medicinal virtues:

"The plague."
"I'll cure it with an onion."

LYMAN H. HOWE

To be Given at the Bradley Opera House, October 17.

The thrills of travel without its dangers may once again be enjoyed in rich measure at the Bradley Opera house on Tuesday October 17, when Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival will be the attraction. To "Travel With Howe" is as instructive and much less laborious and annoying than doing it yourself, and is much cheaper.

A trip of exceeding charm will be made to Hawaii, "The Paradise of the Pacific," during which the reaping of the sugar cane harvest is depicted as well as a railroad ride along the coast of Hilo, a veritable land of enchantment. At Waikiki Beach, "The Atlantic City" of the islands, natives are shown surf riding. One of the most striking contrasts of this series is that afforded by the stupendous spectacle of awfulness and desolation in the crater of the volcano of Kilauea, yet set in the midst of so much luxuriant beauty and tropical loveliness that it may aptly be described as an Inferno in the heart of Eden.

Another pictorial tour that abounds with a succession of scenic sensations is that which takes spectators through the stupendously impressive fjords of Norway—Land of the Midnight Sun From Norway to Sunny Spain ordinarily would require days and days of tedious travel and especially at present when the war has disorganized traveling facilities so completely, in the Howe entertainment the transition is made in an instant and those who make the pictorial journey will linger in the gardens of the Alcazar, peer at the Giralda of Seville, watch peasant fisherman landing a big catch of sardines, woman spinning wool, and will also see the fairest of Spain's fair senoritas dancing the fascing the fascinating "La Jota"

From the realm of bird life superb reproductions in the colors of nature will be presented as well as some members of the finny tribe, catching sharks, etc., not to mention a copious measure of entirely new comedy cartoons which will animate and permeate the whole program in a delightfully whimsical way.

Life at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point will also be presented in a manner that makes a profound impression on spectators of the methods and varied training, activities and discipline employed to develop the cadets to the highest degree of efficiency.

Lyman H Howe has never disappointed a local audience and thus he gains new every season, in addition to his old patrons who know what to expect when his name appears The new Travel Festivel program promises just as many wonderful reproductions as its predecessors

35 YEAR AGO

October 6, 1881

The weather was rather moist for Church going last Sunday.

These rains will bring new life to the pasture fields and ought to knock down butter a notch or two.

Secure your seats early to hear Mrs. Parlington and see that your buttons are well sewed on before next Monday morning.

David Phelps is at home for a few days visit. The climate of the upper penninsular evidently agrees with his health. He has grown so fleshy that we did not know him.

During the seven days ending last Sunday night, about seven inches of rain fell. The clerk of the weather had he distributed some of this water would have shown better judgment had he distributed some of this water through the drouth of August and September.

Our printers devil who carries a barometer in his hip pocket informs us that the weather has been chalked down for the ensuing calendar week, thusly, Sunday a rainy day; Monday, a storm; Tuesday, signs of wet moisture; Wednesday, a young deluge; Thursday, more rain; Friday, a splendid day to fill cisterns; Saturday the Ridgeway farmers will come to town in canoes.

Last Saturday morning our county jail contained seventeen prisoners.

Farmers bring reports of a wonderful growth in pastures and wheat fields within the past few days on account of rain.

With the present indications of the high price of fuel and provisions staring poor people in the face and the low rate of wages doing the same thing, the approaching winter is not going to be the pleasantest thing in the world for that class.

Capt. Hayden is very sick with a fever.

Billy Sutfin is clerking for Cotton.

Perry Hosmer has been elected secretary of the Masonic lodge in place of S. H. Merritt, resigned.

Tom Adamson arrived home from New York Monday and says an immense stock of goods will soon follow him.

WHY THE EYES ARE STRAINED AT MOVIES.—Physicians are constantly advising patrons of the movies to protect their eyes. A writer in the Journal of the American Medical association tells why eye strain is produced and how to obviate it.

"The progress made in the character of subjects presented in the movies today makes it desirable for all inquiring people to at least attend occasionally," he says. "Annoying after effects on the eyes of many prevent them from enjoying the social diversion and often the educational advantages thus derived. The great majority of those who suffer from eye strain after watching moving pictures can find much, if not complete, relief in perfectly fitted glasses. The picture may not be quite so sharp, but this is more than compensated for by the increased comfort.

"For those with very sensitive eyes a colored glass, either amber, yellowish green or amethyst, may be necessary to give complete relief. There have been put on the market recently several varieties of colored glass, each of which has some advantages, so that some suitable color can usually be secured. A subdued light in the theater is much less irritating than when the only light visible comes from the screen. It is also advisable to avoid sitting in a place where it is necessary to look upward, as the additional strain becomes very tiresome and frequently leaves a headache."

Linen was first referred to in 1716 B. C. Its manufacture started in England in 1253.

Mr. Conley was not an old man, being about 65 years of age and up to the time of his accident was full of energy and good works and was actively engaged in his church work. Many a "Grouch" Could Be Glad

Too often a person's disposition is blamed, when it is his digestion that is at fault. Some time when the world looks blue and dingy, when you feel an irresistible impulse to snap and snarl, when you feel dull and gloomy, stuffed up and uncomfortable—with a mean headache, bilious stomach, furred tongue—then take a Foley Cathartic Tablet.

If your bowels are sluggish, if your intestines are clogged with a decomposing poisonous mess, if you are not eliminating properly, this little tablet will afford prompt, sure and safe relief without griping, pain, nausea or costive effects.

Foley Cathartic Tablets are a genuinely wholesome physic—an ideal laxative. They keep the system fit and fine, purged of poisons, and ready to resist disease. Stout people say they have no equal for bringing a light and free feeling.

Sold by druggists everywhere. Distributed by Foley & Co., Chicago, makers of the celebrated Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs and colds.

Sold everywhere in Tecumseh.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Tecumseh People

Too many Tecumseh citizens are handicapped with bad backs. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause if the kidneys are weak. To eliminate the pains and aches of kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—thousands testify to their merit. Can you doubt Tecumseh evidence?

Mrs. W. Service, E. Logan St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had weakness and soreness across my back. I felt run down and tired out and could hardly keep going. I had frequent headaches, too, and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they helped me right away. They strengthened my back and put my kidneys in good order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Service had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Infantile Convulsions.

When a baby has convulsions it generally means one of two things—either it is suffering from toxaemia or poisoning, which is usually the result of errors in the diet, or else there is some serious trouble with the nervous system.

The first thing to do when a baby falls into a convulsion is to get it into a warm bath as quickly as possible. That is done to relieve blood tension and equalize the circulation, and to this end it is well to give cold applications to the head at the same time.

Do not hesitate to give the hot bath. Sometimes inexperienced people who dread to make a mistake insist on waiting until the doctor comes. But the hot bath for a baby in convulsions can never be a mistake. The doctor should be called without delay, because in severe cases the bath must be followed by sedative and relieving treatment that he only will know how to employ. There is one important "don't" to remember—don't put anything into the child's mouth—either food, medicine or stimulant, while you are waiting for the doctor.

HOW

To Destroy Troublesome Insect Pests In Your Home

ROACHES.—Coal oil is one of the best agents for the destruction of roaches and their eggs. It should be sprayed freely by means of a machine oil can into the cracks and crevices of the floors and other woodwork where they breed. Powdered borax mixed with a little sugar is also a good remedy, but in the presence of other food borax is not very effective. It is suggested that cracks and crevices, which are their hiding places, be closed up with putty or paint. Since these pests hide by day and go forth at night to feed, it is essential that all foodstuffs be kept under cover and crumbs carefully swept from the floor. The kitchen sink should be kept scrupulously clean, while the kitchen closets should be thoroughly scrubbed from time to time.

Ants.—These little busy workers may readily invade the home. They can easily be destroyed by tracing them to their nests and pouring into them gasoline, benzine or coal oil. When using these substances remember that they are highly inflammable.

Fleas.—Human fleas, dog fleas and cat fleas are familiar household pests, the latter being the most prevalent. The larvae or embryo young of fleas live in the interstices of carpets, mattings and in the corners and cracks of floors. Since cats and dogs generally bring these pests into the home, care should be taken that these animals be kept thoroughly clean. Special rugs should be provided for them to sleep upon and the dust from the rugs burned. Hot water, soap and the scrub brush are very effective in destroying the pests which hide in the crevices of the floors. Here again gasoline is one of the best destructive agents. Carpets and heavy draperies should be dispensed with during the warm weather.

Bedbugs.—Their presence does not always reflect upon the housewife, as they may be found in very carefully kept homes. A good way to destroy them is to spray their hiding places with a solution of corrosive sublimate (one ounce to a pint of alcohol). This substance is poisonous and should be so marked. Gasoline is one of the most efficient agents used in the extermination of the bedbug and should be sprayed freely in cracks and crevices with a machine oil can. Turpentine and kerosene are less efficient and leave oily stains after their use.

Moths.—These are very destructive in clothes when not properly protected. Furs and woolens are particularly susceptible to the influence of moths. Thoroughly brush and clean the clothes before they are put away for the summer. Pack them in large paper bags or boxes, which should be made air tight by sealing the edges with strips of paper. Wardrobes should be free of dust and thoroughly cleaned. Moth preventive or tar balls should be freely distributed in trunks, closets and in the pockets of clothes. It is also a good plan to unpack these clothes occasionally during the summer and give them an adequate airing in the sun.

Flies.—Keep the garbage pail covered tightly. Fly paper freely distributed will be a great help in destroying them. A solution of potassium bichromate (one teaspoonful to two ounces of sugared water) or a few drops of formalin in sweetened water will kill flies when placed where they can drink.

Mosquitoes.—Burning a pyrethrum powder or sulphur will stupefy them. They then fall to the floor and can be burned with the sweepings. Do not allow any water to accumulate in barrels, pans, buckets, on the roof of any part of the house, as mosquitoes breed readily in standing water.

THE SHARK INVASION.

Why These Dangerous Fish Have Left Their Old Haunts.

Apropos of sharks, says a contributor to the New York World, in the opinion of many of the merchant marine officials the present influx of them to our shores is due to several reasons: First, disturbing conditions attributed to the war in Europe, whereby they are driven from their native haunts and seek new quarters. The large number of horse ships attract them, the sharks following them often for days. When a ship loses, say, fifty horses in one voyage, one can easily see the reason for this. Emboldened by noninterference, they have made their appearance in large numbers off the coast of France and even in the Mediterranean sea, a thing unheard of hitherto.

These remarks are the summing up of many British officers in the merchant marine service engaged in carrying large cargoes of supplies for the allies.

Under the circumstances it would seem reasonable to expect these monsters to appear on our shores just as long as the cause of their presence exists, and, while it may interest the learned scientists to offer many interesting reasons for it, the fact still remains the same.

What Housewives Are Glad to Know

Home Cookery

Corn Soup.

Cut enough corn from the cob to make one pint of the milky part of the kernels without the hulls; add one pint of hot water or plain white stock. Let it cook for ten minutes. Meanwhile have ready one quart of milk brought to the boiling point and season with a teaspoonful of onion juice; add this to the corn and thicken with a tablespoonful of flour mixed with a tablespoonful of butter. Simmer gently for fifteen minutes, press through a puree sieve, add a little butter and serve.

Scalloped Rice With Cheese.

Boil a cupful of rice in salted water for half an hour. Do not stir while cooking, but shake the pan occasionally. When done drain well through a colander and arrange in layers in a deep baking dish, alternating with layers of grated American cheese. When all the rice has been used pour over all a cupful of sweet milk and dot the top with bits of butter. Bake in a quick oven and serve from the dish in which it was baked.

Orange Omelet.

Beat the yolks and whites of five eggs separately, combine and season; add five tablespoonfuls of cream, in which has been dissolved two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch. Pour into a buttered omelet pan and cook slowly on top of the stove until the egg is set, then place the pan inside the oven to finish cooking. Spread one-half of the omelet with orange preserves and serve on a hot platter.

Fried Eggplant.

Pare an eggplant and cut in slices one-fourth of an inch thick; sprinkle with salt; pile one slice on top of another, weight down with a plate and let stand for a couple of hours to press out the acid juice. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and fry slowly in fat till crisp and brown.

Salmon Loaf.

Two cupfuls of salmon, three eggs, one cupful of stale breadcrumbs, salt, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, pepper, one teaspoonful of onion juice. Chop the salmon until fine, mix with crumbs, season and moisten with beaten egg. Put in buttered mold, steam for two hours or bake one hour. Serve hot.

Mold on Canned Goods

Mold may develop on canned goods (1) If the seal is defective.

(2) If, after sterilizing, tops are removed from jars to replace rubber ring. Jars should be returned to the canner for at least five minutes when this is done.

(3) If jars are kept in a damp place where the rubbers may decompose, mold may enter through these decomposed rubbers.

How to Protect Grapes From Birds and Insects.

Grapes may be protected from birds and insects by tying up the clusters in paper bags. Ordinary bags from the grocery store are sufficient, one being slipped over each bunch of grapes and made fast with soft twine. Perfect grapes can be grown in this way, and they will ripen a little earlier than otherwise. Bees are sometimes held responsible for damage to grapes, but they are falsely accused. Birds make the holes, and the bees simply feed on the juice that is exuded.

Smart Serge Dress For Misses' Fall Wear

The misses' serge dress here illustrated was designed for Franklin Simon & Co., New York. It is of navy blue French serge, the waist and belt bound with black silk braid. The long tabs from the belt are finished with braid, buttons and silk tassels. The white collar is of hemstitched georgette crape with navy georgette over collar.

How Boys Would Be Kept on the Farm

A Colorado farm boy has offered these suggestions to parents who want to keep their boys and girls on the farm:

"Get good books, magazines and farm papers for the young people to read.

"Have some kind of club for them to attend.

"Arrange matters so they can have a party or entertainment once in awhile.

"Go with them to church every Sunday.

"Teach them to do all kinds of farm work by giving them a small tract of land for themselves and showing them how to raise their crops, and have them help you with your work.

"Give them a horse which they can ride or drive when they haven't anything to do or when they want to go anywhere.

"Teach them to love and be kind to animals.

"After they finish their school send them to the state agricultural schools.

"Take time to teach them the 'hows' and 'whys' of farm work."

Presumptuous as it may seem for a lad to advise his elders as to the best ways of solving one of the hardest problems, there is no small amount of helpful common sense in the ideas of the boy who at home and in school has had a chance to see ways of bettering country living.

Secret of Cold Light.

The substitution of paper rolls for celluloid films in moving picture machines, made possible by the new "cold" light discovered by the French engineer Doussaud, is obtained by automatic separation of heat rays from luminous rays, which occur together in all sources of light hitherto known to science.

The quest of an absolutely pure light, devoid of all heat, long has been one of the great problems of physics.

M. Doussaud has been working on this problem for many years. The light obtained by this method is so intense that it is possible to throw images from newspaper illustrations, picture postcards and photographic prints on a screen even in a lighted room as clearly and sharply as if they were glass lantern slides.

Make the Best of Things.

If we do our best, if we do not magnify trifling troubles, if we look resolutely, I do not say at the bright side of things, but at things as they really are; if we avail ourselves of the manifold blessings which surround us, we cannot but feel that life is indeed a glorious inheritance.—Sir John Lubbock.

Knicker—My wife is always praising the men she rejected for me. Bocker—Never mind; she will praise you to her second husband.—New York Sun.

The Holes in the Moccasins.

In the social life of the North American Indians many little dramatic acts occur significant of beliefs that are difficult for a stranger to understand correctly. A relative comes to the home of an infant and presents it with a tiny pair of moccasins with a hole cut in each sole. The Indian mother understands the tender wish conveyed by the act. The baby is thus recognized as an Omaha child, for the moccasins anticipate the ceremony in which the "new life" is proclaimed a member of the tribe. The holes are a sign of usage; they express the giver's prayer for a long life to the child. A person might enter the tent, see the tiny moccasins with the holes and exclaim, "What a long way the little one has traveled!" This, too, would be a prayer for long life to the child. If an unseen messenger from the spirit world should approach the infant to bid it come with him the child would be able to say, "No, I can't go with you; look, my moccasins are worn out!" And so the baby would not be taken away from its mother.

Napoleon Obeyed the Mob.

In "The Corsican—A Diary of Napoleon's Life In His Own Words," Bonaparte tells how as an obscure soldier he witnessed some of the opening scenes of the revolution: "I lodged at Rue du Mail, Place des Victories. At the sound of the tocsin and the news that the Tuileries were attacked I started for the Carousel. Before I had got there in the Rue des Petits Champs I was passed by a mob of horrible looking fellows parading a head stuck on a pike. Thinking I looked too much of a gentleman, they wanted me to shout 'Vive la nation!' which I did promptly, as may easily be imagined."

A big new discovery in cigarette blending

The big thing about Chesterfields is their unique blend. The Chesterfield blend is an entirely new combination of tobaccos. This blend is the most important new development in cigarette making in 20 years.

As a result, Chesterfields produce a totally new kind of cigarette enjoyment—they satisfy! Just like a "bite" before bedtime satisfies when you're hungry.

But with all that, Chesterfields are MILD, too!

This new enjoyment (satisfy, yet mild) comes ONLY in Chesterfields because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend.

In this issue appears an ad calling attention to the Commerce Club banquet which will be held in the Presbyterian church parlors Thursday evening, Oct. 19th, at 6 o'clock. This is an important meeting and every one interested in the welfare of Tecumseh should try and be present. Your attendance at this meeting will help a great deal. Come with ideas as to how a Commerce Club can better serve Tecumseh.

Our Commerce Club for the last year or two has been in a measure inactive and what work has been done has been narrowed down to a handful of people. This should not be. It is a business men's organization or rather a people's organization and every member should get back of it and help push.

In a great many places, towns and cities are paying big money to get outside organizers to come in and work up a large membership and create a new, live interest in their Commerce Club. It has had a good effect in almost all cases, for it has aroused people to action. We need not spend our money here in Tecumseh for outside help for we can do this work ourselves, but it is essential that our people should interest themselves in our Commerce Club and give it their support now and in the future. The trouble with us here is that we are always willing that the other fellow should do all the work and if he doesn't do it to suit us, to stand back and criticize him.

There is an endless number of things a Commerce Club can do for a town and no live town or city in this day and generation is without one.

Plan to attend this banquet and bring along a bunch of new ideas and above all plan to get behind the organization and boost for the coming year. We want a bigger Tecumseh, we want a better Tecumseh, we want people to come to our town to trade and we want many other things. Won't you help tell us what they are?

Be sure and be at the banquet and don't forget the date: Thursday evening, Oct. 19th, at the Presbyterian church.

WHAT IS "HOME RULE"

So-called home rule is the brewer's plan to destroy every item of temperance legislation made in Michigan in 20 years.

It is intended to confuse the issue on the prohibition question.

It is intended to put a saloon in every neighborhood and drink within the reach of every boy.

It is the plan to make the voting unit on the liquor question so small that 20 floating voters can swing an election for the wets anywhere and any place. This will save the booze men money because in order to swing a state they have to import thousands of voters.

It is misnamed. It has nothing to do with the home except to wreck it by making drunken husbands and fathers.

It is a scheme of the Mich. Home Rule League, the brewer's organization, to get even further control of our state and city politics than it has at present.

Fisherman's Luck In England.

A Bath angler pulled up a lady's satchel containing £3; an Irish doctor hooked and landed a lady's bicycle; Lieutenant Kennard "caught" a signet ring in the river Avon, and on advertising it an owner came forward in the person of Major Hickley, who proved that his father, the late Admiral Hickley, lost it while fishing in the Avon twenty-five years before, and a Trent angler in Nottinghamshire "caught" an old stocking containing £4 10s. in gold and silver.—Baily's Magazine.

"Mah name," answered one, "is Soda, and his name," pointing to the other, "is Saleratus. Maw done lose all her oder chilluns, and she give us names she find successful in raisin'."

LYMAN H. HOWE

Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Bradley opera house on Tuesday, Oct. 17th, is inimitable not only because of the scenes themselves, but also because of the way they are presented. Mr Howe links the sense of sound with the sense of sight so precisely and yet so naturally that the effect is hypnotic in its compelling power. He knows how to imbue the mere lights and shadows of electric rays with a vitality that is akin to life itself. Hidden corners of the earth, life and customs in strange climes, and the scenic spots of foreign lands are all produced in picture form that is perfection. It lifts the veil which distance has placed between us and foreign countries and enables us to realize how others dress, move and have their being. It teaches without dryness and imparts a certain knowledge which no books or lecturer could.

The success of Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival is due to a great extent to the fact that Mr. Howe knows how to make each picture do its own talking more eloquently than any lecturer could The new program demonstrates the value of his attraction as the best kind of an evening's entertainment imaginable. Stirring scenes from odd corners of the world are presented in such rapid succession that the whole program affords one continual thrill of delight.

In his current offering there is a splendid series of Hawaii, showing exceptionally fine stereoscopic views along the route of the Hilo Railway, the active volcano of Kilauea, cutting sugar cane and various methods of transporting same, throw net fishing, surf riding, etc, by the natives, and various other phases of the daily life and scenic charm of our beautiful islands in the Pacific. In the course of a journey through Norway the remarkable sight of a vast herd of reindeer swimming across a wide fjord is seen In Spain "Howe tourists" will see quaint villages built on rocks, peasant women spinning wool, wonderful Moorish architecture, etc. Life at the United States Military Academy at West Point is comprehensively depicted and there will be different specimens of birds and fish in natural colors, dissolving portraits of famous men, new and amusing cartoons and many others.

Sponge Growth.

Fragments of sponge transported to another locality heal in about three months, when they again begin to grow. Irregular bits soon become spherical and rapidly increase in size, adding twenty-five times their own value in the course of four or five years. The growth is, of course, slow, especially during the first year, mainly because of the necessity for healing the wound caused by the tearing off of the fragment from the main body for transplanting.

After Nov. 30, it will cost you just $70 more to buy a 7-22 Chalmers. But the price on the 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers remains (for the time being) $1090 Detroit

Until midnight of Nov. 30 you can get a 7-22 Chalmers for $1280 Detroit—a car of rare ability, fascinating in body equipment, and, like a beautiful woman, of exquisite charm.

After that date the price becomes $1350 Detroit—$70 more. The $70 is just a few dollars less than the increase in cost of manufacture of this car since its appearance in June.

To those who have longed for the 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers—and have not yet possessed one, just a word of warning: the price remains unchanged just now—$1090 Detroit; we do not know how long this low price will continue. We reserve the right to increase the price without notice.

Only those who are buying materials such as go into high-grade automobiles can begin to realize the steady, upward trend of the materials market.

Just one condition today prevents a rise in price of the 5-pas 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers—the fact that t e cars are being made on a fa ork order" dating back several months.

Since the "work order" went through materials have jumped in cost again. When the current "work order" is completed and if materials remain at their present level or rise higher, only one course will be possible, an increased price.

Those who have been driving Chalmers cars know how diligent has been the Chalmers effort to set down cars of the quality kind.

They will understand how impossible it would be for Chalmers to dodge the increase-in-materials issue and maintain the prevailing price on the 7-22 Chalmers.

Lower the quality of the Chalmers car? Never. The Chalmers men take great pride, not only in the money the car makes for them, but in the car itself. And pride, as everyone knows, is a thing that can never be compromised.

It would be like Tissot trying to paint a picture to fit a price.

As long as there's a name "Chalmers", there will be a quality car, and as long as there's a quality car there'll be a price fixed—not by the Sales Department—but by cost accountants.

And there'll be a fair deal. Chalmers says these two 3400 r. p. m. models will be continued into next season. You can bank on that. So that a Chalmers car you might buy now will be exactly like the one you would buy next spring.

Remember the $70 you can save now by anticipating the rise ir There's an old Scotch proverb that says "A dollar saved is a dollar earne 70 buys a good suit of clothes, a good pair of shoes, a good hat and some good gloves. Also it just about pays your dues at the club for a year.

Or, if it's a 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers you want, our advice is to get one now.

We are not sure the price is going up and we are not sure that it isn't.

CHEAP COAL

We honestly believe our RED BAND Coal is better than any coal we have ever sold. We really believe you will agree with us after you try some.

To illustrate, the average farmer for threshing wants good cheap coal. Many buy RED BAND year after year, because it is the cheapest in the end as it goes so much farther.

You will find the same experience in your home as the farmer does.

It comes in two sizes, Egg for cook stoves and Lump for heating stoves. The price per ton are Egg $5.00, Lump $5.50. If not delivered 50c per ton less.

Please do not get this coal confused with the other kinds, as there is only one RED BAND and that is sold only by

While no bones were broken he is badly hurt evidently striking on his head and shoulders, and as yet cannot draw a long breath. He was resting quietly at last reports, and hopes are entertained that his injuries may not prove serious.

Y. M. C. A. RELAY RACE

Tuesday afternoon October 10.

The Y. M. C. A. boys of Lenawee *county ran a relay race Friday after*noon at Adrian The race was run by various towns in the county, Weston, West Adrian, Deerfield, Blissfield, Ridgeway and Hudson participating. By some misunderstanding Tecumseh did not enter

Between 150 and 175 men and boys had a part in the race. In fact there were so many more than the committee had anticipated that a number of the men did not have a place at the banquet supper but had to go elsewhere for their meal and return for the program.

One hundred fourteen boys ran one-half mile Best time made. 2 min. 16 sec. A Deerfield boy and one from Blissfield tied. Another from Hudson ran the half mile in 2 min. 17 sec. The race necessarily is an uneven one because of the character of the different half miles and the varying ages of the boys

Ridgeway entered with 17 runners. Best time made by Guy Hindes, 2 min. 32 sec.; average time, 3 min. 15-17 sec., the second best average time made by any of the six teams Hudson's average time, 2 min 51 sec.

Following were some of the runners: Judson Somers, Loree Barnes, William Foley, Kenneth Fletcher, John Baker, Paul Allison, Carrol Frost, Garth Stalter, Harley VanVleet, Earl Sancrant, Douglas Baker, Dewey Berry, Virgil Shough, Percy Foley, Glenn Hindes, Guy Hindes, Elmer Shumar.

The County Y. M. C. A. hopes to make more extensive plans for a better organized and a larger relay race next year.

Message of J. O. Aldrich, postmaster to Hon B. L Hart "Allow me to introduce to you and delegation present, our new local Y M C A manager and protessor of our high school, Mr. Elmer Shumar, who has so loyally trained our boys for this our second annual relay race."

Mrs. Leslie Bower was a Jackson visitor Wednesday.

But we've come to think like this—
The proper Coffee properly made, used in reasonable moderation, is not at all likely to harm anyone.

On the contrary, we sell Coffee to a great many people who depend upon its greatful stimulation to start them going in the morning.

Yes, our Coffees are different from the kinds you generally buy at other stores.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

As it has pleased our heavenly Father to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Mrs. Mary Ford to a fairer home above. Therefore be it resolved that we express our heartfelt sympathy to the loved ones who are left to mourn her loss

Resolved, that we members of the Mother's meeting will miss her pleasant smile, her loyalty, fidelity and helpfulness to our band.

Resolved, that we humbly submit to the dispensation of an All Wise Providence.

Resolved, that we shall never cease to appreciate her service and emulate her virtues.

Resolved, that these resolutions be published, that they also be spread upon the records of our society and a copy be sent to the family of the deceased

THE PASSING OF THE OLD CHURCH.

Way back in 1840 the Presbyterians of Tecumseh built a house of worship on East Chicago street which they occupied until 1869 when having outgrown its capacity, they built the church they now occupy on West Chicago street.

The old Church was moved back on Maumee street and has been variously used, as a flouring and feed mill, a blacksmith shop and a macaroni factory which name it now bears.

But fate in the guise of the state fire inspector has pronounced its doom and it is to be razed to the ground.

Thus another old land mark will be destroyed but the memory of the other days will linger, as long as an old settler survives to tell the story.

TIRED OF LIFE

Constant Backache and Rheumatism

Foley Kidney Pills fixed up Texas brakeman so he's good as ever.

Almost down and out with kidney trouble. Rheumatism so bad he could scarcely get up when he sat down. Back ached all the time.

No wonder Mr. F. A. Wooley, brakeman on the road from Dallas to Jackson, Texas, "was tired of living."

"I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised," he said. "I took some and after a short time I was thoroughly cured and am having no more trouble.

Your kidney ills will disappear—and with them the backache and rheumatism, by the use of Foley's Kidney Pills. Once your kidneys become strong and active, aches and pains will disappear like magic.

There's nothing to equal the genuine. Will help any case of kidney or bladder trouble not beyond the reach of medicines. Contain no harmful drugs. Try them.

Sold everywhere in Tecumseh.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Tecumseh People

Too many Tecumseh citizens are handicapped with bad backs. The unceasing pin causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause if the kidneys are weak. To eliminate the pains and aches of kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—thousands testify to their merit. Can you doubt Tecumseh evidence?

Mrs. W. Service, E. Logan St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had weakness and soreness across my back. I felt run down and tired out and could hardly keep going. I had frequent headaches, too, and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they helped me right away. They strengthened my back and put my kidneys in good order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Service had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Rome, Oct. 16.—A great artillery battle, extending for more than fifty miles, is raging on the front where General Count Cadorna's forces are battling for Trieste.

For the last twenty-four hours the troops have remained in the mountain caverns and dugouts while the big guns have bellowed at their work. Official information given out at the war office indicates that there have been no infantry actions in this region since the last official report, although at several other points on the Austrian front, notably on the slopes of Mount Pasubic and in the Posina valley sharp clashes have occurred.

Austrians Suffer Reverse.

In the Pasubio region especially the Austrians suffered a heavy reverse, all their counter-attacks being broken up, while the Italians pressed forward towards Monte Rolte. In the Posina valley a surprise attack by Austrian detachments resulted in the temporary capture of an outpost, but Italian reserves, hurrying up, drove the raiders out.

The Italians have captured an entire Austrian mountain battery consisting of four canno and a quantity of ammunition in the Cosmagon region.

MAKE THE HOME BRIGHT.

Dark Colors For Walls and Woodwork Have a Depressing Effect.

The interior decorations of a man's home may have much to do with his domestic happiness or unhappiness, as the case may be, according to the secretary of the International Association of Master House Painters and Decorators. The depressing effect of dark colors in wood finish and wall paper has wrecked homes which would have been happy had the colors been bright, is the opinion of this expert.

"Dark colors in home decoration are like dark, gloomy days in their effect on people," he said. "It is well known that gloomy days are commonly known to the police as 'suicide days.' There are many more suicides, murders and other crimes on rainy days. A man owes it to his family to surround it with bright rooms which will catch all the sunlight there is and turn it into domestic happiness.

"A room done in dark colors has the same effect on persons entering it as utter darkness. One's senses cannot be so active as in bright surroundings, and there is a loss of buoyancy that breeds grouches, with all their disastrous results. Bright, clean, open minds are the sure result of bright surroundings."—Kansas City Star.

The train crew went forward to investigate and neglected to station a flagman, not thinking the third section was so close up. The headlight of the engine of the third section had failed just a few miles west of Bertrand and the train was on top of the second section before the crew knew of the trouble. Nine people painfully injured were taken from the wreckage and rushed to Holdredge. They will recover. The engine of the third section completely telescoped the caboose of the second section.

Man Eight and Half Feet Not Wanted in Trenches.

London, Oct. 16.—If you were eight feet two and a half inches high, weighed 430 pounds, and could throw two men around wouldn't you think the army would be glad to have you?

So thought a young Wiltshire innkeeper with these specifications. But he thought wrong. The ordinary Tommy's equipment wouldn't fit him. He would have to have everything made to order. His boots are size 22½. He can't get into an ordinary railroad seat and has to travel with the baggage. So the military authorities, after wrestling with the problem, have decided to let the giant keep on tending his inn. He is twenty-two years old and still growing.

Dean R. S. Shaw, M. A. C., Sees Readjustment of Population.

East Lansing, Oct. 16.—Dean Robert S. Shaw, of the Michigan Agricultural college, looks for a gradual readjustment of the population of the cities and country in the next five years.

At present farmers are discouraged, he says, because of two years of poor crops and shortage of labor, and a few are moving to the city, where the present industrial boom looks attractive.

"However, the high cost of living," he says, "is already making it impossigle for thousands to make a good living in the city, and when the industrial boom breaks the cities will be flooded with men out of work and one of the greatest back to the soil movements ever known will be seen. The present industrial boom with its unusual volumne of business, combined with unheard of high prices, will end in less than five years."

OLD FREIGHT CARS.

What They Endure Before They Are Sent to the Scrap Pile.

An average freight car costs about $350, but the refrigerator and special cars built for carrying perishable goods may cost two or three times that amount. The average freight car weighs about 28,000 pounds and has a carrying capacity of 60,000 pounds of freight.

There has never been a time when the companies had enough freight cars to meet the heavy demands of trade in seasons of unusual prosperity, and though thousands of new cars are built every year, car famines occur every time the season's crops are ready to be moved. The number of freight cars that are scrapped each year almost keeps pace with the number of new ones built.

The scrapping of a freight car is one of the fine arts of efficient railroading. A car may go to the repair shop half a dozen times before it is ready for the scrap pile. Not until the trucks are practically worn out so they cannot be renewed has the railway wanderer passed beyond its life of usefulness. Even then every part of the ironwork is recovered, and such parts that are still useful go into other cars before they are finally scrapped.

The wooden platform and the boards in sides are the first to be renewed, and then the coupling pins and mechanism, and finally the wheels. A freight car will frequently use up two sets of wheels before it is entirely worn out and ready for final demolition.—Popular Mechanics.

INDIA'S FAMOUS ROAD.

It Is Called the Most Romantic Highway In the World.

Every one who has seen it will agree with the New York Sun that the Grand Trunk road of India is by all means the most romantic highway in the world. That paper says of it:

A stately avenue of three roads in one—the center of hard metal, the roads on each side ankle deep in silvery dust—fringed by double rows of trees, it runs for 1,400 miles through the vast northern plain that skirts the Himalayas, from Calcutta to far Peshawar, which keeps sentinel at the gate of Afghanistan.

From horizon to horizon it stretches like a broad white ribbon, as straight as if traced by a gigantic ruler. And dotted along the entire length are hundreds of serats (wayside rest houses), each with its arched and turreted gateway, its spacious inclosure, where humans share shelter with oxen, camels and goats, and its central well of sparkling water.

For 3,000 years the Himalayas have looked down on this road and have seen it as they see it today. It has seen a hundred generations of men come and go, a score of dynasties rise and fall. And yet today it is to the eye exactly the same as in the long gone time when Nineveh was a proud city and our ancestors gnawed bones in their caves.

The First Money.

Money is mentioned as a medium of exchange in Genesis, chapter 23, and is supposed to refer to a time as far back as 1800 B. C. The coinage of money is ascribed to the Lydians, a people of Asia Minor. It is, of course, quite impossible to fix any definite date for the first coinage. Long before any one thought to coin money it was made out of any durable substance that came to hand, such as leather, iron, tin, bronze and even the hard bark of the trees and stones of the fields. The Hollander so late as the middle of the sixteenth century made money of pasteboard. In fact, pretty nearly everything in the shade of lasting material has at one time or another been used as the medium of trade known as money.

Original Sea Serpents.

The National museum at Washington contains a notable display of the bones of several species of extinct mammals which if seen alive in the ocean would be called huge sea serpents. They were carnivorous, and their long, slender jaws were armed with formidable teeth. Although a few remaining individuals of the group may have given actual basis for the sea serpent stories these extinct animals were not reptiles but mammals which, like the whale and seal and otter, had happened to evolve in an aquatic environment.—Chicago Journal.

Scene from "The Wild Goose Chase" featuring Ina Claire at the Bradley Opera House Wednesday, October 18.

The famous Paramount program presents Broadway's daintiest star, Ina Claire, in a picturization of the merry romance "The Wild Goose Chase."

Ina Claire, who is undoubtedly the foremost American star of her age, makes her photodramatic debut in this picturization of one of the most charming romatic comedies ever written. "The Wild Goose Chase" is the love story of a college boy and a charming girl. At about the time they first meet and fall instantly in love with one another, each is ordered by stern parents to marry an unknown mate. The reason for this is that the grandfathers of the two young people are two rich old gentlemen of France, and these two old men, according to European custom, offer to provide large sums of money if the two young people marry another.

To escape these inforced marriages, man and girl both leave home and from then on "The Wild Goose Chase" continues. To tell more here would spoil the picture, see it at the Bradley Wednesday evening, October 18th. It is a delightful comedy and one that everyone will enjoy.

During the coming months the management of the Bradley will use the "open market method" of booking films, in this way you will have a chance to see the very best photoplays produced irrespective of any certain program. Watch this paper for announcements from time to time. Some of these big features may cost you more than a dime but be assured that if we ask you more than the usual small price of ten cents that they are worth it or we would ask it.

Right at the present time the Paramount pictures that we are showing for a ten cent admission are being shown in Adrian for a straight 15c admission and have been for the past year or more.

G. A. R. ENTERTAINMENT

In spite of the stormy evening there was a good attendance at the G. A. R. meeting Monday evening and the program as given in our last issue was given almost entire, and proved very interesting. Prof. Bargy of Toledo gave a number of very fine vocal selections with his wife as accompanist, while our local talent was certainly good.

Jack Furse a S. of V. gave a few very interesting remarks. The paper by J. D. Shull on, "Our National Songs" brought out many interesting facts and was much enjoyed. As Prof Bargy had to leave on the 9 o'clock train, so the program was not fully given but the evening was full of good things throughout.

A SMOKE AND A TRAGEDY.

The Reason General Bate Never Again Lighted a Cigar.

General William B. Bate of Tennessee after distinguished service in behalf of the south was governor and then United States senator. His bravery in battle was attested by a dozen wounds, and in a single engagement three horses were shot from under him.

"It was a habit of the old warrior," said a man who knew him well, "to continually carry an unlighted cigar in his mouth, but few of those who noticed it ever knew the reason of his failure to smoke the weed."

At the battle of Shiloh he and a brother were standing side by side when the brother asked General Bate for a light, as he had a cigar, but no match. The general lit a match and handed it to his kinsman, who had scarcely applied it to the tobacco ere a cannon ball came hurtling through the air and severed the smoker's head from his body.

The terrible tragedy of Shiloh's bloody field was the reason why in all the years that followed the surviving brother was never known to light a cigar.—Exchange.

Feet Versus the Pen.

In speaking of personal recollections of Dion Boucicault, Henry Miller dwells upon his superb skill as a stage director and tells of the following incident, which occurred during his first rehearsal under Boucicault:

"I went to him direct from Augustin Daly's management. Daly coached his players to cross and recross the stage during the progress of the play with the idea that this continual moving about of the actors created dramatic action. During my first rehearsal I made a 'Daly cross' as I spoke one of my lines.

"'Why did you do that?' Boucicault asked in his quaint, quizzical manner.

"I explained that I imagined it would keep the scene moving.

"'Thanks, my boy,' said Boucicault dryly, 'but if I cannot interest the audience with my pen I don't think you can with your feet.'"

Happiness is rather a negative than a positive term in this world and consists more in the absence of some things than in the presence of others.

FALL SPRAYING FOR PEACH LEAF CURL

More than twenty years ago, it was discovered that the leaf curl of the peach could be almost completely controlled by spraying the trees with certain fungicides. Spring applications gave good results but were only effectual when made at least three weeks before the buds started. The weather at that time is often unfavorable both for getting upon the land as well as for spraying the trees, and peach growers have suffered large losses because they have not been able to spray the trees at the proper time.

During the late fall, equally good results can be obtained from spraying for this disease and generally it is easier to find time to do the work then, than in the spring. The principal drawback is in the well-cared-for orchards, the leaves often holding on very late and making it impossible to do a thorough job of spraying. Where the leaves have dropped however, a fell application will be as effectual as one made in the spring and in sections where the disease is very troblesome, it will be worth while to spray the trees in the fall and repeat the application in the spring in order to insure a thorough job. The same material may be used in he fall as for spring applications.

While lime-sulphur solution at the rate of one part to eight parts of water may be applied where the San Jose scale is present, if obtained in controlling leaf curl by using two pounds of copper sulphate in one hundred gallons of water; and even at the present price of copper sulphate, this will not be found a very expensive spray.

Whether the spraying is done in the fall or spring, too great pains cannot be taken to cover and soak every leaf bud with the spray as those which are not treated in this manner will still be subject to attack.

NEW PENSION LAW FOR WAR WIDOWS

The following communication will be of interest to all war widows:

Dear Client:

As I have advised you that I would keep you posted as to any new pension laws made, I am pleased to state that under the new law of September 8, 1916, the date of marriage has been extended frm June 27, 1890, to June 27, 1905, just fifteen years.

Now these widows who were married after June 27, 1890, and prior to June 27, 1905, may have title to pension of $12 per month if under 70 years of age. If 70 years of age or over they may draw $20 per month. Widows who never drew pension because of remarriage and who have since become widows or divorced from second or subsequent husband upon her own application and without fault on her part, may have title.

All of the above widows will be required to file an application in the Pension Bureau before they can have title, and pension when allowed will commence from date of filing the application. Attorneys are allowed a fee of $10, payable by order of the Honorable Commissioner of Pensions when pension is granted in above widow's claims.

The new law also increases widows' pensions, who are now pensioned or may hereafter draw pension, to $20 per month, provided that they are 70 years of age or over. In such cases attorneys are not allowed to appear, and I am of the opinion that no application will have to be made in such increase, as the Department will grant the increase as the case may be taken up. In the class of claims I cannot be of any service; just write to the Honorable Commissioner of Pensions. The pension of minor children will not be increased. It is only in cases where the widow has never drawn a pension that an attorney can appear.

"13" PARTY.

In answer to a dainty invitation for October 13 from a group of the young married ladies of the M. E. church, some forty-five ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Fred Davis on Friday afternoon.

Thirteen played a conspicuous part in the program, 13 cents was the admission fee. Every 13th arrival got in free, Mrs. Fred Fagan and Mrs George Belding being the lucky ones. Whenever this number was found, that party had to pay one cent, tell a story or perform some stunt.

The home was very prettily decorated with autumn flowers ferns and palms and a spirit of loving good cheer prevailed the company. Warm biscuit and coffee and other good things were served to the company by Mesdames Andrew Taylor, Ed. Smalledge, Earle Uplyke, Rob McCoy, and Fred Davis.

As they departed for their homes, it was with the happy feeling of having a lovely afternoon and having swelled the exchecquer of this committee who are busy preparing for their booth at the coming fair. The ladies cleared over $7.

OUR ENORMOUS FOREIGN TRADE

Even the amazing figures of 1915 of our export and import trade are being exceeded by the foreign business of the present year. In the first seven months of 1916 the exports and imports of the United States reached a total of $4 394,000,000. This sum exceeded the transactions of the entire year 1914. More striking yet in its increase is the record of exports. From January to July of this year we have shipped to Europe goods to the value of $2,926,000,000, or nearly a billion dollars more than in the corresponding period of 1915. The increase in imports was just about half as much. Our best customer in this unprecedented business is the British Empire, which, with its dependencies, has taken $1,400,000,000 worth of shipments during the seven months, the imports from the same source amouting to only $486,000,000. With total exports nearly twice as great as the imported merchandise the balance of trade is vastly in favor of the United States. Prior to the great war the largest foreign trade balance favorable to America was obtained in 1908 in which year this country exported $666,000,000 more than it imported. Compare with this the excess in our favor of nearly one billion and a half in only seven months of the present year. A notable feature of the record during this period is that our trade with Japan has nearly doubled over the previous year. That country sent us more goods than we sent back by some $37,000 000 during the seven months.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for October 1916.

Chesterfields have done "the impossible"—they satisfy and yet they are not strong. They are MILD! Chesterfields do for your smoking what bacon and eggs do for your breakfast—they satisfy.

And yet Chesterfields are MILD—that's the point.

No other cigarette can give you this new enjoyment (satisfy yet mild) because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Dubois says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

HANDICAPPED
A THOROUGH TEST

One to Convince the Most Skeptical Tecumseh Reader

The test of time is the test that counts.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action

The following case is typical.

Tecumseh residents should be convinced.

The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete. [illegible] cannot be ignored.

Mrs. Alice Burroughs, West Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I sometimes ached all over and had such tired feelings that my energy seemed all gone. My kidneys didn't act regularly and at times, my back ached. I knew of others who had been helped by using Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got some at Wright & Son's Drug Store. In a few weeks I felt much better and finally I was free from the aches and pains. I was benefited in every way." (Statement given in December, 1908.)

Again Praises Doan's

On July 27, 1916, Mrs. Burroughs said: "I am always glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for they are a good medicine. They cured me of kidney trouble."

An Old Smallpox Cure.

The following primitive "cure" for smallpox was discovered by the Leytonshire (England) guardians in one of their registers for the year 1700: "Take thirty to forty live toads and burn them to cinders in a new pot, then crush into a fine black powder. Dose for smallpox, three ounces."

A Matter of Distance.

Aesop was asked how far it was to a certain place. "Let me see you walk," replied Aesop. The man protested that he wished a civil answer. "You foolish person!" said Aesop. "How can I tell how far it is to that town until I see at what pace you travel?"

DOUBLED THEIR TROUBLE.

Yet Joel's Neighbors Thought They Had Made a Good Bargain.

The shiftless owner of a worthless old horse, Joel Turner, had been in the habit of feeding the animal from the cribs of his more enterprising neighbors until the patience of his victims was completely exhausted. They had caught him in the act of helping himself to corn a number of times, and so there was plenty of evidence to convict him, but on account of his family and his vindictive disposition no one wanted to prosecute him.

One day, when Joel's neighbors were discussing the situation, some one suggested that it would be an act of mercy—which would also solve their problem—if they bought the old horse and put it out of its misery.

This suggestion the conference adopted. They subscribed a purse of $10 and sent a committee of one to buy the horse.

Here the plan was threatened with failure. The committee reported that Joel did not want to sell.

After a few days Jesse Winfield, who thought himself something of a diplomat, undertook to negotiate the sale and to his surprise found Joel not only willing but anxious to sell the horse.

"That," said Jesse in a congratulatory tone, as he handed over the $10 "was a good deal for you. You'll get lots more good out of the $10 than you would out of the old horse."

"That's right," assented Joel. "I know where I can buy a team for $10."—Youth's Companion.

USE OF FRENCH WORDS.

A Critic Scores This Habit of Some Writers of English.

"People who use French in English writing are always those who don't know French very well," John L. Balderston writes in the Atlantic, reporting a conversation with George Moore. "They use badinage for banter and think there is a shade of difference or, I suppose I should say, a nuance of meaning. Then they write resume, which they think more refined than summary, and in society every woman is tres raffinee.

"I met an author who had written 'small and petite,' and I asked him why he did it. He said petite can mean dainty as well as small, and I said: 'It cannot. It means nothing but small. But in any case if you wanted to say dainty why didn't you say dainty?'

"In my newspaper I met with an example of this tendency. A dispatch read something like this: 'The patriotic citizens have been asked to give up their gold ornaments and watches to be melted down into coin unless they are souvenirs.' A man must be without any aesthetic sense whatever to write souvenir when he might have written keepsake. It has associations, that word keepsake. It lives, breathes, runs, jumps, flies. But souvenir in English is a corpse."

Mullein Stalks For Roman Funerals.

The mullein has had many uses. The Romans dipped the stalk into tallow and used it as a funeral torch. In the middle ages it was used as a candle wick by many people. It is reputed to have medicinal virtues for both man and beast, smoking dry mullein leaves and drinking mullein tea being resorted to by those having colds. It won in England by reason of its reputation as a healer of cattle diseases the name of "bullock lungwort."—National Geographic Magazine.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Washing walls and floors with powdered borax is hard on the roaches.

When baking lemon pies do not have your oven too hot, as the lemon will curdle and boil over your crust.

Old sheets and other pieces of linen should never be thrown away, but kept in a convenient place for use in case of cuts or burns or other accidents.

To clean cut glass satisfactorily use a stiff bristle nail-brush and hot water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added.

Paste labels on the inside of glass jars used to hold food supplies, such as rice, tapioca, spices, etc. Thus labeled the jar can be washed without soiling the label or pulling it off.

To Polish Scratched Glass.

To remove slight scratches from plate glass clean first the injured surface by rubbing it with a pad of cotton wool. Then cover the pad with a layer of cotton velvet, well charged with a fine rouge, and this, when rubbed over the surface, will not only remove the scratches, but will also add a new luster to the glass.

Miss Lathrop is a native of Rockford, Ill., and was educated at Vassar. In 1891 she went to Chicago and for many years was engaged there in sociological work. She served three terms on the Illinois state board of charity. She was appointed to her present position three years ago and was the first woman to be put in charge of a federal bureau.

Points of a Good Cake

A good butter cake is smooth on top and evenly browned. Bursting and cracking indicate too much flour or too rapid baking.

Inside of loaf should be slightly moist, but not sticky.

Cake should be fine grained and of uniform lightness.

Coarse grained cakes indicate a lack of beating, too low an oven temperature or too much baking powder.

DIRECTIONS FOR BAKING CAKE.

Cake.	Time.	Temperature.
Sponge	40-50 min.	212 F.
Butter	40-50 min.	220 F.
Small cakes and layer cakes	25-30 min.	220 F.
Molasses drop cakes	25-30 min.	215 F.

DIVISION OF TIME.

First quarter	Rise not brown.
Second quarter	Rise and begin to brown.
Third quarter	Brown not rise.
Fourth quarter	Neither rise nor brown, grow firm and shrink away from pan.

The Children's Play Corner

Setting Dolly's Table.

Care should be taken by each little girl housewife to see that dolly's dining table is always dainty and tidy. There should be a centerpiece for the table. This may be a tiny fern planted in a dish or several flowers carefully arranged in a bowl. A sprig of geranium with its leaf, several daisies and a rose make a pretty combination. Keep the flowers low so that the dollies may talk to each other across the table without having to peep around the vase of flowers.

At each place set the plate. At its right put the cup and saucer and on the left the napkin. The fork should be put directly at the left of the plate, the knife at the right, with the spoon at the right of the knife.

Salt and pepper shakers, candles and such things as pickles and olives should be placed tidily around the centerpiece.

Why Bubbles Are Round.

Bubbles are round because the air which forms the inside of the bubble pushes with equal strength against all parts of the thin film of water that surrounds it. It presses equally against the sides of the bubble at all times, so that if you blow more air into the inclosure the bubble will be enlarged the same amount all over and still continue perfectly round.

Shadow Tag.

The player who is "it" tries to step or jump on to the shadow of some other player and if successful calls out the name of the player. That player then becomes "it." Children should keep in the sunshiny places where a shadow can easily be made.

Willy's Tongue.

When company came to our house once
To my mother tight I clung.
They laughed 'cause I'd not talk and said,
"The cat's got Willy's tongue."

I stuck my tongue away out far
So's they'd not blame the cat,
And then they laughed and so did I
And talked, too, after that.
—Philadelphia Record.

A Master of Proportions.

An eager young teacher was reviewing the Sunday school lesson in a mission church in Brooklyn. The subject was Moses and the bush that burned without being consumed. The boys of ten or twelve had been greatly interested in the story and were now eager to expose their knowledge. Answers followed her questions with the rapidity of a machine gun.

"Now, Harry, it's your turn."

"Yessum," was the confident answer

"Tell me what there was about this burning bush that was different from any bushes that have burned since."

The boy knew—you could tell from the snapping of his eyes—but he paused to formulate his words. "Why, ma'am, you see, this here bush it burned up, but it didn't burn down!" The teacher could not have explained it better herself.—Youth's Companion.

Violent Language.

First Deaf Mute—So when he heard the report he got furious about it.

Second Deaf Mute—Furious! Why, he was so mad that the words he used almost blistered his fingers.—New York Telegram.

Mother Bird and Hawk.

This is a fine out of door game and may be played by a large number. Children are arranged in groups in a row. Each group has the name of some bird, as robins, sparrows, canaries, etc. About fifteen yards to the right of the birds and in front of them is a space for the "mother bird." The same distance to the left is reserved for the "hawk." The mother bird calls, "Come out, canaries" (or any other group). At these words the canaries all run to the mother bird, the hawk trying to intercept and capture them. If tagged they are imprisoned by the hawk. If they reach the mother bird's home without being tagged they are safe. The game continues until all the birds have been called out.

Mother Goose Pantomime.

"Mother Goose" rimes written line by line on separate slips of paper may be shuffled and handed to players, instructions being given that those receiving the same poem lines shall find each other and stay together. After all the groups have been formed each group can dramatize the little jingle they have been given and let the others guess it. Care should be taken to select rimes that will lend themselves easily to dramatization.

Can Look Both Ways.

The horse, the rabbit and the giraffe can look behind them as well as in front, and so can the fly. That is, these creatures can see both ways.

But Now.

I did not know the way at all
To eat my meals when I was small.

But now I am really quite able
To act quite properly at table.

So father dear his meal enjoys
(Since I eat soup without a noise).

And mother does not watch my broth
For fear I'll spoil the tablecloth.

And when there's company for tea
They do not feel ashamed of me.
—Philadelphia Record.

Byron's Deformity.

Lord Byron had a club foot and was acutely conscious of the fact to his last day. Yet he was a fine boxer, having taken lessons from one of the famous "bruisers" of his time. He was also a splendid dancer, and, as everybody knows, he swam the Hellespont, the Dardanelles, in emulation of one of his Greek heroes, Leander.

An Inference.

"Did she say she was going to the drug store?"

"No."

"How do you know she was then?"

"She said she was going out walking for her complexion."—Browning's Magazine.

Fooled.

"The boys were so noisy I thought I'd get an office girl."

"Well?"

"And, by gum, I got one that could whistle!"—Kansas City Journal.

Brief but True.

"Mind your own business."—Detroit Free Press.

STORING CORN CROP

Store Grain in Thoroughly Ventilated Moisture-Proof Cribs Protect Stover from Weather.

Whether corn stover is shredded or not, it is of great importance that it be well stored and not left long exposed to the weather. The mistake is sometimes made of placing the hay crop in sheds and barns and leaving the corn stover in shocks in the field. The reverse is better, inasmuch as most kinds of hay will not depreciate so rapidly in feeding value and will keep better in stacks and ricks than corn stover. Unless placed under cover corn stover should be fed in the fall and early winter. If left exposed until February or March it has little feeding value.

In the principal corn producing States the autumns are usually dry, and corn fodder dries thoroughly in the shocks and is shredded and stored in barns or feed sheds with little danger of heating or molding. The fodder should not be wet when shredded and stored, but damp days are preferable for doing the hauling and shredding because the blades are more pliable and the fodder is therefore handled with less waste. But in some sections especially in northern States, where the corn is full of sap when cut, and where damp fall weather prevails, much care is necessary in storing corn fodder or stover to prevent heating and molding In such localities it should be placed under cover in ricks not more than 6 or 8 feet in thickness, or, if shredded, layers of dry straw several inches deep should alternate with layers of the shredded stover. The depth of the layers of stover can vary from several inches to a foot or more, according to its dryness when stored. The dry straw will take up some of the moisture from the stover and prevent heating.

There was a time in the history of the corn producing belt when rail pens were about the only available means of storing the corn crop. Much to the discredit of some corn growers this method of storing is still in vogue, even in sections where good means of storage could be afforded at little expense. It is no uncommon sight to see rail pen after rail pen filled with ears of corn and without any cover, exposed to all the rains and snows of winter, and these in sections of the county that produce the most corn and are consequently most interested in higherpriced corn. This corn remains in apparently good condition during the cold weather and is usually placed upon the market in early spring. Filled with water, it is not long after it is loaded into box cars or vessels until it heats and spoils. The installation of elevators where such corn can be kiln dried has been brought about by this poor manner of storing the corn crop. There is a general prejudice against kiln-dried corn, resulting from the fact that kiln drying was first employed and is at present employed to a very large extent to prevent fermentation of corn that was not allowed to dry properly or was poorly stored before being placed upon the market This state of affairs, which results from allowing the corn to remain wet during winter and necessitates the removal of the water by expensive means, keeps the price of corn lower than it would be if the corn were allowed to dry in the fields and were kept dry until placed upon the market Grain buyers would pay a better price if the general supply of corn reached them in a condition that would insure its preservation without drying and the resulting shrinkage.

In addition to affording thorough ventilation to the stored grain and protection from driving rains, cribs should be constructed in such a manner that they can be filled and emptied with the least possible labor. For level ground double cribs with an elevated driveway and approaches that will enable the loads to be driven through the cribs and dumped or scooped out of the wagons without any pitching are very satisfactory.

As a protection against rats, mice and sparrows, galvanized wire cribs are coming into use. Wire netting of about ½ inch mesh can also be successfully used in the construction of frame corncribs. This wire netting can be tacked to the inside of the uprights of the crib, and the strips which constitute the sides of the crib can also be nailed on the inside of the uprights, thus holding the wire netting in place. As a floor, which should be 18 inches or more from the ground, so as not to afford a hiding place for rats, the wire netting can be tacked to the sleepers and the flooring nailed over to hold the wire in place. For overhead protection the wire netting is simply tacked to the joists

If cribs are built upon solid concrete foundations through which rats can not burrow no netting for the floor and the structure can be kept near the ground. With ample roof projection and upper ventilation no danger from dampness need be feared.

Shrinkage

The shrinkage that will take place in a crib of corn from the time it is cribbed in the fall until it is sold varies so greatly in accordance with the amount of moisture the corn contains when placed in the crib, and also the ventilation of the crib, that it is impossible to state a percentage of shrinkage that will apply with certainty to any particular crib of stored corn. Various tests show that the shrinkage in cribbed corn approximates 15 per cent for the first year and 20 per cent for two years

Corn that has not been kept during the winter is usually disposed of in early spring, for the reason that it is likely to spoil upon the approach of warm weather.

British Meet Bulgars.

SALONIKI — British patrols came in contact with Bulgarian forces on the railway south of Seres, in Greek Macedonia, says an official statement issued at the headquarters of the entente allies.

ITALIANS FIGHT ON 50-MILE LINE

Terrific Bombardment Opens Battle of Trieste.

NO INFANTRY ACTION YET

Latins Remain in Trenches Awaiting Word for Attack—Artillery Preparing Way—Rome Announces Advance at Interior Points and Capture of Peaks—Cannon Taken.

ROME, ITALY—The great artillery battle, extending for more than fifty miles, is raging on the front where General Count Cadorna's forces are battling for Trieste.

For the last twenty-four hours the troops have remained in the mountain caverns and dugouts while the big guns have bellowed at their work. Official information given out at the war office indicates that there have been no infantry actions in this region since the last official report, although at several other points on the Austrian front, notably on the slopes of Mount Pasubio and in the Posina valley sharp clashes have occurred.

Austrians Suffer Reverse.

In the Pasubio region especially the Austrians suffered a heavy reverse, all their counter-attacks being broken up, while the Italians pressed forward towards Monte Rolte In the Posina valley a surprise attack by Austrian detachments resulted in the temporary capture of an outpost, but Italian reserves, hurrying up, drove the raiders out.

The Italians have captured an entire Austrian mountain battery consisting of four canno and a quantity of ammunition in the Cosmagon region.

MILWAUKEE FIRE $1,000,000

City Has Two Big Blazes Within One Block.

MILWAUKEE, WIS. — Two fires in the south side manufacturing district within two hours of each other caused a loss estimated variously at from half to a million dollars, and it will be impossible to tell the loss definitely for some time.

The A. Schwart and company packing box factory was the first and almost the entire city fire department was called out to prevent a spread to other factories near by, and succeeded in holding the loss to $28,000. The next fire was within a block, and was the destruction of the Milwaukee Western Malt company plant and elevator, with at least half a million bushels of malt. The plant was practically destroyed, the seven-story elevator collapsing into utter ruin, while the firemen succeeded in saving the walls of the malting house, in another building across the street.

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Denial of a report that the state department at Washington is negotiating a new commercial treaty with Russia is made in a letter made public here from Second Assistant Secretary of State Adee to Herman Bernstein, editor of the American Hebrew.

Mr. Adee wrote: "You are informed that the department is not at the present time negotiating a commercial treaty with Russia, and does not propose to consider the negotiation of a treaty which would discriminate against American citizens."

CONSTITUTION IS SET ASIDE

King Constantine Postpones Date of Congress One Month.

ATHENS — King Constantine signed a decree postponing for one month the meeting of the Greek chamber of deputies, which, according to the constitution, was due to convene Monday.

LONDON, ENG. — At a banquet given by the Greek committee of national defense in honor of the members of the provisional government, Eliptherios Venizelos made a striking speech, says Reuters' Saloniki correspondent. M. Venizelos resumed his seat amid loud cries of "Long live Serbia!" "Down with cowards and traitors!" and "Down with the king!"

U. S. WILL BE SUPERIOR

Paris Sees Our Financial Dominance Long After War.

PARIS — The financial superiority of the United States in war-stricken Europe will continue for some time after the establishment of peace, owing to the great demands for American products to restore the ruins, says the Paris Temps.

New York will be the financial and commercial center of the world until England has paid her American debts. A complete victory by the allies, says the Temps, will enable England quickly to regain her dominating financial position. At the beginning of the war the United States owed in Europe five billion dollars, but Europe is now the debtor.

FLUTES OF GOLD.

They Have Sweeter Tones Than Those Made of Any Other Material.

By some pretty experiments with organ pipes of different materials Dr. Dayton Clarence Miller, professor of physics in the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, O., has proved that the quality of tone in a wind instrument depends upon its material far more than is generally believed. Writing of flutes in his book, "The Science of Musical Sounds," he says:

"The traditional influence of different metals on the flute tone is consistent with the experimental results obtained from the organ pipe. Brass and German silver are usually hard, stiff and thick and have but little influence upon the air column, and the tone is said to be hard and trumpet-like. Silver is dense and softer and adds to the mellowness of the tone.

"The much greater softness and density of gold add still more to the soft massiveness of the walls, giving an effect like the organ pipe surrounded by water. Elaborate analyses of the tones from flutes of wood, glass, silver and gold prove that the tone from the gold flute is mellower and richer, having a longer and louder series of partials than flutes of other materials."

OUR FIRST COLLEGE.

Harvard Had Nine Men In Its Original Class of Graduates.

The first commencement of Harvard college, the first of the educational institutions of the United States, was held Aug. 9, 1642. Nine young men comprised the first class of graduates. In 1636 the general court of Massachusetts agreed to give £400 "toward a schoale or colledge" and the next year ordered that the institution be established at "Newetowne."

In 1638 John Harvard, a preacher, died and bequeathed about $700 to the college to be built at Newtown. In his honor the institution was named Harvard college, while the name of the town was changed to Cambridge in honor of the great English university.

It is doubtful if the original grant of £400 was ever actually paid, and in any event the college project remained in abeyance until the bequest of Harvard at once initiated the necessary measures.

The original fund was added to in various ways, and much money was raised by lotteries. Henry Dunster, a Hebrew scholar, was chosen first president, and a class began a course of study in 1638, and nine graduated in 1642.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Marvel of Insect Mechanism.

The sting of a certain Indian fly offers as marked an example of design in nature as can well be imagined. When seen through a magnifying glass it is found to be composed of three sharp blades folded into one, with their cutting edges outward and running down to one fine point. When the fly inserts this up to the hilt in its victim the three blades fly apart, and then it is seen that each inner edge is a beautiful saw, worked by six separate muscles, so that when withdrawn the instrument rips its way out with a gush of blood. But now comes the most curious provision of all. It would not do to fold up these blades with the blood adhering to them, so each blade is provided at its base with a fine brush of hairs growing out of an oil gland, which provides an antiseptic secretion to keep the blades clean.

Forgetmenots.

The forgetmenot is a delightful immigrant belonging to that numerous flower family which includes the Virginia cowslip, hound's tongue and comfrey. As far back as we are able to trace flower history, says the National Geographic Magazine, it held an honored place in the flower garden, and when America was settled it was brought along to cheer the colonist's austere life and to remind him of the old roof tree across the billowy sea.

Have you ever noticed the little golden circle around the center of the flower? That circle is put there by the flower as a honey guide to tell the bee just where to insert its tongue to get the richest draft of nectar and at the same time to touch both anther and stigma and thus fertilize the plant.

Truth Versus Politeness.

RESEARCH CIRCLE

The members of the Research Circle were pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon by Miss Mary Whitelock. Mrs. Wm. Wescott was the leader for the afternoon. Mrs W F. Raymond gave a very interesting paper on, "The first inhabitants of Mexico," and Miss Whitelock had as her subject, "Could the United States exists on its own resources if cut off from the World" The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Smeltzer, Tuesday Oct 24.

Gait of the Ground Cuckoo.

There are other birds in North America, such as the grouse or partridge, which can race swiftly along for a short distance, but when pursued by dogs or men on horseback the ground cuckoo gets his second wind after a time and can run for miles and miles at an incredible speed.

He can execute two gaits. Although his toes are disposed in opposite pairs, as in other species of his family, yet the outer toe, being reversible and of great flexibility, is in either position to aptly aid in climbing or perching. This at times he pitches along the ground in irregular but vigorous hops. And again, when the outer toe is thrown forward, he runs smoothly and with great velocity.

A poor flier, he catches prey of the air by astounding jumps, at times attaining a height of from eight to ten feet.—Philadelphia North American.

Celt and Saxon.

One of Sheridan's tales was of an Irishman who met a Briton of the true John Bull pattern standing with folded arms in a contemplative mood, apparently meditating on the greatness of his little island.

"Allow me to differ with ye!" exclaimed the Celt.

"But I have said nothing, sir," replied John Bull.

"And a man may think a lie as well as publish it," persisted the pugnacious Hibernian.

"Perhaps you are looking for fight?" queried the Briton.

"Allow me to compliment ye on the quickness of yer perception," said Patrick, throwing down his coat. And then they pitched in.

The Word "Hiccough."

The spelling "hiccough" is recent, being a combination of the syllables "hic" and the latter term of "cough," which is without either physiological or etymological basis. The pronunciation, with perhaps the rarest exceptions, is still that of the older form "hiccup," earlier given variously as "hickup," "hickupsnickup," "hickhop," "hickcock," "hichcock" and "hickett," with quasi diminishing suffixes "ock," "et," but the "hick," a syllable aptly expressive of the spasmodic sound produced by the conditions giving rise to the particular disturbance, is found in all references to the origin of the term to which the writer has been able to obtain. The term "singultus" is rarely used.

WESTMINSTER GUILD

The Florence Weld Chapter of the Westminster Guild was most happily entertained by Mrs. J. D. Service Tuesday evening. Some twenty-five attended including Mrs. A. D. Lawrence and Mrs. E. H. Halladay as patronesses.

After a short business session conducted by the vice president Mrs. R. M. Moiles, Mrs. W. A. Rex took charge and a delightful hour followed. Two contests, one guessing the names of birds, fruit, flowers, etc., and the other surnames of our townspeople, created much merriment. Later Mrs. Service served orange ice, wafers and cocoanut balls.

The organization is doing much good, being one of the most active in the Presbyterian church, and are growing in numbers. The interest is, of course, helped along by these splendid meetings.

The Electric Fan.

Back in the early eighties Dr. S. S. Wheeler, an electrical engineer of New York, was experimenting with a small electric motor. In the course of his experiments the doctor conceived the idea that steamboats might be run with electricity if the propellers could be directly connected to high speed electric motors, doing away with all the gears then in use in steam propulsion. With this idea in mind he had a small screw propeller constructed and fastened it to the armature shaft of his small motor. To his surprise, the experiment resulted in a fine breeze of cooling air which more than delighted the experimenter, for the day was decidedly hot. It is needless to add that the experiments with screw propellers ended right there, and the engineer took up the study of the electric fan, with the result that he soon perfected the device until it was a commercial success.

LYMAN H. HOWE

The Lyman H. Howe moving pictures were again seen at the Opera house on Tuesday evening, and as usual were much enjoyed by the audience.

This time we travelled with Howe in "The Land of the Midnight Sun" where the wonderful scenery of that country was shown. Also great herds of reindeer, Norway's most northern town and many other interesting scenes.

Then avoiding the scene of Europes Carnage we passed into Sunny Spain where we saw many picturesque Spanish villages and towns and various castes of Spanish people. In an instant we were transported to Hawaii and there given a trip along the Hilo railroad which proved most interesting. The scenery through this section of the island was beyond description. We were given a view of the active volcano of Kilauea. Looking into the Crater of this volcano we were shown a seething mass of lava, which set people wondering how it was possible to get the picture. Many other pictures of Hawaii were also shown. Then we came back to good old U. S. A. and visited our Military Academy at West Point.

During the intervals between travelogue many pictures of birds and fish were shown, interspersed with comic views, and dissolving pictures, which last were new to a Tecumseh audience.

Lyman H. Howe's pictures will always find a welcome in Tecumseh

IMPORTANT MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD

A full meeting of the school board was held Tuesday afternoon with Mr. Stofflett, architect of Toledo, present in the interest of our new school building. Mr. Stofflett submitted plans for the new school which, with few exceptions, were satisfactory to the board. We were advised by one of the members that the plans ought to be in their hands inside of two weeks

The preliminary work of securing plans acceptable to the school board and the state authorities has entailed much work and study and numerous meetings have been held since the election and a vast amount of detail has had to be threshed out.

We understand that the state authorities have given their O. K and when the board have approved they will proceed to get bids for the work of erecting the building. It is not likely that actual work on our new building will be commenced before spring

When One Is Dying.

If ever I have time to relax from the hard labor of living and come down upon my bed to die I ask nothing better of my neighbors than that they will care enough for me to watch the night through with me before the gates. I prefer it to the conventional passing now in vogue where a pussyfooting trained nurse runs everybody out of the house.

I would not be deprived of those last hours of companionship with my own kind. I should have more courage with which to face the uncertainties of my immortality escorted by my familiar mortal kind. I might have something to say, and if I did I'd wish to say it to real folk, not to a doctor and a trained nurse, who would be sure to think I did not know what I was saying, because they are accustomed to deal with the flesh, not the spirit.

Death in my opinion is altogether too strictly censored in polite society. Both the passing and the living should be given more freedom of expression.—Corra Harris in Independent.

Giant Grotto.

The immense cavern known as the Giant grotto is situated near Trieste, Austria, and is said to be the largest known to exist. It consists of one vast chamber, 787 feet long, 488 feet broad and 452 feet high. There are three entrances, two in the roof and one at the edge of the roof, which has been provided with ladders with steps, so that visitors can safely descend into the grotto. Once on the bottom, progress is easy. The cavern contains remarkable groups of stalactites, some of them of gigantic size and others of bizarre shapes. The tallest stalactite has a length of little more than thirty-nine feet. No side or underlying caverns have yet been discovered. The bottom of the grotto is 325 feet below the surface of the ground forming the top of the roof, which in turn is about 1,580 feet above sea level.—Pearson's Weekly.

If the Saloons felt that Home Rule would eliminate the Saloons would they be backing it so strongly?

HOME RULE CARDS ARE DISPLAYED in Every SALOON.

The so-called Home Rule Amendment is backed by every brewer and saloonkeeper in Michigan. To them it means the continuation of the business in which they are engaged.

There is no defense of the saloon presented, for there is none. They seek to get your mind off the real issue by introducing this Home Rule Amendment.

State-Wide Prohibition, backed by law enforcement, will put the saloon out of business. If it wouldn't, why is it being fought by the saloon interests?

If Prohibition increased the consumption of liquor, as they would have you believe, wouldn't the distillers and brewers favor Prohibition in every state in the Union?

Look these facts squarely in the face. Keep your mind on the real issue, The Saloon, and vote "Yes" on Prohibition, "No" on Home Rule.

VOTE MICHIGAN DRY Nov. 7

"No" for Home Rule.

GOOD COFFEE

Every housekeeper ought to know what it is that makes some Coffee better than others

It's partly in the berry, of course, but more than anything else it's in the BLENDING.

Sometimes those whose work it is to blend Coffees, hit upon a particularly happy combination of two or more kinds

This blend is then given a name, its proportions are kept a secret, and it is sold to but one grocer in each town.

WE have five or six of these lucky hits. ALWAYS have them.

Which means that if you buy your morning beverage here it will always be at the top notch of perfection.

COMMERCE CLUB BANQUET

ONE OF THE BEST EVER HELD IN TECUMSEH

At the Presbyterian Church, Thursday Evening.

The Commerce Club Banquet held at the Presbyterian church Thursday evening was perhaps one of the most enjoyable events of its kind ever held in Tecumseh While not so largely attended as some former banquets the interest shown in the organization was most encouraging.

The auditorium of the church was thrown open and here the banquetors awaited until the call was given to enter banquet room As we walked into the dining room our attention was drawn at once to the attractive appearance of the tables spread before us. The Presbyterian ladies under the leadership of Mrs. R B Gillespie and Mrs. J R. Nyland had spent their time and energy to make the tables attractive. With fine linen, beautiful china and silver together with a sprinkling here and there of autumn leaves, it made a fellow feel that he was sure to enjoy the feast.

A three course chicken dinner was served and complimentary to the ladies we heard many say that it was the best dinner yet served at a Commerce Club banquet An ample portion was served to each and, while more was offered, no one had the faintest idea what he would do with it if he availed himself of the ladies' generosity.

The business meeting which followed the banquet was called to order by Sec'y H. S. Temple of the Commerce Club.

Gen. F. B. Wood was chosen chairman of the meeting and in his own attractive way stated some of the things that the Commerce Club hoped to bring up and dispose of at this meeting.

It seemed to be the idea of many, he stated that the Commerce Club should be an incorporated body, especially so as the D. T. & I. Ry. officials had offered to quit claim their right and title to the land commonly known as "the car-shops property" and located in the southeastern part of this village. The land is comprised of some 20 acres and has been one of the eyesores of this community for a number of years. The only provision that they would make is that the Commerce Club should use it in inducing some industry to locate here. By incorporating the club is placed legally in position to receive title and hold property.

The Commerce Club then proceeded to organize for the ensuing year.

The following names were placed in nomination for president C. A. Wright, J. D Shull, Chas Burridge and Faron S. Anderson Mr Wright, Mr Anderson declined the nomination. Mr. Burridge stated that he was willing to leave his name in nomination because he knew that when the vote was cast another candidate would be the choice The others having declined, a motion was made and unanimously carried that Chas. Burridge be made president of the Commerce club for the ensuing year

In his speech of acceptance Mr. Burridge outlined some of the objects that the Club would try to accomplish and appealed to the officers and committees that should be chosen as well as every member of the Club, that the work of the organization for the coming year might be fruitful and much good would be accomplished.

A nominating committee to furnish a list of names to serve on the various committees was named as follows: J. H. Smith, F. J. Temple and Wm. Barrett.

The following nominations were made by the committee and elected for the ensuing year:

Executive Com.—C. A. Wright, H. S. Temple, L. E. Temple, Guy Nemire, F. S. Anderson.

Advertising Com.—Leon Rosacrans, Otto Garlinghouse, H. A. Tribolet.

Membership Com.—W. L. Jones, B. J. Pulver, Don Wright.

Credentials Com.—Thos. McCann, Guy Belding, G. A. Rathbun.

Charter and Bylaws Com.—F. B. Wood, D. L. Whitenack, J. D. Shull.

A financial report showing moneys received and expended duirng our Bargain Days last summer was called for and F. S. Anderson, chairman, read a report showing that some $2,015.02 had been received and disbursed with the exception of $9.63 balance which rested comfortably in the coffers of the treasury. The report was accepted and placed on file.

John C. Howell, one of the commissioners of the City of Adrian, was present and was called upon for remarks. In calling on Mr. Howell, Chairman Wood stated that he was a former resident of Macon and could almost be claimed as one of our own Tecumseh boys.

Mr. Howell in responding stated that he complimented the Commerce Club on the excellent feeling shown at this banquet and had always admired the way in which Tecumseh people accomplished things. Adrian was inclined to be a little jealous of Tecumseh and would do well to emulate some of the things that had been accomplished in Tecumseh. Any town or city would do well to encourage and stimulate the trade and support of the farmers. Tecumseh has gravelled her roads leading in every direction and had made it easy for the farmers to get to our town and the City of Adrian is just waking up to the fact that the roads leading into their city could be improved and made more accessible for the farmer.

Mr. Howell made many helpful suggestions as to some of the problems that might be taken up and disposed of by our Commerce Club which would accrue to the benefit of our town

In his remarks Mr. Howell stated that the City of Adrian was not at the present time encouraging factories to locate there, the principal reason being labor trouble, that so many of their skilled labor were leaving their factories and going to the cities where they were receiving higher wages, thus making it a serious problem to man their factories with competent help.

A paper was circulated among those present and was signed by upwards of 70 men pledging themselves to become members of the organization and to pay a membership fee of $2.00.

The banquet and the meeting which followed was most successful and the Commerce Club bids fair to be a real live power in our midst for the year.
